BAFFIN LAND

On Friday, the 29th inst., we sighted Baffin Land at 11 a.m., and we cruised along the shore all day. At 7 p.m. we raised Big Island and at 8 p.m. we were firing rockets to get an Eskimo to come out and guide us into Lake Harbour. One came out in his little kyack, and he ascended the ladder up to the bridge deck, and pointed out the deep places, and at 10 p.m. we had crawled right up the long ten mile twisty harbor, completely shut in by great lofty barren mountains. Here we dropped anchor in Lake Harbour.

The firing of ship's rockets brought all the Eskimos out in their little boats and kyacks, and they literally swarmed all over the ship. Among them came the Christian battalion of Eskimos, looking eagerly for the two missionaries, (Rev.) Blevin Atkinson and (Rev.) E. O. Lackey, which the captain of the S. S. "Nascopie" had told them were coming on the S. S. "Baychimo." They crowded around us and shook our hands until they nearly dropped off. They were wild to see us. They are certainly more tidy and cleaner and better people than we saw at Port Burwell. It was good to meet them. Budlow and Kidlatig, the native catechists, who had kept on the mission work to their own people for some years, were well to the fore, and we told them that we would come ashore in the morning. Next morning the mission boat was along side after breakfast, and Lackey and I, with Pudlow, went ashore to the mission house. The house was not in good repair, it is so long since it was occupied. We received a right royal welcome from the Eskimo women who had assembled there. They had the house looking as tidy as they could make it and they had lighted the stove. With them we crossed the river to another section, and at a cluster of tents occupied by Eskimos, we received another deafening ovation. All work was stopped and we could scarcely get room to walk. They crowded around us, they chatted among themselves, they shook our hands. All together they gave us a splendid welcome. Then we visited the church and we found everything spick and span. There seems to be no laziness nor dirt where the Christian Eskimos are concerned anyway. We spent all day ashore with these people; we visited a lot of them. Then we returned to the ship to spend the night.

On Sunday the work of unloading the vessel was in full swing, so we did not hold any service until seven in the evening. We have a baby organ with us and one of the Hudson Bay officials played it. Kidlapig rang the bell and almost immediately the little church was packed to suffocation. They sat everywhere, on the communion rail, on the window sills, on the floor. Every available inch of room was taken up. Every Eskimo had their own book, and the whole service was one spoam of fervor and enthusiasm. Pudlow led the singing and he is a real Alexander. It was certainly fine to hear them sing in their own language, "Onward Christian Soldiers," "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," and the old one hundredth Psalm. Everybody joined in. Everybody sang. It was simply wonderful to listen to the way these people responded in the service. Kidlapig read the prayers and the lessons. Then he preached upon the text, John 14, verse 6. It was all in Eskimo language, but it was wonderful how one can follow it. Especially when he told them of Jesus being the only way to God and Heaven. After the sermon the congregation joined in prayer. They prayed individually. Each one prayed and thanked God for sending them white ministers, and that the new ministers might soon learn the language, in order to teach them of Jesus. The tears were in our eyes as we saw the honesty and intense earnestness of these people. What an example it is to the home church people! They prayed for every preacher they had ever heard, Doctor Peck, Greenshields and Rev. Fleming. They remembered the Eskimos everywhere, and for the sailors on the steamer, that they might have a safe voyage home again, and one Eskimo thanked God for being saved from drowning during the week as he had a very narrow escape. At the close of this very impressive service, we had quite a time shaking hands. It was past eleven o'clock when we returned to the ship, and retired to our bunks. We stayed on the ship during the time they unloaded it, also because it saved us from cooking our own food.

The next morning we got to work and took some of the heaviest baggage ashore. We unpacked it in the mission house, then proceeded to write letters, so that they could be taken back home again, as the ship would be leaving soon. In the evening I went over to the tent village and baptized an Eskimo baby boy. He was named Joseph. There was quite a crowd of Eskimo at the ceremony. Lackey and I pulled our boat out to the ship in the harbour. We slept aboard that night and it was the last as the ship was leaving the next day. I love these simple people already and I thank God for the opportunity that He has opened up for me to serve these people and to work for his glory in this land. My wife and Mrs. Lackey are to arrive next year, and by that time we will have a proper house, built on the other side of the river. The Canadian Government have promised to send out a medical man next year.

The next day we were astir very early. It is very cold but fine and sunny, so we sat down to rush off some letters, as the ship leaves again in a few hours. After its departure we have nearly thirty tons of material and equipment to get ashore, so it is the matter of getting the overalls on, then some work! Our house is not in very good shape, but we will put up with the accommodation as it is for this winter, then we will build another house next spring. That is next June, 1922.

All the goods are brought ashore by rafts and small boats. We hand our mail to the purser who will leave it at Cape Wolstonholme, where the S. S. "Nascopie" would lift it on her way out about the end of August. These letters would undoubtedly be carried to Cardiff and mailed from there. The Nascopie then refits and proceeds to Norway, where her cargo will consist of 500 head of reindeer, which are to be landed in Baffin Land, about 150 miles west of this station, and let loose. They have an idea of raising millions of reindeer in this land, but we believe the venture is doomed, as we are wondering what the animals are going to live upon. The reindeer, which are here already, find it very hard to get food. We are hoping to have mail on that ship from Cardiff. We will get it about Christmas, no doubt, when the ice gets safe for travelling along the seashore. It is certainly some trip for the mail.

It was one-thirty a.m. before we had finished saying goodbye to the good ship, "Baychimo." They are all splendid fellows and there is no doubt they suffer untold hardships when they make the trip up here—even though it in the summer time. Lackey and I rode our boat ashore, and having no bedding brought over from the thirty-ton pile which the ship landed, we just lay down in full marching order and we were soon in the land of nod. I was awakened by the sound of firing. I jumped up and grasped my revolver, I rushed out to the front of the house and fired a few parting shots in answer to the rockets which the departing steamer was sending up as it steered its way down the narrow channel that lies between tall rocky mountains. It was just six a.m. when she left. The harbour seemed empty indeed when she parted and one felt that the last link with civilization was snapped for ever. With faith and confidence we face the future with all its changes and we know that God is with us. We are content to leave it all to Him. We stand ready to face the difficulties and the problems of a new land. Of ourselves we can do nothing, but He is able to accomplish all things.

The calendar says this is the month of August, so since the departure of the steamer from Lake Harbour, I will keep a diary of our daily doings. The first thing we did after the ship's departure was to get the assistance of our two stalwart native teachers—Kidlapig and Pudlow, to get our goods across the river. The Hudson Bay post is on the opposite side of the river, which is half a mile across, so we had to tranship our goods over the water, and it is no easy task when the largest boat at our disposal is a small rowing boat. We also are the proud possessors of a canoe. We worked hard all day and when evening came we had most of the goods across.

After supper there was some great excitement, a big black whale was seen in the harbour; immediately boats were launched and shots were flying in all directions. The whale was driven ashore badly wounded. Then they gave it the finishing touches on the beach. There was a great uproar and the Eskimos were all very much excited. It proved to be a small one of the white species about twelve feet long. There was a great assembly of the entire population, men, women and children, not forgetting the dogs, of which there are hundreds. Vicious brutes they are. It was like bedlam, such howling and shouting. There was not fire needed in order to cook the whale. All fell upon the great carcass "en masse" and in about half an hour there was not a bit of flesh left on the beach, and the dogs were left to fight over the bones. All had sharp knives, and all ate what they could grasp and slash and cut. It was a case of the one with the longest reach got the most. They had some supper that night.

I see it is August fourth. The noble Pudlow caught a large seal in a net in the harbour this morning and immediately there was another general assembly. Pudlow, of course, caught the first portion, then the rest nipped of their portion and the Eskimo dogs had the usual free fight for the remains. It only took about ten minutes to divide the big fat seal. We get lots of rifle practice in this land, a great land for the true sportsman. The Eskimo are excellent shots, but the revolvers tricks them, they don't seem to understand the working apparatus at all.

In the afternoon Kidlapig told us there was a large lake a little north of where we were, and that we could get splendid fish for supper. Armed with a large hook tied on a long stick, a very peculiar fishing outfit indeed, we let off. After what seemed like hours of walking, far on the way we were attacked by large mosquitoes—they were awful and bad our faces and neck all blood bites—finally we reached the lake and commenced to fish. Kidlapig and Pudlow crawled out on some rocks, and putting their hooks down in the water, they commenced to rattle a stone on the rocks, thereupon a fish came along, and Pudlow hooked the beggar. It was the very funniest style of fishing I ever saw. The mosquitoes are fearful, so we are compelled to strike for home again much earlier than we had anticipated. The land is covered with huge drifts of snow that never melts all the year around.

The next day we had our first dinner of seal meat. In color it is black, and it has a taste all of its own, possibly I will be compelled to eat it, but I will be jolly hungry when I do. They say one gets to like it—well, maybe I will.

Each day witnesses us getting our goods looked over and getting the house in ship shape order. We have now decided not to move the house over to the other side of the harbour, as it is too dry and would fall in pieces, so hands off this year. Next year it is our intention to begin in the spring (that is June) and build an addition to it, as well as fix the old one up a little.

A Double Escape

DOCTOR'S DAUGHTER'S STORY.

Another Toronto home provides evidence of how a simple cut, scratch or bruise, may pave the way to deadly blood-poison. Doesn't it show there's a vital need for keeping a reliable antiseptic like zam-buk, always handy?

When called upon at 3, Bushness Avenue, Mrs. J. E. Zealley, daughter of the late Dr. Bevan, of St. David's, S. Wales, said:—"My boy Alfred scatched his leg with the brass tag of a shoe lace. A nasty poisoned sore developed and it defied all the usual ointments. Hearing splendid reports about zam-buk I decided to give it a trial. To my great relief, the balm soon caused healing to set in. All inflammation and poisonous matter was quickly removed by zam-buk. It healed the sore without leaving a scar.

"Again when I fell over a steel fender and injured my knee badly, zam-buk alone saved me. My daughter, a nurse, was of the opinion that only an operation could remove the mass of inflammation and pus. But I again pinned my faith to zam-buk, and it cleansed and healed the wound in a few days." Equally valuable for eczema, pimples, cuts, burns, etc.

The Superior Clydesdale Stallion
BARON HAMLET
(2827) (6090) (12757)

Will be kept for service during the season of 1922 at the stables of the owner, lot 15, 2nd line, east, Caledon.

TERMS—$15.00 for a living colt, payable when colt is one week old. Sale of mare renders fee due and payable.

All accidents to mares at risk of their owners.

BARON HAMLET was bred by James Rigg, Highbanks, Kirkcudbright, Scotland, and imported by the Graham Renfrew Co., Bedford Park, Ontario. Of his sire, Baron's Pride, nothing need be said, as it is well known that he was the best Clydesdale sire that ever lived.

BARON HAMLET'S dam, Banks Daisy, was sired by Hamlet (4433), gr. dam Fanny of Bombie (3104) by sir Colin (3188) by Samson (741). There is no better bred horse in Canada to-day. As a stock horse he is unsurpassed.

Foals in 1919 from Baron Hamlet sold as high as $150.00, at 10 months old. One of his colts foaled in 1920 won first prize at Caledon fall fair, beating the colt that won the first prize at the Dufferin County Show in Orangeville, and was sold the same day for $150..00, and was delivered at four and one half months old. Another of his colts, foaled in 1920, was sold at public auction for $155 at eight months and one half old.

Three of his colts foaled in 1921 won first, second and third prizes at Caledon fall fair in 1921. The winner of the second prize was sold at seven months old for $160.00. Three of his yearling colts also won first, second and third prizes at Caledon fall fair in 1921. These colts all won in heavy draft class.

BARON HAMLET was inspected on the 29th day of October, 1912, when he was Passed and Approved, Form I. He has also been Enrolled for the year 1922 in Form I. in accordance with Chap. 67, Statutes of Ontario, 2 George V.

BUYS ANOTHER PLANT

Announcement has just been made by Malcolm E. Gray, president of the Rochester Can Company, of the purchase of the entire stock, equipment and goodwill of the Menzies Street Cleaner Company at Amsterdam.

The Menzies Company has for years been regarded as one of the most prominent manufacturers of street cleaning equipment, both horse drawn and hand type, in the country, and their equipment is in use not only in the prominent cities of this country, but abroad. Their line includes also steel shovels—a brand well known to hardware men everywhere.

It is the plan of the Rochester Can Company to operate the business in its present location until such time as space can be provided in their Hague street plant.—Rochester, N. Y., Times-Union.

A DRESS FOR 29C

Kincardine Manufacturer Gets Big Surprise From One of His Stenographers.

Think of it girls—a dress for 29c! No, this was not a bargain haggled for at one of the stores, but the result of a hasty statement made by one of our local manufacturers.

Standing beside a large bolt of blue denim, this manufacturer launched into pensive mood. "There is no doubt about it,' he said, "the girls of to-day are largely responsible for the high cost of living. Look at the costly garments they insist on wearing. I well remember when the girls wore dresses made from this!" and he brought his clenched fist down with force on the roll of denim to emphasise his remarks.

"Why, sir," shyly spoke up one of his stenographers, in defence of her sex, "I'm sure girls of to-day would wear dresses made from that cloth."

"Show me the girl," said the manufacturer, "And I will make her a present of enough of that goods for a dress."

With the utterance of those few words said manufacturer's conviction was made and it was as quickly shattered, for the little stenographer instantly replied, "Cut it!"

It has not been learned whether the manufacturer was chagrined or whether he was glad to know that the girls of to-day are not as extravagant as they are "painted" to be; but it is known that he can now enter in his loss and gain account the amount of about three yards of blue denim which he is out.

And the stenographer? Well, the sequel is, with the purchasing of thread, clasps, buttons and a few little decorations, and spending a few hours time sewing, she now has a real pretty dress that cost her just 29 cents. Plucky girl! She is indeed a martyr of the fair sex.—Reporter.

Unequalled quality in your jams and jellies

YOU can compare your jams or jellies with any others—yours will come first with honors every time — if you use the Certo method.

Just the proper amount of fruit and sugar—boil one minute and add Certo—that's all.

The fruity flavor and delicate color is not boiled away or destroyed but stays in, giving the most delicious jam or jelly you ever tasted—just the right consistency. It's really and truly a revelation—and so very easy to accomplish.

Try the Certo way. You will succeed the first and every time. Free booklet of recipes with every bottle.

How to make delicious Pineapple Jam

4 level cups (2 lbs.) Crushed or Chopped fruit.
8 leveled cups (3½ lbs.) Sugar.
1 bottle (scant cup) Certo.

Use fully ripened fruit for finest flavor. Put prepared fruit through food chopper, or chop fine. Measure crushed or chopped fruit into large kettle. Add sugar, mix well, stir hard and constantly, and bring to a vigorous boil over hottest fire. Boil hard 1 full minute with continual stirring. Take from fire, add Certo, and stir it in well. Skim, and pour quickly.

It is the PREST-O-PLATES in PREST-O-LITE Batteries that Give Longer Life and More "Pep"

THE life of a battery depends upon the plates. That is why Prest-O-Lite, when it set out to make the Automobile Battery better, began with the plates.

Always a maker of a better plate, it turned its scientific skill and research to improving it and produced Prest-O-Lite Plates—the long-lasting Plate.

Here is a battery plate as different from ordinary plates as gold is from silk. Unusual hardness combined with a peculiar porosity gives it unrivaled durability.

This explains its ready reserve power in biting zero weather and its great non-buckling strength that resists overheating in summer.

That is why the Prest-O-Lite Battery outlives an ordinary battery and why it is the best all-weather battery.

Drive around to the local Prest-O-Lite Service Station and ask about a Prest-O-Lite for your car.

Prest-O-Lite Batteries are Canadian thru and thru.

LAUREL

There was a good attendance at the two church services in the village last Sabbath. Rev. J. Byrnes will take the service in the Presbyterian Church next Sabbath and present the question of church union to the congregation.

Mrs. W. R. Grosskurth and Mrs. J. A. Hughes spent the week-end in the city.

Mrs. J. S. Wallace is able to sit up again. Her many friends will be pleased to see her able to be out again.

The W. M. S. met at the home of Mrs. Marshall Curry on Wednesday of last week. A quilt was quilted. The devotional service was conducted by the President, Mrs. (Rev.) J. A. Reddon. Readings were given by Miss Mary Meanry and Miss Muriel Bryan. Mrs. Curry served lunch and a nice social time was spent by all.

The Junior Girls' Class met at the home of their teacher, Mrs. Stevenson, and elected the following officers:—

BLACK KNIGHTS

Mono Mills Preceptory Held a Splendid Meeting Last Week.

On Tuesday night, May 16th, King Hiram Preceptory, No. 397, Royal Black Knights, Mono Mills, held one of the finest meetings in its history. Visiting brethren were in attendance from all parts of the district. Splendid representations were present from each of the following Preceptories:—Orangeville No. 621, Laurel No. 365 and Palgrave No. 403. The local brethren turned out in full strength. When all were assembled the hall was seated to full capacity.

W. Sir Knight Preceptor J. M. McCutcheon presided and dealt with the business of the Lodge in his usual able and efficient manner. On the platform were Rt. W. Sir Knight Thos. H. Bullock, Assoc. D. G. M. of Ontario West, and W. Sir Knight R. M. Lavery, of Palgrave R. B. P. No. 403.

Five members were raised to the Royal Mark degree, which was most beautifully and impressively exemplified. At the close of the Lodge all repaired to the festive board where the usual "festive degree" was thoroughly enjoyed. This was followed by a toast list. Wor. Sir Knight Preceptor J. M. McCutcheon acted as toast master The toast, "To King and Country," was responded to by the entire company rising to their feet and singing lustily, "God Save the King." The next toast, "To the Grand Lodge and the Institution," was responded to by R. W. Sir Knight T. H. Bullock, Associate Dep. Grand Master of Ontario West. To the singing of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow" he arose and delivered an interesting address on the work of the Grand Lodge and the Institution. In his own inimitable way he referred to some of the work which had been accomplished at Sarnia and exhorted the younger brethren to be loyal and true to the Christian and patriotic principles which permeate the Order of Royal Black Knights of the British Common Wealth. Another toast, "To the British Empire," was responded to by Sir Knight Rev. David G. Atkinson, of Mono Mills. Giving an outline of the vastness of the Empire and of the liberty and freedom which we enjoy, he referred more particularly to the enemies within the gates of the Empire. Sinn Feinism in Ireland is one of the greatest elements operating against our King and Constitution, and is deadly opposed to the liberty of the British Empire. Sir Knight Atkinson spoke at some length regarding conditions in that distressed country, and said, in spite of all recent coercion of Ulster, in spite of all opposition, "Ulster will stand firm as an integral part of the British Empire" The problems which face the institution are many regarding disloyalty and disruption within the Empire, but, he said, we can frustrate and defeat them by strictly observing the rules and regulations which steer our ship. Show, therefore, to the community around, what our institution means in its peaceful principles and its happy aims. Prove to all that it is worth retaining and perpetuating. Disarm prejudice against our institution by a well regulated life. By such an influence you shall, and ever will, be a citizen, an honourable and worthy citizen, of the British Empire.

The toast "To the Visitors" was proposed by Wor. Sir Knight Preceptor J. M. McCutcheon. He said he was very pleased to welcome to the Lodge the visitors from the respective Preceptories. He rejoiced that such a fraternal spirit was manifest in the meeting, and he trusted that it would not be the last time that we should meet in like manner. Such gatherings build us up as a brotherhood, added a practical impetus to the work, and brought before the younger mind the splendid importance of our institution. He thanked the visiting brethren most heartily for their presence and extended a welcome to fraternize at all times. Some splendid speeches were then given by the visiting brethren. W. Sir Knight R. M. Lavery, of Fairgrave, spoke at length on the many problems that were facing the loyalists and members of our institution. In South America, Ireland and in French Canada the power of Romanism was marching on. All disloyalty to British ideals and principles seemed to find its centre in that system. Such being the case, it behoved us all, as members of an institution, which taught as its chief text, peace and good will, to individually spread around to others the influence of the high ideals of our Order which are honour, love and truth. He pointed out that he was very glad to be present, to take part in such an enthusiastic assembly. W. Sir Knight W. A. Wansbrough followed with a very appropriate speech. He was glad to be present and congratulated the Lodge on their work and on the splendid hall, and also on the strength of the local Lodge in younger members. He was glad to see so many young men present. He spoke of the problems facing us, and pointed out the royal road of finding a settlement by living up to the principles and peaceful pursuits of our Order and thus gaining the victory.

W. Sir Knight J. A. Patterson, of Orangeville, gave a splendid speech in which he gave the outlines of the history of Mono Mills Preceptory. Being one of the first initiated and one of the oldest members, he was in a position to give first-hand information regarding the beginning of Mono Mills Preceptory. Born in Mono Mills and of Irish descent, we were all proud to hear his description of the forming of the first Lodge. We will always be glad to hear from the pioneers of our institution here. W. Sir Knight John Briggs, of Laurel, congratulated the Lodge on having as a member of the Lodge, a distinguished Lodge officer. He referred to R. W. Sir Knight T. H. Bullock, A. D. G. M. of Ontario West. He spoke in eulogistic terms of his work as County Master and he was sure the Lodge must be inspired and helped by having a Grand Lodge officer in the person of one who works unceasingly in the interest of our institution. Sir Knight Rev. Ellis, of Laurel, gave a most interesting speech concerning the division among Protestants at the present time. Unity would help to solve the problem, and he was glad that such was one of the principles of our Order. He strongly urged the brethren to hold fast to the ideals of the Order and to read the Word of God, which is the centrepiece of the Institution.

Thus ended one of the best meetings ever held. The singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and "God Save the King" brought the proceedings to a close.

Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Morris, of Hamilton, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. Kannawin, West Caledon, over the holiday.

—Mr. D. N. Potter, of Caledon, was in The Banner sanctum on Monday and reported that he had rye heading out.

—The Lord Dufferin Hospital is sadly overcrowded again this week. There were several operations for tonsilitis and adenoids on Monday and there are more to come shortly.

—Mr. Hartley Graham, who is well-known in Orangeville, has resigned the position of Clerk of the Allitson Division Court. Mr. J. E. Addis, the clerk, has been given the appointment.

—Tanlac is the people's medicine and the people themselves have made it what it is. Sold by C. V. Jeffers, Orangeville, Ont.

—Rev. H. P. Charters, who for two years has been associated with Canon Barnes Reed at St. John's Church (Norway), Toronto, has been inducted first rector of St. Agnes' Church, Long Branch, and assumed his duties there last week. The new rector is a son of Mr. S. Charters, M.P. for Peel.

—You have a splendid appetite, perfect digestion and sound, restful sleep by taking Tanlac. Sold by C. V. Jeffers, Orangeville, Ont.

—Drs. Wilson and McLean, of Shelburne, did a difficult operation at the hospital here last week. Their patient, William Noble, of Whitfield, a man of [illegible] years, did splendidly for some days. On Saturday afternoon his heart weakened under the strain and his condition became critical. Death took place at 10 o'clock Tuesday forenoon.

—Spring grain is already covering the ground in some places.

—A trip into the country is an experience of joy and beauty these fine days.

—Do not miss the Play, "Star Bright," in the Community Hall, The Maples, on Friday night.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mr. G. VanWyck, of West Toronto, is visiting friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Dorrance spent the week-end with friends in Seaforth.

Miss Gora Neil and Mrs. B. L. Baulch, of Toronto, were the guests of the Misses Hulse over the week-end.

Mr. Robt. G. South, of Guelph, is visiting his brother, Mr. Ira South, and other friends here and in Mono for a week or ten days.

Miss Sophia Boyle, of Toronto, spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Geo. Boyle, of Terra Nova, who is critically ill in Lord Dufferin Hospital.

Miss Nettie Darraugh arrived home on Saturday night from Manitoba, where she has been visiting with her sister, Mrs. Raw, for the last two months.

Mrs. J. Kearns, of Orangeville, announces the engagement of her daughter, Jennie Josephine, to Mr. Wilfrid E. Newell, of Tillsonburg. The marriage will take place quietly late in May.

Misses Helen Cooper and Elsie Curtis attended the third annual concert of the Ladies' Choral Society of Hamilton Normal School in Hamilton on Friday night. The young ladies report a large audience and a delightful programme.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Stafford, of Sudbury, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Dorrance for a day or so last week. Mr. Stafford, who was at one time a partner in the Orangeville firm of Chapman & Stafford, is now running a large retail and wholesale store in Sudbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Algie and children, of Brampton, and Mrs. Wm. Dorrington, of Alton, have returned from an eight day motor trip to Boston and Worcester, Mass. They report a wonderful scenic trip through the Berkshire Hills between Albany and Boston. At one point the view covered a distance of nearly one hundred miles in several directions.

CHILDHOOD INDIGESTION

Nothing is more common in childhood than indigestion. Nothing is more dangerous to proper growth, more weakening to the constitution or more likely to pave the way to dangerous disease. Fully nine-tenths of all the minor ills of childhood have their root in indigestion. There is no medicine for little ones to equal Baby's Own Tablets in relieving this trouble. They have proved of benefit in thousands of homes. Concerning them Mrs. Jos. Lunette, Immaculate Conception, Que., writes: "My baby was a great sufferer from indigestion, but the Tablets soon set her right and now I would not be without them." Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail, at 25 cents a box, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

—Tanlac is unquestionably the most widely talked of medicine in the world to-day and those who once use it invariably buy it over and over again and tell their friends of the splendid results they have derived from its use. Sold by C. V. Jeffers, Orangeville, Ont.

HEROIC SACRIFICE

John Murchison, of Arthur, Lost Life While Trying to Remove Obstruction From Railway Track.

John Murchison, of Arthur, lost his life last Thursday morning through his heroism in attempting the dangerous act of removing an obstruction from the path of a C. P. R. freight train. Murchison was one of a section gang, who were working on the C. P. R. right of way about six miles east of Arthur village. At the time of the fatality the gang were busy relaying ties. The signal had been given a train, freight No. 96, in charge of Conductor Alex. Connell, of Orangeville, to proceed over the part of the line on which the ties were being replaced. The train was fully under way when Murchison noticed that the iron gauge had not been removed from the track. He ran to the danger spot and attempted to remove the gauge, but was struck by the rapidly moving locomotive and hurled down the embankment. Life was extinct when his fellow-workmen reached his side and attempted to pick him up.

The late Mr. Murchison was for many years a respected and prosperous farmer in the Arthur district. He had been living retired in the village for the last few years. His tragic death is deeply deplored and has caused a feeling of gloom to overspread the community. He is survived by his widow, two sons, Walter, of Arthur township, and Roderick, of Arthur, and three daughters, Mrs. Gilder, of Fergus; Mrs. Ben Cook Jr., Centre Road, Caledon, and Miss Isabel, a recent graduate of the Lord Dufferin Hospital, Orangeville.

GEORGE IRWIN

The death of Mr. George Irwin, a well-known resident of the Mono Mills district of Albion township, occurred last week after an illness of some duration. Deceased was a son of the late George Irwin and was born and spent all his life on the old homestead, lot 30, 3rd line, Albion. He was in his 71st year and was the last surviving member of a family of four. He is survived by his wife, Miss Martha Snell prior to her marriage. Interment took place in Snell's Cemetery, Mono.

MRS. SAMUEL TURNER

Mrs. Samuel Turner, a respected resident of this town, passed away at her late home near the west end of Zina St. early on Sunday morning after a short illness from pneumonia. Deceased had been in very poor health all winter, but recovered nicely when the fine weather came. On Sunday, May 14th she was well enough to attend church where she was warmly greeted by her friends in the congregation who were delighted at this evidence of her restoration to her former health. Tuesday morning she took a sudden chill and in a short time became quite ill. When the family doctor was called he found that pneumonia had set in. Because of the weakness resulting from her prolonged illness in the winter Mrs. Turner was in no state to make a fight against this malady and her condition speedily became hopeless. Deceased, whose maiden name was Mary Jane Glassford, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Glassford of Caledon. She was born near Alton 59 years ago and lived in that neighborhood until her husband sold his farm and came to Orangeville about four years ago. She was a quiet, industrious woman, a devoted wife and an excellent neighbor. Deceased was a consistent member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and a regular attendant at the Sunday services when her health permitted. Besides her husband, she is survived by one brother, Mr. J. H. Glassford, Zina St., and a sister, Miss Sarah Glassford, of Toronto. The sympathy of all their friends goes out to the husband and relatives in their time of sorrow. The funeral was held to Greenwood Cemetery on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. F. W. Mahaffy, the family pastor, conducting the services at the house and grave.

MRS. JAMES BROWN

Mrs. Brown, widow of the late James Brown, of East Garafraxa, passed away at the home of her son, Ex-Warden James Brown, lot 1, con. 16, East Garafraxa, on Monday morning. Deceased was first taken ill with the flu, which was followed by pneumonia. She contracted the illness while assisting in the home of her son, while the latter, his wife and family were all seriously ill with the flu. The late Mrs. Brown was a woman of fine character and had many warm friends, who will sorrow deeply over her demise. She is survived by three sons, James and Wilson Brown, East Garafraxa, and John Brown, Toronto, and two daughters, Mrs. Arthur Everson, East Garafraxa, and Mrs. W. A. Raeburn, Orangeville. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon, interment taking place at Price's Corners Cemetery.

We regret to have to add that Ex-Warden Brown, who has passed through a very serious illness with the flu, is now ill with pneumonia and is so low that his recovery is very doubtful. Profound sympathy is felt for the family in the trying ordeal through which they are passing.

Clean Up
Paint Up

KEEP your house looking its best at all times. Keeping up its appearance will keep up your pride in it.

Plant flowers and grass seed. Trim up the shrubbery and vines. Don't let rubbish accumulate in either the front or back yard.

Then paint your house with Lowe Brothers High Standard—the investment paint. Lasts longer than most other paints and looks better as long as it lasts. This means that repainting won't be necessary so soon.

We will gladly prove to you that the difference between Lowe Brothers and other paints is more than a mere difference of opinion.

Come in and ask for interesting literature and look at the sample panels.

Mr. John Segsworth has sold a farm in Proton, 100 acres, on the Luther-Proton Townline, to Mr. Joseph Kelly, whose farm adjoins.

Simcoe County will go into reforestation and has purchased one thousand acres for the purpose, about ten miles north of Barrie. The bought area is sandy land that was once covered by white pine. The land cost the county $7,600. Thirty acres of young trees will be set out this year, and after that about one hundred acres annually.

EUGENIA SYSTEM

Representatives of Hydro Municipalities Met in Durham on Monday.

Eugenia Hydro-Electric Association Organized.

About 100 representatives from 18 municipalities on the Eugenia Hydro-Electric system met in Durham on Monday to discuss among themselves and gather facts and figures from Hydro-electric engineers relative to the operating costs and maintenance of the Eugenia system.

They met with the conviction that costs were too high and departed considerably enlightened, but with little hope of any material reduction.

The main business of the forenoon, with Mayor Thomas Allan, of Durham, in the chair, was the appointment of officers, selected by a Nominating Committee, of the Eugenia Hydro-electric Association, a union of municipalities purchasing Eugenia power. The officers selected were:—President, John Legate, Owen Sound; First Vice-President, D. L. Small, Arthur; Second Vice-President, Dr. J. A. Hacking, Tara; Secretary-Treasurer, C. C. Elvidge, Durham; Executive Committee, A. Filshie, Mt. Forest; Dr. G. H. Campbell, Orangeville; John Taylor, Hanover; H. P. Ardon, Kincardine; Dr. J. A. McArthur, Markdale.

Many Representatives Present.

From one to five representatives were present from Kincardine, Mount Forest, Dundalk, Orangeville, Ripley, Hanover, Grand Valley, Holstein, Arthur, Durham, Owen Sound, Chesley, Wingham, Markdale, Tara, Chatsworth, Derby township, Neustadt and Meaford.

A draft of questions was submitted at the afternoon session, with President John Legate in the chair, to which Solicitor I. B. Lucas and Provincial Engineer R. T. Jeffrey lucidly replied. Engineers L. C. James and H. C. Don Carlos assisted. Mr. Lucas regretted that Chief Engineer Gaby or any of the commission could not attend and was delighted that the Eugenia Association was organized for the commission to consult and deal with, the first and only one in the Province.

Mr. Jeffrey frankly supplied all information inquired for. The Eugenia system was in good shape and he was very optimistic about it. More municipal reserves than deficits had been piled up, and the plant was now operating almost at present capacity, 5,500 horsepower.

Would Increase Capacity.

Building another pipe line at Eugenia would increase the capacity to 8,300 and other means would lie in connecting with Niagara power at Mount Forest, building another plant at Port Severn already connected, or a new plant from Saugeen power at Port Elgin.

There is little immediate possibility of a decrease in rates, everything is administered honestly, economically, and suggestions for betterment of the system are welcomed. A deficit of more than $22,000 was shown in the whole Eugenia system for 1920.

While Mr. Jeffery faced the fire of many searching questions, displaying a broad grasp of Hydro management, he failed to convince the delegates that the Eugenia system had been, or was now, economically handled. Two resolutions were unanimously carried: (1) That thanks of the gathering be tendered the engineers present for information; that the commission send a representative to municipalities desirous of information; that the Eugenia Association meet at least yearly, and that a statement showing detailed costs and revenue of the system be submitted to each municipality. (2) That the Hydro municipalities appoint a member of the Hydro-electric Power Commission of Ontario.

Liver Pains

Other indications are sallow complexion, indigestion, constipation, biliousness and bilious headaches.

The quickest way to arouse the liver to healthful action is by use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Continued use will insure lasting relief, correct the whole digestive system and purify the blood.

Mrs. Wm. Barten, Hanover, Ont., writes:

"For some time I suffered from liver trouble. There was a hard, bearing-down feeling in my back which I could not get rid of. Some one advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and found them excellent. The dragging feeling in my back disappeared and I felt much benefited generally. I have great confidence in Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and always keep them on hand for general use."

Protestants Are Now Held in Honor in Italy.

In "Il Progresso Italo-Americano" of May 7th, an Italian paper published in New York, there is an article from its Rome correspondent describing the big preparations being made for the approaching thirty-ninth annual conference in Rome of Methodists of Italy.

Reference is also made to the fact that Bishop Burt, of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States, is on his way to Rome to attend the conference. Bishop Burt was stationed in Rome for many years, and did such excellent work preaching the gospel, establishing educational institutions, and in the promotion of benevolent enterprises, that he was decorated for his services by the King of Italy. In presenting Bishop Burt with one of the most highly-prized decorations, the King of Italy commended the loyalty of the Protestants, and said that in time of national danger the Methodists were always found in the first line of the defence.

What the King Said.

Here are the words used by King Victor Emmanuel to Bishop Burt when the King decorated the Bishop at the Royal Palace, as quoted in "Il Progresso Italo-Americano," of May 7, 1922:

"See how the things of the world change and go on. Once you could not put a foot in this city without the peril of being persecuted and punished. Now instead, I have the pleasure to receive you in my Palace, honor you with national decorations and shake hands with you."

Spoiling the Miracle.

Another interesting despatch in "Il Progresso Italo-Americano" of May 7th is from Naples, Italy, in reference to the annual feast of St. Gennaro, supposed to be one of the most remarkable saints in the Roman Catholic Church. At the shrine the priests allege that they have the actual "blood" of St. Gennaro, which becomes liquified once a year at the annual feast. It is the custom to carry a lot of statues from other churches to the Church of St. Gennaro for the feast. This year a serious accident took place. Some people carrying the statues, says the despatch from Naples, fell down, as a result of which the statues were broken and many persons were injured.

It is feared that this accident at the annual feast of Saint Gennaro will destroy the reputation of that famous saint. The allegation of the priests that the "blood" of the saint liquifies has been exposed long ago. The fluid they have on the altar is not blood at all. On special occasions they surround the altar with a large number of candles and the heat from the candles liquifies that which they allege to be the "blood" of the saint.

DASH FOR LIBERTY

Three Men Bolted at Guelph Reformatory and Got Away, But Were Later Recaptured.

While returning from their work in the quarries at the Ontario Reformatory at 5.30 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon along with 81 of their companions, Charles Beal, of Brantford, Louis Young, of Simcoe, and Harvey Ryerse, of Port Dover, made a bold bid for liberty. The party was in charge of four guards, and as they came along to a spot opposite the trestle bridge, these three broke away and ran at top speed across the bridge into the bushes across the C. P. R. tracks. It was impossible for the guards to leave the rest of the party, but they hurried along as fast as possible and in the meantime one of the guards watched the direction which the escaped men took. It was not long before they began to get tracks of the culprits, who gave them a merry chase. They went through all kinds of rough brush and small clumps of woods, but were finally located in what is generally known as Carter's bush, a short distance past the waterworks property. Two of the prisoners were up in trees, and only one came down when they were threatened, while another was located hiding behind an old stump. They were only out of custody altogether about three-quarters of an hour, so their liberty was short lived. They were placed in a safe place for the balance of the night and this morning were brought before Magistrate Watt on the charge of escaping from custody.

When they were arraigned they all elected to be tried by the magistrate and pleaded guilty to the offense. The magistrate looked over their record, and found that Beal was serving a term of 6 months certain and an indeterminate sentence of 24 months for theft at Brantford; Young was serving a 6 months' certain term, with an indeterminate sentence of 12 months, while Ryerse was serving a two-year less one day term on a charge of stealing, vagrancy and various other offenses, his record being the worst of the lot. None of the three had anything to say for themselves and the magistrate then sentenced them to two years each in the Kingston penitentiary, and in doing so, pointed out to them at the conclusion of their sentence there they would have to come back and finish out their sentence at the Reformatory. He said that he could not understand why they did this thing when they had such short terms to serve. This is the first time this spring that there has been an attempt to escape by anybody—Guelph Herald.

Spring is Here!

And with Spring comes house-cleaning. You will want to cleanse the walls as well as the floors of your rooms this Spring. The most sanitary—as well as the most pleasing—way to do this, is by re-papering.

April is the month of home renovation. Just as Nature now puts on her new robe, so, too, does the provident householder renovate the walls of each room, that is dilapidated, with a coating of fresh Wall Paper.

This Spring, in particular, we are anxious you should drop in and look over our New Stock of Patterns just received.

And, really, it is remarkably inexpensive. Let us suggest a scheme of decoration and quote you a price.

The blaze burned some of the flooring and rafters of the roof, but was soon extinguished with a few pails of water.

WHAT IS A LETTER

Many Times It's a Guide to Health as is This One

Women—Read It

Marmion, Ontario.—"Before using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was a total wreck. I had terrible pains in my sides and was not regular. Finally I got so weak I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest half-way up. I saw your medicine advertised in the newspapers and gave it a trial. I took four bottles of the Vegetable Compound and was restored to health. I am married, am the mother of two children and do all my housework, milk eight cows and do a hired man's work and enjoy the best of health. I also found the Vegetable Compound a great help for my weak back before my babies were born. I recommend it to all my friends."—Mrs. Henry Janke, Marmion, Ontario.

Letters which you read in the newspapers recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound are genuine expressions from women who have been helped by this splendid medicine. They are anxious for other women who may be suffering as they did, to know of the great merit of this medicine. Each one, with her reputation, stands behind it, to point out to sick women the way to health.

James Webb, aged seventeen years, of Guelph, who created such a sensation in Acton, when he stole a touring car belonging to James Moore, of Crewson's Corner, from in front of the Methodist Church, where the owner was attending Sunday School, was convicted by Police Magistrate Moore at Acton on the 15th inst., and sentenced to not less than one year nor more than eighteen months in the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph.

Rev. Dr. J. H. Ratcliffe, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, St. Catharines, announced to his congregation on Sunday, May 7th, that he intended to resign his pastorate. He has been minister at First Presbyterian Church for nearly 40 years, and has served in the Presbyterian ministry for forty-five years. He has been nominated for the Hamilton Presbytery as Moderator of the General Assembly. He will retire in September next.

How to Have Beautiful Walls
THE most economical and satisfactory way is to paint them with Mellotone—a flat wall paint made by Lowe Brothers.
Mellotone is easily applied with a brush. Dries quickly with that soft, dull velvety finish that is so much desired.
Using it, you can have a different color scheme in every room, yet all will be in perfect harmony.
Mellotone colors are as soft as the tints of the rainbow.
Easily cleaned with soap and water.
Come in and see the sample panels and ask for literature.

ALTON

Alton Women's Institute has just closed one of the most successful years in its history. Altogether the Society raised the large sum of $832.26. Its members very generously contributed $50 to the school nurse fund of the county and another $60 to the improvement fund of the Alton town hall. Their special charge for the coming year will be the renovation and improvement of the town hall. During the year that has just ended special efforts have been made in the way of community gatherings, to which the mothers and children of the village and district were specially invited. The officers for the incoming year are: Pres., Mrs. J. A. Lovell; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. W. Dorrington, Mrs. W. G. Cameron; Sec.-Treas., Miss Ella Dowswell; Branch Directors, Mrs. Storey, Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Babcock, Mrs. J. McConnell; District Director, Mrs. E. D. Barber; Delegates to County Convention, Mrs. J. Lovell, Mrs. E. D. Barber, Miss E. Dowswell, Mrs. Akitt.

The Junior Institute also gave material assistance to the nurse fund and did a great deal to assist the Senior Institute in other ways. They have done useful and creditable service in the way of local relief work and have also engaged in sewing, being busy at the present time on a quilt. The officers for 1922-23 are:—President, Mrs. W. Houston; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. C. Lovell, Miss Julia Palmer; Sec.-Treas., Miss Dorothy Cockerill; Branch Directors, Misses Margaret Meek and Ruth Babcock, Mrs. Charles Lovell; Delegates to County Annual Meeting, Mrs. W. Houston, Mrs. B. Cockerill, Mrs. C. Lovell.

GRAND VALLEY

Downed Local Team by 6 to 3 in First League Baseball Game.

Four hundred people gathered on Idylwild Park on Victoria Day to witness the baseball match between the Grand Valley and Orangeville teams. The game was a North Wellington Association league fixture and the visitors had the satisfaction of pulling out a 6 to 3 win. For three innings the game was a pitchers' battle between Marshall, the local twirler, and Craft, who started on the mound for the visitors. Fielding errors gave Grand Valley their opportunity in the fourth. Every man on the visiting team went to bat and when the fireworks ended Grand Valley had a row of six tallies to their credit. Orangeville rallied strongly in the fifth, when they scored their initial counter. Neither team did any more counting until the ninth, when the locals made a determined effort to pull the game out of the fire. The situation looked dangerous for the visitors for a time, but the best the home nine could do was two runs, making the final tally 6 to 3 in favor of Grand Valley. Craft and Irvin Campbell pitched clever ball for the winners, keeping the runs well scattered. Craft was very effective in pinches and was usually able to hold the Orangeville batters safe when hits were most needed. For the locals Marshall was very effective while he lasted. Wheeler was on the mound for the remainder of the game and seemed to have the Grand Valley bunch pretty much at his mercy.

Dr. Claridge, of Grand Valley, and Mr. Gordon Hayes, of Orangeville, acted as umpires and handled the game in competent fashion. The line-up was:—

In the evening the local baseball team gave an enjoyable dance in the Opera House, at which the players of both teams were entertained. Excellent music was furnished by The Queen's Hotel Novelty orchestra. Mesdames Connell, Dorrance, Little and Walker acted as chaperones.

STOLE A CLUB BAG

Theft Worked the Undoing of the Thieves.

The Orpheus Male Quartette contributed to the musical programme at a concert in Markdale on the night of May 24th. After the close of the concert, Mr. Fred Falconer, one of the members of the Quartette, discovered that his club bag had been stolen from a car. Enquiry brought the information that one of the occupants of another car had been seen removing the club bag and placing it in his car. Another bystander volunteered the information that the occupants of the second car had been selling whiskey in Markdale during the day and had left town driving out south. Mr. Falconer thereupon 'phoned License Inspector Robinson, who enlisted the assistance of High Constable Marshall and Nightwatchman Still. The only clue the officers had to work on was the information that the men they wanted were driving a Dodge car. About one o'clock Thursday morning they stopped a Dodge at the corner of Broadway and Prince of Wales and were rewarded by finding the missing club bag stowed away in the rear of the car. They also discovered and took possession of 30 bottles of Gooderham & Worts special whisky. The occupants, two young men who gave a Church St. address in Toronto, were placed under arrest. The driver gave his name as Roy Pearce and the other man as Roy Campbell. It is thought that Campbell has been in the whisky running business for some time. The two men were arraigned before Magistrate Falconer on Thursday forenoon and were remanded until Friday. Crown Attorney Island agreed to grant them their freedom if they could furnish $500 cash bail. They remained in jail until Friday afternoon, when the money was paid over and the pair left for Toronto. Some doubt is felt as to their appearance for trial to-morrow.

HIS 71ST BIRTHDAY

Genial Squire Crawford, Police Magistrate of Brampton and County Treasurer of Peel, celebrated his 71st birthday last Friday. "Bob," as his intimates call him, honored the anniversary by treating a number of his friends to a motor trip to Orangeville, where they had dinner at The Grand Central. From here the party journeyed to Caledon Lake, where they spent the rest of the day as guests at County Treasurer Wheelock's summer home. The party included Judge Justin, John and Eli Crawford, Jas. Jackson, Registrar Frank Jackson, J. Hocking, John and Sam McClelland, Sheriff Henderson, Dr. Edwards, County Clerk L. H. Willis and a couple of others whose names we did not learn. Mr. Crawfrd's many friends join in extending heartiest congratulations.

GREATER DEMAND FORCES PRICES UP

The increased consumption of tea in 1921, (during which year, by agreement, the tea growers of Ceylon and India had curtailed production), forced the price of tea steadily upwards to the present abnormally high level. The lowering of the duty in England will mean still greater demand, and authorities on tea tell us that still higher prices may be expected.

FIVE SIDEROAD BRIDGE

The estimates submitted by the County of Dufferin Good Roads Committee at the special meeting of the County Council a couple of weeks ago included an item of $1,000 for a concrete culvert on Five Sideroad, Mono, between the Prince of Wales Road and the Centre Road. We understand that the construction of this culvert is to be a step toward making Five Sideroad part of the Bradford to Arthur County Provincial Highway. At the present time traffic over the Hockley Road from the east reaches Orangeville by way of the Centre and Stevenson roads after a tortuous and difficult climb up the Quarry hill leading from the Hockley to the Centre Road. By improving Five Sideroad west to the Prince of Wales this traffic can be diverted to the Provincial Highway five lots north of Orangeville, thereby obviating the necessity of climbing the Quarry hill. The new route will give a level road admirably suited for auto traffic and just as short if not a little shorter than the road now in general use.

IS THERE A BABY IN YOUR HOME?

Is there a baby or young children in your home? If there is you should not be without a box of Baby's Own Tablets. Childhood ailments come quickly and means should always be at hand to promptly fight them. Baby's Own Tablets are the ideal home remedy. They regulate the bowels; sweeten the stomach; banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers—in fact they relieve all the minor ills of little ones. Concerning them Mrs. Moise Cadotte, Makamik, Que., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets are the best remedy in the world for little ones. My baby suffered terribly from indigestion and vomiting, but the Tablets soon set her right and now she is in perfect health." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A VERY WET SPRING

Mr. H. S. Hutchison, a former Orangeville man, writes The Banner from Tadmore, Sask., as follows:—"We have had a very wet spring here—the worst in seventeen years I have resided in the West. Quite a lot of grain has been seeded on the sandy and higher ground along the Assiniboine River, but there is yet a large amount of land to be sown. The weather has been fairly dry for the last week and looks as though it would continue to be dry. If it does most of the land will yet be sown."

A HOLIDAY SALE

Large Crowd Attended Mr. Arch. McKinnon's Sale of Shorthorns in Erin Twp., on Wednesday.

The Cairnbogie herd of Shorthorns and Yorkshires, the property of Arch. McKinnon, of Erin Township, was disposed of by public auction on Wednesday afternoon, May 24th. The sale was very satisfactory in every respect. Good animals were offered in good condition and excellent prices were the order of the day. A large crowd was in attandance. A pleasing feature of the Sale was that a large number of the animals were sold to local buyers. The top price of the Sale, $385, was paid for Scotch Heather 8th, a good roan two year old heifer, the purchaser being Mr. A. Dods, of Alton. The grade cattle sold realized good prices. The Yorkshires were disposed of at prices ranging from $30 to $90 apiece. Messrs. Amos and Hindley conducted the Sale in a satisfactory manner. The following is a list of the Shorthorn sales and the buyers:—

THIN BLOODED PEOPLE

Need a Tonic to Enrich the Blood and Restore the Health.

Some people have a tendency to become thin-blooded, just as others have an inherited tendency to rheumatism, or to nervous disorders. The condition in which the blood becomes so thin that the whole body suffers, comes on so gradually that anyone with a natural disposition in that direction should watch the symptoms carefully. Bloodlessness, or anaemia, as the medical term is, can be corrected more easily in the earlier stages than later. It begins with a tired feeling that rest does not overcome, the complexion becomes pale, and breathlessness on slight exertion, such as going up stairs, is noticed.

Dr. William' Pink Pills are a home remedy that has been most successful in the treatment of troubles due to thin blood. With pure and good food these blood-enriching pills are the correct treatment when the symptoms described above are noticed. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind is shown by the statement of Mrs. M. Chase, of Trenton, Ont., who says:—"I can highly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all who suffer from anaemia and nervous exhaustion. For three years I was nearly always troubled with headaches, and until I began taking these pills no treatment seemed to do more than give me temporary relief. I had read of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were doing for others, and finally decided to try them myself. I further decided to give them a fair trial and kept on taking them regularly for several months and I am glad to say have derived permanent relief. I feel that I can safely and honestly recommend this wonderful medicine."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail, at 50c. a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MELANCTHON STATION

Sunday night was quite cool and some thought we people up in this northern clime had a slight frost.

We notice several cars of hay are being loaded and shipped from the C. P. R. station.

Mr. and Mrs. Civell, of Toronto, are visiting the latter's father, Mr. Wm. Barrett, of this village.

Another real estate deal is said to be going through in our burg this week.

Our neighbor, Mr. James Sawden, who has been on the sick list, has recovered.

Mrs. John Barrett is spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Silk, of Corbetton.

Mr. T. K. Slack, M. L. A., spent the week-end at his home here, from the Ontario Legislature.

Mr. S. Sawden, of Toronto, is renewing acquaintances in the neighborhood for a few days.

Rev. W. E. Curran preached an inspiring sermon in the Gravel Road Church last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sawden and son, Elgin, of Caledon, visited friends here last week, running up by auto.

Mr. John Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith, of this place, and Miss Murray, of Osprey, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony on the 24th of May, by Rev. Mr. Owens, of Shelburne. Congratulations.

Rumor says that the Melancthon mining project is going ahead again, a Toronto syndicate having been formed, with a large amount of capital behind it, and operations for further drilling for both oil and coal will start immediately.-Melancthon may yet become a second Pittsburg.

Work on the Provincial Highway is progressing below Shelburne, and it will soon be extended up here. Several feet are being taken off the front of each farm to widen the road-bed and a new wire fence will be on either side of the road, which, certainlly will add considerably to each farm in value and appearance, although some of the farmers, as usual, are making objections to the scheme. For instance, in the case of the old Barrett homestead on the hill, which came into possession of William Barrett one year ago, there is no fence at present along the road. When Billy bought his father's former farm and premises he wantonly and foolishly chopped down the big elm shade trees that adorned the front of the old 50 acres for so many decades, and removed the rail fence, but so far has not built any new fence. It took years to grow these towering trees, 25 in number, which his grandfather, the late Andrew Darraugh, and son, Matthew, either planted or left standing, while clearing "the hill," when they took up the 50 acre lot and the adjoining one, known as the West farm, from the Crown Lands Department of Upper Canada about 75 years ago. Those tall and majestic elms that could be plainly seen from Dundalk, eight miles north of here, provided the double purpose of adornment to "the hill" and a sheltering shade from the "heat of summer noon" in midsummer. They added $500 to the value of the farm.

Mr. James Hammond, who recently moved from this section of Mulmur, has sold his farm at Pleasant View to a gentleman at Claremont, and has taken in exchange two valuable horses, one of which, "Black Sam," is travelling through this neighborhood, and has a stand at Mr. Claude Carson's, Main Street, west. They are imported Clydesdale stock and are certainly fine looking horses.

The sympathy of the community goes out to Mr. George Shoaff and family, of Shelburne, in the recent death of Mrs. Shoaff, formerly of this place.

TAR AND FEATHERS

Unpleasant Episode Occurred in Orangeville on Thursday Night.

On Thursday night a number of young men of the town and district visited the home of Mrs. Arch. Nesbitt, on Margaret St., forced their way into the house, dragged out Sid Irwin, the central figure in the recent inquest proceedings, and after treating him to a liberal coat of tar and feathers compelled him to parade Broadway garbed in this unusual attire. The crowd congregated about ten o'clock and asked for Irwin, who had been seen entering the house earlier at night. Mrs. Nesbitt ordered the young men away, declaring that Irwin was not about the place. The denial did not convince the crowd, which assumed a more threatening attitude and finally forced the doors of the house, searched the place from cellar to roof and at last located Irwin hiding in a corner of the garret. He was seized and dragged outdoors with scant ceremony, taken to the rear of a stable off John St. and there compelled to remove his clothing, after which he was liberally plastered with auto battery paint and feathers, from a stock which had been reqaisitioned beforehand. When he had been decked out to suit the fancy of his captors Irwin was permitted to resume his stockings and patent leather shoes and in this garb was compelled to walk up John St. to Broadway and then east on Broadway to the Market corner. The victim was obliged to walk the centre of the roadway, while the crowd which had by this time grown to a couple of hundred divided and marched along the sidewalks. The performance was accompanied by cheering, laughter and yelling that aroused the greater part of the town. At the Market corner the procession faced right about and escorted Irwin back to Mill St. corner, where he wast set at liberty, told he was free to go where he chose, but warned that he would be given another application if he was not out of town at the end of a week. With the assistance of one of the Nesbitt boys the young man removed as much of the paint and feathers as he could, resumed his clothing and then returned to the Nesbitt domicile, apparently unaffected and quite unconcerned over the treatment to which he had been subjected. He remained in town until the end of the week, but we understand that he has now gone to Toronto.

Mrs. Nesbitt and family put up a stiff resistance when the crowd attempted to break into the house. The woman took her stand at the head of the stairway and armed with a bucket of water doused the leaders of the invading force in thorough fashion. Hugh Nesbitt used the butt of a gun to such good effect that one young man from the country is said to be carrying a badly gashed face as a memento of the occasion.

The affair has given Orangeville much undesirable publicity in the daily press, which was quick to seize the opportunity to make a good newspaper story of the incident. Responsible citizens cannot approve of mob law in any community. Admitting that there was a great deal of provocation in the present instance, for the conduct of the young man has been reprehensible, young men should bear in mind that they are taking a very serious step when they take the law into their own hands. This, so far as we know, is the first time in the history of Orangeville, when one of its citizens has been tarred and feathered and we hope for the good name of the town that it will be the last.

Just how the affair will end is problematical. Local authorities are not disposed to take any action on account of the strong feeling that has been aroused over the conduct of Irwin and the woman implicated in the affair, and the belief that the young man got just about what his conduct deserved. However the prominence given the matter in the daily press has set the wheels moving in the Attorney General's Department. Detective Miller, who was here at the time of the enquiry into the death of the late Richard Allen, is in town this week making a searching enquiry into the whole unsavory episode. He is said to have the names of some forty persons, who were mixed up in the Thursday night affair. Just what action will follow the future will disclose.

Perhaps you can imagine what this means to one who had suffered terribly with headaches for ten years.

Read about it in this latter.

Mrs. Tena A. Smith, Country Harbor Cross Roads, N. S., writes:

"I feel that if anyone can recommend Dr. Chase's medicines I certainly can. I suffered for ten years from severe headaches, and although I took all kinds of headache powders they just relieved me at the time. I became very nervous and run-down, and everything seemed to trouble me. I have taken eighteen boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and it has made an entirely new person of me. I felt that I could not have lived without it. I do not have one headache now for every hundred I used to have, and my nerves are good and strong. I just weighed 109 pounds when I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and now I weigh 121. Knowing what this treatment has done for me, I cannot too highly recommend it to others."

IN MEMORIAM.

In fond and loving memory of my dear husband and our father, John Haddock, who entered into rest May 30th, 1919, at Relessey, Ont.

This day brings back the memory
Of a loved one laid to rest;
And those who think of him to-day
Are those who loved him best.

Little did we think that day
When we from slumber rose,
That father would be cold in death
Before the day would close.

'Twas not the tear at that moment shed,
When the cold clay was laid o'er him,
That told how beloved was the father who'd fled,
Or how deeply our hearts deplore him.

Yet again we hope to meet him,
When the days of life are fled,
And in Heaven with joy to greet him,
Where no farewell tears are shed.

He has reached the golden shore,
The Valley of Death he has trod;
No more for him of pain or woe,
He is happy with his God.

Loving family, you must turn for comfort,
To the God we all should love;
It was He who called your father,
Called him to His Home above.

WIFE AND FAMILY.

CALEDON.

Mr. James Carleton, of Avening, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Dr. Thomas.

Mrs. Margaret Faulkner and Miss A. Wright, of Toronto, spent the holiday with Caledon friends.

Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Thomas entertained some rather distinguished guests on the 24th, among them being Prof. and Mrs. E. A. McCulloch and family, of Toronto, Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Ross, of Georgetown, and Mrs. J. Hisey, Roger and Miss Helen Hisey and Miss Mary Johnston, of Creemore.

Mrs. Wm. McCartney, of West Toronto, formerly of Caledon, is visiting friends and old neighbors in our community.

Master Geo. Fletcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fletcher, of the Centre Road, is suffering from pneumonia. We hope for his speedy recovery.

Mr. Wilmer Hillock is receiving the congratulations of his friends upon his success at the Races in Erin on the 24th.

Mr. Kenneth Kearns has arrived home after celebrating the 24th at Brampton and some intermediate points.

This is the growing time.

The Laurel Dramatic Club, in connection with the Epworth League, came down and presented their Play, "Star Bright," in the Town Hall here on the night of the 24th. Notwithstanding that there were many counter attracions the hall was well-filled and the Laurel people are receiving well merited praise for their performance.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. McCrae and little daughter are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John C. Warnock on their way home from Scotland, where they went on their honeymoon trip nearly three years ago. Mrs. McCrae is a sister of Mrs. Warnock and lived in Caledon some time ago with her uncle, Mr. David McFarlane. They will leave for North Bay in a few days.

M'CLURE-GIFFEN

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at The Manse in Cheltenham on Wednesday, May 17th, at 3 p.m., when Esther Elizabeth Giffen, of Allos, was united in marriage to Robert Lorimer McClure, of Norval. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Thos. Dodds. The manse was prettily decorated with pale pink carnations. The bride looked charming in a navy blue suit and pink georgette waist and large grey hat, trimmed with French flowers. She carried a large bouquet of Ophelia roses. After the marriage Mrs. Dodds served a dainty tea, the dining room being prettily decorated in pink and white. The young couple left on a short motor trip and on their return will reside at Mount Pleasant.

Perfect jams and jellies with one minute of boiling

YES—just one minute boiling, instead of—well, you know only too well how long.

That's what the Certo process does—saves time—and also saves all the fruit flavor that was boiled away by the old methods.

Naturally you'll enjoy that extra, delicate, delicious flavor in your jams and jellies, the full, fresh, fruity taste, —and the results are certain.

CERTO
Trade mark registered

Certo supplies the natural, essential element of fruits that makes jelly "jell". This element is pectin, and Certo is just Nature's own pectin concentrated in handy form—absolutely free from preservatives or gelatine.

Certo makes 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.

Economical, saves time and worry and never fails.

Makes Delicious Rhubarb Jam

4 level cups (2 lbs.) Crushed or Chopped Rhubarb.
8 leveled cups (3½ lbs.) Sugar.
1 bottle (scant cup) Certo.

The "strawberry" variety gives finest colored jam; cut in short lengths without peeling and put through coarse chopper or chop by hand. Measure chopped or crushed rhubarb into large kettle. Add sugar, mix well, stir hard and constantly, and bring to a vigorous boil over hottest fire. Boil hard 3 minutes with continual stirring. Take from fire, add Certo, and stir it in well. Skim and pour quickly.

Supreme as a Gift~
A compliment to any bride

HOLMES & Edwards Silverware is a gift which combines rare, enduring beauty with years of faithful service; it is a superb compliment to any bride.

The veritable glitter of precious gems—radiance of unusual beauty—that is the charm the exclusive Holmes & Edwards hand-burnished lustre will bring to her table.

And Holmes & Edwards yields the lasting satisfaction which comes only from the generous use of sterling silver. It is sterling silver's only competitor for wear.

In SILVER-INLAID, solid blocks of pure silver are set in on the back of the bowl and handle before plating, and in SUPER-PLATE, a heavy extra plating of silver is given to protect these points against wear.

High-class jewellers will show you the beautiful Jamestown Pattern, strikingly simple and artistic—as well as table appointments such as flower baskets, casseroles, pie plates, cake and bread trays—of the same high quality.

CHARTERS WON

Knew Bible Better Than The Clergyman.

Samuel Charters, M. P., and editor of the Brampton Conservator, is credited with having at one time cherished an ambition to be a clergyman. Probably that accounts for his knowledge of Scripture, something that frequently stands a man in good stead, as the following story shows:

One winter day in the County of Peel, when the snow was deep, and the road in a rut, a Methodist minister driving along in his cutter met a farmer with a load of hay. The preacher would not turn out into the ditch, and the farmer couldn't. They drove on till their horses were nose to nose. Then the argument began. As it promised to be prolonged, the minister invited the man on the hay to take a place in the cutter, as it would be more comfortable. There, side by side, they argued their respective rights. Soon they discovered to each other that the one was a Methodist minister and the other a Methodist class leader. Naturally, that led to an armistice and an amicable settlement.

Like the good newspaperman that he is, Samuel Charters, M. P., printed the story. But the minister did not desire the publicity, and he descended upon the office of the Conservator in his wrath to demand an apology or he would issue a writ for libel. Now Mr. Charters can be as bland as the heathen Chinee when circumstances make it necessary, so he said kindly to the preacher: "You should not get so angry about so small a thing."

"Well, sir," said the minister, "a man can be angry and sin not."

"Oh, yes," replied Samuel, "but finish the verse."

This rather non-plused the churchman, who first glared at the editor and then stalked up and down the editorial room, finally stopping in front of Mr. Charters and in a challenging way confessed that he could not do so.

That was Mr. Charters' opportunity, and he came right back with "Let not the sun go down on your wrath, neither give place to the devil."

A concentrated glance gave place to a smile on the face of the preacher, who held out his hand as to a life-long friend.

HUGH M'DOUGALL

One of the grand old men of this community passed peacefully away last Thursday when Hugh McDougall, Frederick St., departed this life. Mr. McDougall had reached the ripe old age of ninety years, and had been in feeble health for several years. His beloved partner predeceased him on February 24th, and since that time he had sorely missed her. His last thoughts were of his beloved Beatrice, and he fancied her with him when the end came. He married Beatrice Currie, daughter of the late Donald Currie, of Caledon, west, on February 3, 1859, and for sixty-three years they were spared to each other and lived in each other's affections. For twenty-six years they resided in Caledon, and thirty-seven years ago came to Acton, and for a quarter of a century successfully farmed the property on the second line, now owned by Mr. A. J. Murray. When they retired they took up their residence in the cosy brick house on Frederick St., where Mr. McDougall passed away. Three sons and four daughters were born in the home, but the devoted parents survived all of them with the exception of Miss Sarah, who is the sole surviving member of the family. She seems to have been providentially spared to minister in loving care and solicitude to the needs of the aged parents. In this care she has been greatly aided by Mrs. James McDougall, their affectionate daughter-in-law. During recent years this home has seen more partings in death than falls to the experience of most. Mr. McDougall was a sincere Christian. He loved his church, the Baptist, and rejoiced in its services. The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon and was conducted by Rev. Mr. Johnston, of Toronto, a former esteemed pastor. Interment was made in the family plot at Fairview Cemetery. — Acton Free Press.

CLERK FOR 36 YEARS

After being clerk of Chinguacousy Township for thirty-six years Mr. Robert Kee, of Cheltenham, has found himself obliged to resign owing to ill-health. Mr. Kee, who is in his 78th year, had a severe attack of influenza early this spring. When not fit to go out of the house he attended the April meeting of the council and suffered a very severe relapse. During his 36 years as clerk, Mr. Kee has missed only three meetings of the council, a truly wonderful record. Previous to his appointment to the Clerkship, Mr. Kee was Reeve of the municipality and also served a number of years as councillor. He has always been a faithful and conscientious public servant and his retirement will be keenly regretted by his many friends in the township.

MAGIC CARPETS

(By Margaret E. Sangster.)

"Curious, unexpected things have the most nonchalant way of happening at curious, unexpected times," said the great novelist. And he laughed as he said it.

We listened in very respectful silence. For he is so well known that folks always pay strict attention to his most banal utterances. We listened intelligently. And so, after a moment, he spoke again.

"When we least expect it," he told us, "we may be plunged into the very heart of some great adventure. We may find some romance waiting for us on the corner of a commonplace business street. We may find love, or hope, or success, or achievment, in some dim corner that we've been passing day after day. A bit of a rag rug, lying on the kitchen floor as a protection to the new oilcloth—it may be a magic carpet, for all that we know! We step on it casually—and then, all at once, we're in Bagdad!"

The nearly great painter—who isn't so imaginative as his vivid pictures would leave one to suppose—spoke up.

"Let's go find a scrap of rag carpet—what?" he suggested in a voice that seemed to be absolutely serious. "I wouldn't mind a week-end in Bagdad—not at all. Life in the city, when it's spring, grows pretty monotonous!"

The little stenographer raised her childishly puzzled face. I think that we include her in our group because of her naivette, her appealing, unspoiled youth.

"How can you say such a thing?" she asked the nearly great painter. "You who have all the color of the world at the end of your brush. You can make sunsets, and the stormy sea, and mountain tops and great open spaces. Why," she paused in embarrassment at the quiet that had fallen over our group. "Why, you can even create your own Bagdad!"

Slightly abashed, the almost great painter nodded his head. The great novelist was the one who finally spoke.

"Out of the mouths—" he began to quote. And then, hurriedly, he broke off. It was only after a long pause that he addressed the little senographer.

"After all," he said, "you've proved my theory, perfectly. A rag rug may be a magic carpet—if you've the proper point of view. Magis is at the finger-tips of the world—if the world is wise enough to appreciate the fact. Color, and romance, and adventure—we may create them at will. It's all in ourselves!" He paused again, his eyes fixed upon space, and we somehow felt—although we didn't say anything—that he was storing away sentences to be used in his text book.

We don't have to be novelists or painters to create an atmosphere of adventure and romance. We don't have to be gifted with one of the seven arts—no, indeed! All that is necessary is a brain that can hold the seeds imagery, and a heart that has a trifle of youth. All we need is a pair of eyes that can see past the emptiness and the ugliness, and a soul that can sing when the way is hard.

O. Henry, master writer of short stories, used to call New York an Arabian Nights city. Rich men were rulers and califfs to him. Beggars were book figures, shop-girls were enchanted princesses, society women were great ladies who had never really touched the flower life. He wrote of them, covering them with the silver cloak of his word magic, and yet they never seemed in the least unreal. When the reader paused to think, his characters were just the sort of people that one sees every day in a great city—people who lived out their little comedies and tragedies, who went back and forth on divers errands.

O. Henry was a genius. Not because he could write better than any other creator of short stories, but because his point of view was different. It was newer, fresher, more radiant with the sheer excitement of everyday existence. It was more spontaneous. Because, seeing through his eyes, one came upon the Fountain of Youth that Ponceo Leon so unsuccessfully sought.

I once heard a splendid preacher say from his pulpit that imagination was a ray of light straight from heaven. That it brought a glow of reflected glory to an earth that was inclined to be too dark.

"Imagination," he said, "is the power to build, to fashion, to improve. To see beauty in the most extraordinary way. To hear music. To find the meaning of—everything! Imagination is the poetry of living."

We don't have to buy yards of tickets and travel for weeks by rail and steamboat and covered wagon to find Bagdad—that city of romance and adventure and bright colors and bizarre happenings! We don't have to find actual beauty before we can create it! For beauty is ever present—it's at our command, no matter what our profession or our walk of life may be!

"When we least expect it," the great novelist said, "we may be plunged into the very heart of some great adventure. We may find romance waiting for us on the corner of a commonplace business street. We may find love, or hope, or success, or achievement, in some dim corner that we've been passing day after day!"

He spoke the truth. Unexpectedly, romance may come into our lives.

UNABLE TO WALK FOR A YEAR

Paralysis Entirely Relieved by "Fruit-a-tives"

The Wonderful Fruit Medicine

Paralysis is a break-down of the Nervous System and affects the victim in various ways. Sometimes, nervousness makes itself known by hysteria, insomnia, constant headaches, or it may be so bad that one is partially or completely helpless in some part of the body, just as Mrs. Heacock was.

SAULT STE MARIE, ONT.

"When I was twenty-eight years of age, my doctor advised me to have an operation, which I did and it proved very serious, leaving me weak and unable to walk for a year. Seeing your "Fruit-a-tives" advertised in the papers, I decided to try them. I continued to use them regularly, and today I am able to go about my home duties and care for my family".

MRS. J. W. HEACOCK.

Any form of Nervousness is often caused by, and is always aggravated by, Constipation, which poisons the blood, irritates the kidneys and inflames the nerves. "Fruit-a-tives" stimulates the action of liver and bowels, kidneys and skin—tones and sweetens the stomach—keeps the blood pure, and builds up the entire nervous system.

In a word, "Fruit-a-tives" has proved that it is the most scientific and effective remedy in the world for Nervousness or a disordered condition of the nervous system.

The Superior Clydesdale Stallion
BARON HAMLET
(2827) (6090) (12757)

Will be kept for service during the season of 1922 at the stables of the owner, lot 15, 2nd line, east, Caledon.

TERMS—$15.00 for a living colt, payable when colt is one week old. Sale of mare renders fee due and payable.

All accidents to mares at risk of their owners.

BARON HAMLET was bred by James Rigg, Highbanks, Kirkcudbright, Scotland, and imported by the Graham Renfrew Co., Bedford Park, Ontario. Of his sire, Baron's Pride, nothing need be said, as it is well known that he was the best Clydesdale sire that ever lived.

BARON HAMLET'S dam, Banks Daisy, was sired by Hamlet (4438), gr. dam Fanny of Bombie (3104) by sir Colin (3188) by Samson (741). There is no better bred horse in Canada to-day. As a stock horse he is unsurpassed.

Foals in 1919 from Baron Hamlet sold as high as $150.00, at 10 months old. One of his colts foaled in 1920 won first prize at Caledon fall fair, beating the colt that won the first prize at the Dufferin County Show in Orangeville, and was sold the same day for $150..00, and was delivered at four and one half months old. Another of his colts, foaled in 1920, was sold at public auction for $155 at eight months and one half old.

Three of his colts foaled in 1921 won first, second and third prizes at Caledon fall fair in 1921. The winner of the second prize was sold at seven months old for $160.00. Three of his yearling colts also won first, second and third prizes at Caledon fall fair in 1921. These colts all won in heavy draft class.

BARON HAMLET was inspected on the 29th day of October, 1912, when he was Passed and Approved, Form I. He has also been Enrolled for the year 1922 in Form I. in accordance with Chap. 67, Statutes of Ontario, 2 George V.

SHELBURNE MEMORIAL

Very little interest was taken by the citizens of Shelburne in the vote to settle the question of a site for the Soldiers' Memorial. About one-third of the property-owners took the trouble to go to the polls and record their votes. The result showed a decisive majority in favor of the cemetery proposition, the vote standing:—For Berwick Park, 89; for the Cemetery, 161. There were seven spoiled ballots. The Free Press states that while a substantial majority was shown for the cemetery proposition, the general feeling is that the memorial should be erected within the village limits, but as no alternative site was offered other than the Berwick Park, which called for additional financial outlay, the majority of the voters marked their ballots for the cemetery site, as the less expensive of the two propositions.

Dundalk will put 5,000 gallons of oil on the streets.

They Want what they read about

The standards of living for the average family in Canada grow higher each year. The luxuries of yesterday are the necessities of to-day. People in the smaller towns and on farms want the newer things they read about.

Dry Goods Stores, Grocers, Shoe, Hardware and Paint Stores, in the smaller towns, all find they can show the newest things by carrying small stocks of them and re-ordering by Long Distance. The jobber or manufacturer's warehouse is at their elbow — their order departments are alert for telephone trade!

Shipments are often made the same day. Up-to-dateness of merchandise is no longer confined to the big city stores — and large sums are not locked up in stock.

Try it. Have a big store in a small town. "Use the Bell to Sell" — and to Buy.

ROBERT KIDNIE

The Angel of Death has again visited the home of Mrs. William Kidnie, Mono Centre, and claimed as his victim her second son, Robert, who passed away on Thursday morning, May 25th. Tuesday of the previous week he was seized with an attack of pleurisy, which quickly developed into pneumonia and the strength was not forthcoming to contend successfully against this fresh attack, so despite the effort of doctors and nurse he succumbed as already stated.

Providence had not endowed the one who has been called away with a very robust frame, but this lack was compensated for by many other talents. He was imaginative, inventive, understood farming, besides being a good blacksmith and a carpenter and had also served 20 years as a practical engineer. He was ambitious, having left home early in life to seek his fortune in the West, Parry Sound and elsewhere, but ill-health forced him back to the home roof and a mother's tender care. He was a great comfort to his mother and the sympathy of the neighborhood goes out to her and the other members of the family, a sister, Mrs. W. J. Coleman, of Relessey, and three brothers, John, of Toronto; Thomas, of Alliston, and Wm. G., of Mono, in the hour of their trial.

The late Robert Kidnie was 53 years of [illegible] and unmarried. He was a man of sterling character, the same from Sunday morning until Saturday night. One person remarked that he was [illegible] the village preacher, whose very failings leaned to virtue's side and many were heard to observe that he hadn't an enemy. His favorite pastime was hunting, of which he was very fond. There was a large attendance at the funeral, which was held on Saturday afternoon, May 27th, to Burns' Presbyterian churchyard, where the departed one was laid to rest beside his aged father, who predeceased him just two months ago.

Deceased was a member of St. Matthew's Anglican Church, but since his removal from the old homestead to Mono Centre seven years ago had been a regular attendant at Burns' Church. He held the pastor, and thought he was all a minister of Rev. Wm. Coutts, in high esteem, the Gospel should be. The latter conducted the services at the house, preaching a [illegible] and comforting sermon from Jas. 1, verses 13 to 15. He was assisted at the grave by Rev. G. W. Lynd, of Laurel. The floral tributes included a wreath from the family and a spray from little Miss Mary and Master Gordon Kidnie. The pallbearers were six neighbors and friends—Messrs. A. McQuilken, E. Avison, W. Conn, R. Lewis, H. Ewing and W. Bridgeman.

BRAMPTON RACES

It is estimated that upwards of 2,000 people attended the Races in Brampton on Victoria Day. The Overland horses were to the fore in the 2.17 event, Jack Canuck winning straight heats and Jim Todd capturing third money. Mr. D. A. Hogg was one of the judges.

MONO MILLS

Mr. John McMullen, one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of Albion, died at the residence of his son, Peter, of Mono, on Friday morning last. The funeral was held on Sunday to Caledon East Cemetery, and was in charge of the Orange Order. Service was held in the Methodist Church, Mono Mills, at two o'clock, conducted by Rev. S. D. Dinnick.

The local sports were treated to their first lacrosse match at home on Friday evening of last week when a bunch of boys, including three High School pupils from Mono, played the boys from the village. Although the Humbersides, as the Mono boys call themselves, are a clever bunch and put up a fairly good sample of lacrosse, the score of 6-2 in favor of the village boys looks as though they had rather the best of it. The game showed, however, that there is some good material for a lacrosse team here and it looks like a good proposition to pick out the best from both teams and make a ten man team that might be entered in some of the junior leagues, as the boys practically all live along the Humber, if some of the older heads would get together and help the boys to get organized.

MRS. WILLIAM JACKSON

One of the oldest and most highly respected residents of the community passed away on Tuesday morning, the 23rd inst., in the person of Mrs. William Jackson, at her home here in the village. The deceased lady, who had reached the age of 73 years, had been seriously ill for only a few weeks, although she had been in failing health for some time. Sorrowing for her son, Samuel, of the C. E. F., who was last seen bravely defending an advanced position at Vimy Ridge, and whose fate will always remain one of the mysteries of the Great War, no doubt contributed to her break-down in health. She was the eldest daughter of the late Robert Mills, of Mono, and had lived all her life in the neighborhood and was well-known for her many sterling qualities, being not only a devoted wife and a faithful and loving mother, but also a true friend, a kind and generous neighbor and always deeply interested in all good work. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, to whom the sincere sympathy of the whole community goes out in his advanced years, and five sons, George, of Mono Road; Willie, on the old homestead; Selwyn, of Moosomin, Sask; Ernest, of Tottenham, and Reginald, at home, and two daughters, Mrs. Rev.) C. W. Holdsworth, of Islington, and Mrs. George Holdsworth, of Cobourg. Messrs. Robert Mills, Stephen Mills, Albert Mills, of Orangeville, and Mr. Alfred Mills, on the old Mills homestead, are brothers, and Mrs William Lee, of Moosomin, Sask., Miss Sarah Mills, of Winnipeg, and Miss Lizzie Mills, of Orangeville, are sisters. The funeral, which was one of the largest ever seen in the neighborhood, was held on Friday, the beautiful burial service of the Anglican Church, of which deceased was a member, being held in the church here, conducted by Rev. D. G. Atkinson, assisted by Rev. J. A. Matheson, Rev. S. D. Dinnick and Rev. G. G. Gray, of Rosemont. The interment was in St. John's Cemetery, Mono, where as the westering sun neared the distant horizon on the beautiful summer evening, in the presence of so many who were near and dear to her, the casket, banked with many beautiful floral tributes, was lowered to its last resting place amidst the scenes of her childhood, and the life of one who had lived so long and so well became a cherished memory. The bearers, who were all relatives of the bereaved families, were Messrs. William J. Holmes, George S. Jackson and Dr. A. A. Jackson, of Toronto, George Jackson, of Everett, James Drummond, of Adjala, and Willie Mills.

$400 THIS TIME

While holding Court on town on Thursday morning Magistrate Falconer assessed Dutch Fleming $400 and costs or five months in gaol with hard labor for having liquor in other than his private place of residence. This is Fleming's second offence. Dutch left town when the second charge was lodged and is keeping out of the way of the officers. High Constable Marshall has a warrant for his arrest and if he is going to keep out of Marshall's hands he will have to travel farther away than Alton, where it is said he was seen at the end of last week.

MISS KATHARINE HUNTER

The death of Miss Katharine Hunter, a resident of Orangeville for the last twenty years, took place at the home of her sister, Mrs. John Bennett, the Grand Central Hotel, on Saturday. Miss Hunter had been ill since before the New Year, but bore her affliction with patience and a cheerfulness that was good to see. Deceased, who was in her 72nd year, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Hunter, of Erin township. She was born and spent her girlhood on the farm north of Erin village on which the C. P. R. station now stands. She is survived by a brother, Mr. James Hunter, of Wiarton, and her sister, Mrs. Bennett. The funeral, which was private, was held to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Monday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Spring, pastor of Hillsburg Disciple Church, and Rev. Capt. Stewart conducting the services at the house and grave. The pallbearers were Tate and John McCannell, Inglewood; R. J. Bennett, Detroit; Dr. G. H. Campbell, Orangeville; Gordon Hunter, Calgary, and Jas. McMillan, Hillsburg.

Relatives here from a distance included Messrs. Tate and John McCannell, Mrs. Jamieson, Mrs. G. Patterson, Mr. John Martin and Mrs. Agnes McCannell, Inglewood; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. Archie McMillan and Miss Mary McMillan, Erin; Messrs. C. J., Jos. and Fred McMillan, Hillsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hunter, Calgary; Mr. Jas. THE WAR MEMORIAL

Excellent Site Selected and Contributions Invited.

The Memorial Committee for the Orangeville district met on Monday evening last, when all the members were present, excepting Mr. James Brown, of East Garafraxa, who, we regret to say, was unavoidably absent by reason of serious illness.

The question of site for the proposed monument was reconsidered, pursuant to instructions of the public meeting held in March last, and the relative merits of Alexandra Park and Broadway were fully discussed. The Committee finally decided unanimously, subject to the approval of the Town Council, to adhere to Alexandra Park, but to meet the views of those who favour a more prominent location than that first selected, by placing the monument facing Broadway, immediately West of the Town Hall, as near the corner of Broadway and Second Street as practicable. It is proposed to reclaim and beautify a small plot at this point as a setting for the monument, and to ask the Town Council to co-operate by making the Town Hall a bit more presentable. The monument will then overlook the new Provincial Highway, without interfering with public traffic, while the plot on which it will stand will be small and easily maintained. Dr. G. H. Campbell and Capt. A. Firth were appointed a Committee to obtain expert assistance in designing the plot. The matter of financing the undertaking was also considered at length. It was reported that there would be available from the grants of the county and town about $4200.00; but it was felt that a considerably larger sum than this ought to be raised, and that double the amount would not be too much to erect a memorial worthy of the gallant lads whose names will appear on it, and of the community from which they went forth as champions of truth and righteousness. It was felt also that many of the people of the town and district desire the opportunity of making their personal contribution, and it was decided to invite voluntary subscriptions during the next three weeks. Dr. G. H. Campbell, Orangeville, was appointed Treasurer of the fund, and all who desire to give are requested to hand their contributions to him, or to any other member of the Committee, whose names appear below, on or before June 20th next. Subscriptions may also be handed to any of the Orangeville banks, which have kindly consented to receive them up to that date, and all subscriptions will be acknowledged in the press.

This memorial is intended as a tribute of love and appreciation in memory of the men who voluntarily gave their lives in the Great Holocaust, and also to mark for posterity the patriotic and self-sacrificing effort of this community as a whole in a time of the greatest national crisis and danger, and it is hoped that the response of the public will be prompt and generous. Freely they gave their lives for Canada and for us; let us as freely and worthily contribute to their memory.

The members of the Committee, any of whom will receive contributions, are:—Amaranth, Herbert Hughes and W. R. Grosskurth; East Garafraxa, James Brown and John A. Cornelius; Mono, J. A. Marshall and Geo. W. Rayfield; Orangeville, Lt.-Col. Preston, Dr. G. H. Campbell, C. V. Jeffers and Capt. A. Firth.

EMPIRE DAY

Pupils and teachers of Orangeville Public School observed Empire Day by appropriate exercises. The Fourth Classes were treated to a programme, which included some sixty slides on the origin and growth of the British navy and the development of the British flag and a number of slides on the Tower of London. The slides were presented by Principal Firth, who gave an instructive explanatory talk. A delightful incident was the visit of a delegation from the local Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire, who presented the School with a framed copy of the rules for the correct use of the British flag on ceremonial and other occasions. The gift is a useful one and the thanks of the staff and school are due to The Daughters for their thoughtful interest.

LACROSSE NOTES

The first championship game of the season will be played on Idylwyld Park on Wednesday afternoon, June 7th, when Durham and The Dufferins will meet in the first of their district games. The visitors, who were runners-up for the district championship last year, have an admittedly fast team and will give The Dufferins a great game. They are generally admitted to be the most dangerous team in the district and The Dufferins realize that they will have their work cut out for them when the two teams clash on the 7th. The game will be called at 3.30 sharp. Admission, 40c; children, 15c; autos free.

Dufferins were without Henderson, Scott and Clyde Gordon for the Victoria Day game in Fergus. The absence of these stalwarts weakened the team seriously, particularly on the defence. At that the greenshirts proved quite the equals of The Thistles save in one unlucky quarter, when the Fergus home ran in seven goals. Blythe Brown ran loose in this quarter and did most of the damage. After that Bert Booth left the flags to Stephens and went out on defence to take care of Blythe. He did the job so effectively that the Fergus star did no more tallying. The two Browns, Black and Cushing, of last year's Dufferins, were on the Fergus team and played effectively as usual. At the end of the first period the score stood 2 to 1 for The Dufferins. Fergus got 7 and The Dufferins 2 in the second period and each team scored once in each of the remaining quarters, making the final tally 10 to 6 in favor of Fergus. The Dufferins were represented by:—goal, Booth (Stephens); point, Hambly; coverpoint, McAulay; defence, C. Robinson; centre, Stephens (Emack); home Cruikshank, Armour Robinson, Ewing, Golden and Hawken.

JUNIOR BASEBALL

The first championship baseball match of the junior series will take place on Idylwyld Park on Saturday, June 3rd, at 3 o'clock. Grand Valley and Orangeville will be the opposing teams. Citizens are urged to turn out and encourage the kids, who have been practicing hard for the game. Adults, 15c; children, 10c.

CHIROPRACTIC

Is Your Greatest Friend

Thousands of people are finding full restoration to health in Chiropractic adjustments, and why should you not be equally successful. Science is always on the move, and none has made more rapid progress than the Science of Chiropractic and for no other reason than its success to combat disease and give relief to suffering humanity. Investigate its merits. Get your information first hand from your Chiropractor, then you get it correct. Others may be misleading. A few Adjustments will convince you that Chiropractic will correct the cause of your disease, and put you in possession of good healthy conditions. If you are afflicted in any way, acute or chronic, visit your Chiropractor, have the cause removed and enjoy good health and happiness.

Sunday, the 7th, was a very cold and foggy day. The Hudson Bay Company have three men staying at the post, so we crossed the harbour, entered their domicile and held a short service for them. Then at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. we conducted services for the Eskimos in the little church. Kidlapig preached the sermon in the morning, and Pudlow at night. They certainly were great services. As most of the Eskimos were setting off during the coming week for the deer hunting, we sang special hymns, "Jesus Saviour Pilot Me," "Jesus is My Shepherd." God help the poor people. Jesus is their Shepherd. I have been thinking they would have to wait a long time if they had to depend on some so-called Christians in civilization to come and shepherd them. One Esikmo woman prayed that they might have a successful hunt, so that they would have skins to make the new ministers lots of clothes, so that they would not feel the "big" cold when it came along. The temperature to-day is 35 degrees below zero and I suppose you are gasping under a hundred degrees of heat in Southern Ontario.

August the eighth, and it is biting cold! I was cooking breakfast and happened to look out, I saw a general advance of boats and kyaks crossing the harbour from their encampment, and coming in the direction of the mission house. I immediately postponed our breakfast, and filled up the biggest pot with water and set it to boil. Then threw Lackey out of bunk, and by the time the Eskimos reached the house I had plenty of tea made and hard tack biscuits to serve out. Each one got a hot cup of tea and a big she-ba (biscuit). There were over one hundred of them and they were off to hunt. Their habit is, they never leave the country without seeing the minister and saying good-bye. Some of them went off in boats to sail down the Hudson Straits and land at some secluded spot, others just hoisted their chattles on their backs and struck north on foot. The women carry the biggest load, in fact, they do all the work—leaving the men free to hunt at all times. The large boats contain the women, children and the dogs, while the men travel in the little one-man skin canoes called kyacks. These smaller ones encircle all around the larger ones as they sail along, like torpedo boat destroyers, and as they travel their occupants hunt for seal. Our men, Kidlapig and Pudlow, went off with the party, so Lackey and I were left alone.

On Tuesday, August 9th, Lackey and I took a holiday, and taking our rifles and ammunition, we struck south-east over the hills. Talk about rough country! There is nothing here but high hills, mountains and lakes. One looks upon tufts of coarse grass or moss here and there and sometimes a little flower in the centre of it, but the country is as bare as a bald head. The valleys are dreadfully soft and swampy where the abundant snow has melted, but we wade on through the slop, as our skin boots, which reach to our knees, let no water in. We are thankful for this gift of a pair of skin boots each from the Eskimos just the first day after we landed. We climbed and climbed until we reached the summit of a range of mountains, and what a magnificent view stood before us. To the north, nothing but range after range of mountains, bleak and barren, except where the snow covers them. In the valleys are large lakes. All shades and colors of rocks and hills, black, brown, white, yellow, away to the purple ridges on the sky line. To the south we had a splendid view of the Hudson Bay Straits. We counted twenty-six huge ice-bergs floating down the straits. The day was perfectly clear. But the mosquitoes! Oh, those terrible mosquitoes! They are great big fellows up here, with fur coats on. And they dig holes into ones annatomy. They only last a month, but by jingo! They know how to bite while they do last. In the evenings we see some wonderful sunsets. It does not go dark immediately, there is a long twilight sets in, during which time the sky puts on some exquisite robes of color.

On Wednesday we rigged up our boat with a sail, and there being a substantial breeze, we had several runs around the harbour. It went splendidly, and while the wind blows we will not have to row much. Of course at the end of September the water will be frozen, then sailing will be practically off again until next July.

Following on with impressions and occurrences. I am noting down the chief ones of interest.

We are supplied with two boats, one a very large and heavy boat, and a canoe. Necessity is the real mother of invention so we designed and made a large sail for the heavy boat. It proved to be a real labor-saving device as it saved a good deal of hard rowing. When the wind is favorable, we now sail merrily across the bay.

On August the eleventh we hoisted our home-made sail, and had a splendid run down to the end of the harbor and then returned. The harbor is ten miles long and one mile wide so that is ample room for manoeuvering. It is just great to go bowling along before the wind and hear the water rippling and bubbling under the bows. It at once reminds one of the good old days we spent together on Belfast Lough. Writing of Belfast reminds me very forcibly that it was one of the head liners which was the last vessel to pass as we turned tail on civilization. Most peculiar, was it not?

Friday August the 12th, saw us doing a little exploration work on our own account. We struck north, the weather being fine, and soon reached one of the great lakes. I prowled around with the gun, while Lackey did some fishing. For bait he had a lump of bacon on the end of a hook. The wonder is to me that the fish bite—but they do. Hecaught a splendid trout, so we had dinner "a la carte" that evening.

Saturday brought heavy mist and was desperately cold. We determined upon seal hunting in order to get dog food for the winter months. Oh! the wind up here would peel potatoes! In order to keep warm we were compelled to drop sail and row hard. We kept our hands as warm as toast by occasionally dipping them into the cold salt water. We had two Eskimos with us, and we enjoyed the trip immensely. We were fortunate in capturing one big seal at the entrance to the harbor, and we secured a smaller one farther out. One huge seal popped his head up and we all peppered him with bullets, but he succeeded in escaping—we were all bad shots that time—however, we rejoiced to return with a few hundred weight of dog feed. Our only friends for the winter are the huskies, so we must see they have lots to eat. My arms were almost dropping out of their sockets, it was a long time since I rowed so far.

On Sunday morning we crossed the bay to the Hudson Bay post, and we conducted a service there. The company are keeping three men at the post for the coming winter. They are certainly splendid fellows, so we will have company for the dark months which lie ahead. We visit each other very frequently, and sometimes it is one-thirty, the wee sma' hours, when we re-cross, and oh! but it is chilly, it would cut one in two pieces.

Monday was a day to be remembered. It was our washing day. I tried to master the wash-tub, while Lackey baked the bread—some bread! A walrus might find it good chewing. However, we all must learn, so we laugh and laugh at these little things, then we sit and eat hard tack biscuits.

Falling a victim to the second paralytic stroke in two months, John O'Donnell, a well-known Milton resident, died there last week. He was 60 years old and is survived by his widow and a grown-up family of sons and daughters. His funeral was held to his former home town, Alliston.

Albert Homuth, of Teeswater, had the misfortune to be severely injured in his flour mill at Teeswater a week ago Monday. In some unknown manner Homuth's clothes became caught in the shafting, and he was whirled around several times before being thrown clear. When discovered he was unconscious and badly bruised, and suffering from shock.

William O'Hara, Lorne Park, was arrested last Wednesday following the seizure by License Inspector Reevely, of Brampton of several cases of beer, said to be stronger than legally provided for under the O. T. A. He was arraigned before Magistrate Burgess in Port Credit Police Court on a charge of having the liquor in an unauthorized place.

Mrs. Wm. Smith, the wife of a farmer living near Bolton, received painful injuries while milking the other morning. A partially blind cow became frightened by a small pony, and, mistaking Mrs. Smith for the offender, which she probably thought was a dog, attacked her, lifting her with her horns before she could make her escape. It is thought that the animal crushed her against the fence and then trampled her. One arm was badly torn, besides severe injuries to her body and limbs.

FOLLOWED MOTHER'S ADVICE

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Now Enjoys Good Health

Kessock, Saskatchewan.—"My mother has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and upon learning of my troubles advised me to try it, as I seemed all run down after the flu, and had some troubles such as women are apt to have. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and used the Sanative Wash. Also Dr. Brown's Capsules and Prescription and am so much better in every way. I am willing for you to use my letter as a testimonial as I recommend your medicines."—Mrs. Irene Nelson, Kessock, Saskatchewan.

When backaches and headaches drive out all ambition, when that bearing-down sensation attacks you, when you are nervous and blue, the one great help for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

George White of Tottenham happened with a very serious accident in Toronto. He was crossing the street with a pair of tongs on his shoulder when a motor truck struck him and ran over him. The driver never stopped to see if he was hurt. He was picked up and taken to the Western Hospital where it was discovered that he was suffering from a fractured skull, a broken collar bone and other injuries.

LINGERING WEAKNESS FOLLOWING DISEASE

Due to the Fact That the Blood Has Become Thin and Watery.

In almost every case the victims of la grippe, influenza, fevers and contagious troubles are left weak, ailing and despondent after the disease itself has disappeared. They do not pick up strength as they ought, and remain tired, listless and discouraged. The only reason for this is that the blood has been impoverished by the ravages of the disease through which the victim has passed. Strength and full activity will not return until the blood has been restored to its normal condition. The blood can be enriched and purified quickly and surely by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. To enrich the blood and strengthen the nerves is the whole mission of these pills, and thousands have found them beneficial after disease had left them weak and run down. Among those who have proved the value of these pills in cases of this kind is Mr. Charles A. Turner, lightkeeper, Thrum Cap light station, N. S., who says:—"In Jan. 1917, I took a severe cold which I neglected until it developed into pneumonia, which confined me to bed for some weeks. When I was able to get up and sit around the house, I found that I was not regaining my usual strength; in fact I seemed to be growing weaker and was reduced almost to a skeleton. I took an emulsion, but it did not help me. Then one day a friend who came to see me said, 'Here's some Dr. Williams' Pink Pills; just the thing to put you on your feet again.' I took them and then got six boxes more and soon could feel they were helping me. By the time the last box was empty I was doing my work again and feeling fine, and I had gained in weight. My health has since continued good, and I give the credit to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A GOOD MEDICINE FOR THE BABY

Nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets as a medicine for little ones. They are a laxative, mild, but thorough in action, and never fail to relieve constipation, colic, colds and simple fevers. Once a mother has used them she will use nothing else. Concerning them Mrs. Séluste Pelletier, St. Damas des Aulaines, Que., writes:—"I always keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house. They are the best medicine I know of for little ones and I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A TIE SCORE

Grand Valley and Orangeville Juniors Played 12-12 Game on Saturday Afternoon.

Grand Valley and Orangeville junior baseball teams played their first championship game on Idylwyld Park on Saturday afternoon. The game started at 3.30 sharp, with Rhomer in the box for Orangeville and Simpson doing the twirling for the visitors. Right from the outset the game developed into a contest with enough of excitement and thrills to rejoice the heart of the most ardent fan. In the first innings the batsmen on both sides were retired in one, two three order. This was too good to last and a change came over the scene in the second frame, when Grand Valley chased in two runs and Orangeville annexed a single tally. From the second innings until the finish of the game the batters proved too clever for the pitchers and runs came frequently. The score mounted steadily until at the end of the fourth stanza it stood six all. Grand Valley assumed the lead for the remainder of the game and when it came to Orangeville's half of the ninth the locals were two down. Would they tie the score and prolong the game into an extra innings, or would they go down to defeat as the seniors had gone down in the Victoria Day game? This was the question uppermost in the minds of the anxious fans who crowded the lines of the playing field and cheered frantically as the homesters rallied desperately and by clever work at bat and on the bases drove over one and finally the second run needed to tie the score and avert the defeat that had seemed so certain at the beginning of the innings. The two runs were secured with none out, but further scoring was prevented by a lucky double play which retired the side. In the extra innings Grand Valley scored once and again assumed the lead, but the locals came back with a counter in their half of the innings and the score was again tied at 12 all. After a short consultation the teams decided to call it a day and left the field with honors even and the final result undecided. The game, we understand, will be replayed at an early date.

Rhomer pitched a steady and a fairly clever game for the locals and was ably assisted by Willoughby at the receiving end. Lefty Rowan was quite at home on first, while Partridge proved a capable guardian of the keystone sack. Charlie Rowan seemed to like Simpson's shoots and had a fine time at bat. Price played a stellar game at short. The outfield had very little to do, but did that little in capable fashion. The visitors have a well-balanced nine and played clever, aggressive ball from start to finish. Rhomer had the better of Simpson in the matter of strike-outs, having 12 to his credit against 10 for the Grand Valley pitcher. Sullivan and Campbell acted as umpires and handled the game to the satisfaction of both teams. The line-up and score by innings follow:—

Save Comfort Soap Wrappers and Pearl White Wrappers

These Wrappers are valuable because you can exchange them at our Premium Store for Premiums. The illustrations below, taken from our new catalogue which we have just distributed, show a few only of the wonderful variety of goods waiting exchange for your wrappers from Comfort Soap and Pearl White Naptha Soap. Out of town customers can select their Premiums and get complete satisfaction by mail. Save the wrappers---they are valuable.

Comfort Premiums have always been noted for their high quality. For nearly thirty years we have been giving them for wrappers from Comfort Soap and our other products, and we know that many thousands of Canadians, men and women, boys and girls—for we have premiums for all—have been delighted with them and come back year after year for more. Comfort Premiums cost absolutely nothing, so why shouldn't you have them too? Just to make it more attractive for you to start we announce that:—

Every Wrapper will have DOUBLE VALUE for Premiums during next few Weeks

This means that every wrapper of Comfort Soap or Pearl White Naptha Soap brought or sent to us will count as two for any Premium you want. This offer will be withdrawn on June 30th, 1922, and is made only to interest you in our Soaps, for once you start we know you will remain our customers.

About Comfort Soap and Pearl White Naptha Soap

We are not in the "Premium Business," we are Soap manufacturers who use Premiums as the best and most appreciated kind of advertising—that is our only interest in Premiums. Comfort Soap is now made in a larger bar, bigger and better value than ever, but of the same high quality that gave it the largest sale in Canada amongst laundry soaps. Comfort will give you complete satisfaction as an all round household soap. Save the wrappers.

PEARL WHITE NAPTHA SOAP includes the greatest of all dirt dissolvers, naptha, in proper proportion, and it is therefore the best of all cleansers for even the most soiled clothes, without injury to anything. Use Pearl White Naptha Soap in cool or warm water, whichever is most convenient. It cleans by soaking without rubbing so it is a great time and labor saver in the home. Save the wrappers.

Bigger Bars—the Best Soap—with Premiums for Wrappers—that is Our Offer.

Put in a supply of these Soaps now, they improve with age, and get the Double Value for the Wrappers at once.

This is Our New Comfort Premium Book—Just Delivered to Your Door.

If you did not receive your Premium Book, write us today and we will gladly send you one promptly. It illustrates the hundreds of useful and valuable Premiums we exchange for Comfort and Pearl White Naptha Soap Wrappers. New Premiums include:—

Curtains and Draperies	China ware	Bracelets	Drawing sets
Toilet articles	Glass ware	Hair Brushes	Leather Bags
Pictures	Spoons	Children's Toys	Tea sets
Books	Cutlery	Sleighs	Fishing Rods

BE THRIFTY—BUY COMFORT SOAP AND PEARL WHITE NAPTHA SOAP AND SAVE THE WRAPPERS

When you can get two high-grade, standard laundry soaps, and the best Premium goods offered in Canada, all at the regular price you pay for soap—why not have both? Comfort Premiums are the highest quality because we have been buying Premiums for 30 years. We spend the bulk of our "advertising appropriation" each year for Premiums, believing that satisfied customers are our best friends. Each wrapper counts as two for Premiums until June 30th, 1922—our Special Closing Offer. All grocers sell Comfort and Pearl White Naptha Soaps. Buy them and save the wrappers.

THE WATERWORKS

Willis Chipman Makes Preliminary Report on Proposed Improvements to Orangeville's System.

[illegible] months ago the Town Council [illegible] Mr. Willis Chipman, of the firm of Chipman & Power, Toronto civil engineers, to make a report on improvements to the Orangeville Waterworks System for the purpose of increasing the supply of water for domestic and fire protection purposes. Mr. Chipman visited Orangeville and inspected the system on May 17th and 18th. His preliminary report on the proposed improvements was submitted to the Council by Reeve Gillespie at Monday night's meeting. The report is quite lengthy and deals exhaustively with the construction of the original fire protection system about 1891, the present waterworks system in 1895-96, subsequent alterations and improvements of the latter and then discusses the proposed improvements, concluding with the following recommendations:—

1. The construction of a collecting reservoir west of the townline road (Amaranth-Mono townline) with a capacity of 40,000 gallons, at an estimated cost of $5,000.00.

2. The construction of a fire supply reservoir as near to the fire hall as practicable, to contain 300,000 gallons, at a cost of $15,000.00.

3. The metering of all factories and large consumers.

4. The construction of a fire proof

The first recommendation is the only one upon which the Council appears disposed to take action at the present time. After discussion of the report, it was moved by Councillors Parkinson and Anderson that the matter of securing plans and specifications for a collecting reservoir be left in the hands of the Fire and Water Committee, with authority to consult with Messrs. Wheelock and Christie and to advertise for tenders for the work. The tenders will probably call for a reservoir 25 by 50.

Mr. and Mrs. Oare, Miss Awde, Mr. Evans and Misses Jennie and Florence Acheson, of Toronto, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Acheson, First St., over the week-end.

PRINCIPAL M'HUGH

Brampton was shocked last Friday morning by the unexpected death of Mr. Thomas McHugh, Principal of the Public School of that town for the last twelve years. Mr. McHugh, who was 65 years of age and apparently in the enjoyment of good health, was engaged at school until 4.30 o'clock on Thursday afternoon. He awoke between two and three o'clock on Friday morning and passed away within an hour from heart failure. The late Mr. McHugh was Principal of the Streetsville school before moving to Brampton and prior to that had taught for many years in Caledon. During his forty-five years as a teacher no pupil of his had ever failed to pass the entrance examination. His wife, formerly Miss Annie Scott, of Caledon, survives, also one son, Marshall, of the staff of Upper Canada College. Principal McHugh was a brother of the late Mrs. Hugh Bracken, of Mono.

Hostess Pattern

With Eyes of Pride She Views Her Table

FEW things invoke such pride in the heart of the woman of good taste as her table appointments. Snow-white linen, sweet-scented flowers—and gleaming silver.

Holmes & Edwards Silverware embodies all the qualities she would look for in making the purchase herself. A special Holmes & Edwards process of hand-burnishing and the lavish use of sterling silver gives it a sparkling radiance that adds brilliance to any setting.

But more than that, Holmes & Edwards is prized for its tenacious wearing qualities. SILVER-INLAID is given extra protection by sturdy blocks of sterling, inlaid with cunning skill at the points of wear, before plating. SUPER-PLATE, by a heavy extra deposit of sterling silver at all wear points.

Ask your jeweller to show you the new Hostess or the dignified Jamestown Pattern—gemlike in their setting of the rich purple and gold Gift Boxes. See his display of exquisite tea-sets, comports, pie plates and flower baskets.

DR. A. M. MITCHELL

Superintendent of Hospital at Weyburn, Sask., Was Onetime Student at Orangeville High School.

Robert Menzies Mitchell was born at Port Huron in 1845, both his parents being Scotch. The first 21 years of his life Mr. Mitchell spent upon the farm. In 1886 he went to the Orangeville High School, obtaining his teachers' certificate and matriculated the same year. After teaching school for a couple of years, first at Relessey and then at Badjeros, Mr. Mitchell, in 1889, entered Trinity Medical College, Toronto, and graduated three years later as M.D. and C.M. He is a fellow of the college and also a member of the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons.

In 1892, Dr. Mitchell bought a practice at Dundalk, Ont., and followed his profession there for seven years. In 1899 he decided to come west and removed in that year, along with his family, to Weyburn. At that time Dr. Mitchell was the only medical practitioner between Moose Jaw and Portal and he held that distinction for some years. For two years the doctor was quarantine inspector for the Dominion Government at Portal. In 1900 he opened a drug store in Weyburn and conducted it until 1905.

Twice Dr. Mitchell was elected mayor of Weyburn, in 1904 and 1907. For eight yaers he was on the public and high school boards and he was chairman of the Weyburn Hospital since its foundation. He is enthusiastic about Weyburn and is confident that it will be a great city. Amateur sport has always found a friend in Dr. Mitchell. He is especially interested in football and hockey, having been president of the Provincial Hockey Association in 1910.

Dr. Mitchell was first elected to the Saskatchewan Legislature in 1908 at the general election held in that year, running as a Liberal. He was married in 1892 to Margaret McKinnon, of Badjeros, and has two sons.

Both Dr. Mitchell's boys fought the Germans. Chester enlisted with the 28th Battalion, while Donald, the youngest, was in the Royal Air Service.

Dr. Mitchell was M. L. A. for Weyburn when he was appointed Superintendent of the Hospital. He immediately resigned his seat in the Legislature and within a short time proceeded to Battleford to familiarize himself with the methods of treatment in that institution. Later he went east and took a postgraduate course in mental diseases and their treatment, thereby fitting himself in a thorough manner for the duties that were to devolve on him as Superintendent of the new institution.

MRS. CHAS. SANFORD

Mary Moore, widow of the late Chas. Sanford, of Melancthon, died at the home of her son-in-law, Wm. J. Wattam, lot 10, con. 3, on Friday evening, May 26th, at the ripe old age of 94 years. Since the death of her husband over six years ago she has made her home with her daughter. She was a daughter of the late James Moore, of Caledon, having come there with the family from County Armagh, Ireland, when a girl of five years. When she married Charles Sanford they settled on the farm where she died. She was the last of a family of five sisters and one brother, the late Noble Moore, of Orangeville, being the only brother. Deceased is survived by one daughter, Mrs. W. J. Wattam, and an adopted son, Chas. Sanford, of Toronto. Interment took place in Shelburne cemetery on Sunday afternoon.—Free Press.

A daily bus service has been inaugurated between Listowel and Port Elgin, via Palmerston, Harriston, Clifford, Mildmay, Walkerton, Hanover, Elmwood, Chesley and Paisley.

ACCIDENTAL

Result of Inquiry Into Death of John Murchison, of Arthur.

The adjourned session of the Coroner's inquest, empanelled to inquire into the circumstances connected with the tragic death of John Murchison, was held in the council chamber on Thursday afternoon when the following verdict was delivered by the jury, after having heard and duly weighed the evidence deduced:

"We, the jury summoned to enquire into the cause of the death of John Murchison, find that he came to his death while being engaged on the C. P. R. section running east from Arthur, by being hit on the head by a C. P. R. engine attached to a freight train passing a point at which the section men were repairing the track, about six and one-half miles east of Arthur, between two and three o'clock in the afternoon of May 18th, 1922, and we find from evidence that the blow from the engine fractured the skull, causing instantaneous death. We find the manner in which he was struck was caused by his over anxiousness to remove a gauge that was left on the track; we also find that no blame is attached to any person or persons for the accident."

Signed—D. Gillies, H. J. Colwill, C. A. McMullen, J. M. Small, F. O. Henry, Stewart Cummings, J. M. Roach, Foreman.

Arthur, May 25th, 1922.

Coroner Blair presided and the first witness called was Dr. Allan, who gave professional evidence as to the nature of the injuries sustained by the unfortunate man. Thos. Willoughby, engineer, Jos. Myers, fireman, and Thos. Arnott, brakeman on the freight train by which the deceased was struck, gave evidence. There was no variation in the stories which they told, which related to the facts of the accident as set forth in our account last week.

Mr. D Willoughby, section foreman, and his gang, Messrs. John Prior, S. Colwill, T. Farrell and Jas. Dunn, also gave evidence and corroborated the testimony of the trainmen. From no phase of the evidence, taken as a whole, could blame for the fatality be attached to anyone, and the jury's finding was what all present expected.

J. M. Kearns, Crown Attorney, conducted the investigation.—Arthur Enterprise.

in medicines, as in every other necessity, the public is satisfied with nothing but the best! This explains the ever-increasing demand for Zam-Buk. Not only is this great balm the best household remedy to-day, but it is also the most economical.

Zam-Buk's superiority is due to the fact that it is all medicine, containing none of the coarse animal fats or harsh mineral drugs found in ordinary ointments. Again, the medicinal properties are so highly concentrated that they contain the maximum amount of healing, soothing and antiseptic power, so that a little of this balm goes a long way.

Another reason why Zam-Buk is most economical. It will keep indefinitely and retain to the last its strength and purity. Best for skin diseases and injuries, blood-poisoning and piles. All dealers, 50c. box.

THE HORSE SHIED

Rev. F. M. Bell-Smith, of Mono Road, his wife and their young son, Wentworth, had a narrow escape from serious injury when they were thrown from their buggy, while on the way to church at Salem. Their horse shied at a roll of wire in the road and threw them out, upsetting the buggy. Fortunately the worst injuries they sustained were a number of scratches and bruises.

SARAH McQUARRIE

The death of Miss Sarah McQuarrie, of Shrigley, on Monday night, was very sad. Miss McQuarrie had been in failing health for some months and went to a hospital in Kitchener in February and about five or six weeks ago to Weston Hospital. With very little hope of recovery she desired to come home to Shrigley, so Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Bailey went to Weston on Monday to bring the patient home. Accompanied by a nurse they arrived by the night train Monday in Dundalk. Miss McQuarrie was in a very weak condition and passed away in the auto as they were nearing home. The deceased is survived by three sisters: Mrs. Geo. E. Bailey, Shrigley; Mrs. Jos. Cole, Centre Line, and Mrs. McLean, in the West. The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon to Badjeros cemetery.—Dundalk Herald.

BARON HAMLET
(2827) (6090) (12757)
Will be kept for service during the season of 1922 at the stables of the owner, lot 15, 2nd line, east, Caledon.

TERMS—$15.00 for a living colt, payable when colt is one week old. Sale of mare renders fee due and payable.

All accidents to mares at risk of their owners.

BARON HAMLET was bred by James Rigg, Highbanks, Kirkcudbright, Scotland, and imported by the Graham Renfrew Co., Bedford Park, Ontario. Of his sire, Baron's Pride, nothing need be said, as it is well known that he was the best Clydesdale sire that ever lived.

BARON HAMLET'S dam, Banks Daisy, was sired by Hamlet (4428), gr. dam Fanny of Bombie (3104) by sir Colin (3188) by Samson (741). There is no better bred horse in Canada to-day. As a stock horse he is unsurpassed.

Foals in 1919 from Baron Hamlet sold as high as $150.00, at 10 months old. One of his colts foaled in 1920 won first prize at Caledon fall fair, beating the colt that won the first prize at the Dufferin County Show in Orangeville, and was sold the same day for $150..00, and was delivered at four and one half months old. Another of his colts, foaled in 1920, was sold at public auction for $155 at eight months and one half old.

Three of his colts foaled in 1921 won first, second and third prizes at Caledon fall fair in 1921. The winner of the second prize was sold at seven months old for $160.00. Three of his yearling colts also won first, second and third prizes at Caledon fail fair in 1921. These colts all won in heavy draft class.

BARON HAMLET was inspected on the 29th day of October, 1912, when he was Passed and Approved, Form I. He has also been Enrolled for the year 1922 in Form I. in accordance with Chap. 67, Statutes of Ontario, 2 George V.

ALTON VILLAGE

Was Founded by Sturdy United Empire Loyalists.

Alton village, situated at the extreme north of Caledon township, Peel County, on the Teeswater branch of the C. P. R., with the Credit River flowing through it, and the Caledon Mountains cradling it, is unique among the rural centres of the county.

Founded 100 years ago by United Empire Loyalists, who treked on foot from Pennsylvania, driving their cattle through the thick woods, it is much the same village as it was some 80 years ago, except that it has kept pace with modern progress, and in that respect is second to no centre in the county.

Although the years have brought changes, as might be expected, the population of the village remains about the same as half a century ago, btween 500 and 600. The industries of to-day are two woollen mills, a planing mill, a grist mill, two blacksmith shops, a carriage works, a motor repair shop, and a foundry. The business of the village is carried on by a number of up-to-date merchants, who follow the lines of business required by a centre so far inland as Alton.

In the past the village had suffered untold things at the hands of the fire fiend. Scarcely an industry can be mentioned which has not at some time or other been laid low by fire.

There were in the earlier days of the village three congregations, Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational. The last named had a very large following, and had managed to erect a splendid church, sumptuously furnished. It fell a victim to the flames, and a smaller edifice was erected on the site.

The passing of the years depleted this congregation until it could no longer support a minister. The town fathers secured the church and Alton has a town hall that will seat three hundred people.

Rev. Alexander McFaul, superintendent of education for Peel, preached to the Presbyterians some sixty years ago, the Congregationalists loaning their church. Later the Orange Hall was used, and in 1874 the body erected its own church, of which Rev. W. N. Carr is pastor.

The Methodist body worshipped in a frame building, which was converted into a house, when they erected a fine church thirty years ago, the present pastor being Rev. J. F. G. Morris.

There have been three schools in Alton, the first being a log school in the village, the first teachers being Messrs. Noble and Firstbrook, and later a Miss Shad, who, strangely enough, was a mulatto, but a woman of refinement with the ability to instruct youth. The second school was built of brick, near the site of the present Presbyterian Church, while the third is a commodious building of brick, holding two rooms.

With the river running through the centre of the village, with two power dams right in the village, and two more in the hills above it, it is only to be expected that floods would have their place in the history of the village. In 1890 after a season of bad rains, the dam highest up the river came down. It carried the others with it, and a scene of devastation ensued. Houses were swept away and one person drowned. Fortunately, nothing so disastrous has occurred since.

The war was felt heavily in the village. The whole district gave freely of its young men to the cause, and many casualties saddened the loyal homes. Barber's carriage factory was turned into a munition works, and at one time 117 men and women worked in two shifts, doing their bit to help in the war. Patriotic endeavor of every kind was pushed, and not a week passed during the entire course of the war without some effort being made for the boys fighting overseas.

No village in the county is organized for progress as is Alton. The Women's Institute takes a foremost rank, for they have conducted a medical examination of the schools, a baby clinic, a community life institute, and a home nursing course in the past four years. One of the members, Mrs. T. W. Meek, is secretary of the Alton School Board, and is also president of the county institute. Mrs. W. A. Dorrington, another active member, is secretary of the Peel Mothers' Pensions Board.

The latter, in co-operation with the ministers, has concluded a survey of the village in connection with the Adolescent Act, and hopes to see vocational training with proper equipment established.

The Amusement Club, of which Charles Lovell is president, has just installed a complete set of scenery in the town hall.

Besides, there are Odd Fellows and Orange Lodges, Ladies' Aids, Mission Circles, Guild and League for the young people and Tuxis and Trail Rangers' camps for the lads.

Above everything else, Alton is a village of homes, attractive in appearance from the outside, made and furnished for the enjoyment of life, as to the interiors. Every family enjoys its own life, and there is but little social entertaining. But there is a splendid community spirit, and most of the pleasure of the village is sought in a commercial form. The mothers and the kiddies gather for a social evening, or meet and have a good time at the school. And when the men and women want a good time they want it in such a form that everyone in the village is included in the good time.

The most up-to-date note in the place is the electric lighting. The power is brought from the Cataract, three miles farther down the Credit. Floor space is charged for kilowats measured and charged bills rendered to consumers once a month and are paid at the Sterling Bank. This is the best illustration of the efficient spirit which keeps things moving progressiveward in Alton.—Toronto Telegram.

WILLIAM NOBLE

William Noble, of Whitfield departed this life in Lord Dufferin Hospital, Orangeville, on Tuesday morning, May 23rd, at the age of 57 years. Deceased underwent operations for appendicitis and stomach trouble a week previously and for some days his case was hopeful. On Saturday previous to his death, however, his condition became worse and death followed on Tuesday morning. The late Mr. Noble was a son of the late William Noble, of Whitfield. On December 31st, 1890, he was married to Sarah Best and they settled on the old homestead, lot 7, Centre Road, Mulmur, where he continued to reside until his death. Besides his widow, deceased is survived by three sons, Clifford Noble, 4th line, Amaranth; Arthur and Wilbert, at home; and four daughters, Lulu, nurse, in Chicago, Ill.; Helen, Ethel and Bessie, at home. One brother, T. J. Noble, Calgary Alta., and one sister, Mrs. J. J. Rooney, of Winnipeg, survive. Mrs. Rooney was present at the funeral, which was held from his late home on Thursday afternoon of last week to Shelburne cemetery. The funeral was in charge of L. O. L. No. 366, Whitfield, of which deceased was a member. The pallbearers were Messrs. Josiah Marshall, Robt. Marshall, John Williamson, John Best, Thos. Best and Jos. Rutledge.—Free Press.

Humane Society medal is to be requested for John May, a fisherman at the Fifteen Beach, St. Catharines, for his gallant rescue of a child from drowning.

A full-size, full-weight, solid bar of good soap is "SURPRISE." Best for any and all household use.

Confidence in grape growing as a profitable industry is reflected in the great number of new vines planted this spring in the fruit belt. On one farm alone, in Iouth township, owned by the E. D. Smith Co., 1,500,000 new plants have been set out.

In the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties, the wedding took place in Bloor Street Presbyterian Church, Toronto, May 10th, of Elva May, daughter of Mrs. Simpson and the late John Albert Simpson, Grand Valley, and Captain Walter Earlin Shier, son of the late Francis John Shier, of Uxbridge.

A most profitable business just now is raising rabbits for their hair. This is the material used to give fur felt its furry surface and fur felt has increased in popularity to such an extent that the manufacturers cannot get enough rabbit hair for their requirements. As a consequence of this shortage the price of clean white rabbit hair has risen from around $20 a pound to $120.

The death of Mrs. Robert English which occurred at her home in Tecumseth, removes a young lady who enjoyed a high degree of popularity. Mrs. English was the fourth daughter of the late George Ewing of Mono and was born at Sheldon thirty years ago. After obtaining a teacher's certificate she taught school in these parts till her marriage which occurred on the 25th of June, 1913.

The Voice that Commands Supplies

That you may not lack food or other necessities, a constantly growing stream of goods and products flow to market along country roads, many of them ordered or sold by Long Distance.

Progressive dealers rely on Long Distance. It enables them to take advantage of favorable market conditions and order supplies quickly, and secure confirmation of the order at the same time.

Buying and Selling by Long Distance is the most efficient way of securing a maximum number of results in record time, at minimum cost.

Bankers, Brokers, Manufacturers, Merchants, Builders, Contractors, Butchers, Bakers, Grocers, Department Stores, Newspapers — all are using Long Distance more and more to increase efficiency.

Could all your salesmen see as many prospects as can be reached in one day by Long Distance?

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In the Estate of William McKinnon, Deceased;

NOTICE is hereby given that all persons having claims against the estate of William McKinnon, late of the Town of Orangeville, in the County of Dufferin, retired farmer, deceased, who died on the 12th day of September, 1909, are required to forward their claims, duly verified by affidavit, to George Robb, Orangeville P. O., on, or before, the 26th day of June, 1922, after which date the executors will proceed to distribute the estate, having regard only to such claims as the executors shall have notice of at that time.

Dated the 1st day of June, 1922.

GEO. ROBB,
Orangeville P. O.
Solicitor for the Executors of the said Estate.

CALEDON

Now for the June showers and June brides.

Dr. Spence, of Claude, preached in the Presbyterian Church last Sunday evening, the pastor, Rev. J. Burkholder, being at Bradford attending a church celebration there.

The lacrosse match on Saturday between our boys and Inglewood attracted a large crowd. The game was a good, clean exhibition of sport and everybody appreciated the spirit which was manifested by both sides. Mr. Raspin Scott acted as referee and gave general satisfaction. The visitors proved a little too fast for our lads who are only getting into shape and won the game by a score of 4 to 2. With a little practice our boys will give them a good "go" when the return match takes place. The line-up was as follows:—

Referee—Raspin Scott.

Chelenham team will play here next Saturday afternoon, when a fast game is looked for.

Miss B. Maxwell, teacher in S. S. No. 9, entertained her father over the week-end.

Mr. J. C. Warnock is getting the brick on the ground to veneer his house, which will make a great improvement to the place.

Next Sunday being Conference Sunday Mr. Morris will be away, but Mr. Wood, of Victoria College, will have charge of the service here.

Mr. William Faulkner, Mr. George Emack and Mr. Simon Kearns jr. are all proud possessors of new Ford cars.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lindsay and Misses Lila and Carrie McCartney, of Toronto, visited Caledon and Orangeville friends over the week-end.

Mr. Bert Stubbs is a welcome visitor in town.

Dr. J. T. Thomas has returned home from Toronto after attending the sessions of the Medical Association Convention.

Backache

Backache is the outstanding symptom of kidney disease. Women often make the mistake of attributing other causes and overlook the derangement of the kidneys until serious developments have made it difficult to obtain permanent relief.

This letter points to a treatment which has been so thoroughly tried and proven so effective in the great majority of cases that you cannot afford to overlook it when cause arises for its use.

Mrs. Albert Brunet, R.R. No. 1, Ottawa, Ont., writes:

"I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for the past two months, having been afflicted with kidney trouble. I used two doctors' medicine previous to this, without any good results. A friend told me to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the second box made me feel a good deal better. I have now used about six or eight boxes, and am completely relieved."

—Rev. D. B. Gilmour, the rector of Mono East Parish, will preach in Crawford's Methodist Church, Albion, at 7 o'clock on Sunday evening next, June 11th.

—His friends congratulate Mr. Wilfrid Crowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crowe, Zina St., upon his success in passing his final exams in medicine at Queen's University.

—At the present rate of Tanlac sales, it is estimated the grand total will reach 24,000,000 bottles at the end of the present year. Sold by C. V. Jeffers, Orangeville, Ont.

—Orangeville Citizens' Band will make an excellent attraction for a Garden Party or other outdoors entertainment.

—Although a powerful reconstructive tonic, Tanlac contains no harmful ingredients, minerals or opiates, which are so often found in other medicines. It can therefore be taken by delicate children with splendid results. Sold by C. V. Jeffers, Orangeville, Ont.

—The Executive of the Orangeville W. M. S. will meet in Alton on June 13th, afternoon and evening. The afternoon programme will include reports of the representatives to the Provincial and General meeting and an address by Mrs. Mahaffy, of Orangeville.

—Mr. J. W. Smith, who has been Superintendent of the Guelph District for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company for a number of years, has been promoted to the office of Superintendent of the Hamilton district. Mr. Smith, who is well-known here, was in town on Monday. His friends congratulate him upon this recognition of the energy and ability he has shown in the service of his Company.

—"I would not take $1,000 for what that wonderful Tanlac medicine has done for me," said Mrs. Mattie Lutes, of Lexington, Kentucky. Sold by C. V. Jeffers, Orangeville, Ont.

—Roy Wattam, a Shelburne young man, was sent up for trial by Magistrates Falconer and Mason on Tuesday of last week on a charge of rape preferred on behalf of a girl of 16 years of age. High Constable Marshall, who investigated the case, found that Wattam and another young man took two young girls out for a drive. It is alleged that the young men drove out on a lonely road in Melancthon and forced the two girls to accompany them into a vacant house, where the offence was committed.

ORANGEVILLE, - - ONTARIO

PLEADED GUILTY

A year ago last March Miss Edna Gallaugher, who was at that time teaching school at Mono Mills, had a suit case stolen while in Orangeville. The suit case was taken from a rig belonging to Mr. Wilson Duke, who had driven to Orangeville to meet Miss Gallaugher on her return from the Easter vacation. The contents were largely clothing and other personal effects which Miss Gallaugher valued at $200. Although Miss Gallaugher advertised her loss and placed the matter in the hands of the authorities, the whereabouts of the missing property remained a mystery until this spring, when the officers secured evidence connecting a young man named Anthony Farmer with the theft. Farmer was arraigned before Magistrate Falconer last Thursday, pleaded guilty to the theft and was remanded for sentence. The officers did not succeed in recovering the contents of the suitcase, but Farmer made partial restitution by turning over an automobile valued at $150. Miss Gallaugher is now teaching school in Toronto.

BROADWAY PAVEMENT

At the meeting of the town council on Monday night Reeve Gillespie reported for the special commitee appointed to interview the property holders on the street respecting the proposed pavement on Broadway. The County Council and Government grants are for a twenty foot pavement in the centre of the street. It is proposed to increase the width to thirty feet and assess the whole or part of the cost to the property owners. The Committee reported in favor of a 50-50 division of the cost, fifty per cent. to be charged to the property holders and the other fifty per cent to be defrayed out of the general revenue of the town. In the discussion that followed some of the members inclined to the opinion that the property owners should pay the entire cost. To give an opportunity to get information regarding the method followed in other towns, the report was withdrawn. The matter will be considered again at a special meeting this or early next week.

BASEBALL ON JUNE 14TH

The Orangeville Baseball Team will play its second home game of the season on Idylwyld Park on Wednesday afternoon, June 14th, beginning at 3.30 o'clock sharp. Hillsburg will be the opposing team and as the visitors have a strong nine a well-played game may be looked for. The locals are practicing faithfully and do not intend taking any chances of a repetition of the Grand Valley defeat.

DIED.

ISLAND—In Mono, on Saturday, June 3rd, 1922, George Edgar Island, aged 45 years.

LAUREL

Laurel Methodist S. S. will hold its annual garden party in Maleby's grove in Laurel village on Thursday evening, June 15th. An excellent programme will be provided by the Ionic Quartette, of Brampton. Speeches will be given by the local ministers and others. Supper will be served by the ladies from 6 to 8.30 o'clock. There will also be the usual refreshment booth on the grounds. A good time is assured everybody. Come and enjoy yourself.

Those who favor church union were disappointed at the vote taken on the question by the congregations of the village a week ago Sunday. In the Methodist Church the vote was unanimous in favor of union, 108 persons marking their ballots for and none against. In the Presbyterian church the vote stood 55 against and 30 for union. The difference in the attitude of the two churches is attributable in part, at least, to the fact that the proposal voted on contemplated placing the union church in charge of the Methodist Church.

BORN.

LANG—In Amaranth, on Saturday, June 3rd, 1922, to Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Lang, a daughter.

DAWSON—In Cookstown, Ont., on Tuesday, June 6th., 1922, to Mr. and Mrs. James Dawson, formerly of Orangeville, a son.

The Maples Women's Institute will hold their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. W. H. Reid, East Broadway, Orangeville, on Thursday evening, June 15th.

GAVE OFFICERS SLIP

"Dutch" Fleming put one over on two Provincial officers who visited Alton Saturday afternoon to arrest and convey him to Orangeville. Fleming, who has a fine of $400 or a term of five months in gaol at hard labor hanging over him for a second breach of the Ontario Temperance Act, was working about his mother's house when the officers descended on him. Asked if he was Willis Fleming he answered in the affirmative and was told he would have to accompany his visitors to Orangeville. "Dutch" professed willingness to comply with the request of the Officers, but asked to be allowed to go upstairs to clean up and change his clothes. The officers agreed and while they were waiting downstairs Fleming lifted a window in the back of the house, got through the opening and dropped lightly to the ground. A little later the officers were surprised to see their quarry sprinting at top speed in the direction of a nearby swamp. Pursuit proving futile the discomfited and chagrined minions of the law made a hasty exit from the village. Ten minutes after they left Fleming was back again, but remained only long enough to gather up a few belongings, which he stowed in his trusty Henry, in which he shortly departed poste haste for parts unknown.

BLOUNT

Mitchell's Church Ladies Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. W. Duke on Wednesday, June 14th. The members are all especially asked to attend and visitors will be cordially welcomed.

CHIROPRACTIC

Is Your Greatest Friend

Thousands of people are finding full restoration to health in Chiropractic adjustments, and why should you not be equally successful. Science is always on the move, and none has made more rapid progress than the Science of Chiropractic and for no other reason than its success to combat disease and give relief to suffering humanity. Investigate its merits. Get your information first hand from your Chiropractor, then you get it correct. Others may be misleading. A few Adjustments will convince you that Chiropractic will correct the cause of your disease, and put you in possession of good healthy conditions. If you are afflicted in any way, acute or chronic, visit your Chiropractor, have the cause removed and enjoy good health and happiness.

The Hudson Bay men have cleared a part of the shore, and you would laugh heartily to see us playing the Eskimos a game of football. Everybody here, of course, wear skin boots which reach to the knees, and we all look, yes, and feel, awkward, and as our feet are quite tender, yet, we run about like Charlie Chaplin. The Eskimos are quite used to them and have feet like iron and come down like a tornado, and woe betide you if you don't skip quickly. They do not understand our passing the ball one to another. When one of them gets a kick at the ball, he just leathers it with all his might, indeed, with such force does he kick, he usually finishes up on his back, much to the hilarity of the entire mob. The women are worse than the men; they charge into the crush with their little children tied on their backs, and some times they get bowled over and the poor little kiddie goes rolling over the ground, but the mother just picks herself up, grabs the child, stuffs it back into the bag on her back, and off after the ball again. The child can cry its eyes out,—it does not matter! The mother is indulging in a game of football.

Wednesday appeared and the weather was misty and cold. A great battalion of Eskimos left their quarters on a deer hunt, and of course they came to say good-bye. It kept us very busy up till noon saying good-bye, with a cup of tea in one hand and a hard tack biscuit in the other, and exchanging such essentials in order to shake hands constantly. However, we saw these brave men and woman off. After dinner we crossed the bay in the canoe, and climbed the mountains on the west side, and from the summits we have splendid views of absolute desolation, great pyramids of snow, and a general junk shop of rocks. We counted thirteen large ice-bergs floating down the Hudson Strait.

Next day we sailed down the harbour, and scaled a large cliff, where we located a large cave about fifty yards deep. We entered the cave and the water makes some weird sounds. We canoed on and on into that deep blackness, and now and then the sound of moaning, then the sound of laugher, then like the singing of a bird, was heard. The falling of the water makes its own music. We returned to the Hudson Bay post and spent the evening with the men. Lackey was going to help one of them to launch a large boat, so would not return with me in the canoe. At 11.30 I stepped into the canoe and started off. About fifty yards from the shore the rotten thing bowled over and I was emptied into the icy water. No one ever drowns here—they are always petrified! Talk about a cold bath, well, I swam up and grasped the canoe and hung on. The others heard the splash and in ten minutes they had their boats launched and were alongside. My fingers were frozen solid to that rotten canoe, and it was some job getting dragged into their boat. They worked magnificently, they rowed hard for the shore, and I kicked off as many clothes as I could enroute, so that the moment I struck shore I hopped out and struck post haste for the Hudson Bay post, where I had a good massage and a big mug full of something good and hot. Attired in heavy deerskins, I reached the mission house, and retired to my bunk. Lackey would not leave me all night, he was afraid, so he lay on the floor beside my bunk. Next morning, just at daybreak, the Hudson Bay men came over to see if I was all right. They found me with my nose in a book and enjoying life thoroughly. Oh! it is all in the day's work, but alas! the canoe is done for, it is no more, its death knell has been sounded. It is lying on the opposite shore and Lackey says the first chance he gets he is going to "give it the axe." So much for the canoe, it cost one poor soul his life last year, and nearly did the same again, so it is time it was busted.

On the Sabbath day we held our usual services, one for the Hudson Bay men and two for the Eskimo. Our noble warrior Kidlapig preached at both services and he took for his subject "The Fasting of Our Lord," illustrating his discourse from his own experience of the previous week.

The mighty hunter Pudlow returned to Lake Harbour nothing the worse for his hunting trip on Monday at 6.15 p.m. He soon had his tent erected. He reported shooting four reindeer; this feat is counted nothing, neither it is when one has a wife and two children to clothe for the winter. I am afraid our two heroes will have to pull through with seal skins this winter. Seal skins are little use to keep the intense cold out, as they freeze as stiff as boards.

Kidlapig shot seven ducks to-day, and we roasted one, which just slipped down our throats in great style. In the afternoon we ferried another ton of our provisions across the harbour and stored them on the north side of our shack.

Next day, accompanied by Kidlapig and Pudlow, we went on a seal hunting expedition. We were successful towards evening in bagging three large seals. The cold was desperate and we returned with keen appetites and our boat sheeted with ice.

Thursday saw us stacking coal near the house, in preparation for the winter. We repaired the stove pipes, which were none the better for lying idle for many long months. The temperature was dancing a hornpipe to-day between 28 and 30 degrees below zero. Almost takes the breath away. I expect you are just melting with the heat in Old Ontario.

On Friday we visited some of the Eskimos, and spent a good deal of time in their tents endeavoring to gather what news they had to tell us. In the afternoon we hoisted sail and with a good stiff breeze, and a little Eskimo boy to keep the water baled out of the boat, we stood out to sea. Not a seal appeared, but our noble heroes, Kidlapig and Pudlow, shot many fowl and sea gulls; they eat the latter just as we eat ducks. When about two miles out the wind suddenly changed, so Lackey and I had some pull to reach the harbour before dark. We pulled until our arms refused to work, then we drifted a little, when fortunately the wind got favorable again, and hoisting the sail, we had a splendid run home through the harbour. Our shoulders and arms felt that exploit for days.

Saturday morning Lackey did not feel like going afield, so I struck due east over the hills, and returned at 6.30 p.m. ready to lie down anywhere. Only saw two hares all day, one of which was chased for nearly a mile, but never got within hitting distance with the rifle.

Sunday we held the usual services, Kidlapig holding forth in the morning service, and Pudlow expounding 1st Cor. 6, verse 11, in the evening. Pudlow, poor fellow, is rather crude in his knowledge of the scriptures, as he interpreted the text, "Such were some of you, but now ye are washed," as having reference to the use of plenty of soap and water, in order to keep their hides presentable, and free from the accustomed odour. In the afternoon we took the gramophone over to one of the Eskimo tents, and had a little service. We have a few hymnal records, and this added much pleasure and wonderment to the service. In passing, I may add thet the gramophone, which was given to me for our mission house by kind friends in Ontario, has proved a special source of attraction and power in bringing together bands of Eskimos, in order to hear what the wonderful little box has to say and sing. This is one of the special means of "Presenting the Word" through the instrumentality of one of our modern inventions.

Regarding the Eskimo language we are progressing rapidly indeed! Apart from books and signs we mix among them and listen to their chatter and each day brings to us an abundance of word, and phrases. The greatest friends of man in Baffin Land are the ear and eye. The Eskimos have wonderful sight and their hearing is acute.

On Monday it froze hard all day. We did some chopping of wood towards winter fuel. There is no wood in Baffin Land, only what arrives as packing cases from civilization, so we soon chopped up what we brought with us. Words cannot be found in order to describe the great change from Ontario to Baffin Land. Your thickly-wooded valleys, well watered lands, your splashes of wonderful colour, are to me just a memory. Ice, snow, treeless, barren, like a mighty convulsion of the world rubbish, nature has but one dress in the wardrobe up here, no change, no variety. Such is this land. Range after range of tall mountains, cloud capped, stretching far away into the unknown.

Next day Lackey and I went out hunting. We raised a few hares and Lackey got one with his rifle. The funniest thing happened. I set off north-west while Lackey set off south-east, and in our wanderings we arrived together. I spotted a hare just as the top of the mountain was reached. The hare was about 200 yards down in a gulley, so crawled as closely as I could before opening fire. I got to within one hundred yards, when the beggar began to sit up and take notice, so I had a shot at him. He made a rush up the gully and then, to my amazement, he halted, and crouched down behind a rock in full view of me. I looked to see what he was hiding from, and to my surprise, who should I see but Lackey crawling along on his stomach stalking the hare from the opposite direction. I worked a little nearer and seeing Lackey was sighted dead on the rock, I had another biff, which made the hare hop out, and that was his last hop; as Lackey's charge nearly blew all his head off. Boys, but he tasted good when he was roasted.

Next morning the entire harbour was covered with ice, no channel visible. We gave our two men three weeks' rations and told them to get on the hike for seal meat for the winter's dog food, and they set off that morning with their families, as happy as a lot of children starting out for a picnic. In the evening I took my friend, the rifle, and bagged a fine fox; of course they are not of much use yet, as the hair comes out of the fur, and they are not quite white yet. A hare ran me for miles, then a fox did the same trick, and I got neither! Some shot! It is quite a trick getting used to handling the rifle with all these heavy furs on. One feels that awkward that you could scarcely hit the town you were raised in. However, we are getting used to it.

For the past two weeks we have seen some beautiful Northern Lights. From here they are only visible in the south, so we are on the other side of them from you. It is a magnificent sight, yes, "and the heavens show forth their glory." One does get an appropriate commentary on that text in Baffin Land. To see the sunsets in this northern latitude is a sight worth seeing, looking off to the west in the evening and seeing the great ball of fire descending among the mighty ice-bergs of the Hudson Bay. One would imagine it was a sunset over a city of cathedrals.

It was a bit warmer to-day and the ice was off the centre channel of the harbour, but it froze up again at three o'clock. A great boat load of Eskimos have just arrived from deer hunting; they were as far as Forbisher Bay and had killed 70 deer. They sailed straight to the mission house with one big fellow, so that we will have fresh meat for a while now. A hunk of it is in the oven at the present moment. Don't you wish you could smell it?

Well, now we are trying to get all outside work completed before the real "freeze-up" comes. This comes at any time after the end of September—of course it is summer time now—some warm summer! Cheerio! Both Lackey and I are well en every way and enjoying things as they come along, gradually settling down to our own environment.

On Saturday, September 20th, the weather being a little milder, we set off with our Remingtons over the hills in a southerly direction. We had a splendid day's sport, and for our trouble we returned with a splendid brace of partridge. We soon cleaned and stuffed them, and had them ready for a feast of good things on Sunday.

On Sunday we had the usual services, which proved to be ones of fervor and delight.

On Monday the Hudson Bay men came over and we struck dead north. We walked and climbed mile after mile and never saw a single animal or bird worth shooting at. I can tell you we all feel very tired after these great hikes over barren lands, and it gives us an appetite and we sleep well.

The Grey Regiment, made up of men from Owen Sound, Meaford, Durham, Thornbury, Flesherton and Markdale, will camp at the Sarawak Rifle Range, about two miles from the centre of Owen Sound, from June 20 to 28.

CERTO makes perfect jams and jellies always.

You know only too well the uncertainties of jam and jelly making. The fruits you succeed with are those containing an abundance of pectin, and it is this natural element, pectin, that makes jelly "jell."

Certo simply supplies this natural element in handy form to enable you to have the correct amount of pectin and thus make sure of success always—and with any kind of fruit.

You succeed the first time you try it and you never fail to get perfect jams and jellies. Free recipe book with every bottle.

And you get more from the same amount of fruit. Why? Because Certo supplies sufficient pectin to jell all the fruit. Therefore you don't have to boil away the fruit juice for half an hour or more just to arrive at the jellying point.

With Certo it is necessary to boil but one minute.

The Certo process saves—you get more jelly and jam—and (important) you don't boil away the flavor. Result—perfect jams and jellies. Certo Recipe Booklet with every bottle. At your grocer's.

How to make delicious Strawberry Jam

4 level cups (2 lbs.) Crushed Berries.
7½ leveled cups (3¼ lbs.) Sugar.
½ bottle (scant ½ cup) Certo.

Crush well, in single layers, about 2 quarts ripe berries, using wooden masher, crushing each berry. (Discard all green parts). Measure crushed berries into large kettle. Add sugar and mix well. Stir mixture hard and constantly. Bring to vigorous boil over hottest fire. Boil hard 1 full minute, continually stirring. Take from fire and add Certo, stirring it in well. From time jam is taken off fire let stand 5 minutes only, by the clock, before pouring. In meantime skim, stir a little to cool slightly, then pour quickly.

Twenty odd years ago there was a flourishing public bowling green on the corner of Maitland and King streets, Harriston, but one night most of the bowls disappeared, leaving no clue. The incident has been forgotten until a fortnight ago, when Mr. Herb. Whitmore, while plowing Mr. E. Cousins' garden, (Mr. Cousins now being the owner of the property), uncovered one of the bowls. A shovel was then commissioned and in a short time nineteen bowls lay before the astonished eyes of the finders. Mr. Cousins proceeded to wash them, and found nearly all in a very good state of preservation, and most of them by being sand papered and oiled up, could be used again. The ownership of all the bowls but two was soon ascertained as the initials are on the end pieces of each.

Harold Robson, a 17 year old son of Mrs. Wm. Robson, of East Garafraxa, lies in Fergus Hospital in a rather serious condition, a rifle bullet having entered his mouth and come out the back of his head. He and his sister had gone out to plant potatoes, taking a small calibre rifle to shoot ground hogs. One of them dodged into the hole before the young chap could fire, and he gave the weapon to his sister. In some unexplained manner she discharged the rifle, the ball entering the lad's mouth, and coming out the back of his head.

A 12 year old Home boy, who has been with Wm. Baxendale, East Luther, for some time, had a very unpleasant experience wih a sow which objected to the lad attempting to play with the little pigs. The sow knocked the chap down, and rolled his whole body over on the barn floor, covering him with bites and scratches, and breaking one of his arms.

WOMAN TOO WEAK TO WALK

New Works Nine Hours a Day.—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Strength

Union Village, Vt.—"I was weak and nervous and all run-down. I could not walk across the floor without resting and I had been that way for weeks. I saw your advertisement in the paper and after taking one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt the good it was doing me and I took seven more in all. Before I finished I was able to work nine hours a day in a steam laundry. I cannot say too much in favor of your medicine. I trust all sick and suffering women will take it. It has been two years since I took it and I am strong and well."—Mrs. L. A. GUIMANN, Union Village, Vermont.

This is only one of such letters we are continually publishing showing what Lydia E. Pinkham has done for women, and whether you work or not Mrs. Guimann's letter should interest you.

Many women get into a weak, nervous run down condition because of ailments they often have. Such women should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at the first sign of trouble. Good health is necessary and this splendid medicine will help you to keep it.

MR. GEO. E. ISLAND

It is with deep regret that we have to record the death of Mr. Geo E. Island at his late home, lot 5, 1st line, east, Mono, the old Island homestead, where he was born. After a very brief illness borne with wonderful patience and fortitude, despite all that medical skill could do, aided as it was by the unceasing care of the nurse, Miss Lee, whose work is beyond praise, and the loving devotedness of his wife, he passed to his reward in the early hours of Saturday, June 3rd.

The large attendance at the funeral to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Wednesday afternoon, June 7th, bore eloquent testimony to the high place Mr. Island held in the estimation of his neighbors, both in Mono and at Sandhill, where he had lived for ten years. At the close of the church service conducted by the Rev. (Capt.) T. H. Stewart, the members of Caledon East Lodge, A. F. & A. M., held the burial service of the Masonic Order, conducted by W. Bro. John O. Little, after which the Mono Mills Royal Black Preceptory, headed by their Worshipful Preceptor, Sir Kt. Jas. N. McCutcheon, and R. W. Sir Kt. Thos. H. Bullock, A. D. G. M., bade a long farewell to one who had always been a true Christian Knight.

Many beautiful floral tributes spoke of the affection in which Mr. Island was held. These included wreaths from the family, Sandhill Women's Institute, of which Mrs. Island is a Past President, Mono College Women's Institute, The Melville Club, sheaves from Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Halbert, sprays from Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Cruikshank, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Maxwell, Mrs. John Lawson and Miss Greta Ablett and a Red Cross from the Mono Mills Black Preceptory.

The pallbearers were Messrs. A. W. Fleming, Andy Sherman and Ainslie Sherman, of the Caledon East Masonic Lodge, and Rev. P. N. Knight, Messrs. J. H. McCutcheon and E. E. Stubbs, of Mono Mills Royal Black Preceptory.

Among those present from a distance were noticed Mr. John Craig, Miss Margaret Lindsay, Messrs. Andy and Ainslie Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McKee, Dr. Turner, Mrs. Craig Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Fleming, Miss Grace Holton, Mr. Wes. Dixon, Misses Minnie and Lillian Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Dixon, Miss Millie Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Will Armstrong, Mrs. Wm. Armstrong Sr., Mr. Jack Scott, Mr. Wes. Armstrong, Mr. John and Miss Maud Little, all of Sandhill. Mr. and Mrs. John Reburn and Mr. and Mrs. John Best, of Shelburne; Mrs. A. McDougall, Mrs. K. McQuarrie, Mr. and Mrs. H. Glenfield, Mrs. E. J. Halbert, of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Will Glenfield, Miss Julia Stallard and Mrs. Sloan, of Tottenham, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Nelson, of Detroit.

The late Mr. Island was essentially a home lover, believing that as great a work can be done in the home circle as in the busy haunts of men. The effect and influence of his quiet, unassuming, but useful, though short, life will long be felt by those with whom he loved to live.

Our readers, we are assured, will join with us in extending heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family. Mr. Island has left behind one son, to whose care he and Mrs. Island were devoted, and who with his mother mourn the loss of a loving, affectionate husband and father. The others who are bereft of a loving brother are Mrs. John E. Jenkins, of Carievale, Sask., Mr. W. A. Island, of Scotsguard, Sask., who were able to be present at the funeral, Mr. S. L. Island, of Caledon, Mr. Robt. H. Island, Centre Road, Mono, and Mr. Frank C. Island, Orangeville.

EMANUEL BELL

Once more is the fast passing from our midst of the early builders of this town brought to our attention by the death of an aged and esteemed citizen in the person of Mr. Emanuel Bell, who fell asleep in the midst of the natural beauties of his home in the East Ward on the last day of May.

Born in Penselwood, Somersetshire, England, Mr. Bell, early in life, learned the trade of shoemaking. Later he became interested in a large dairy business. In 1876 he came to Canada with his wife and family, settling in Orangeville, where he spent the remainder of his long and useful life of 81 years. A little over two years ago his life partner passed away at the ripe age of 84 years and in the fulness of tender memories by all who knew her. Mr. Bell's passing marks the close of a life of great usefulness. Coming of that stalwart stock of good, old England, he constantly exemplified the principles of righteousness, purity and honesty, that were born and bred in him.

He gave unstintingly of his time and energy to religious work in the local Methodist church. His early work in the Sunday School of the Primitive Methodist Church here prepared him for the larger work of Superintendent of the United Methodist Sabbath Schools of the town in the early nineties. Under his direction the loyal staff of teachers and officers developed a Sunday School not since excelled, if equalled, in attendance and efficiency. Mr. Bell served long and faithfully on the Quarterly Board of his church while in the prime and vigor of manhood.

The force of his character and good judgment marked the dealings of an active and successful business life of over thirty years in our midst. As a member of the town council Mr. Bell made the influence of his forceful personality felt, vigorously advocating and promoting any measures that he deemed for the best interests of the town. He had a hopeful and optimistic outlook on life and a generosity of soul that endeared him to a large circle of friends in the days of his activity. Since retiring, as age crept on, he and his esteemed wife received the constant care of their devoted daughter, Miss Lottie Bell. The last year of his life was especially saddened by the untimely taking off last November of his oldest son, the late Dr. W. N. Bell, of Paris.

The late Mr. Bell is survived by three daughters and three sons, namely, Mrs. S. H. Spooner, Hardwick, Mass.; Mrs. N. Collins and Miss Lottie Bell, Orangeville; Messrs. Albert J. Bell, of Erie, Pa.; Edwin E. Bell, of Hamilton, and Henry G. Bell, of Toronto; also by an aged sister in England and a brother, Mr. Harry Bell, of Marine City, Mich.

The funeral was held from his late residence to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Friday afternoon and was attended by quite a number of old and tried friends of the family. The services were conducted very sympathetically by Rev. H. L. Partridge, of Orangeville Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. Chas. J. Bailey, of Mansfield, an intimate friend of the family. All of the sons and daughters were present, along with Mrs. Edwin Bell, Mrs. Henry G. Bell and three sons, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bell, of Marine City, and Mr. Norman Collins, of Toronto, to do honor to one whse memory will be blessed, not only to those of his own kin, but to all who knew him.

The floral tributes consisted of a pillow from the sons and daughters, a wreath from the grandchildren, a broken shield from Mr. Weir, of Fashion Craft, Ltd., Montreal, and the staff of Edwin E. Bell, Ltd., Hamilton, and sheaves from Miss Mildred Collins and Mr. Norman Collins, Toronto, and Messrs. James and Alfred Wise, Orangeville.

HEALTHY CHILDREN ALWAYS SLEEP WELL

The healthy child sleeps well and during its waking hours is never cross but always happy and laughing. It is only the sickly child that is cross and peevish. Mothers, if your children do not sleep well; if they are cross and cry a great deal, give them Baby's Own Tablets and they will soon be well and happy again. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach, banish constipation, colic and indigestion and promote healthful sleep. They are absolutely guaranteed free from opiates and may be given to the new-born babe with perfect safetly. They are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail, at 25 cents a box, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PUBLIC APOLOGY

By Mrs. Edward and Mr. Edward Manning, of Camilla, Ont., to Mr. Herbert Carberry, of Tullamore.

Mrs. Manning and myself do hereby most humbly and sincerely offer our earnest apologies to Mr. Herbert Carberry, of Tullamore, Ont., for accusing him for taking from our home $290.90, which was not his and subsequently having him searched at Orangeville, thereby causing him worry and reflection on his integrity. Mrs. Manning thought she had placed the money in a certain part of our home and on going to get it could not find it and immediately charged Mr. Carberry with having taken it. Mrs. Manning placed the money in another part of the house and had forgotten about doing so.

CALEDON GAS FIELDS

Second Well Shows Flow of 250,000 Cubic Feet Per Day at Depth of 555 Feet.

Quietly and steadily at Inglewood, boring for gas is going on. Last week, the Dover Oil Company, on whose property the drilling is being conducted, reported that they have obtained a flow of 250,000 cubic feet per day from the new well. This increased flow was obtained at a depth of 555 feet. Since the 23rd of May, when the drills passed the 375 foot level, the well is said to have been registering 160,000 cubic feet, while for the week previous to that it was credited with 50,000.

This new well is situated about 1000 feet from the well which was sunk some ten years ago by Senator O'Brien, and which, after being allowed to blow open for two years, was later capped but never has been developed.

Recently, as a test, the officials of the company state, the two wells were tested at once, and there was no lessening of the pressure in the old well.

The gas obtained is of high quality, being sufficiently pure to permit of direct admixture with the artificial gas produced by the large urban companies.

Officials of the Dover Oil Company have announced that it is their intention to exploit their present find and to sink two further wells in the same vicinity at an early date.

TABLET DEDICATED

Impressive Service in St. Mark's Church on Sunday Night.

A very impressive service was held in St. Mark's Church on Sunday night, when a capacity congregation witnessed the dedication of a tablet in memory of Rev. Canon Alexander Henderson, M. A. Canon Henderson was rector of St. Mark's Parish for forty years, from 1861 to 1901, and in this long period of service for his Church and Master did much to build up the present church and the surrounding parishes, for in the early days of his ministry his work covered much of the country surrounding the present town of Orangeville.

Capt. Stewart, the present rector, spoke briefly but impressively of the important labors of Canon Henderson for the upbuilding of the Parish, stating that although there were only a few in the congregation at the present time who remembered the venerable rector of another day and generation, it had been planned for some time to erect a memorial that would worthily perpetuate his memory and the great work he had been an instrument in accomplishing.

The memorial tablet, which was dedicated by The Right Reverend W. T. Clark, D. D., Lord Bishop of Niagara, an old and intimate friend of the late Canon Henderson, was unveiled by little Miss Barbara Smith, of Minneapolis, a granddaughter of the venerable rector, whose work and services were being so fittingly honored. Following the dedication ceremony Bishop Clark spoke to the congregation of the life and work of Canon Henderson, telling in impressive language how he came to the then struggling hamlet of Orangeville as a young man and labored amongst the pioneer settlers of a district that now contains no less than six prosperous parishes, holding services and meetings not alone on the Lord's Day, but on every week-day as well. He recalled how the rector now gone to his long rest had seen the young people of his earlier ministry grow up, how he had married them, baptized their children and then in later years had preached the funeral services of many of them and had then seen their places in the church and the daily avocations of life taken by the children whom they had tended and nourished in childhood days. The Lord Bishop expressed very real pleasure that such a fitting tablet had been erected to the memory of one, who had worked so long and so faithfully and to such good purpose for his people and his Master.

The special preacher for the day was Rev. A. H. Howitt, B. A., of St. Catharines, a former rector, who occupied the pulpit morning and evening. Rev. Mr. Howitt spoke with all his wonted earnestness and eloquence and his discourses made a profound impression on all who were privileged to listen to them. Special music was provided by the church choir under the direction of Mr. J. E. Jessop, choirmaster, and Miss Ruth Shaw, organist. The anthem at the evening service was a fine rendition of "The Radiant Morn Hath Passed."

The tablet is a chaste and beautiful design in white marble with a border of green veined marble and bears the following inscription, inlaid in black and gold:

To the Glory of God and in Memory of
REVEREND CANON ALEXANDER
HENDERSON, M. A.
Who for 40 years A. D. 1861—1901 labored faithfully and diligently as rector of this Parish and Pioneer
Missionary in the Surrounding Counties.
He was instrumental in building this and several other Churches in the surrounding townships.
"That they may rest from their labours and their good works do follow them."
Erected by his former Parishioners.

AERIAL SERVICE

SHOWERS FOR BRIDES

On Monday night Miss Mae Harmon, a June bride-to-be, was tendered a miscellaneous shower by a number of her girl friends. About thirty of Miss Harmon's friends motored to her home on Third Ave. in a truck laden with the gifts and bedecked in white streamers. A jolly evening was spent by all.

On Thursday evening last girl friends of Miss "Kitty" McKim, another bride-to-be, presented her with a handsome silver tray at the home of Miss Jean Atkinson. A delightful time was spent afterwards.

TORRIE'S JUNE Reduction Sale
—OF—
MEN'S & BOYS' CLOTHING

Having decided to reduce our stock of Men's and Boys' Clothing, we are starting, on Saturday, June 17th, to clear out 200 Suits of Men's and Boys' Ready-to-Wear Clothing.

Men's Suits from $10.00 up.
Boys' Suits from $5.00 up.

It is not necessary to dwell on the quality of these Suits. Every one knows the high standard of goods we carry. It is simply a case of being over-stocked with Suits, and we have decided to give our customers the benefit of the extremely low prices on the garments while the season is on, the time when you need clothing, not when your buying is done.

We have decided to put on this money-saving sale, starting JUNE 17th, ending JUNE 30th.

This is a chance to buy real merchandise at extremely low prices, as the reductions will be based on to-day's values, not on former high prices.

These suits will all be on racks for your inspection, where you will have a good chance to see what you are getting.

They are out of our regular stock and not bought for this sale.

Do not miss this big chance of securing High Class Clothing at prices that cannot be duplicated.

Remember the date, starting SATURDAY, JUNE 17th, ending FRIDAY, JUNE 30th.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The Twelfth Annual Convention of the Dufferin Women's Institute was held in the Carnegie Hall in Grand Valley on Tuesday, June 6th. There was a good representation of delegates from the different branch Institutes throughout the county. The morning session was devoted to the business of the Society. Officers were elected by ballot as follows:—

President, Mrs. S. Banks, Shelburne; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. T. H. Hamilton, Grand Valley; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss E. H. Besley, Shelburne; Representative to the Provincial Board, Mrs. Banks, Shelburne; Representative of the District, Mrs. Donaldson, Marsville; Auditors, Mrs. F. C. Danes, and Mrs. W. J. Tribble, Shelburne.

Mrs Banks, who had been re-elected President, presided at the afternoon meeting, which was opened by singing "The Opening Ode." In her address the President discussed the question, "Why do we belong to the Institute," in a very lucid and convincing manner. Mrs. Scott, of Grand Valley, delivered an address of welcome, Mrs. Woods, of Marsville Branch, making the reply in behalf of the county organization. Reports from the different Branches revealed a year of healthy and progressive activity. Mrs. R. Richardson, of Laurel, the District Representative, gave an interesting report of the proceedings at the Toronto Convention. Mrs. J. W. Hoare, of The Maples Institute, contributed a suggestive Paper on the subject, "Should a Wife Know Her Husband's Business—Should There be Separate Purses?" Dr. Annie Ross, of the Macdonald Institute, Guelph, gave a splendid talk on Community Spirit—Going the Second Mile. The musical numbers included a solo by Miss Campbell, Grand Valley, "If I were You and You Were Me," and a duet by Mrs. Meany and Miss McNabb, Grand Valley. During the afternoon the delegates were invited to go upstairs and see the fine autograph quilt that the Grand Valley Institute had made during the war and from which they realized considerable money for war effort.

Yes Madame, these are the soaps that give you Premiums —Buy them and save the wrappers

COMFORT SOAP is an extra large bar of the best laundry soap. For 30 years it has been the favorite for real value, quantity and quality. Save the wrappers.

PEARL WHITE NAPTHA SOAP—is equally good in warm or cold water. It contains naptha, the quick dirt loosener—cleans by soaking. Save the wrappers.

Comfort Premiums—like our Soaps have been famous for over 30 years

Thirty years ago we decided to adopt Premiums as our method of advertising, believing that our customers would appreciate getting high class Premium goods, at no cost to themselves, as well as standard quality soap products. Our success has been remarkable, and Comfort Soap has had the largest sale of any laundry soap in Canada.

During the war we had to give up handling Premiums as they could not be secured, but now we have them in greater variety and even better quality than ever before. Our premiums are given for wrappers from Comfort Soap, Pearl White Naptha Soap and our other products which are sold by all dealers.

REMEMBER OUR LATEST OFFER:—

DOUBLE VALUE FOR WRAPPERS TILL JUNE 30TH

We want you to use our soaps, because we know their real merits will please you. Buy a good supply and save the wrappers. Each wrapper will count as two for Premiums if sent in to us by June 30th, 1922.

OUR PREMIUM CATALOGUE illustrating hundreds of Premiums, such as kitchen ware, dishes, glass ware, cutlery, curtains, toilet articles, watches, rings, bracelets, stick pins, books, games, footballs, boxing gloves, fishing rods, hand bags, fountain pens, etc., etc., will be mailed gladly if you will send your address to

SILVER WEDDING

On Friday, June 2nd, a large number of the friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Christian met at their home, "Pleasant View Farm" Mono, to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding day. After the guests had assembled the bride and groom led the way to the lawn, where tables had been set for the occasion. Here a sumptuous dinner was served. The bride's cake was placed on the table, surrounded by twenty-five candles, the latter being lighted in view of the guests. The illuminative effect was very striking indeed. Several toasts were proposed to the health and continued happiness of Mr. and Mrs. Christian and were heartily honored, all joining in the singing of that familiar refrain, "For they are jolly good fellows." The remainder of the evening was spent in games and dancing. A very enjoyable time was spent by all present.

HUNTER—M'DOWELL

On Thursday, June 1st, at four o'clock, the wedding of Martha Kennedy, elder daughter of the late William McDowell and Mrs. Janet McDowell, of Erin, to Mr. Robert Henry Hunter, son of the late Francis Hunter and Mrs. Hunter, of Norval, Ont., was solemnized by Rev. J.A. Lindsay at the home of the bride's mother. The bride, unattended, was given away by her brother, William McDowell. She wore a charming gown of sand satin with canton crepe cape of the same shade and carried pink Ophelia roses. Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Miss Florence McDowell, sister of the bride. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace with diamond clasp, and to the pianiste a pearl pin. During the signing of the register Mr. Joseph Hunter, brother of the groom, sang "O Promise Me." The living room was profusely decorated with fern and flowers. Buffet luncheon was served in the dining room, the table being decorated with baskets of sweet peas and yellow and pink roses. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter left by motor for Georgetown, en route to Duluth, the bride travelling in a checked suit of sand cloth and leghorn hat trimmed with ostrich and lace scarf. Upon their return they will reside at Norval, Ont.—Erin Advocate.

Got No Sleep

But now the neuritis has gone, the pains have ceased, the nervous system is restored and the writer of this letter pays a grateful tribute to the medicine which made him well.

Mr. John Woodward, P.T.O., Lucan, Ont., writes:

"It gives me much pleasure to recommend Dr. Chase's medicines, especially the Nerve Food. I was a sufferer from neuritis for several years, and tried all kinds of remedies, yet never seemed to get any better. At last my nerves and whole system seemed to give way through not being able to get any rest or sleep at nights for pain, which mostly used to take me in all parts of the limbs and feet. My nerves would twitch till my whole body would seem to jerk right up as I lay in bed. Almost at the point of despair, I decided I would get Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which I did, and after taking twenty boxes I believe myself almost normal again. I also keep a box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills on hand, and for the past year I seem to enjoy my usual health."

THE TARIFF

R. J. Woods Contributes to Debate in House of Commons.

Mr. R. J. Woods, M. P. for Dufferin, spoke on the recent budget debate in the Commons. The Hansard report of his address follows:—

In continuing the debate, which is now fairly well on its way, I desire to make clear in opening my address that whatever commendation I feel I can give the Government in regard to the tariff question—because I purpose confining my remarks solely to that question—I am willing to give it, but I am just as free to offer whatever criticism I can honestly offer; and I desire to have it thoroughly understood that I am speaking entirely for myself, from my own observations of the fiscal policy of this country in years gone by.

The tariff has had some history. Every hon. member in this House is familiar, at least to a great extent, with the history of the tarif. We look back to 1865, when there was a general tariff of 15 per cent. The Mackenzie government came into office about 1873, and, as I understand it, increased that tariff to about 17½ per cent. I think I am correct in my figures; if not, I am open to correction. In the year 1878 the late Sir John A. Macdonald launched his national policy, and the tariff went up along general lines to about 30 per cent. From that time till the present, in every general election held in this country, the tariff question has been fully discussed; both sides have been argued out, and the people have viewed it from both sides to some extent, but in past years a great many of the common people, and especially, I think, the farmers of this country, in the back concessions, did not thoroughly investigate the fiscal policy of the country and the tariff question, but each settled down and was satisfied to support the policy of either of the great political parties, whichever their political leanings would lead them to.

We have three classes of tariff, the general tariff, the British preferential tariff and the intermediate tariff. These have different bearings on different articles to some extent, and the Finance Minister, in the policy that he has launched before the people of this country and before this House, has made some slight alterations. We have been looking for a downward revision of the general tariff, for something that would make it easier for the poor man to live. It is true we have that downward revision to some extent. The Finance Minister, in his budget, has given us a little reduction of the tariff, not very much so far as the general tariff is concerned—something pertaining to agricultural implements and so forth, which, if we have to purchase from a foreign country, undoubtedly will be purchased from the United States. So that we have a little handed out to us; we might call it, possibly, something of a handout. Of course, a thankful heart is thankful for small mercies, and half a loaf is better than no bread. But the reductions which have been brought before us are more particularly reductions in the preferential tariff. That tariff will apply to those goods coming from Great Britain, and we are glad that there is a slight reduction, even along those lines. But does that cover to any great extent the general commodities of life? Does it cover to any great extent what the masses of people use in their homes, what we might term the general commodities that are used by the common people? I have in my hand the report of the Department of Trade and Commerce for the year ending March 31, 1921, and I find that the dutiable imports from the United Kingdom amount to $170,135,906, and from the United States, $544,010,980. So that the dutiable goods coming in from Great Britain, in comparison with the amounts brought in from the United States, are very little over one-quarter. If nearly 75 per cent. of the general commodities of life which are dutiable, and which have added to the customs revenues of Canada come from United Sates, the people who use those commodities are not going to be benefited to such a wonderful extent with the reduction of the preferential tariff.

While we have those reductions in the tariff, we are told that the sales tax is to be increased by fifty per cent. If I, as a green parliamentarian, am right in my judgment, and understand the business of this country to any extent, I understand that a sales tax is an added burden to the consumer. As regards the inland revenue or sales tax or other taxes of that character, when the manufacturer or producer puts his commodity on the market, he will simply add the sales tax to the price, and the cost to the consumer will be thereby increased. That seems to me to be rather unfair to the consuming masses of this country. While this tax will undoubtedly bring in a revenue, yet it seems to be collecting that revenue largely from those who are least able to pay it. I think my hon. friend (Mr. Robb) made reference to the idea of taxing those who are best able to pay, but in my judgment, by increasing the sales tax by fifty per rent., we are adding that much more to the burden of the consuming masses of this country, and I do not look upon them as being the best able to pay. Taxes of that character should be collected largely from those who are best able to pay, and not from the ordinary individual who is least able to pay. Therefore, on the one hand, while we may, by the reduction in the tariff, relieve, to some extent, the burden, on the other, an extra burden is imposed by the increased sales tax. This looks as though we were simply taking the burden off one shoulder and placing it on the other.

Another matter to which I wish to refer is the dumping clause. This seems to be of some assistance to Canadian manufacturers by increasing the value of their goods. The dumping clause, as I understand it, applies to goods, possibly cheap goods, that are put on the market from a foreign country, and by this clause they are not permitted to be sold at less than cost of manufacture and so forth in the country from which they are exported. I see, from the report of the Manufacturers' Association of their meeting in this city in February last, that they are in favor of a strong dumping regulation that will guard against unreasonable goods being dumped into this country. In some countries in which the seasons are ahead of ours, goods may be carried in stock by manufacturers and wholesalers when the season has practically expired, and this will supply possibly more to ladies' wear than other things. By this dumping clause, manufacturers and wholesalers are prevented from putting such goods on the market, unless they are sold at the regular price of production and so forth in the country of origin at the time when the goods were sent over. It appears to me to be unfair to deprive the masses, the common people, of an opportunity of purchasing in the open market. If Canadian merchants can buy to advantage, bring the goods into this country and sell them at a reduced price to the consuming masses, those who wear clothes—and we are all subject to that—it seems to be unfair to protect manufacturers and wholesalers along those lines, instead of giving the common people the benefit of reductions that might take place.

I want to itemize a few articles in connection with the tariff, and if I am wrong, I am willing to be corrected in regard to anything which I may mention. Aluminum, the raw material, ingots, blocks, bars, rods, strips, and so forth, are permitted to come into this country free. Every household uses aluminum ware, which is considered a very good article for household use, and the ladies buy it very extensively; indeed, everyone in this country uses that kind of ware. The manufactured article, however, is protected by a general tariff of 30 per cent. and by a preferential tariff to the Old Country of 20 per cent. That seems to be too great a spread. We want to give everyone justice; we want to live and let live; but it seems to be hardly fair when manufacturers are permitted to bring in their raw material free and to manufacture it in this country, and then the manufactured goods are protected by a tariff of from 20 to 30 per cent.

As regards bamboo cane for furniture, the raw material comes in free, but furniture is taxed from 20 to 30 per cent. Raw broom corn for making brooms comes in free, but brooms and whisks are taxed from 15 to 20 per cent. These are articles which are used in every home; the laborers, the poorer classes, and, indeed, all of us, use these articles, and, therefore, are subject to the burden of taxation upon these commodities. Consequently, I consider it hardly fair to the consumer for the manufacturer to have the privilege of bringing in his raw material free to manufacture these goods to be placed in the homes of the people, and then for him to be protected by a high tariff. Steel and steel wire are brought in free, and nails are taxed from 50 to 60 cents per 100 pounds. We hear a great deal about the necessity of building and making accommodation in our great cities for the common people, for the laboring people. Nails are something that go into building construction, yet while the raw material is permitted to come in free, the nails that go into our houses are taxed as I have stated.

CHURCH CLOSED

The little white church on the hill, Victoria, in East Garafraxa, closes its doors for public worship this month. From the earliest settlement of that vicinity Methodism had a strong foothold, meeting for years in the school houses. About 55 years ago T. C. Hamilton and Thomas Woods cut and drew the timber for Victoria Church, which served the people well for many years. But with the passing of the older settlers by removal to larger centres and by the calls of the white rider, its last few years has been one of great struggle. Now, there are too few left to warrant keeping open the old church, and of economic necessity it must needs close its doors. To many people who heard the great message in this church, the news will not be welcome, for memories like this are deep rooted.—Star & Vidette

The London Methodist Conference passed a resolution calling on the General Conference to reduce the personnel and expense of the five major departments of the church. It was declared that need of economy made such a step necessary.

The Lyric Theatre in Kitchener has been turned over to Schulte Brothers, of Brantford, the purchase being made under a mechanics' lien as a result of legal action in the matter being settled before Judge Hearn in county court. The purchase price was $126,000.

TERMS—$15.00 for a living colt, payable when colt is one week old. Sale of mare renders fee due and payable.

All accidents to mares at risk of their owners.

BARON HAMLET was bred by James Rigg, Highbanks, Kirkcudbright, Scotland, and imported by the Graham Renfrew Co., Bedford Park, Ontario. Of his sire, Baron's Pride, nothing need be said, as it is well known that he was the best Clydesdale sire that ever lived.

BARON HAMLET'S dam, Banks Daisy, was sired by Hamlet (4433), gr. dam Fanny of Bombie (3104) by sir Colin (3188) by Samson (741). There is no better bred horse in Canada to-day. As a stock horse he is unsurpassed.

Foals in 1919 from Baron Hamlet sold as high as $150.00, at 10 months old. One of his colts foaled in 1920 won first prize at Caledon fall fair, beating the colt that won the first prize at the Dufferin County Show in Orangeville, and was sold the same day for $150.00, and was delivered at four and one half months old. Another of his colts, foaled in 1920, was sold at public auction for $155 at eight months and one half old.

Three of his colts foaled in 1921 won first, second and third prizes at Caledon fall fair in 1921. The winner of the second prize was sold at seven months old for $160.00. Three of his yearling colts also won first, second and third prizes at Caledon fall fair in 1921. These colts all won in heavy draft class.

BARON HAMLET was inspected on the 29th day of October, 1912, when he was Passed and Approved, Form I. He has also been Enrolled for the year 1922 in Form I. in accordance with Chap. 67, Statutes of Ontario, 2 George V.

R. J. REBURN

Veteran Ex-Warden of Dufferin County Dies at His Home in Shelburne.

Robert James Reburn, for many years an old and esteemed resident of Mulmur township, but for the past five years a resident of Shelburne, departed this life at his home, Victoria St., on Thursday evening, June 1st, in his 75th year. The late Mr. Reburn had been in declining health for some time but his death was quite unexpected, he having been about as usual during the day and early hours of the evening. Just previous to retiring for the night he turned suddenly worse and expired while sitting on the couch. The late Mr. Reburn was a native of the county of Peel, having been born on lot 25, 1st line, east, Caledon, and a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Reburn. When the deceased was quite young the family moved to Mulmur and settled on lot 8, Centre Road, the farm now owned by his son, T. G. Reburn. The late Mr. Reburn had considerable municipal experience, being Reeve of Mulmur for three years and was for nine years member of Dufferin County Council prior to 1901, when he was elected Warden. Having thus reached the top rung of the municipal ladder he retired from public life. It was during his term as Warden of Dufferin that he was delegated to Toronto on Oct. 10th, 1901, to present to the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, then on a visit to Toronto, an address of honor on behalf of the people of Dufferin. His widow was Miss Jane Elizabeth Tate, and to this union seven children were born, six of whom survive; T. G. Reburn, Mulmur; Bert Reburn, Shortoaks, Sask.; Mrs. Geo. Winlaw, Carievale, Sask.; Mrs. Thos. Lewis, Gainsboro, Sask., and Mrs. R. M. Bailey, Shelburne; One brother, Wm. Reburn, Shelburne, also survives. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon of this week to Shelburne cemetery, being in charge of L. O. L. No. 366, Whitfield, of which Lodge the deceased had been an active member since he was 18 years of age. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. W. H. Hartley, rector of St. Paul's Church.

Relatives from a distance who attended the funeral were: Bert Reburn, Stortoaks, Sask.; Mrs. Thos. J. Lewis, Gainsboro, Sask.; Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Reburn, Markdale; Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Reburn, Barrie; Jas. Tate, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Irving, Mr. and Mrs. L. Stephens, Lefroy; Mrs. Eliza Fraser, Thornton; Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Robinson, Mrs. A. Robinson, Mrs. G. Robinson, Mrs. W. A. Reburn and son, Russell, Mrs. Nat. Thompson, Orangeville; Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Armstrong, Caledon; Miss Violet Reburn, Toronto; Mrs. Chas. Reburn and Herb. Reburn, Rosemont. —Free Press.

ALIVE AND WELL

Missing Acton Farmer Has Written From the West.

The people of Acton and vicinity, who for the past two months have been greatly disturbed over the strange disappearance of Dan McKinnon, a farmer, from his homestead near the village, were greatly relieved last week by receipt of the news that the missing man was alive and well. The information was contained in a letter written by McKinnon to his friend, Harry Gordon, and mailed from a town in Western Canada. Evidently McKinnon became alarmed at the publicity given his disappearance and was anxious to let the public know that he had not been the victim of foul play or of engulfment in the swamps adjacent to his farm, as was feared in some quarters.

The latter did not state the reasons for his sudden departure from the Ryder farm, he had recently purchased and which he was getting into shape, as well as furnishing his home for the marriage that was to have taken place in about three weeks from the date in April last when he disappeared. Mr. Gordon showed the letter from McKinnon to Chief Constable Cooney and that officer reported the matter to the provincial police. It was not considered advisable to make the whereabouts of McKinnon known just at present.

MONO S. S. ASSOCIATION

Held Annual Convention at Camilla on Friday, May 26th.

The Annual Convention of the Mono Township Sabbath School Association was held in Camilla Presbyterian Church on Friday, May 26, afternoon and evening. Both sessions were interesting, profitable and well-attended. Rev. T. A. Halpenny, General Superintendent of the Ontario Religious Education Council, spoke particularly on the "Worship Period of the S. S.," giving many helpful suggestions. Rev. Chas. Forth's address on "Evangelism in the Sabbath School", was listened to with great interest. In the evening a thoughtful and inspiring address was given by Rev. F. W. Maheffy, of Orangeville, on "The Preparation of the Lesson." Rev. T. A. Halpenny's address on "The Child in the Midst" was followed very closely. The vocal solos by Mrs. R. E. Jackson and Mr. J. H. Sloan were very much appreciated. The Camilla young people entertained the delegates in a very hospitable manner, serving a most enjoyable supper between sessions. The following officers were appointed for the ensuing year:—

President, Mr. J. A. Marshall; Vice-President, Mr. Wilson Duke; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. W. J. Bower; Girls' Dept., Mrs. D. N. Potter; Boys' Dept., Mr. A. Grigg; Adult Dept., Mr. Thos. Little; Home Dept., Mrs. Thos Little; Children's Dept., Mrs. S. Irwin; Teacher Training Dept., Rev. H. L. Partridge; Missionary Dept., Miss Helen Bremner; Temperance Dept., Mr. J. A. Avison.

Don't Guess about your BATTERY

THE Plate is the backbone of any Storage Battery, and a large percentage of battery troubles are due to poor Plates.

The Prest-O-Lite Plate represents the greatest advance in battery-making in recent years. Prest-O-Lite Plates, the backbone of the Prest-O-Lite Battery, have the strength and porosity essential to the ideal Battery Plate—strong, so that heat will not buckle it and jolts will not affect it—porous, so that it will provide the reserve power necessary for cold weather starting and emergencies at other times.

Every part of a Prest-O-Lite Battery is made with the same extreme care—the same precise insistence upon perfection in every way. Jars, separators, containers—every part is made and assembled with the same scrupulous insistence upon excellence. It represents the greatest value you can buy—yet Prest-O-Lite Batteries are sold to-day at less than pre-war prices.

HILLSBURG

(Intended for last week.)

Ex-warden James Brown, of Dufferin County, who has been seriously ill for some weeks with pneumonia, is somewhat recovered, but still in a very weak condition. His many friends hope for a steady recovery for him.

The interior of St. Andrew's Church here is being redecorated by a Thornhill firm of decorators. The work will keep the congregation out of a church-home for the rest of June.

The Rev. F. C. Harper, B. D., has received word from the moderator of St. Andrew's Church, Picton, Ontario, rendered vacant last spring by the resignation of Rev. A. V. Brown, that at a large and enthusiastic congregational meeting in Picton, Monday, May 29th last, a unanimous call was given to Mr. Harper to fill the vacant pulpit. The vote was almost unanimous on the first ballot taken. St. Andrew's Church is an old historic church in the important centre and county-town of Prince Edward county, with a population of about 4000, and situated on the beautiful Bay of Quinte.

The 20th annual reunion of the Hall family was held last Thursday at the homestead, settled by Asa Hall at Churchville, 97 years ago, 50 descendants attending. His son, Hiram, followed him on the farm, and of his four children none survive. The oldest member of that line is George Hall, of Oregon, 59 years of age.

Clean Up Paint Up

KEEP your house looking its best at all times. Keeping up its appearance will keep up your pride in it.

Plant flowers and grass seed. Trim up the shrubbery and vines. Don't let rubbish accumulate in either the front or back yard.

Then paint your house with Lowe Brothers High Standard—the investment paint. Lasts longer than other paints and looks better as long as it lasts. This means that repainting won't be necessary so soon.

We will gladly prove to you that the difference between Lowe Brothers and other paints is more than a mere difference of opinion.

Come in and ask for interesting literature and look at the sample panels.

PEEL WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Forty-six delegates, representing every part of the county, attended the annual meeting of the Peel County Women's Institute in the Baptist Church in Brampton on Wednesday of last week. Mrs. T. W. Meek, of Alton, the County President, occupied the chair and had the honour of being re-elected to the chief executive position for a second term. Officers were elected as follows:—

Honorary President, Miss H. L. Beardmore, Port Credit; Mrs. T. W. Meek, Alton, President; Mrs. A. E. Smith, Caledon, Vice-President, north; Mrs. James Martin, Brampton, centre; Mrs. P. W. Hodgetts, south; Miss K. F. McIntosh, Secretary-Treasurer; Mrs. J. Knapman, Brampton, assistant; Mrs. Vanderlip, Mrs. Della Field, Auditors; Representative to Convention, Mrs Meek; Representative of District No. 5, Mrs. Wilson, Mt. Forest; Representative for P. J. I. on Peel W. I. Board, Mrs. W. McClure, Brampton; Representative on Peel J. I. Board, Mrs. Vanderlip.

The Institute decided to place a clock costing $500 in the Peel Memorial Hospital in honor of the late Miss Susie Campbell, an untiring Institute worker. The clock will bear a plate suitably inscribed. The balance of the fund accumulated for hospital purposes will be applied to hospital needs in such manner as the branch institutes may indicate to the county executive in the near future.

THE BROADWAY PAVEMENT

At a special meeting on Monday night the Town Council decided to proceed with the work of laying a thirty foot pavement on Broadway from the Second St. corner as far west as John St. Eighty per cent. of the cost of the work will be defrayed by the town with the assistance of the County and Provincial grants, which it is estimated will amount to $7,450. The remaining 20 per cent. will be borne by the owners of properties fronting on the street. A special committee consisting of the Mayor, Reeve and Councillor Anderson was appointed to confer with the Clerk regarding necessary By-laws and other details.

MONO MILLS.

Mrs. Dimnick brought the report of the twenty-ninth annual convention of the W. M. S. to the Mono Mills Branch at the meeting held at the home of Mrs. Harold Mills on Tuesday of last week. The July meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Cecil Welwood and the August meeting at the home of Mrs. John Moon.

WON THE BOWMAN

A rink of local bowlers visited Guelph on Wednesday afternoon of last week and played a Guelph rink for the coveted Bowman trophy. The locals were successful in winning by a score of 27 to 18 and as a result of their win the Bowman shifted its abode from Guelph to Orangeville. The Cup has not been held here since the season of 1919. The victorious players were Robt. Allen, Chas Gillespie, T. S. Parkinson and T. H. Greenis, skip.

HOSPITAL NOTES

The Daughters of the Empire and the Girl Guides spent a joyous afternoon at Caledon Lake last Friday as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. McKeown at their summer home. Upon arriving at the Lake the Linen Committee supplied each member with work for a short time. Then the regular business meeting was held, concise reports of the activities of the I. O. D. E. being given by the various Committees. Among other business discussed was the question of making a complete inventory of the hospital building, furniture and other equipment. After the business meeting tea was served on the lawn and verandah, both being prettily decorated with wild flowers. A happy incident occurred just before leaving for home when the Girl Guides formed up and stood at attention while one of their number expressed their thanks for the hospitality they had been privileged to enjoy. The members of the two organizations are outspoken in their praise of Mr. and Mrs. McKeown for their whole-hearted hospitality. They are also grateful to the citizens who so kindly provided autos for the trip to the Lake and home again.

Mrs. Meek and Mrs. Dorrington, of Alton, were welcome visitors at the Lake picnic on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. J. A. V. Preston has generously added another donation of $5.00 to the Linen Fund.

Mrs. P. E. Doolittle, of Toronto, was elected National Regent of the I. O. D. E. at the recent Vancouver Convention.

AFTERNOON TEA

The Circle of the Methodist Church invite all the ladies to an Afternoon Tea to be held on Mrs. Still's lawn on Saturday afternoon, June 17th, from 3 to 6 o'clock. Admission, 15 cents. Come and enjoy a social hour and encourage the girls.

NEW STRENGTH FOR WEAK STOMACHS

Indigestion Disappears When The Blood Supply is Enriched.

The urgent need of all who suffer from indigestion, and who find the stomach unable to perform its usual function, is a tonic to enrich the blood. Pain and distress after eating is the way the stomach shows that it is too weak to perform the work of digesting the food taken. In this condition some people foolishly resort to purgatives, but these only further aggravate the trouble.

New strength is given weak stomachs by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills because these pills enrich and purify the blood supply. This is the natural process of giving strength and tone to the stomach, and it accounts for the speedy relief in stomach disorders that follows the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The appetite revives, food can be taken without discomfort and the burden and pains of indigestion are dispelled. Mr. William Johnston, a prominent business man of Lequille, N. S., bears testimony to the value of these pills in cases of this kind. He says: "I was attacked with indigestion accompanied by severe cramps in the stomach. I was prescribed for by the family doctor, but got very little benefit. Then I tried some of the advertised remedies but with no better result. Indeed my condition was growing worse. Then I read of the case of a man who praised Dr. Williams' Pink Pills whose condition was similar to my own, and I decided to try this medicine. The result, I think, was amazing as the use of six boxes restored me to my former good health. I can therefore warmly recommend the use of this medicine for stomach troubles."

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c. a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PERSONAL MENTION

Supplement to Orangeville Banner, June 15, 1922

THE WEATHER FOR MAY

Editor of The Banner,
Dear Sir,—

I am sending you herewith the following summary of the weather for the month of May, 1922. I have kept a record of the weather for almost four years, so you may rest assured that the following facts are correct:—

The mean temperature for the month was 57.5 degrees, or 4.5 degrees above normal, which is 53 degrees. The highest temperature recorded was 80 degrees, which was 8 degrees lower than the highest for May, 1921, and 2 degrees lower than the highest for 1920. The lowest temperature was 32 degrees, which occurred on the very first day of the month. The lowest for May, 1921, was 28 degrees. The range of temperature between the highest and the lowest was only 48 degrees, which was less than the range of temperature at White River, Ont., for one day. The directions from which the wind blew most frequently were S. and S.E., a fact that accounts for the comparatively high temperature. A peculiar fact of the past month was that the lowest and highest temperatures occurred on the first and last days of the month respectively. The total rainfall was 2.47 inches, being a little above normal.

AN OBSERVER.

HOCKLEY

Dr. D. G. Findlay, of Tottenham, will have office hours every Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 5 p.m. at Mr. Irwin's general store at Hockley. 50-3t.

PRIMROSE

The congregation of St. James' Church will hold their annual garden party on the church grounds on Wednesday evening, June 21st. An attractive programme is being prepared for the evening.

WALDEMAR.

A lawn Garden Party will be held on the grounds of Mr. John Black, lot 2, con. 10, Amaranth, on Thursday evening, June 15th, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of Waldemar Presbyterian Church. A splendid programme will be given by Percy Hall, comedian, of Toronto, who will have charge of the dance of Mr. Fines and Mr. Arnott. Refreshments will be served on the grounds during the evening. Everybody is invited to come and enjoy an evening's fun. Adults 50 cents, children 25 cents.

RELESSEY

The Sabbath School of Relessey Methodist Church will hold its annual June picnic in Mr. Homer Waller's grove on Tuesday afternoon, June 20th. An attractive program is being prepared for the occasion and everybody will be assured of a delightful time. Watch for posters giving full particulars.

A large audience was more than pleased with the performance of the Play "Result of Heredity" by local talent on Friday evening. The entertainment was under the auspices of the Relessey Girls' Baseball Club and was preceded by a baseball game between Relessey and Hockley girls' teams, the locals won by a score of 18 to 1. W. J. Coleman acted as chairman during the after entertainment. Proceeds of the evening were in the neighborhood of $50.

ITS 43RD YEAR

This week The Flesherton Advance commences its third year of publication and enters the year under the management of its editor, Mr. W. H. Thurston. The paper is a bright newsy sheet and a worthy component of the interests and ideals of the community it serves. The Banner wishes for every prosperity in the years to come.

LYND–NICHOLSON

A very pretty and interesting wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Nicholson, Whitby, Ont., on Wednesday, June 7th, when their youngest daughter, Kathleen Ethel, became the bride of Mr. G. F. Lynd, son of the late B. B. Lynd and Mrs. Lynd, of Port Credit. The bride, who entered the drawing room to the strains of the bridal march from Lohengrin, played by her cousin, Mr. Robin Nicholson, wore white georgette with tulle veil and orange blossoms and carried a shower of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Temple Procter, of Toronto, was bridesmaid, frocked in peach taffeta and georgette, and little Miss Connie Bush, in a canary yellow frock, carried the bride's train. The groom was supported by Mr. George S. Routliffe, of Toronto. Rev. Garnet W. Lynd, of Laurel, brother of the groom, performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. F. H. Howard, of Whitby. During the signing of the register Mr. W. D. Sykes sang "Because." The reception which followed the ceremony was held in the drawing room, and the wedding supper was served in a marquee on the lawn. Mr. and Mrs. Lynd left later to spend their honeymoon in New York, Buffalo and at other American points, the bride going away in a suit of navy tricotine, with French hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Lynd will reside in Whitby.

FERGUSON–WILCOX

On June 1st, in St. Paul's Methodist Church, Avenue Road, Toronto, by Rev. R. Newton Powell, pastor, Rev. John MacNeil, pastor of Walmer Road Baptist Church and Major (Rev.) A. L. Burch, the marriage was solemnized between Ruby Blyth Wilcox, daughter of the late George Wilcox, of Orangeville, and Mrs. Wilcox, 213 Albany Ave., Toronto, and Mr. T. A. Ferguson, son of Mrs. Ferguson, 58 Morningside Drive, Edinburgh, Scotland. The bride wore a becoming gown of sand canton crepe beaded in bronze beads, and Leghorn hat, and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and lillies of the valley. She was given away by her mother, who wore a gown of black satin, with corsage bouquet of mauve sweet peas. After the wedding luncheon the bridal party left on the midnight train for Montreal, sailing from there on the S. S. Metagama for a three months' trip to Europe. The bride travelled in a tan homespun suit with hat to match. They were accompanied as far as Montreal by the bride's mother and Mr. Gordon Ferguson, son of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson will be at home to their friends at 213 Albany Ave., after September First.

PROVINCIAL COUNTY ROAD

A large deputation waited on the Minister of Highways at the Parliament Buildings in Toronto on Tuesday of last week and asked that the Orangeville-Fergus road be made a provincial county highway. We understand that the deputation that their request would be granted. Dufferin County members of the deputation included Mayor Hewson, Reeve Gillespie, Councillors Anderson and Parkinson, Judge Fisher, C. V. Jeffers, Dr. G. H. Campbell and J. M. McNaughton, of Orangeville, Warden Simpson, Reeve W. H. Hunter and Councillor Reg Hoare, of East Garafraxa.

AMARANTH S. S. OFFICERS

The following officers were elected for the incoming year at the annual meeting of the Amaranth Township Sabbath School Association on Victoria Day:—President, Mr. A. Petch, Riverview; 1st Vice-President, Robt. Fife, Laurel; 2nd Vice-President, A. E. Williams, Shelburne; Secretary-Treasurer, John Bryan, Laurel; Department Superintendents—Children, Miss Lottie Morrow, Laurel; Girls', Mrs. W. M. Curry, Orangeville; Boys', Mr. Geo. Davis, Waldemar; Missionary, Mrs. E. Richardson, Laurel; Home, Miss Maggie Phillips, Laurel; Teacher Training, Rev. G. W. Lynd, Laurel; Temperance, Mr. J. A. Lomas, Waldemar. The next annual meeting will be held in Campania Methodist Church.

PROVINCIAL CONSTABLE

William A. Page, a member of the Provincial Police Force, has been detailed for duty in Dufferin County and will make his headquarters in Orangeville. Page, who is a Horning's Mills man, went on duty here last week. His duties will be largely in Dufferin County, although he may occasionally be called outside the county. The new officer is an athletic looking young man, pleasant in manner, but apparently well-fitted for his job. He will assist in the general enforcement of the law and will be expected to give particular attention to the running down of liquor offenders.

THE MAPLES

The Maples Women's Institute will hold their annual Garden Party on the night of July 5th. The greater part of the programme will be provided by Joe Williams, the widely known comedian, assisted by Miss Dorothea Browne, pianiste. Watch for further particulars.

M'KINNEY–LAIRD

A wedding of interest in Victoria University circles was celebrated in Knox College Chapel on Saturday afternoon, when Olive Winnifred, only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Laird, Norval, became the bride of E. Harvey McKinney, M. A., B.D., son of Mr. and Mrs. James McKinney, Norval. The ceremony was performed by Chancellor Bowles, of Victoria University. Mr. Welford Russell played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Dell Campbell, of Norval, who sang "Until." During the signing of the register. The bride, who was escorted by her brother, Dr. Mac Laird, wore her going away gown of mastic Canton crepe with touches of brown, a wrap of golden crepe pongee, a hat of dark brown, its lace drape caught with rosebuds. Her bouquet was of pink Gloria roses. Miss Bessie Laird, who attended her sister, was in brown georgette, with large hat to match, and carried pink sweetpeas and roses. The best man was Mr. Milton Stokes, M. D. After receiving the congratulations of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. McKinney left for a trip down the Georgian Bay, and on their return will reside in Toronto.

RANEY'S PICNIC

The congregation of Raney's Methodist Church will hold their annual June Picnic on Mr. Edward Baxter's grove, lot 6, con. 1, Adjala, on Saturday afternoon, June 24th. There will also be short addresses by Revs. J. A. Mathesch, W. G. Atkinson and other speakers, a number of races, a tug-of-war and other attractions. Games will start at 3 o'clock sharp. Tea served from 4 to 6 o'clock. Refreshments of all kinds served on the grounds. Admission, adults, 40c; children 25 cents.

COL. HUGGINS' DEATH

Lieut.-Col. S. J. Huggins, of the staff of Cadet Inspectors, dropped dead in the home of a relative in the Stuart Apartments in Hamilton about one o'clock on Sunday afternoon. Heart failure was the cause of the unexpected demise. Deceased had just arrived in Hamilton in company with Lieut.-Col. Barker and was to have inspected the Separate School Cadets in the afternoon. Lieut-Col. Huggins had made the annual inspection of the Orangeville High and Public School Cadets for a number of years. He was here for the inspection early in May this year.

IN MEMORIAM.

CAMERON—In loving memory of my dear husband, James A. Cameron, who passed away June 19th, 1920.

Oft I wish that I were with you
In those happy realms above,
Free from all my earthly sorrow,
Basking in your smiles of love.

Oft I roam the paths of memory,
O'er the landscape of your past,
Dreaming of the sweet reunion
That I know will come at last.

You are waiting to receive me,
As you've waited oft before;
A little longer, then I'll join you
There upon the golden shore.

WIFE.

But we know in the home o'er the river,
Across that bright, golden shore,
We'll meet the father we grieve for,
More loving than before.

For we know he has met with Elma,
In that beautiful land so fair,
And heaven seems nearer and dearer,
For father and sister are there.

The only civil action was a suit by Peter Cantlin against Samuel Goldmintz for alleged malicious prosecution. Goldmintz brought an action against Cantlin in the police court for receiving credit under false pretences in a horse deal in which the two men were interested. The magistrate dismissed the case and Cantlin thereupon instituted the present action. This was also dismissed, each party being ordered to pay his own costs. J. B. Moon, Arthur, and C. R. PEEL WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Forty-six delegates, representing every part of the county, attended the annual meeting of the Peel County Women's Institute in the Baptist Church in Brampton on Wednesday of last week. Mrs. T. W. Meek, of Alton, the County President, occupied the chair and had the honour of being re-elected to the chief executive position for a second term. Officers were elected as follows:—

Honorary President, Miss H. L. Beardmore, Port Credit; Mrs. T. W. Meek, Alton, President; Mrs. A. E. Smith, Caledon, Vice-President, north; Mrs. James Martin, Brampton, centre; Mrs. P. W. Hodgetts, south; Miss K. F. McIntosh, Secretary-Treasurer; Mrs. J. Knapman, Brampton, assistant; Mrs. Vanderlip, Mrs. Della Field, Auditors; Representative to Convention, Mrs Meek; Representative of District No. 8, Mrs. Wilson, Mt. Forest; Representative for P. J. I. on Peel W. I. Board, Mrs. W. McClure, Brampton; Representative on Peel J. I. Board, Mrs. Vanderlip.

The Institute decided to place a clock costing $500 in the Peel Memorial Hospital in honor of the late Miss Susie Campbell, an untiring Institute worker. The clock will bear a plate suitably inscribed. The balance of the fund accumulated for hospital purposes will be applied to hospital needs in such manner as the branch institutes may indicate to the county executive in the near future.

THE BROADWAY PAVEMENT

At a special meeting on Monday night the Town Council decided to proceed with the work of laying a thirty foot pavement on Broadway from the Second St. corner as far west as John St. Eighty per cent. of the cost of the work will be defrayed by the town with the assistance of the County and Provincial grants, which it is estimated will amount to $7,450. The remaining 20 per cent. will be borne by the owners of properties fronting on the street. A special committee consisting of the Mayor, Reeve and Councillor Anderson was appointed to confer with the Clerk regarding necessary By-laws and other details.

NEW STRENGTH FOR WEAK STOMACHS

Indigestion Disappears When The Blood Supply is Enriched.

The urgent need of all who suffer from indigestion, and who find the stomach unable to perform its usual function, is a tonic to enrich the blood. Pain and distress after eating is the way the stomach shows that it is too weak to perform the work of digesting the food taken. In this condition some people foolishly resort to purgatives, but these only further aggravate the trouble.

New strength is given weak stomachs by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills because these pills enrich and purify the blood supply. This is the natural process of giving strength and tone to the stomach, and it accounts for the speedy relief in stomach disorders that follows the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. WAR MEMORIAL FUND

Substantial Subscriptions Received—Many More Coming.

The Orangeville Memorial Fund has been making gratifying progress during the past ten days. A number of citizens have responded by starting the list handsomely. Eleven subscriptions of $100 have already been received, as well as several of smaller amounts ranging from $50 to $5, and a number of others are promised, all of which will be duly acknowledged in detail later. The total to date is about $1300, in addition to the Town and County grants, and a worth-while memorial is assured.

There are still a few days left before June 20th, and those who have not yet handed in their subscriptions are asked to do so.

If you are in doubt how much you ought to give, remember that a hundred of the men of Dufferin gave their lives in order that you may live and enjoy British freedom and prosperity, and ask yourself whether one dollar for each is not the least you can offer, if you are able, to commemorate their heroic self-sacrifice.

Any of the Orangeville banks or any member of the Committee will receive subscriptions.

MARSVILLE

Marsville L. O. L. No. 245 will hold a Grand Garden Party on the Marsville School grounds on Tuesday evening, July 11th. An excellent programme will be provided by the Ionic Male Quartette and a good orchestra. Further particulars later.

Bethel Church, East Garafraxa, will hold its service next Sunday, June 18th, at 11 a.m., with Sunday School at 10 a.m. On June 25th the service will be at 7.30 p.m.

HILLSBURG

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered in St. Andrew's congregation last Sunday afternoon with a large attendance, and was featured by fine spirit. Eleven new members were added to the Auley congregation, and four more families. The service was held at 2 p.m. in the Christian Church, which has been placed at the disposal of the Presbyterians for the next three Sunday afternoons also, while the redecoration of St. Andrew's Church is being carried on.

Rev. F. C. Harper announced that the above Sacrament will be his last as the minister of St. Andrew's, and that he intended to place his resignation in the hands of the Presbytery at the Erin meeting on June 27th. He had declined the call he had received from St. Andrew's Church in the town of Picton, Ont., but had accepted the important position of organizer and superintendent of the religious and welfare work of the International Petroleum Company at Talara, Peru, South America. Mr. Harper will have the care of the 200 families of English, Canadians and Americans identified with the Company's oil fields in the northwest corner of Peru. It is understood that the appointment was made on his record as a chaplain for over three years of the Great War. Mr. and Mrs. Harper will probably sail from New York about September 1st for their new home on the Pacific Ocean.

REMANDED FOR TWO WEEKS

Roy Pearce and Roy Campbell, the two Toronto men, who were arrested by License Inspector Robinson and Officers Marshall and Still at the corner of Broadway and the Prince of Wales early on Thursday morning, May 25th, appeared before Magistrate Falconer for trial on Friday, June 2nd. On account of expected developments implicating parties higher up in the rum-running business the defendants were remanded for two weeks. No evidence was taken.

DOWNED DURHAM

Dufferins Won Opening O. A. L. A. Game of Season by Score of 13 to 3.

A large crowd saw The Dufferins and Durham open the lacrosse season at Idlewyld Park last Wednesday afternoon. The spectators were treated to some excellent lacrosse. Incidentally the visiting team, who came down chuck full of confidence, received the surprise of their lives when they finished the game with the small end of a 13 to 3 score. Durham were runners-up for the intermediate championship last year, and as they boasted a stronger team this season they had some reason for feeling confident that they would give The Dufferins a bump on their own grounds. The greenshirts have not been saying much this spring, but the players have been practicing faithfully and most of them took the field on Wednesday in condition to go the distance.

The first quarter started with The Dufferins on the aggressive. Gordon was placed on defence, but play had been under way only a short time, when he took a hand in the game at the home end of the field to such good effect that he netted the first counter of the day. The second tally was secured by Armour Robinson on a pretty pass from Hawken. The visitors did not manage to score in the first period, but started out in do or die fashion in the second quarter. For the first ten minutes they were all over The Dufferins and tallied twice, evening the score. Golden got knocked out, necessitating a brief delay. Bill Stephens sent in a hot one shortly after play resumed, but the shot was cleverly blocked and cleared by McDonald. A little later Gordon put The Dufferins in the lead for the second time after one of his famous, dodging runs from near centre field. Halftime found The Dufferins leading by a score of 3 to 2.

Ewing, The Dufferins' speedy homefielder, was obliged to quit at halftime on account of an injured arm. One of the visitors landed him a heavy crack on the forearm, catching the arm below the guard. It was thought at first that the limb had been fractured, but fortunately there was no break and Ewing will be back in the game in a week or so. Christie McAuley went on in his place and played a clever lacrosse on the defence field for the rest of the game. The Durham team faded badly after Mercer drew a ten minute penalty for striking Gordon across the face. Dufferins pressed their advantage so vigorously that when the period ended they had added seven goals to their total, while Durham had not improved their halftime count. Stephens got the first on a pass from Gordon, which he accepted right in front of the net. The next came on a pretty play from Crutikshank to Hawken to Robinson, the last named player doing the needful. McCauley passed to Gordon for the next and a little later Gordon and Stephens combined effectively for another, the latter doing the scoring. Golden got the next on a smart pass from Gordon. Graham was sent to the fence for using the stick too vigorously. Cruikshank being the recipient of his attentions. A moment later Gordon tallied again for the greenshirts and just before the quarter closed Bill Stephens found the net for the seventh. Dufferins were playing great guns this quarter and showed a brand of speed that fairly carried the heavier Durham men off their feet.

Robinson retired in the final period and was replaced by Terry McKeown, who showed himself a speedy and classy little player. Gordon started the fireworks for The Dufferins and then Hawken, who had been working like a beaver at inside home all afternoon, netted a pretty one after taking a fast pass from Golden. Durham came to life momentarily and tallied after a really clever bit of combination work in which no less than four of the home division figured. The play was initiated by the visitors' goalie, who ran two-thirds the length of the playing field and then passed the ball to one of the home men. Booth returned the compliment by making a brilliant stop shortly after the face-off and then running down to home-field and passing to McKeown, who transferred to Cruikshank, the latter getting into position for a wicked shot that McDonald did not see and had practically no chance to stop. Carmichael and Henry handled the game to the satisfaction of players and spectators. The teams and officials were:—

Durham—Goal, E. McDonald; point, H. McDonald; coverpoint, A. Saunders; defence, Mercer and McLachlan; centre, Hugill; home field, Burnside and McFadden; outside home, Graham; inside home, M. Saunders; spares, Farrell and McElvidge.

Referee, Jack Carmichael, Toronto; Judge of Play, Tom Henry, Brampton.

Durham has a strong, clever team, but were not as fast on their feet as The Dufferins. The visitors suffered heavily through penalties, no less than four of their players being out of the game at different times. Mercer, who drew two penalties, the second a ten minute touch, was the worst transgressor. On the other hand The Dufferins went through the game without a penalty, a factor that contributed materially to their victory. The greenshirts have a lighter team than last year, particularly on the defence where the avoirdupois of Cushing and Densmore is missing. Scott and Henderson are seasoned defence men and seem to be going better than ever. The team is in good shape and every man is a hard worker. The difference in this respect was very noticeable on the home, where Hawken and Golden were always hot after the ball when it went out behind The Durham flags. Altogether the team is a good one and should give a splendid account of itself in the race for district honours.

UNION GARDEN PARTY

The Loyal True Blue Association and the Loyal Orange Lodge of Caledon East will hold their first Union Garden Party in Caledon East village on Wednesday night, June 21st. The Committee in charge of the arrangements has secured the Kenney-Wilson Company, of Toronto, as entertainers for the occasion. Reserve this date. You will have a first-rate time if you come. See bills for full particulars of programme.

CHEAPEST AND BEST

Lest citizens conclude, after reading Engineer Chipman's recommendations elsewhere in this issue, that our waterworks system is sadly inefficient we reproduce and commend to their attention the following paragraph from the report:—

"The entire system was low in first cost and the annual operating expenses were exceptionally low. In fact I believe this system is one of the cheapest and best in the Province."

A SCHOOL PROPOSITION

A special meeting of Grand Valley School Board was held recently at which representatives from the Branch school, Amaranth, appeared asking information on what terms their pupils could be taken care of at the village school. This section is confronted with either building a new school, or making a working arrangement with some adjoining section for the education of 6 or 8 pupils in the section. The economic situation will no doubt be a determining factor. Grand Valley School could take charge of this number without very much inconvenience, and made a proposition to do so at the rate of 20c. per attendance day per pupil, the matter of conveyance being left with he trustees of the Branch School. This will be considered at a meeting of the ratepayers shortly.

How to make the most delicious strawberry jam you ever tasted

New Certo process astonishes housewives

Never fails—requires only two or three minutes boiling. Retains all the flavor and color of ripe strawberries—and makes two-thirds more jam from the same amount of fruit

For a spread on hot biscuits or toast strawberry jam has few equals. Its sweet, delicious flavor makes children of us all.

A new and very revolutionary method has now been discovered by which anyone can make a far better quality quickly and very economically. With the Certo process full-ripe strawberries are used and only three minutes' boiling is required—not the 30 or more minutes so necessary by the old method. The result is a far superior fruity flavor and two-thirds more product from the same amount of fruit because no juice is boiled away. Best of all, the taste of fresh strawberries—the kind you picked in childhood in the old berry patch down by the woods—is now actually preserved for the dead of winter. The Certo Process banishes all guess-work or worry, as perfect results are certain.

The new Certo Process for making Strawberry Jam is very simple:

4 level cups (2 lbs.) Pressed Berries and Lemon Juice,
7½ level cups (3¼ lbs.) Sugar,
½ bottle (scant ½ cup) Certo.

Select only small or medium-sized fully ripened, berries. Spread berries on their sides in single layer on flat plate and gently press each berry nearly flat with bottom of small bottle. (This leaves skins nearly intact, but ruptures fruit inside and makes it hollow, allowing boiling sugar to saturate tissues quickly.) Add juice of one lemon. Have sugar measured in saucepan. Measure berries and juice into large kettle, placing layer of sugar over each cup of berries and balance of sugar on top. Allow to stand over night, so that part of sugar will be dissolved, and mixture can be stirred and cooked without crushing fruit. Stir constantly and bring to a vigorous boil over the hottest fire. Boil hard for 3 minutes with continual stirring. Remove from fire and add CERTO, stirring it in well. Skim at once and pour quickly within five minutes from removal from fire. Result is about 11 half-pound glasses of delicious strawberry jam for about 7 cents per glass.

The former guess-work or worry of making jam or jelly is now past. The Certo Process is endorsed by government authorities and cooking experts; it insures perfect results with every batch. It is also very economical, requiring only a few minutes' boiling and thereby making two-thirds more jam or jelly than the old method. It also makes all kinds of jam or jelly, some you have never tasted before, like cherry jelly and rhubarb jam, or unusual combinations like strawberry and pineapple, etc. Hundreds of Canadian housewives with no little pride are exhibiting the new flavors and better quality of jams and jellies made with Certo.

Certo is absolutely pure—contains no gelatine or preservative. It is Mother Nature's "jell-maker." Housewives particularly have received it with open arms because it is so certain, so economical, so simple, and so useful. They are recommending it to all their friends. Get a bottle of Certo with recipe book from your grocer at once. Try it right away with fresh fruit or with bottled grape juice for grape jelly. Then you will do all your preserving the new and modern way, the easy, economical and better Certo process. 28

Send your grocer's name to the Douglas Packing Company, Ltd., Cobourg, Ont., and they will mail you a recipe book containing 53 recipes for making jam and jelly.

P. for Dufferin, for courtesies extended to them while in the city.

THE SESSIONS

Bert Symons Sent Up For Trial on Charge of Negligent Auto Driving.

The June County Court and General Sessions of the Peace opened in the Court House here on Tuesday afternoon with Judge Fisher presiding.

The Grand Jury brought in a true bill against Albert M. Symons, an Orangeville taxi driver, on a charge of doing bodily harm through wilful neglect. Symons collided with a couple of young men who were driving out of town in a buggy while turning from the Centre Road on Broadway with his auto one night a few weeks ago. It is alleged that the car was on the wrong side of the road when the collision occurred. The trial commenced at 10 o'clock yesterday morning and was getting nicely under way when The Banner went to press. Crown Attorney J. L. Island is prosecuting and C. R. McKeown is defending Symons.

The only civil action was a suit by Peter Cantlin against Samuel Goldmintz for alleged malicious prosecution. Goldmintz brought an action against Cantlin in the police court for receiving credit under false pretences in a horse deal in which the two men were interested. The magistrate dismissed the case and Cantlin thereupon instituted the present action. This was also dismissed, each party being ordered to pay his own costs. J. B. Moon, Arthur, and C. R. McKeown for plff.; J. R. Layton, Shelburne, for deft.

M'KINNEY-LAIRD

A wedding of interest in Victoria University circles was celebrated in Knox College Chapel on Saturday afternoon, when Olive Winnifred, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Laird, Norval, became the bride of E. Harvey McKinney, M. A., '22, son of Mr. and Mrs James McKinney, Norval. The ceremony was performed by Chancellor Bowles, of Victoria University. Mr. Welford Russell played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Dell Campbell, of Norval, who sang "Until," during the signing of the register. The bride, who was escorted by her brother, Mr. Mac Laird, wore her going away gown of mastic Canton crepe with touches of brown, a wrap of golden crepe pongee, a hat of dark brown, its lace drape caught with rosebuds. Her bouquet was of pink Gloria roses. Miss Bessie Laird, who attended her sister, was in brown georgette, with large hat to match, and carried pink bridesmaid roses. The best man was Mr. Milton Stokes, M. D. After receiving the congratulations of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. McKinney left for a trip down the Saguenay, and on their return will reside in Toronto.

RANEY'S PICNIC

The congregation of Raney's Methodist Church will hold their annual June Picnic in Mr. Edward Baxter's grove, lot6, con. 1, Adjala, on Saturday afternoon, June 24th. One of the features of the programme will be a lacrosse tournament, in which Connor, Hockley and Mono Mills teams will take part. Prizes of $10.00 and $5.00 will be awarded the winners. There will also be short addresses by Revs. J. A. Mathesoh, D. G. Atkinson and other speakers, a number of races, a tug-of-war and other attractions. Games will start at 3 o'clock sharp. Tea served from 4 to 8 o'clock. Refreshments of all kinds served on the grounds. Admission, adults, 40c; children 25 cents.

COL. HUGGINS' DEATH

Lieut.-Col. S. J. Huggins, of the staff of Cadet Inspectors, dropped dead in the home of a relative in the Stuart Apartments in Hamilton about one o'clock on Monday afternoon. Heart failure was the cause of the unexpected demise. Deceased had just arrived in Hamilton in company with Lieut.-Col. Barker and was to have inspected the Separate School Cadets in the afternoon. Lieut-Col. Huggins had made the annual inspection of the Orangeville High and Public School Cadets for a number of years. He was here for the inspection early in May this year.

IN MEMORIAM.

CAMERON—In loving memory of my dear husband, James A. Cameron, who passed away June 19th, 1920.

Oft I wish that I were with you
In those happy realms above,
Free from all my earthly sorrow,
Basking in your smiles of love.

Oft I roam the paths of memory,
O'er the landscape of your past,
Dreaming of the sweet reunion
That I know will come at last.

You are waiting to receive me,
As you've waited oft before;
A little longer, then I'll join you
There upon the golden shore.

WIFE.

But we know in the home o'er the river,
Across that bright, golden shore,
We'll meet the father we grieve for,
More loving than before.

For we know he has met with Elma,
In that beautiful land so fair,
And heaven seems nearer and dearer,
For father and sister are there.

When one thinks of Southern Ontario, then looks at this place, there seems to be no words left to describe the great change. I suppose your lawn needs clipping—just think of those grass cutters, they would not be of much use here. We would need a rock cutter. Baffin Land, the great ash-heap of the world! Cheerio! Never say die! We fight on to conquer. Let no man take your crown!

Next day we struck a new idea in order to keep our big boat afloat during the season of heavy tides, so that we could get it whenever we required it. There is a tremendous rise and fall in the tides here, over thirty-four feet, and if the boat is near the shore, it is apt to get entirely abandoned on the rocks, and one has to patiently wait until the tide lifts it up again, so we deemed this an utter inconvenience. To rectify matters we got a large barrel and anchored it about one hundred yards from the shore, and ran a rope through a block and tackle, and we now pull the boat out to the anchorage and it lies there till we want it. It was some job to get the business working satisfactorily, however, we finally got the idea in concrete form. The days were the coldest of the cold, but they helped to work up for us good appetites for meals.

On the twenty-fifth we hiked to a large lake in a north-westerly direction, and Lackey did the fishing, while your "humble" did the shooting. Good sport favored us in both birds and fish. We had great fun with two large wild geese, one met his doom but fell too far out in the lake for a capture. Then a hare took us miles in a direct northerly direction until he was lost in the rocks.

On the twenty-sixth a large schooner came into the harbour, and we soon learned that Dr. McMillan, of U. S. A., was on board. We were soon aboard and also learned that the intrepid explorer was bound for the unknown regions some distance due west of us. He is proceeding to the Fury and Hucklar Straits to sound them, then return and spend the winter near here, then proceed home next summer. Watch out for his reports.

We are led to believe from reports that are pouring in, that there are hundreds of polar bears on the ice in the Straits this year. One party of Eskimos shot thirteen in twenty days. That is pretty good going. We are longing to have a crack at the big polar fellows, but we don't want any hugs.

Sunday, the 28th inst., saw us conducting the usual services, and the same fervor of enthusiasm marked each one. Towards evening the sky got overcast, and darkness came down. The wind arose about 6.30 p.m. and in half an hour a perfect hurricane was raging and the snow was pretty thick. We drew near and cuddled around the box stove, and the old house creaked and rocked all over, as the terrific storm screamed outside. About 9 o'clock, when the gale was raging its loudest, we heard a dog bark. Pulling on an old skin coat, and pull-over skin boots, we proceeded to the door, and standing outside was our native catechist just about to collapse. We got him dragged in out of the storm. He was absolutely done out, and was vomiting blood. He said he had nothing to eat for two days, and truly he looked as if he were telling the truth. It seemed as if he had been in this state of emaciation since he left. We asked him about his wife and children, and he said they were following on. We went out and met them. Such a night to be out! The worst and wildest night I had ever experienced. At times one would have to lie down perfectly flat, and let the hurricane roar overhead, so great was the pressure. It was awful—awful—yes a thousands times over. However, we got the women and children in safely, and soon they had mugs of hot tea, and were soon devouring the contents of a large roast beef tin. Two women and two children, they ate and ate till I thought they would die. We told them to lie down on the floor of our shack for the night, as they could not pitch tents in such awful weather, so they all lay down in a heap and were soon in the land of nod. God help the poor beggars! I have no doubt, folks at home will say: Oh! They are used to the cold—yes, they are, and they are used to hunger, too! I reckon if they do die of starvation no one in civilization is any the wiser, and what the eye don't see the heart don't grieve after. The other catechist has not shown up yet, as they got separated while on the hunt, and lost one another. He is a younger and stronger man and perchance he has been fortunate in securing deer; so he would be then quite alright—if he has not—well—he will be another one of that noble band of missing. To make it worse his wife and children are with him. The storm abated about one-thirty a. m., so we accompanied the Hudson Bay men about half way to the post, then returned. Toward daybreak the storm again renewed its force, this time it raged for two days and two nights. The snow was four feet deep and it froze hard all the time. We held on to the shack till Tuesday night, then we were glad to get out for a breath of fresh air. The Eskimos left on Wednesday morning and soon got their tents fixed up. Yesterday one of the Eskimos shot a seal in the bay, also four ducks, so we had the honor of devouring them today.

Yesterday I had my first experience in an Eskimo boat. They are made of skin and called (Kyack.) They are tricky things, and if they turn over, one would soon be finished with the earth, as one could not get their feet clear of them.

Last night when crossing the bay we had to press through the ice-pans—so alas! it is already forming up for the winter, so our summer is gone. It freezes hard in the evenings now and is completely dark at seven-thirty.

Enclosed I am sending you a strip of mica. It is a sort of mineral of which there are tons upon tons here. Baffin Land is stock full of it. It contains potash, soda, oxide of iron and manganese. It can be torn off in strips and some of these are only 300,000th part of an inch in thickness. It is extensively used in wireless outfits.

Sometimes we feel we are sitting on the top of the old world, looking down on civilization. The thought of civilization frisks away, when we call out one to another, "Put another record on the gramophone," and so our thoughts wander off to days of joy, and another impetus is given one to plod ahead, whatever circumstances lie ahead.

The following is the final letter of the Rev. Blevin Atkinson, which was penned at Baffin Land on November 12th, 1921. He will not be able to send any further communication until September, 1922. We have been pleased to publish these letters. They were most interesting and gave us a few peeps into the life of the Eskimos behind the great northern barriers of ice.—Editor.

Well, well, time does fly. I looked at the Calendar this morning and it said November 12th, 1921. This is my last mail this year. I don't know when you will get this letter, somewhere in the neighborhood of Christmas, I reckon. I take this opportunity of wishing you all a happy Christmas and a prosperous New Year.

Just two months in Baffin Land and Lackey and I have enjoyed every day of it. It is a free country, just as God made it. Go where you please, when you please, how you please, and do as you please. Lots of room to stretch oneself. My parish is 230,000 square miles in area, so that there is no danger of overlapping or cramp. Lake Harbour is a lovely stretch of water running into this inlet ten or twelve miles from the sea. Hudson Strait is direct south, and our mission house is situated at the north end of the harbor in a sheltered spot, that is protected from the keen north winds by a high rugged mountain. The entire harbor is surrounded by high mountains and is about one mile wide. From the place where I am sitting now I can look through the window and see to the entrance of the harbor. As it is a beautiful morning, without the slightest breeze, the harbor water is solid ice and acts like a mighty mirror, as it reflects the huge rugged peaks of the mountains on its icy surface. At the same time this calm still scene of land and water and sky is not so innocent as it looks—it is ice and more ice, so icy cold, and woe betide the unfortunate individual who is caught in a land blizzard or who happens to take the notion of a sudden bath. By jingo! it is the coldest bath which I ever tackled. Some of those freaks of humanity tha tenjoy mid-winter cold dips, should come up here and they would soon be cured.

Already we have scoured the country around the mission house for many miles. Next year I hope to have some pictures for you, in order that you will be able to have some idea of this cold forehead of the universe. A favorite hunting spot of mine is a huge peak which runs up about two thousand feet, about three miles south-east of the house. From the summit one can survey many miles of these rugged, barren lands, and also a gigantic strip of the straits. Every day one can see from ten to thirty huge palaces of ice-bergs floating down towards the Atlantic Ocean from the everlasting icy regions of the North Pole. One can look out across this scene for months, and not one ship heaves in sight. The steamers come once each year and sail out of the great glass gates again and leave Baffin Land wrapped in a tremendous silence. This year reindeer are being imported, that is the reason the steamers are making two trips, and that accounts for one being able to send more letters and messages than had been anticipated.

The last week or so we have been engaged in hunting seal, the reason being to provide our dogs with food for the winter. The Eskimo dogs or "huskies" are magnificent brutes, more of a wolf than a dog and they are very fierce. They do not bark, they simply sit down, raise their noses to the air and fairly howl. To hear over two hundred of them at this song service is very sweet, I must confess. They are forever fighting, and the Irish problem is solved every day; one can see a real set-to any day. They are in gangs, and to see them meeting, and having a great fight is a great sight in this land, where there is nothing else to disturb the stillness and the peace. They fight wickedly and revolver and rifle have to be the means of arbitration every time. They are truly Irish! The Eskimos do not feed them during the short summer months, and they are running harum-scarum in a half-starved condition, but in the winter they are well provided for, as they prove an invaluable asset in dragging the sleighs loaded with goods, and are a source of usefulness in every way. I have found some faithful friends among the "huskies" of the north.

I had an experience of fishing one day with a party of Eskimos. What a marvellous lot of fishermen they are! They go to the lake, sit down on a rock, and rattle upon the top of another rock. The fish come sailing along to see who is knocking at the front door of the aquatic apartments, and before Mr. Fish can wink, the Eskimo has him speared, and hauled on to the rocks. They are certainly expert at this, even the children are good at this kind of fishing. Imagine the surprise that was on the faces of the Eskimos when they saw Lackey and I armed with fishing rods and fishing in the usual way. They gathered around and were silent until a large trout was landed, then the roared and shouted "Kardpay!—Kardpay!" which means, Wonderful! Wonderful!

On another occasion we stalked right up to a bunch of partridge, the shots flew, and so did some of the partridge, but we bagged five of them, and the "huskie" killed another, and soon gorged it. We had a great supper that night! Gee, it was a grand and glorious feeling.

We have had several feasts of seal meat. The meat is almost black in color and it is absolutely tasteless. It is also tough chewing, a substitute for chewing gum!

The polar bears are very plentiful this year, and to the south the land is stocked with them. One group of Eskimos shot thirteen in fifteen days. This is counted a good bag. We are longing to get the opportunity of bagging one of these big fellows.

A great pest here, for a few months, are the mosquitos, they sting until one is covered with blood and half mad with itch, but, thank goodness, the storm and the cold drives them out.

I have just returned from the journey to Amodjnak, nearly eight days en route, by motor boat, sleigh and on foot. It certainly was an awful journey. A great blizzard delayed the entire party, and we were literally buried twice in the snow. A break in the weather, and we marched ahead and landed safely. Thanks be unto God for His protecting care over us.

The pastor (driving to church, to passerby)—"Where are you going, John?"

John—"To church in the next parish."

Pastor—"I don't like that. What would you say if your sheep strayed to someone else's property?"

John—"Well, a'far as that goes, I wouldn't say nothin' if the pasturage was better."

CHIROPRACTIC

Is Your Greatest Friend

Thousands of people are finding full restoration to health in Chiropractic adjustments, and why should you not be equally successful. Science is always on the move, and none has made more rapid progress than the Science of Chiropractic and for no other reason than its success to combat disease and give relief to suffering humanity. Investigate its merits. Get your information first hand from your Chiropractor, then you get it correct. Others may be misleading. A few Adjustments will convince you that Chiropractic will correct the cause of your disease, and put you in possession of good healthy conditions. If you are afflicted in any way, acute or chronic, visit your Chiropractor, have the cause removed and enjoy good health and happiness.

"Slide down the pipe, daddy!" This appeal, coming in the voice of Frank, his six-year-old son, who had fallen to the bottom of a 25 foot well in the Aurora Cemetery, came as an almost unbelievable assurance to Samuel Chapman that the little boy had not been drowned. The father, grasping the iron standpipe, descended, and the lad was brought to the surface little the worse for his ducking. The boy, who had forced open the door of the shed containing the well, had been heard by his father to scream as he fell, plunging 22 feet before striking the three feet of water contained in the well.

NEARLY CRAZY WITH PAINS IN BACK

Read How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Mrs. Beecroft

Hamilton, Ontario.—"I have suffered for three years from a female trouble and consequent weakness, pain and irregularity which kept me in bed four or five days each month. I nearly went crazy with pains in my back, and for about a week at a time I could not do my work. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the 'Hamilton Spectator' and I took it. Now I have no pain and am quite regular unless I overwork or stay on my feet from early morning until late at night. I keep house and do all my own work without any trouble. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to several friends."—Mrs. EMILY BEECROFT, 16 Douglas St., Hamilton, Ontario.

For nearly fifty years women have been telling how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health when suffering with female ills. This accounts for the enormous demand for it from coast to coast.

If you are troubled with any ailment peculiar to women why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? It has helped others, let it help you.

Dufferins Too Speedy For Fergus Thistles.

Fergus Thistles gave The Dufferins a real battle in the intermediate O. A. L. A. fixture on Idylwyld Park last Wednesday afternoon. Seven hundred spectators witnessed a fast, snappy game between two teams that up to half time appeared to be very evenly matched. Dufferins had the edge on the visitors in the second half and won a well-earned victory by a score of 7 to 3. Blythe and Bert Brown, Joe Cushing and Austin Black, who played with The Dufferins last year and during the two preceding seasons, were the mainstays of the Thistles, the balance of the team consisting of such veterans as Toole Gow and Stubby Graham and a number of promising juniors, who are bound to improve considerably as the season progresses. The visitors counted on the speed and cleverness of the Browns on the home field to win out, but these stars were well taken care of by Henderson and Scott, who were right on top of them most of the time. Dufferins played the opening quarter without Clyde Gordon, who was delayed by a baseball game in Grand Valley. Even end to end play featured the first quarter and neither home managed to score, though both goals had a number of narrow escapes. Fergus drew first blood in the second period, Blythe Brown getting an opening and landing a hot one that Booth had no chance to stop. Dufferins evened about three minutes later, Armour Robinson netting the ball after accepting a pretty pass from Gordon. Sargeant got inside The Dufferin defence and had no trouble scoring when Booth came out to meet him. Dufferins evened again just before the quarter ended on a combination play between Hawken and Stephens, the latter scoring.

Dufferins had the edge on the visitors in the third frame. Cruikshank made a couple of great tries just after play began, Gow stopping one of them with his head and the other going wide. Cushing was benched for slashing Golden and while he was watching the game Eddie Hawken dropped Stephens a neat one right in front of the flags and the latter beat Gow with a drop shot. Cruikshank got another on a pass from McAuley. A delay occurred while Gordon was getting patched up after a too vigorous swipe over the head. Just to show that he was still in the game Clyde notched another for The Duffs a couple of minutes after play resumed. Dufferins put another away early in the last quarter, Eddie Hawken doing the trick on a well-placed pass from Gordon. Bill Henderson was benched for tripping Blythe Brown. Fergus used the extra man to good effect, Stubby Graham scoring on a pass from Bert Brown after the latter had taken a fast one from brother Blythe. Hawken got the last goal of the game on a pass from Golden. Golden and Cushing had a merry battle all afternoon, and honors were about even at the finish. The Fergus man had the advantage in weight, but Golden offset this by his superior speed. Dufferins were without the services of Ewing, their speedy homefielder, who was lying ill with the flu at his home a couple of miles out of the town. Hugh Jack and Tom Henry handled the game in capable and impartial manner. Players and officials were:—

Fergus—Goal, F. Gow; point, Joe Cushing; coverpoint, Black; defence, Steele and Russell; centre, Atkinson; home field, F. Sargeant, Blythe Brown; outside home, Bert Brown; inside home, J. Graham; spares, Richardson, Graham, Howitt.

CONSERVATIVES MEET

Dr. Campbell the New President of Dufferin County Association.

The annual meeting of the Dufferin Liberal-Conservative Association was held in the council chamber of the town hall on Friday afternoon last, June 16th. About 150 were present. In the absence of the President, John Bryan, Dr. Campbell, Vice-President, presided, and Marshall Curry was appointed Secretary of the meeting in the absence of the Secretary, R. E. Mortimer. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

A committee to be composed of C. R. McKeown, John Best and Dr. Campell was appointed to send a letter of sympathy to the Secretary, R. E. Mortimer, who was unable to be present owing to illness.

Resolutions of confidence in the leadership of Sir Arthur Meighen and Hon. G. H. Ferguson were endorsed and will be forwarded to the respective leaders.

The following officers were elected:—

Hon. President—Alex. McDonald, T. C. Hamilton and John Bryan.

President—Dr G. H. Campbell, Orangeville.

Vice-President—H. Hughes, Laurel

Secretary — Robt. E. Mortimer, Honeywood.

In future the Executive will have power to call a special meeting.

Addresses were then delivered by Messrs. John Best and C. R. McKeown.—Free Press.

—J. D. Torrie's big Clothing Sale commences Saturday, June 17th. Be there.

JOHN W. DELANEY

The death of John W. Delaney, an old resident of this town, occurred in Brampton on Monday, June 12th. Deceased, who was in his 77th year, had never married and had spent his lifetime in Caledon and Mono. He was a quiet, inoffensive man and had no enemies. The funeral was held from the home of Mr. David Fines, Centre Road, Caledon, to Caledon cemetery on Wednesday afternoon following his death.

WILLIAM SKELTON

William Skelton, an old resident of Orangeville and district, passed away in Lord Dufferin Hospital on Wednesday of last week at the ripe age of 76 years. While able to go around until a few days before his death Mr. Skelton had been in failing health for some months and his demise was by no means unexpected. Deceased was a son of the late John Skelton, of Mono, and is survived by one brother, Alexander Skelton, now living in California. Mr. Skelton was residing at Battleford at the time of the second Riel rebellion and had his medal from the Government for service with The Battleford Rifles. He had a narrow escape from death in action, a bullet from one of the rebel rifles striking and destroying the watch he was wearing. The timepiece, however, deflected the course of the bullet and saved his life. Deceased was a quiet, inoffensive man, who had no enemies and enjoyed the respect of his friends. The funeral was held from the home of his nephew, Mr. John A. Skelton, Zina St., to the Forest Lawn Cemetery, on Friday afternoon. Rev. F. W. Mahaffy, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, conducted the services at the house and grave. The pallbearers were Messrs. George and M. J. Leighton, Dan and Robt. McKim, W. J. Acheson and John A. Skelton. The floral tributes included sprays from John A. Skelton and Mrs. Acheson, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Leighton, Toronto, and Martha, John and Wallace Lundy.

JESSE WILLERTON

Mr. Jesse Willerton, a well-known and highly respected resident of Mono, passed away at his late residence, lot 21, con. 7, on Wednesday, June 7th. The late Mr. Willerton was born in Lincolnshire, England, 67 years ago and came to Canada in 1873. One year after his arrival in this country he married Ann Jane McKenna, who predeceased him nine years ago. The deceased had been bedfast for the last two and a half years. He was treated by different physicians, but medical skill and the gentle ministrations of those about him were alike powerless to stay the ravages of the insidious disease that had marked him for its victim. Mr. Willerton was a man who possessed many excellent qualities and his memory will be warmly cherished by the community in which he lived. He was a member of the Anglican Church and for many years served as church warden and Superintendent of the Sunday School in St. Luke's Church, Mono. He is survived by one son and three daughters, namely, John G. Willerton, Mrs. H. Howard, Mrs. Thos. Smith and Mrs. John Pierson. The funeral, which was largely attended, was held to St. John's Church cemetery on Friday afternoon, June 9th. The Rev. A. C. McCollum, of Alliston, conducted the services at the house and grave. The pallbearers were W. J. Bower, Wm McFarland, Geo. Lindsay, Sam. K. Stinson, John Fish and Samuel Rawn.

JAMES DAVISON

The funeral of the late James Davison, whose death in Portland, Oregon, on Sunday, June 11th, was briefly noted in last week's Banner, was held from the home of his brother, Mr. Andrew Davison, West Broadway, to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Monday afternoon. There was a large attendance of sorrowing relatives and friends at the house, where an impressive service was held by Rev. F. W. Mahafty, pastor of St. Andrew's Church. The pallbearers, who were all former school chums and comrades, were Messrs. John and Angus Norris, Walker G. Kearns, D. B. Brown, Jas. Johnston and John Ellis. Among the many beautiful floral tributes were a Gates Ajar from the brothers and sisters and a large design from the Albers Milling Co., of Portland.

The late Mr. Davison, who was 53 years of age, was the second son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Davison, of Orangeville. He went west about forty years ago and for the last fifteen years had been foreman with Albers Bros., a large milling concern in Portland, Oregon. He was operated on for an internal ailment on Wednesday preceding his death and appeared to be making favorable progress until pneumonia developed. In his weakened condition he had no chance of making a fight against this dangerous malady. Mr. Davison was unmarried. He was held in high esteem in the city of his adoption and his employers bear striking testimony to his worth and integrity. His death is mourned by the following brothers and sisters:—John and Norman Davison, of Caledon; Andrew Davison, Mrs. Richard Fines and Mrs. W. W. Lackey, Orangeville; Mrs. T. S. Crombie, Munson, Alta., and Mrs. Robt. Buchanan, Laurel.

Friends from a distance here for the funeral included Mrs. McGill, Grand Valley; Thos. Lloyd, Thos. Sparrow and Mrs. R. G. Harshaw, Toronto; Mrs. Hutchinson, Mono Road; Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt and Mr. Mervin Foster, Inglewood; Mr. and Mrs. H. Davis, Caledon East; Mr. Stephen and Robert Davison, Erin, and Mr. and Mrs. Will Davison, of Caledon.

—Hockley lacrosse team defeated The Dods Knitting Co. team by 4 to 3 on Idylwyld Park on Saturday evening. Hockley won 8 to 2 on their own grounds the preceding Saturday.

How to make the most delicious strawberry jam you ever tasted

New Certo process astonishes housewives

Never fails—requires only two or three minutes boiling. Retains all the flavor and color of ripe strawberries—and makes two-thirds more jam from the same amount of fruit

For a spread on hot biscuits or toast strawberry jam has few equals. Its sweet, delicious flavor makes children of us all.

A new and very revolutionary method has now been discovered by which anyone can make a far better quality quickly and very economically. With the Certo process full-ripe strawberries are used and only three minutes' boiling is required—not the 30 or more minutes so necessary by the old method. The result is a far superior fruity flavor and two-thirds more product from the same amount of fruit because no juice is boiled away. Best of all, the taste of fresh strawberries—the kind you picked in childhood in the old berry patch down by the woods—is now actually preserved for the dead of winter. The Certo Process banishes all guess-work or worry, as perfect results are certain.

The new Certo Process for making Strawberry Jam is very simple:

4 level cups (2 lbs.) Pressed Berries and Lemon Juice,
7½ leveled cups (3¼ lbs.) Sugar,
½ bottle (scant ⅓ cup) Certo.

Select only small or medium-... fully ripened, berries. Spread berries on their sides in single layer on flat plate and gently press each berry nearly flat with bottom of small bottle. (This leaves skins nearly intact, but ruptures fruit inside and makes it hollow, allowing boiling sugar to saturate tissues quickly.) Add juice of one lemon. Have sugar measured in saucepan. Measure berries and juice into large kettle, placing layer of sugar over each cup of berries and balance of sugar on top. Allow to stand over night, so that part of sugar will be dissolved, and mixture can be stirred and cooked without crushing fruit. Stir constantly and bring to a vigorous boil over the hottest fire. Boil hard for 3 minutes with continual stirring. Remove from fire and add CERTO, stirring it in well. Skim at once and pour quickly within five minutes from removal from fire. Result is about 11 half-pound glasses of delicious strawberry jam for about 7 cents per glass.

The former guess-work or worry of making jam or jelly is now past. The Certo Process is endorsed by government authorities and cooking experts; it insures perfect results with every batch. It is also very economical, requiring only a few minutes' boiling and thereby making two-thirds more jam or jelly than the old method. It also makes all kinds of jam or jelly, some you have never tasted before, like cherry jelly and rhubarb jam, or unusual combinations like strawberry and pineapple, etc. Hundreds of Canadian housewives with no little pride are exhibiting the new flavors and better quality of jams and jellies made with Certo.

Certo is absolutely pure—contains no gelatine or preservative. It is Mother Nature's "jell-maker." Housewives particularly have received it with open arms because it is so certain, so economical, so simple, and so useful. They are recommending it to all their friends. Get a bottle of Certo with recipe book from your grocer at once. Try it right away with fresh fruit or with bottled grape juice for grape jelly. Then you will do all your preserving the new and modern way, the easy, economical and better Certo process. 22

Send your grocer's name to the Douglas Packing Company, Ltd., Cobourg, Ont., and they will mail you a recipe book containing 58 recipes for making jam and jelly.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE

About one hundred and fifty of the friends and neighbors of Miss Ethel J. Kirkby, a popular bride-to-be, tendered her a miscellaneous shower at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peterson, Laurel, on Tuesday evening, June 13th. The bride received a large number of useful and beautiful gifts. Refreshments were served later in the evening and a delightful time was spent in dancing, music, etc.

The young lady was also the guest of honor at a Tea given by Mrs. Merton Rintoul on Friday evening, June 9th.

—Rev. John Lennox, of Temple Hill, spent Sunday in town while on his way home from Winnipeg, where he attended the General Assembly. Mr. Lennox occupied the pulpit in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday night, preaching a thoughtful discourse from the text, "The Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which is lost."

CAMPERS

ONTARIO'S forest wealth is dwindling. Every year forest fires take disastrous toll. Careless campers cause eleven per cent. of Ontario's forest fires. Last summer 112 cases of neglected camp fires were reported. This summer be careful.

Save Ontario's Forests
They're Yours

DON'T

DON'T take chances with fire in or near forests.

DON'T throw away cigarette or cigar butts, pipe "heels" or burnt matches until you are sure they are out.

DON'T build your camp fire against a rotten log or stump—but on sandy soil or near some moss patch, well at the base of a tree.

Build it in a former fire-place, or on a flat rock, or on a spot cleared down to the true soil below or by the edge of the water.

DON'T forget that the upper layer of ground in the forest consists of partially rotted wood which will burn.

When you build your fire to make tea, fry bacon or add cheer to pipe and story-telling time, use a woodsman's precautions.

The real woodsman builds his fire on an old fireplace, if there be one handy. Failing that he scrapes away all litter, moss and fibrous rotted wood down to the mineral soil, or the bare rock, and preferably some place close to the water. He knows that if fire gets into the moss or the upper woody layer of forest soil, or in a half-rotted log or stump, it "holds over," burns away unnoticed underneath, and unless followed up and carefully put out, is liable to break into a flame later. He knows how hard it is to put such deep-smouldering fire out. So he makes his cooking fire surprisingly small and compact, and chooses a spot that is absolutely safe.

It is a mark of his finished woodsmanship how thoroughly he drowns his fire out with plenty of water when he is through with it. Save the forests. You may want to camp again.

CAMILLA

Mrs. Ed. Cobean, of Toronto, was the guest of her brother, Township Clerk W. A. Henry, last week.

Miss Chrona Lundy visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Lundy, over the week-end.

Rev. Wm. Coutts, Jas. Little and Cameron Lemon have entered their names on the lists of auto owners. W. A. Henry and T. A. Gallaugher are invited to fall in line and buy their young people a Ford apiece.

Another enterprise has been launched in our rapidly growing village, Mr. Vernon Buchanan has opened a garage and repair shop. We wish him the best of luck.

It is a long, long time since wedding bells rang around Camilla, but there are persistent rumors afloat that they are to ring shortly.

Elmer says he is going to work hard during the holidays to worry away his lonesomeness.

Mr. Clifford Marshall visited friends in the city last week.

Harris says it is hard luck to have two girls when they are in the same bung on the same night.

The Y. P. S. held a successful picnic at Canning's Falls last week. The weather was warm and so was the water, at least that's what Olive said.

MARSVILLE

(Intended for last week.)

A very interesting event took place in this village on Thursday, June 1st, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Carver. The occasion was the marriage of their daughter, Miss Eliza Mary Jane, to Mr. George Cook. The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock by Rev (Capt.) F. C. Harper in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the bride. After the usual best wishes had been extended to the happy couple a dainty wedding repast was served in excellent style. Mr. and Mrs. Cook will reside in the village.

The annual meeting of the Marsville Branch of the Bible Society was held on Thursday evening in the Presbyterian Church. The Rev. M. Wasson, of Toronto, agent of the Society, was present and gave a very instructive illustrated lecture on Bible work in the Balkan States. The following are the officers appointed for the ensuing year:—President, Rev. F. C. Harper; Vice-President, Rev. J. Hyde; Secretary-Treasurer, L. Boggs; Executive Committee, Mrs. W. Woods, Mrs. S. Price and Mrs. Samuel Everson.

The regular monthly meeting of the Marsville Branch Women's Institute was held last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Wm. Haws, 12th line. There was an excellent attendance of the members and all enjoyed the meeting. The next meeting will be held in the Disciple Church, when The Maples and Grand Valley Branches will be present.

The annual garden party in connection with the Grove Church will be held on Monday evening, June 26th. Mr. C. Le Roy Kenney, of Toronto, will be the entertainer.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning. There was also service in the evening. There were large congregations on both occasions.

ALTON

A very successful Conference was held in the Presbyterian Church here on Tuesday, June 13th, in connection with the Orangeville Presbyterial W. M. S. The Conference was attended by a large and appreciative audience, the assemblage evincing keen interest throughout the entire programme. Splendid reports of the Provincial Convention and the General Council were given by Mrs. Ferguson, of Shelburne, and Mrs. (Rev.) J. Burkholder, of Caledon. The Question Drawer, featuring one of the educative items of the recent Conferences, was conducted by Mrs. Burkholder at both sessions. Mrs. Ferguson, who is retiring from the office of Treasurer of the Presbyterial, was pleasantly surprised at the close of the afternoon session, when she was called forward and presented with a beautiful jardiniere by the members of the executive as a slight token of their appreciation of her faithful services during the past eight years. Mrs. G. W. Rose, of Corbetton, was subsequently appointed Treasurer, Mrs. Ferguson agreeing to accept the post of Secretary pro tem. The members of the Alton W. M. S. served dinner and tea to the visiting delegates. About seventy-five ladies were present, representing the societies at Claude, Erin, North Erin, Caledon, Caledon East, Orangeville, Mono East, Bethel, Mono Mills, Grand Valley, Shelburne and other churches.

HILLSBURG

The re-decoration of St. Andrew's Church building is proceeding nicely, the Browning firm, of Thornhill, having charge of the work. It is expected that the congregation will worship in their own church home on July 2nd.

Next Sunday afternoon June 25th, after the regular church service at 3 p.m., a congregational meeting of St. Andrew's Church will be held to appoint representatives to the Presbytery meeting at Stanley Park, Erin, on June 27th, at which the resignation of Rev. F. C. Harper will be considered.

HOW TO BEST TREAT STOMACH TROUBLE

A Tonic Medicine is Needed to Strengthen the Stomach.

The old-fashioned methods of treating stomach diseases are being discarded. The trouble with the old-fashioned methods was that when the treatment was stopped the trouble returned, often in an aggravated form.

The modern method of treating indigestion and other forms of stomach trouble is to tone up the stomach and glands to their normal work. The recovery of the appetite, the disappearance of pain after eating, the absence of gas, are the steps on the road to health that those who have tried the tonic treatment remember distinctly. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic which through their action on the blood are helpful in building up the digestive organs, and therefore the best remedy for simple or chronic cases of stomach trouble. The success of the treatment is shown by cases like that of Mr. Joseph Leclere, Wellington, P. E. I., who says:—"I have been a great sufferer from indigestion and stomach trouble, and nothing that I took for it did me any good until I began Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was so bad that I did not want to eat, and when I did take food it lay like a weight on my stomach, often causing me much pain and misery. I saw in an advertisement what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done in a similar case and began taking them, with the result that after taking the pills for five or six weeks, I am feeling better than I have done for years. I hope my experience will help other similar sufferers."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail, post paid, at 50c a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

APPROVED OF BILL

During the recent Canada Temperance Act amendment debate in the House of Commons, Mr. R. J. Woods spoke as follows in support of the amendment:—

"I want to express my approval of the bill, especially since we have been assured it covers all the provinces of the Dominion. The Province of Ontario has gone to its limit in regard to temperance legislation; if not, it is endeavouring to do so. Any federal law which would strengthen its hands and enable it to fully carry out and enforce the provisions of the Ontario Temperance Act will be heartily received throughout the Province. We are all aware of the bootlegging and the disorderly conduct which has occurred in western Ontario in the past, and especially the transportation of liquor from that part of this country to the United States. Any legislation prohibiting the transportation of liquor other than by steam railway or water will undoubtedly strengthen the hands of Ontario in its endeavours to put an end to that traffic. It will stop the carriage of liquors by motor vehicles along the public highways of the province, and will be of the utmost importance in strengthening the hands of the provincial authorities in their endeavours to carry out the provincial legislation to the fullest extent."

The amendment is designed to prevent the export of liquors from provinces that are under prohibitory law.

GOLD MEDALLIST

J. Harold Couch, who has just graduated at Toronto University, winning the gold medal in biological and medical science, is a son of Rev. Isaac Couch, M. A., B. D., of Strathroy, Ont. He graduated from Ottawa Collegiate Institute in 1918, obtaining honors in classics, mathematics, moderns and science and taking the general proficiency gold medal. In his matriculation he won two Blake scholarships; and during his academic career at the University he has won a scientific scholarship at the end of each year. Mr. Couch has refused several tempting positions, and will return to Toronto in the fall to continue his work in medicine. We offer our congratulations to this brilliant student, and no doubt a bright future awaits him. —Strathroy Age.

Rev. Isaac Couch will be remembered by many Banner readers as a former pastor of Laurel and Mono Mills Methodist circuits.

MONO MILLS PARISH

Services will be held as follows on Sunday, June 26th:—

St. Paul's Church, Mono—Sabbath School at 10 a.m.; divine service at 11 a.m.

St. John's Church, Mono—Divine service at 3 p.m.

St. John's Church, Mono Mills—Union S. S. at 10 a.m.; divine service at 7 p.m.

GROVE GARDEN PARTY

The Grove Methodist Church will hold its annual Garden Party in Handley's Grove on the Erin-East Garafraxa townline, a short distance east of Orton, on Monday evening, June 26th. C. Le Roy Kenney, A. T. C. M., of Toronto, will be the chief entertainer and will be assisted by Mr. Waite, who will give recitations, and the widely-known Dyer-Tarswell orchestra. Dr. Gibson, of Hillsburg, will occupy the chair and T. K. Slack, M. L. A. for Dufferin, and the resident ministers will deliver short addresses. Refreshment booth on the grounds. Admission, 25c and 15c.

TORRIE'S JUNE Reduction Sale
—OF—
MEN'S & BOYS' CLOTHING

Having decided to reduce our stock of Men's and Boys' Clothing, we are starting, on Saturday, June 17th, to clear out 200 Suits of Men's and Boys' Ready-to-Wear Clothing.

Men's Suits from $10.00 up.
Boys' Suits from $5.00 up.

It is not necessary to dwell on the quality of these Suits. Every one knows the high standard of goods we carry. It is simply a case of being over-stocked with Suits, and we have decided to give our customers the benefit of the extremely low prices on the garments while the season is on, the time when you need clothing, not when your buying is done.

We have decided to put on this money-saving sale, starting JUNE 17th, ending JUNE 30th.

This is a chance to buy real merchandise at extremely low prices, as the reductions will be based on to-day's values, not on former high prices.

These suits will all be on racks for your inspection, where you will have a good chance to see what you are getting.

They are out of our regular stock and not bought for this sale.

Do not miss this big chance of securing High Class Clothing at prices that cannot be duplicated.

Remember the date, starting SATURDAY, JUNE 17th, ending FRIDAY, JUNE 30th.

THE PAPER FROM HOME

There lay on a stand in the marble hall
Of a city mansion with towers tall,
A country paper in its wrapper plain,
Almost unnoticed, or scorned with disdain

By the liveried servants there.
Amid the splendor of wealth it lay
In its humble garb, through the long, long day;
Till the master came at eventide
To lay for awhile his cares aside
Afar from the city's din.
When he saw the paper a kindly smile
Wreathed his face and for a while
In calm content he settled down
With the paper that came from his old home town

That he loved in days of yore.
As he scanned its homely pages through
On memory's mirror appeared in view
Familiar scenes and the faces of friends
With the glad delight that memory sends

To a heart that is ever young.
He was back once more in the summer days
With the chums he knew in boyish plays.
Diving into the swimming pool

In eager youthful play.
He roamed again 'mid woods and fields,
Through orchards and their fruitful yields;
Through meadows green, and down the lane
Where flowers wild still bloomed again,

As in the bygone days.
The Sabbath evenings calm and still—
The country church upon the hill,
Where he humbly knelt by his mother's side
Before his footsteps roamed awide

To seek ambition's goal.
Those treasured memories, kin to tears,
So often lost through passing years,
Crept softly back with pleasure rare
To smooth the lines that time and care

Had written on his brow.
So the simple sheet with its homely face
Goes forth by times to find a place
In the heart of a man whose eyes grow dim
With tender memories brought to him.

When the paper comes from home.

ONLY TWENTY YEARS AGO

Nobody swatted the fly.
Nobody wore a wrist watch.
Nobody wore white shoes.
Most young men had "livery bills."
Farmers came to town for their mail.
The heavens were not full of man-birds.
Nor the seas alive with underwater boats.
The hired girl drew one-fifty a week and was happy.
The butcher "threw in" a chunk of liver.
The merchant "threw in" a pair of suspenders with every suit.
Nobody "listened in" on the telephone.
There were no sane Fourths nor electric meters.
Straw stacks were burned instead of baled.
Publishing a country newspaper was not a business—it was a dueling game.
There were no Bolshevists or international anarchists.
The safety razor had not introduced the clean-shaven face.

FELL DOWN WATER WHEEL.

On Friday morning last Wm. Crouch, who is employed at Bell's Grist Mill, happened with an accident which might have been fatal. He was alone at the time and was working in that portion of the building directly over the shaft to the water wheel, when suddenly a plank gave away, and he dropped about eighteen feet to the base of the wheel, alighting on his back, then landing head first into the water. He had presence of mind and managed to climb up the ladder to safety, but fell in an unconscious state just after he got out of the mill, and narrowly escaped falling into the race. Citizens on the street noticed him fall and rushed to his assistance and immediately summoned medical aid. The unfortunate man was moved to his home and upon examination it was found that no bones were broken, but he was suffering from bruises and nervous shock. He is still confined to his bed, but at last report is convalescing and will be about in a few days.—Erin Advocate.

Doctors Give Up His Case of Eczema

Wonderful recovery of a very sick man

This is one of the many striking stories we are publishing of what the D. D. D. prescription is accomplishing among Canadian sufferers. Cases from your own neighborhood will be sent on application.

"I was laid up all winter with weeping eczema. I tried every doctor in reach. Both hands, arms and legs to my knees were a sight. I have used several bottles of D. D. D. and am well of the terrible disease. D. D. D. is certainly cheap after the doctors."—Peter Mercer, Ft. Burwell, Ont.

The first drop of D. D. D. and the itch is gone. Your money back if the first bottle does not relieve you. $1.00 a bottle. Try D. D. D Soap, too.

BAFFIN LAND

I wanted to write you more about the Amodjuak journey, but I hear the warning rocket of the steamer. This is my final letter this year. The steamer sails at daybreak, and so with her departure, all communication with the outside world is closed. Fifty-two below zero with more to follow. I know you will not forget us as we are shut in behind the great ice barrier doors, and we are confident that you and the good people of Mono Mills will follow us in our travels during the coming winter. Distance is nothing with God. He is over all. I shall be eagerly watching for news in August, 1922. Do not forget to mail all letters up to and including June 30th, 1922. "Honor all men. Love the Brotherhood. Fear God. Honor the King."

Cheerio! Farewell! God bless you!

Your brother,
PLÆVIN.

The End.

THE MARTYRS OF THE ARCTIC

There are many interesting and instructive volumes written upon the subject of Polar exploration, and conjoined with these are the volumes of living experiences which the missionary, for Christ's sake, endures the hardships and lives with the natives. It is not the lot of the missionary to be a bird of passage and pay a flying visit. He realizes that the great punch of his call lies in the fact of enlightening, moralizing and raising the standard of civilization and Christianity among the heathen tribes to whom he is sent.

The letters that have come to us from Baffin Land, and have appeared in our paper, have given us an impetus to peruse most of the arctic literature to hand. For one I have been three times interested, and have discovered a new field of literature in exploration and missionary effort in the far Northland. It has been tremendously inspiring to read the exploits of the many heroes of the North.

In the Bible we also find the divine sanction, by affixing a "Great Seal" to that text found in Job 37, verse 10, "By the breath of God frost is given: and the breadth of the water is straightened." In the time of Job there had been no polar expeditions, yet remarkable as it may seem, this text is descriptive of an Arctic sea. In the most ancient times the tyrant Cold went forward and assailed the waters while at play, and brought them into captivity, and the crash that the Arctic explorer hears at midnight is only the restless captive turning over in her chains. There are long rows of castles in which the giants of the cold live. There are great battlements of glaciers—Gibraltars and Sebastopols—guarding the realm of frigidity, and tremendous gates of glass that swing open long enough to let of the harbor of San Francisco. noble adventurers sail in and then swing shut, leaving the world to guess about heroic souls and lost shipping. Gigantic centres of palaces and castles, and domes and minarets, and arches and obelisks and statuary elevated with such magnificence that the human eye is dazed and dimmed if it look too long. Cathedrals in which eternal silence falls down and worships. Thrones on which eternal stillness presides. Continents uninhabited except as we have been reading the Baffin Land diary, by walrus, or seal, or bear, or wild geese or deer. Hundreds of miles that have never heard human voice or the sound of human footstep. Immensities—yes, immensities of chilled quiet.

In the year 1883 ten silent passengers disembarked from the frigid zone. What a wonderful contrast to their departure in 1879 and their arrival five years later! July 8th, a beautiful summer day, steaming out. Elaborate display! Decorated yachts filled with admiring citizens waving a farewell. Every available space packed with enthusiastic spectators. Twenty-one guns of a farewell salute. Blasting of sirens and steam whistles. By telegraphic communication the whole continent sympathetic with the most gallant enterprise. Now consider their return. What a change! The poor, dismantled remains of a fragment of the expedition party passing silently amid lines of sorrowing thousands. No guns fired! No waving handkerchiefs! No salutation! No elaboration! No decoration! No upraised hat! "A failure!" "A failure!" cry the multitudes. "Look at the straggling dismantled remnant that has returned!" "What have they to their credit?" Two or three bare islands discovered, and most of the bones of the adventurers flung by the wild polar winds or gnawed by the polar bears, while here and there staggered home a relic or a little remembrance only comes home, alas! to prolong and revive the awful agony of anguish of bereft households.

About fifty young people met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kannawin, Fourth Line, Amaranth, and presented their daughter, Miss Sarah Kannawin, with a kitchen shower. After lunch was served the remainder of the evening was pleasantly spent in music and games.

BARON HAMLET

(2827) (6090) (12757)

Will be kept for service during the season of 1922 at the stables of the owner, lot 15, 2nd line, east, Caledon.

TERMS—$15.00 for a living colt, payable when colt is one week old. Sale of mare renders fee due and payable.

All accidents to mares at risk of their owners.

BARON HAMLET was bred by James Rigg, Highbanks, Kirkcudbright, Scotland, and imported by the Graham Renfrew Co., Bedford Park, Ontario. Of his sire, Baron's Pride, nothing need be said, as it is well known that he was the best Clydesdale sire that ever lived.

BARON HAMLET'S dam, Banks Daisy, was sired by Hamlet (4433), gr. dam Fanny of Bombie (3104) by sir Colin (3188) by Samson (741). There is no better bred horse in Canada to-day. As a stock horse he is unsurpassed.

Foals in 1919 from Baron Hamlet sold as high as $150.00, at 10 months old. One of his colts foaled in 1920 won first prize at Caledon fall fair, beating the colt that won the first prize at the Dufferin County Show in Orangeville, and was sold the same day for $150.00, and was delivered at four and one half months old. Another of his colts, foaled in 1920, was sold at public auction for $155 at eight months and one half old.

Three of his colts foaled in 1921 won first, second and third prizes at Caledon fall fair in 1921. The winner of the second prize was sold at seven months old for $160.00. Three of his yearling colts also won first, second and third prizes at Caledon fall fair in 1921. These colts all won in heavy draft class.

BARON HAMLET was inspected on the 29th day of October, 1912, when he was Passed and Approved, Form I. He has also been Enrolled for the year 1922 in Form I. in accordance with Chap. 67, Statutes of Ontario, 2 George V.

The Kidneys

The office man and the outdoor worker suffer alike from derangements of the kidneys.

Backaches and headaches are among the symptoms. In some cases Bright's disease soon develops, others suffer from high blood pressure until hardening of the arteries sets in.

Mr. A. D. MacKinnon, Kirkwood, Inverness county, N.S., writes:

"I can highly recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to all suffering from weak kidneys. I suffered from kidney disease for a long time. I may also say that for three years I was nearly always troubled with headaches, and no treatment seemed to do more than afford temporary relief. I was finally told of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and after using a few boxes was completely relieved. I have also used Dr. Chase's Ointment with the best results, and never fail to recommend these wonderful remedies."

GENERAL MEETING

Dover Oil Company Elects Its Board of Directors.

At the annual meeting of the Dover Oil Company held at the Company's head office, Toronto, May 31, the following Board of Directors was elected:—

Pres., John Allan, Brantford, Ont., Pres. Hygienic Dairy Co., Brantford.
Vice-Pres., A. W. Parks, Oil Springs, Ont., Pres. Oil Springs Oil and Gas Co., Oil Springs.
Treasurer, Arthur H. Britton, Toronto, Ont.
Directors—Supt. J. S. Monroe, Inglewood, Ont.; Wm. Linton, Toronto, Ont., Manager McLaren Belting Co., Toronto; J. A. Fraser, Galt, Ont., President Fraser Hardware Co., Galt; J. M. McNaughton, Orangeville, Ont., merchant; G. A. Usher, Secretary, 79 Adelaide St. E., Toronto.

The company is fortunate in having four experienced men on the new Board. Mr. Allan as well as Mr. Parks having had extensive experience in the gas industry. Mr. McNaughton being a former driller, and Mr. Munroe, Superintendent and field manager, has had over 30 years experience in the oil and gas fields of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Western Ontario.

Dr. Clinton, wife and daughter are jointly suing Hastings County for $120,000 for injuries sustained in an auto accident, owing to an alleged improperly protected bridge or culvert within the county.

An auto truck driven by R. Pringle, 309 Indian Road, Toronto, was going east on Dundas street near Pacific avenue, when it ran into an automobile driven by Joseph Rayfield, of Grand Valley. Rayfield was going north on Pacific avenue, and west into Dundas street. His auto was badly damaged and Wesley

MRS. ROBT. HUNTER

There passed away suddenly from heart failure at the family residence, Erin, on Wednesday, May 31st, Sophronina Teeter, beloved wife of Mr. Robert J. Hunter, in her 77th year. The late Mrs. Hunter was born on lot 7, con. 11, Erin Township. Her first husband, Thomas Bush, and their only child, a son, predeceased her some years ago. On April 28th, 1886, she was again married to Robert J. Hunter, when the couple resided in Buffalo, a few years ago coming to Erin. Mrs. Hunter had been a long and patient sufferer from heart trouble and although her death came as a severe shock to her husband and friends, it was felt that the end would thus come. She was a member of the Methodist Church, and a kind and loving wife and neighbor. She is survived by her husband, two brothers, Wm. Teeter, Belfountain, and T. H. Teeter, Erin Township, and three sisters, Miss Ellen Teeter, of Georgetown; Mrs. R. Overland, of Orangeville, and Mrs. Near, Erin.

The funeral took place from the family residence, Erin, on Saturday, June 3rd, the service being held in the Methodist Church and conducted by the Rev. J. A. Evans, the interment being made at Erin Cemetery. Much sympathy is felt for the sorrowing husband and friends in their sad bereavement.—Erin Advocate.

How to Have Beautiful Walls

THE most economical and satisfactory way is to paint them with Mellotone—a flat wall paint made by Lowe Brothers.

Mellotone is easily applied with a brush. Dries quickly with that soft, dull velvety finish that is so much desired.

Using it, you can have a different color scheme in every room, yet all will be in perfect harmony.

Mellotone colors are as soft as the tints of the rainbow.

Easily cleaned with soap and water.

Come in and see the sample panels and ask for literature.

SHELBURNE WON

Dufferin County Youngsters Defeated Durham Veterans by 8 to 6 on Latter's Grounds.

Durham intermediates received another rude jolt Wednesday afternoon, June 14th, when Shelburne city team of youngsters, most of them are still eligible for junior ranks, walloped them by 8 to 6 on the latter's grounds. Shelburne did not expect to win and Durham did not expect a defeat, so that both sides were genuinely surprised. The homesters do not appear to have played any classy brand of lacrosse if we may judge from the following report of the match which we reproduce from the Chronicle, one of the Durham newspapers:—

Shelburne's intermediate team came to town yesterday afternoon and walloped Durham's O. A. L. A. championship contenders 8 to 6 and earned every bit of it. The score by periods, and Shelburne was always in the lead, was 3—2, 6—3, 8—4 and 8—6. Shelburne's team is a bunch of juniors with just a few exceptions, and while it was expected that the youngsters would take the lead early in the game before the Durham grandfathers got warmed up, some of the fans had it doped out that experience would tell and the locals would get out from under and smother the youngsters in the last couple of periods. But the best laid plans of mice and men gang aft agley, and instead of getting better the Durhams got worse, if such a thing were possible. Anyway, it was four continuous rounds of misery for the local fans except for a brief period in the last session when the Durhams pulled themselves together and scored 2 goals to their opponents' none, and an almost continuous procession of delight for the handful of Shelburnites that accompanied their team. Without a particle of danger of our assertion being contradicted, we make the statement that it was absolutely the worst exhibition of lacrosse we ever saw a Durham intermediate team put up. Early in the game the Durhams seemed to be suffering from hookworm, or some other tropical ailment, and it became more chronic as the debacle progressed.

While Shelburne has a neat little team for a junior organization, they have absolutely nothing in their playing that spells beat any ordinarily good intermediate outfit, and we are not trying to detract from the glory of their victory when we say so. It was not the playing of the visitors that beat the locals as much as the locals' own lack of condition. While we know nothing of the plans of the management for the future, one thing we do know, and that is that if the juniors are not willing to get out and into some semblance of condition, develop some team work and play the game as it should be played, they will not go very far in the intermediate or any other series.

HILLSBURG WON

Hillsburg and Orangeville met in a North Wellington Baseball Association fixture on Idylwyld Park before the lacrosse match last Wednesday afternoon. The visitors had a clever, well-balanced nine and experienced little difficulty winning by 11 to 5. Matthews was on the mound for the visitors and pitched clever ball. He had a nifty partner in Carmichael, who officiated at the receiving end. Orangeville had a strong battery in Irwin, who did the twirling, and Cole, who was behind the bat. Irwin and the Hillsburg batters fanning the air with an elusive drop that they found hard to solve. He was not hit hard at any stage of the game, but the Hillsburg batsmen were fortunate in getting hits when hits meant runs. Orangeville did some rather loose fielding and some of the players seemed helpless when they attempted to bat. At that the locals have the making of a real team. Practice and experience will do a lot to round out the team and cure the weaknesses that were apparent in Wednesday's game. Players and officials were:—

Orangeville—Sullivan 3b; Myers 2b; Irwin p; Rowan rf; Cronk; Cruikshank ss; Bell 1b;

Umpires — Hornett, Hillsburg; Wilfred Crowe, Orangeville.

RESULTS

The following High School students have been successful in the recent examinations for Commercial Diplomas:

SENIOR DIVISION

Lily Trimble (hon); Jean McNichol (hon.); Laura Gillespie (hon.); Viola Gilmore, Mildred Yeomans

JUNIOR DIVISION

The following have been promoted to the Senior Class. A subject after a student's name indicates that that subject must be taken over again next year:—Winnie Clowes, Myrtle Corbett, Muriel Ellis, Myrtle McKinney, Annie Mae Rowan (Geog.), Reta Sherman (Eng. Gram.)

—Mr. Ernest Sproule, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Sproule, Centre Road, Mono, had the misfortune to get caught in the drive belt of a gasoline engine on Monday. Both bones of the right arm were broken a short distance above the wrist. Mr. Sproule, who was alone at the time of the accident, had his left hand caught and badly bruised while trying to free himself. The accident is particularly unfortunate at this season of the year and the young man has the sympathy of his friends.

CALEDON

The recent rains have greatly increased the crop prospects in this district and the farmers are all smiling.

A very successful garden party was held at Mr. Patrick Garrity's on Thursday evening last. The Fax Fun Co. supplied a programme that seemed to suit everybody.

Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Thomas motored to Barrie on Thursday last to assist in an operation on their niece, Miss Helen Hisey, who is now improving nicely.

Miss Ruby J. Laughlin, of Strathroy Collegiate teaching staff, spent the week-end at her parental home here and left for Toronto on Monday to take her place on the examining board.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Armstrong, of Erin, spent Sunday with Caledon friends.

Quite a number of our Junior Farmers are looking forward to the big field day to be held in Brampton on June 29th, when five counties will meet for a big time.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sloan and family, of Toronto, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Patterson.

Mrs. A. Chambers is entertaining her granddaughter from Holland, Man.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Warnock and Miss Vida Warnock, and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Wilson motored to Powassan for two weeks' visit.

The Township S. S. Convention will be held here on Tuesday next. The afternoon meeting will be held in the Methodist Church and the evening meeting in the Presbyterian Church. Lunch will be served to all delegates from a distance.

Strawberries are a very plentiful crop this year. Mr. R. J. Speers seems to have made a record as a grower and has orders coming in every day. He certainly is delivering the good goods.

ALTON

Sunday afternoon, June 18th, the Alton Oddfellows observed their annual Decoration Day service. A goodly number assembled at the lodge rooms and marched to the cemetery, where a fitting service was held in memory of their deceased brethren, and during which the graves were decorated. The sextette of the Oddfellows sang a few familiar hymns.

Mrs. McKechnie and daughter, Mrs. (Rev.) McAskill, and son, Jimmie, of Highgate, spent the week-end with Mrs. Joyce McConnell.

Alton Women's Institute held a very successful meeting in the Club rooms last Thursday, the new President, Mrs. J. A. Lovell, presiding. Good reports were given of the District Annual and this Branch pledged its support to the District project of rural beautification. A good executive in the persons of Mrs. Dorrington, 1st Vice, Mrs. Geo. Cameron, 2nd Vice, and Miss E. Dowswell, Sec.-Treas., together with several committees, make the Institute a strong, progressive body. The Home and School Committee, of which Mrs. Meek is convener, are arranging for a picnic to be held in the school grounds on Friday, June 23rd from 3 to 5.30 p.m., when they invite all the children and parents of S. S. No. 15 to come and enjoy a few hours of sport, games, races, etc. Lunch served by the ladies of the Institute. Everybody come and help or the community spirit so essential nowadays.

Mr. Yuill and Miss Green, our teachers, have been re-engaged for the coming year.

WEST MONO PARISH

The Rev. Spencer C. Jarrett has been appointed to take charge of the West Mono Mission and will conduct services on Sunday next, June 25th, as follows:—

Herald Angel, 11 a.m.; St. Luke's, 3 p.m.; St Matthew's, 7 p.m.

Rev. Jarrett has a fine military record, having spent three years active service with the Gordon Highlanders. He was wounded in the shoulder toward the end of the war. The people of West Mono extend Mr. and Mrs. Jarrett and their little child a hearty welcome to their midst.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Orangeville Branch of Dufferin Women's Institute will meet at the home of Mrs. D. Macpherson, First Ave., on Tuesday afternoon, June 27th. Mrs. A. Grigg and Mrs. Banks, of Shelburne, the President of the County Institute, will address the meeting. A good attendance of the ladies is looked for.

RANEY'S PICNIC

The congregation of Raney's Methodist Church will hold their annual June Picnic in Mr. Edward Baxter's grove, lot6, con. 4, Adjala, on Saturday afternoon, June 24th. One of the features of the programme will be a lacrosse tournament, in which Connor, Rockley and Mono Mills teams will take part. Prizes of $10.00 and $5.00 will be awarded the winners. There will also be short addresses by Revs. J. A. Matheson, D. G. Atkinson and other speakers, a number of races, a tug-of-war and other attractions. Games will start at 3 o'clock sharp. Tea served from 4 to 6 o'clock. Refreshments of all kinds served on the grounds. Admission, adults, 40c; children 25 cents.

—Massey-Harris agents in the district under the supervision of Mr. R. Harrison held a conference in the Massey-Harris warerooms here last Friday. Nearly forty of the Company's representatives were present including Messrs. Vaughan, Gaffney and Chisholm, of the head office staff. An interesting feature was a deponstration of the new Massey-Harris mower.

U. F. O. PICNIC

Rich Hill and Camilla U. F. O. Clubs will hold a Basket Picnic in McCarston's Grove, Mono Centre, on Saturday, June 24th. A cordial invitation is extended to all to come and enjoy an afternoon's sport. Baseball, football, races and other games. T. K. Slack, M. L. A., will be present and deliver an address. Bring your baskets and enjoy an outing in one of Nature's beauty spots. Refreshment booth on the grounds. Admission free. A. White and J. D. Ledlow, conveners.

SHELBURNE COMING

Shelburne's speedy intermediate team will try conclusions with The Dufferins in an O. A. L. A. match on Idylwyld Park next Wednesday afternoon, June 28th. That the visitors have a speedy, well-balanced team is evident from the signal manner in which they defeated Durham on the latter's grounds last Wednesday. They will give The Dufferins a great argument and the game should be one of the best of the year. The ball will be faced at 3.00 sharp. Admission, 40 cents, including tax; children, 15c. Autos admitted to grounds without extra charge.

DISMISSED

Bert Symonds Goes Free on Charge of Criminal Negligence.

Albert M. Symonds, an Orangeville taxi driver, was tried at the June sittings of the County Court last Wednesday on a charge of criminal negligence. Symons was indicted before a Grand Jury on Tuesday afternoon. The Jury brought in a true bill and the accused was placed upon his trial when the Court resumed at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. The trial lasted most of the day and resulted in a verdict in favor of Symonds, who was accordingly acquitted by the Court. The charge preferred against Symonds set forth that while in charge of an automobile, he by wilful neglect did bodily harm to one Freeland Lundy.

On Sunday, April 30th last, Lundy, who is employed as a farmhand with Jackson Holmes, a Mono farmer, borrowed his employer's horse and buggy and drove to Camilla to spend the day with friends. In the evening he returned to Orangeville, where he remained for some time, leaving for home about 10.30 p.m., accompanied by George Speers, a young man from the same neighborhood. While they were ascending Purple Hill their buggy collided with a car driven by the defendant who had just turned off the Centre Road. The young men alleged that Symonds was on the wrong side of the road and furthermore averred that he was driving without headlights. The evidence was decidedly contradictory, but the jury gave Symonds the benefit of whatever doubt existed. Crown Attorney J. L. Island prosecuted and Mr. C. R. McKeown acted for the defence.

Fruit News that will help you plan your preserving

The finest fruit grown in the far-famed section bordering the western end of Lake Ontario will be packed by the Niagara Peninsula Growers, Limited. Each week this organization will tell you through bulletins, in the newspapers, what fruits are ripe. Watch for these bulletins; they will let you know the best fruits to buy, when you may expect different varieties and the best time for canning. They will give you valuable information that will help you plan your preserving and jam making.

Strawberries are now being shipped. The quality is excellent and the crop promises to be fair to good.

To make sure the fruit you get is of the best quality, uniformly graded and carefully packed, see that every container you buy bears the Niagara Peninsula Growers' mark.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. Thos. Dawson is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Dawson, Cookstown.

Miss Lelia Hamilton is visiting friends in Toronto and elsewhere for a couple of weeks.

Mrs. Wm. Thompson, of North Mono, has been visiting friends in town for several days.

Mrs. M. E. Dodds, of Toronto, is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. F. A. Falconer, for a month or longer.

Mrs. J. J. White went to Toronto on Saturday last to spend a week with her son, Cecil, and other friends.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Robinson attended the wedding of a cousin of Mrs. Robinson in Georgetown yesterday.

Mrs. Morrison, of Brampton, was in town on Friday attending the funeral of her uncle, the late William Skelton.

Mrs. N. Byard and little daughter, Norma have returned home after spending a week at the home of her parents, Port Elgin, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bloch, Mr. Wm. Breeze and Mr. Jos. J. Kelly, of Owen Sound, motored to town on Tuesday and spent the day here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Robinson and family, of London, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. M. Vareee and other friends here for the last few days.

Mr. McKillop, Superintendent of the Owen Sound division of the C. P. R., was a spectator at the Orangeville-Fergus lacrosse game last Wednesday afternoon.

Misses Sadie and Lillian McIntyre, First St., who have been teaching High School work at Fort Frances and Niagara respectively, are home for the summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Jackson and daughter, Muriel, of Toronto, motored to town last Friday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Glover and other friends here.

Alan Roberts, son of Sheriff and Mrs. Endacott, spent a week with his parents around the beginning of June. Mr. Endacott has been removed to Montreal for the summer.

Mr. Arthur Macpherson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Macpherson, was successful in his first year exams at the University of Toronto. His friends extend their congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. W. Kelly and son, Percy, of Brantford, motored to town on Sunday and spent the day visiting Mr. Kelly's brother and sister, Mr. Richard Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Glassford, Zina St.

Mrs. J. C. Laidlaw, of Toronto, announces the engagement of her youngest daughter, Isabel, to Mr. John C. Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Green, Orangeville, the marriage to take place late in June.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hayward, Brampton, announces the engagement of her eldest daughter, Lillian, to George Bertram Gier, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Gier, of Waldemar, the marriage to take place early in July.

Mrs. Thos. Scarland, of Woodbridge, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Hunter Nelson, of Laurel. Mrs. Scarland had a long illness from the flu during the winter and early spring, but is now regaining her former health.

Mr. Mark C. Irwin, of Ottawa, spent a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Irwin, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Woods, of Weston, spent last week with Mrs. Woods parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Irwin, and with friends in Caledon.

Rev. T. H. Cotton, rector of St. Aidan Church, Toronto, and his son, Harold, spent a few hours in town on Friday while on their way to visit relatives in Shelburne and North Mono. Rev. Mr. Cotton was born and spent his boyhood in the upper end of Mono.

On Saturday morning a number of girls left for Jordan, Ont. for the berry and fruit picking season. Among those who went were Misses M. Mahaffy, W. Clowes, R. Sherman, B. Kemp, V. Walker, L. McGuire, L. Price, K. Island and J. Firth. Mrs. M. Rowan, West Broadway, went along with the party to act as house mother and chaperone.

Messrs. Jas. Thompson and W. H. Jessop, West Broadway, motored over to Beeton last week and spent a couple of days with friends in Newton Robinson, Bondhead, Bradford, Cookstown and Alliston. They say that wheat, clover and spring grains give every promise of an abundant harvest save in localities where hailstorms damaged the crops.

Miss Wilson, who is visiting friends at Orangeville, is another example of the Caledon people who have made a career for themselves that is an example of what the small villages of Ontario can do. She has spent the last sixteen years at the Ontario Hospital, Mimico, where by her ability and splendid devotion to duty, she has raised herself to be a supervisor of the nurses. Miss Wilon's cheerful disposition and splendid capability as a nurse have made her not only respected, but very popular as well, at Mimico. She is one of the many noble women who are doing, unobtrusively, a great work in the care and treatment of the mentally deranged in the Provincial Hospitals of Ontario.

—The County Council is in session this week.

—Informations have been laid against seven of the men implicated in the tar and feathers episode of a few weeks ago. The preliminary hearing began before Magistrate Falconer at 10 o'clock yesterday forenoon.

—The first settlers located in Mono township in 1822, just one hundred years ago. At a meeting of the township council last week steps were taken to hold a suitable centenary celebration in the near future. The affair will probably take the form of a monster picnic.

—At Monday night's meeting of the town council Mr. U. W. Christie was appointed engineer for the proposed Broadway improvement. A by-law was put through authorizing the engineer to make a report on the cost and other aspects of the proposed pavement. When this is procured the council will call for tenders for the work.

WORDS OF PRAISE FOR BABY'S OWN TABLETS

No medicine receives such great praise from thankful mothers as do Baby's Own Tablets. Once a mother has used them for her little ones she will use nothing else. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative. They regulate the bowels and stomach; drive out constipation and indigestion; relieve colds and simple fevers; promote healthful sleep and make teething easy. Concerning them Mrs. Omer LeBleu, Maddington Falls, Que., writes:—"I am well satisfied with Baby's Own Tablets and will always use them for my little ones." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail, at 25 cents a box, from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Andrew's Church will hold their regular monthly meeting in the schoolroom of the church on Friday afternoon, June 23rd, commencing at 3.30 o'clock.

McDonald, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McDonald, Caledon West, was solemnized by the Rev. J. A. Lindsay, on the lawn, under an arch of evergreens and white roses, at the home of the bride's parents, in the presence of about one hundred guests.

Beautiful Minaki

The wealth of that vast stretch of country in Northern Ontario, reaching over 750 miles from the boundary of the Province of Quebec on the east, to Manitoba on the west, and north from the Great Lakes to the pathless regions of James Bay, is not confined to its minerals, its timber or its clay lands.

This country has matchless stretches, well wooded and watered by chains of charming lakes and rivers, where game fish are abundant and where the deer, the moose, and black bear freely roam. Civilization is gradually pushing the frontier back, and in the process creating new summer resorts farther and farther from the active centres of commerce, where the tourist breaks his journey for a few days on his "Across Canada" tour, and the holiday seeker spends his vacation. Thus the country capitalizes its scenery and sells it to the tourist.

Minaki, which derives its name from the Indian (Mee-Naw-Kee), meaning "Beautiful Country," is one of the beauty spots in this region. Minaki Station, on the Transcontinental line of the Canadian National Railways, is situated 114 miles east of Winnipeg, on the Winnipeg River, one of the great rivers of the North that drains the Lake of the Woods chain of waterways into Lake Winnipeg.

Minaki Inn, a modern summer hotel, is located in a beautiful park overlooking Sand Bay, and during the past few years many summer homes and clubs have been built in the vicinity, making a large summer colony.

Minaki is historic ground, as it was by way of Winnipeg River that Wolseley made his way to Western Canada, half a century ago, to quell the first Riel rising.

We are told about the protection that the farmer gets, and I want now to refer to oats. The farmers are protected by a tariff of 10 cents a bushel on oats. We are not asking for that protection. Corn is shipped into this country free of duty, and I do not know that Canadian farmers have ever raised any protest against the importation of free corn from the United States. The corn is put on the market in this country to compete with the coarse grain that we grow. We have, however, no complaint about its coming in free; we find no fault. We are willing to buy from other countries and we are willing to sell; we are willing to stand by open competition and by the world's markets. A tariff, however, of ten cents a bushel is put on oats to protect the farmers of this country. Now, almost every individual, rich or poor, high or low, is a consumer of oatmeal, and the man who manufactures the oats into oatmeal is protected to an extent of 60 cents per 100 lbs. Therefore, while the farmer is given a protection of 10 cents a bushel on oats, the miller is protected to the extent of 60 cents per hundred. Ten cents a bushel would amount to only 30 cents per hundred, or just half the protection afforded the man who produces the oatmeal for human consumption. There seems to be an injustice in that regard.

Now, as regards clothing: woollen goods, worsted, etc., come in under the British preferential tariff at 30 per cent., and a reduction is now made of 2½ per cent. But the general tariff on these goods is 35 per cent. Clothing is a universal necessity; and these goods are needed by the common people as much as by any others. Yet the home manufacturers are given a protection of 27½ per cent. under the preferential tariff and 35 per cent. under the general tariff. This is another article in regard to which the tariff is unsatisfactory, for it is unfair to the ordinary consumer, to the masses of the people, and, in a word, to every one who buys clothing of this description.

Let me now refer to automobiles. There was a time, when they were first introduced some years ago, when they were looked upon as a luxury which could be afforded only by the rich. To-day, however, they can no longer be considered in that light. Almost every one who can possibly raise the money to buy an automobile feels that it is practically a necessity. At any rate, if it is not a real necessity it is a great convenience to all classes of the community. Automobile parts come in free. In other words, automobiles can be brought into the country free of duty if the separate parts are brought in individually; while, I understand, the tax on the assembled car is 36 per cent. As I construed the remarks of the Minister of Finance (Mr. Fielding), I took it that the changes in the tariff in this respect had reference to conditions as they exist on the farm. I presume that people coming in from the United States to settle in this country can bring in their farm implements and automobiles free of duty; but this privilege does not extend to any one who goes over from Canada to the United States and buys an automobile which he brings back. Such a purchaser, as I understand the law, has to pay the duty of 35 per cent.; and there is an excise tax, I believe, of 5 to 10 per cent. added according to the value of the automobile. Now, I may be somewhat crude in my calculations, but if I understand the thing at all clearly, that excise tax will be so much more added to the cost of the automobile, although it will undoubtedly bring in so much more revenue to the treasury. Let us look into this automobile question for a moment. You can buy a Ford car in Detroit for $348. Of course, the sales tax, exchange, etc., must be added, but the actual f.o.b. price of the automobile in Detroit at the Ford works is $348, as I have stated. Thirty-five per cent. on that is $121.80. So that when you go to Detroit and buy that car and bring it into Canada that $121.80 goes into the revenues of this country. A Ford automobile is sold f.o.b. Ford, Ontario, according to the company's own advertisement which I took from one of the Ottawa newspapers, at $535. The Ford car bought in Detroit, Michigan, costs only $348 net, and even when you add the tax of $121.80 to that price it is not as high as the price you pay for the car at Ford, Ontario. Possibly, however, when you have taken into account the exchange and one thing and another you may be able to get the same car a trifle cheaper in Ford, Ontario, than in Detroit, Michigan. But here is the point I want to emphasize: If they can manufacture a car in the Ford works at Detroit for $348 net, they ought to be able to manufacture it in Ford, Ontario, at practically the same cost. And when you pay $535 for the car at Ford, Ontario, the difference between that price and the smaller amount you pay at Detroit does not go into the revenue of the country, but into Henry Ford's pocket. It seems to me, therefore, that there is room for a readjustment of things along these lines that would make for improvement generally.

I shall now refer for a moment to the question of drawbacks. Let me say at once that I am not favorable to drawbacks, and I do not see why they should be allowed. I do not see why manufacturers should not pay a duty on some of the raw material that they bring into the country even if they do reship the finished product to the country from which they got the raw material. I do not think it is at all right that they should be given a drawback of 99 per cent of the duty they pay on the raw material when it comes into the country. In the year 1921 no less a sum than $12,829,914.41 was paid in the way of drawbacks; and in addition to that, according to the Auditor General's report, the sum of $71,000 was expended on paid investigators who were charged with looking into the system of drawbacks. Now, it appears to me that instead of returning to our manufacturers nearly $13,000,000, or 99 per cent of the duty they have paid on their importations of raw material, that money should be retained in the exchequer. In a word, I am opposed to the drawback system.

We are told that our farmers are protected, that in building up our manufacturing industries we are building up a home market for our farm products. But, as I view it, so long as we farmers produce a great deal more than we consume we must sell our surplus products in the markets of the world. While it is true that there may be comparatively few farmers in close proximity to our large manufacturing centres where they can sell their products direct to local consumers, the great majority have to place their products on the open market and meet the competition of the world. This is borne out by our exportations of farm products for 1920, when we sent abroad vegetable products to the value of $482,924,672 and animal products to the value of $188,359,937. So long, then, as we produce more than we consume, it appears to me that it is misleading to speak of our agriculturists as having a protected home market; obviously they must sell their surplus in markets where they face competition from other countries. We are not complaining of that condition of affairs, but we feel that our manufacturers ought also to be able to compete in the markets of the world.

Now, I want to draw the attention of the Government to some of the statements made by the Prime Minister of to-day during his western tour in 1920. I am not going to express an opinion as to whether the budget really carries out the promises contained in those statements; I leave it to the Government themselves to answer the question. I am quoting from the Canadian Annual Review for 1920. Speaking at Victoria, B. C., on Septembebr 28, the Prime Minister's speech is thus reported:

The Leader started by describing this as a period of transition; he expressed a fear that the war had made the rich richer and the poor poorer; he considered the present situation one in which there were forces of might and greed and power on the one hand, and forces of ampler freedom on the other.

He traced a great similarity between the Liberal and Agrarian party policies: "They are alike in that they stand for freer trade, not for free trade; they are alike in that they aim for freedom rather than restriction in matters of trade; they are alike in that they would rather reduce than increase the burdens of taxation which are imposed upon industry and upon the people by a custom tariff."

And again, in the course of the same speech:

"We believe that the tariff as at present existing needs revision, and that in this revision we unquestionably would wish to be guided by due regard to the position and legitimate needs of all branches of our national industries; we feel that a downward revision of the tariff, and, in some instances, its complete elimination, should be immediately effected."

At Wetaskiwin the hon. gentleman is reported as stating:

"We demand a revision downward, certain classes of articles to be substantially reduced, such as food, clothing, boots and shoes and other articles which enter into the home."

I am going to leave the Government to decide for themselves whether or not the Budget carries out what was stated by the Prime Minister on those occasions.

It appears to me that the fiscal policy of this country is a dual policy, in that it permits our great manufacturing firms to bring in their raw materials practically free and protects their finished products. In other words, they stand for free trade so far as the importation of their raw materials is concerned—for in looking over the list I find that there are over 1,000 articles on the free list, and those articles largely enter into their manufactured goods. So that it looks as though we had a dual fiscal policy that stood for permitting the rich men—because I look upon the manufacturers of this country as belonging to the rich class—to bring in their raw materials free of duty, while at the same time the finished product is protected to such an extent that the great masses of the people are taxed for the benefit of the manufacturers. I think there should be some alteration made in that system. That is, if we are going to continue to have a high protective tariff for the finished products, I think the raw material imported for their finished products should be taxed. In that way we would add to our revenues. Either that alteration should be made, or there should be a great reduction in the tariff on the finished products which have to be bought by the masses of the people who, of course, have to pay this tariff in the added cost of their purchases.

This policy of protection not only affects the farmers, but it affects our business men, our retailers in our cities, towns and villages, in this way. The higher the price of the goods to the retailers, the higher price they have to charge their customers, and on the whole I do not think our retailers are making fortunes out of their business. We want our retail men to live, but they have got to add to the actual cost of the goods their overhead expenses, and the consumer has ultimately to shoulder the whole burden. So that the higher the price of the goods, the less goods the retailer will sell; the less he sells, the smaller his percentage of profit. The high price of goods, therefore, militates against all classes of the community.

In conclusion, I wish to give one striking illustration of the point that I have been trying to make. In the fall of 1920 the manufacturers of agricultural implements increased the retail prices of binders by about 20 per cent. An implement dealer for the Massey-Harris firm in a little town close to where I live and do business, sold fifteen Massey-Harris binders in 1920, before the price went up; in 1921, after the increase, he sold one. You can see, therefore, that the increase in the price militated against that man in his business. In 1920 he had his percentage of profit on the sale of fifteen binders; in 1921 he had the percentage on only one. So that these conditions affect not only the farmers, but the masses of the people, the consumers of the country. And that is the result of a protective tariff that makes the rich man richer and the poor man poorer.

BEFORE BABY COMES

Watchful Care Necessary

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine and should be taken by the expectant mother. It will assist her in keeping well and strong. This is very necessary, not only for her own comfort but for the future as well.

Read the experience of Mrs. Barton of New Brunswick, and please bear in mind that every letter published recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is genuine and unsolicited. It is the expression of gratitude from women who have been helped.

Cumberland Bay, N. B.—"I was troubled with weak feelings, headache, all the time, a cough, fainting spells and pains in my back and side. I could not do a single bit of work and had to be helped out to the hammock where I lay in the fresh air from morning until night and I had to be carried up and down stairs. After other medicines had failed a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she said it was excellent for anyone in the family way. Before the first bottle was taken I could walk alone and as I kept on with it I got stronger, until I was able to do all my work. My baby is now six weeks old and is a big fat healthy fellow. I am sure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done wonders for me and I recommend it."—Mrs. Murray J. Barton, R. R. No. 1, Cumberland Bay, N. B.

Eases Kitchen Work

To Women Who Do Their Own Work: Suppose you could save six minutes every day in washing pots and pans—two minutes after every meal. In a month, this would amount to a saving of three hours of this disagreeable but necessary work. This saving can be made by using SMP enameled kitchen utensils, as their smooth sanitary surface will not absorb dirt or grease. No scraping, scouring or polishing is needed when you use Diamond or Pearl Ware. Soap, water and a dish towel is all you need. Ask for

BARN BURNED

Mr. Gilbert Houston, a well-known farmer, living on lot 21, con. 5, west, Caledon, met with a severe misfortune on Saturday afternoon, when his fine bank barn, a structure 54 by 72, with modern stabling fittings, was completely destroyed by fire. The contents of the building are also a complete loss. These included eight spring calves, a sow, 10 young pigs, a fat hog, a number of farm implements and a quantity of hay and grain. The origin of the fire is enveloped in mystery, as there was no person about the barn at the time, nor had Mr. Houston been doing anything in the building for some days that would afford any possible explanation of the conflagration. Mr. Houston and his neighbors are inclined, however, to attribute the disaster to a pile of sweet clover straw that was lying in the barnyard close to the building. In the settling process this had pressed closely against one of the basement windows. The window was in such a position that the hot afternoon sun beat on it fiercely. It is thought that the rays of the sun heated the glass to such an extent that the clover straw ignited. The fire spread with great rapidity and the whole building was in a mass of flames very shortly after the blaze was noticed. Mr. Houston, who has the sympathy of the whole community in his serious misfortune, estimates his loss at from $4,000 to $5,000. We understand that the insurance will not cover more than half the loss.

COUNTY COUNCIL NOTES

The following paragraphs summarize some of the more important business transacted by the Dufferin County Council at its June meeting here last week:

The Committee on Roads and Bridges recommended the construction of a new reinforced concrete 18 foot span bridge on the Mono-Adjala townline opposite lot 21, the work to be performed in conjunction with the County of Simcoe, which will bear half the cost. The Committee also reported that the abutments of the present eight foot bridge on the Amaranth-Mono townline opposite lot 12 have collapsed and recommended the erection of a new ten foot bridge. The old bridge was not under the control of the county, but the new structure will be assumed as a county bridge.

The Committee on Roads and Bridges recommended that the Council take no action respecting the claim of C. Porter, whose car was damaged in an accident on the Mono-Adjala townline a short distance north of Mono Mills on the night of September 30th, 1921. Porter avers that his companion, a man named Cook, had his arm broken and that his car was completely wrecked. He attributes the accident to a hole in the road at the foot of a hill. Through his solicitor, Mr. C. R. McKeown, Porter is asking for $300 for damages to his car and $200 as compensation for the injuries sustained by Cook. Failing a satisfactory adjustment of the claim he threatens to bring action against the counties of Dufferin and Simcoe.

On the report of the County Roads Committee, Council decclined to assume part of the 6th line, Caledon, in the village of Mono Mills, as part of the County Roads system, but committed itself to a suitable grant when the road is improved by the County of Peel.

The Council decided to place a permanent construction gang on the Provincial County Roads and to pay the foreman of the gang $4.00 a day.

The Good Roads Committee recommended the purchase of a deviation on 20 sideroad, Mono, across the west half of lot 20, con. 4, east, for the sum of $200. The deviation will make it possible to avoid a sharp turn and a very steep hill on the sideroad in question. The Council will also purchase a piece of land on the west half of lot 5, con. 1, west, Mono, for the sum of $60, for the purpose of straightening out and widening 5 sideroad, which will form a link in the county provincial highway from Bradford to Orangeville by way of the Hockley Road. The Committee also recommended the purchase of a strip of land 10 feet wide opposite lot 16, con. 15, East Garafraxa, and the west half lot 1, con. 9, Amaranth. The purchase is for the purpose of widening and improving the Amaranth-East Garafraxa townline.

The salary of County Roads Superintendent U. W. Christie was increased from $8.00 a day to $10.00 a day and expenses. In his application for an increase Mr. Christie pointed out that as a surveyor he could make a salary of $15.00 a day and expenses.

By-laws were put through providing for the issue of $78,000 of debentures. The debentures will be issued in two lots, namely, $18,000 to pay for the County's share of the cost of construction work on the Provincial Highways, due and payable to the Provincial Government on October 1st, and $60,000 to defray the cost of work on the county roads system. The first lot will bear 5½ per cent. and the larger block 5 per cent. interest. Warden Simpson, Treasurer Wheelock and Reeve O'Flynn, of Shelburne, were appointed a committee to look after the sale of the bonds.

Council accepted E. C. Clark's tender for the supply of coal for the County Buildings. Mr. Clark will put in 100 tons of lump coal at $9.50 a ton

Mr. C. R. Wheelock was authorized to procure a plan of the South Ward of the town of Orangeville for the registry office as requested by the registrar.

The total assessment of the county is $9,899,804, equalized as follows:— Amaranth, $1,581,775; East Luther, $965,050; East Garafraxa, $1,183,915; Melancthon, $1,868,581; Mulmur, $1,585,895; Mono, $1,589,288; Orangeville, $700,100; Shelburne, $300,100; Grand Valley, $175,000.

The Committee on Legislation recommended that the Council take no action regarding the proposed change in the plan of administering the Mothers' Allowance Act. The Committee expressed its approval of the resolution passed by the County of Waterloo asking the Provincial Government to assume the entire cost of the construction of Provincial Highways.

A by-law was passed increasing the salary of High Constable Marshall to $400 a year and granting him a free 'phone. Up to the present the county has paid Mr. Marshall $100 a year for his services.

The Education Committee rpeorted in favor of the following payments:—Grand Valley Continuation School, $2354.44; Fergus High School, 1921 account, $394.11; Dufferin Teachers' Institute, $50.00. The Committee commended School Inspector W. R. Liddy for his satisfactory manner of presenting his accounts and for his careful efforts to procure supplies for his department to the best advantage of the county.

In his financial statement for the year ending May 31st, 1922, County Treasurer Wheelock pointed out that the current liabilities for the year exceeded the current assets by $11,134.00. This adverse showing Mr. Wheelock attributed to increased grants to High Schools and Continuation Classes under the recently amended High Schools Act, to increased expenditure for the administration of justice and to increased expenditure on county roads. The ordinary expenditure for the coming year, the Treasurer estimated, would amount to $64,600.00. Adding the deficit would give a total of $75,434.00. Mr. Wheelock estimated the receipts for the year at $23,400, which would leave the sum of $52,034.00 to be raised by levy. This would mean a tax rate of 5.3 mills for ordinary expenditure.

The county's share of the expenditure on Provincial Highways amounts to $19,753.69. This is due and payable to the Government on October 1st next. $18,218.27 is for construction and $1,535.42 for maintenance work.

The Finance Committee recommended a payment of $149.50 to the Mothers' Allowance Committee and a grant of $25.00 to the Dufferin Women's Institute.

The county rate was fixed at 8.28 mills—5½ mills for general purposes, 2.6 mills for county roads and .16 mills for Provincial Roads. This will produce $81,970.38. The amounts raised by the different local municipalities are:—Amaranth, $13,097.10; East Garafraxa, $9,802.81; East Luther, $7,990.01; Melancthon, $15,471.86; Mulmur, $12,717.21; Mono, $13,160.13; Orangeville, $5,796.83; Shelburne, $2,484.83; Grand Valley, $1,449.00.

A by-law was passed guaranteeing $15,000 debentures issued by the town of Orangeville by way of bonus to the Lord Dufferin Hospital.

A rather important change was made in the wire fence by-law. Hitherto the council has paid 30 cents a rod bonus on wire fences built along county roads. The amendment provides for a similar bonus on cross fences for a distance of five rods back from the road fences. These cross fences must also be built of wire for the required five rods back before any bonus will be paid on the road fences. The idea is to lessen the drifting evil at points where cross fences strike the fences bounding the highways.

JURY RECOMMENDATIONS

At the June sessions and County Court a couple of weeks ago the Grand Jury recommended the following improvements to the Court House and County Gaol here:—

COURT HOUSE

1. That the floor in the hallway downstairs be covered with hardwood flooring, that the walls be retinted and that the walls in the registry office be retinted.

2. That matting be placed in the Grand Jury and Petit Jury boxes and along the aisles of the body of the courtroom and that a new carpet be procured to replace the one in use at the present time on the Judge's dais.

GAOL

1. That the roof and chimneys be repaired.

2. That the portion of the gaol wall now in a condition of danger to the inmates of the buildings be repaired or rebuilt.

3. That the bath tub, sink and drain basin in the inmates' quarters be replaced by a modern sanitary equipment.

HOLIDAY BASEBALL

Visitors to the Orangeville Celebration on Saturday will witness a real game of baseball when Grand Valley and Orangeville come together at 1.30 p.m. The visitors have taken a couple of falls out of the locals in League games, but they have been forced to play their best to win. The Orangeville team will play its strongest nine and the local fans will be grievously disappointed if the Sullivan cohorts do not take a tumble out of the boys from the banks of the Grand. Both teams have classy batteries and there will be smart nifty work on the mound and behind the bat, whoever wins.

CONTRACTS LET

The County Roads Committee met in the office of County Treasurer Wheelock on Tuesday to consider the letting of contracts for a number of small bridges on the county roads. Altogether contracts were let for five bridges, Mr. Albert Arnott being the successful tenderer in each instance.

The township of East Garafraxa let the contract for a 170 foot span concrete truss bridge on the 12th line over the Grand River. The contract was awarded to Mr. John Kidd, of Inglewood. The bridge will cost the municipality something over $12,000.

The township of East Luther awarded another important contract at the same time and place. This was for a 100 foot span concrete truss structure crossing the Grand River on the 12th line. The contract was let to John Langdon, of Toronto, formerly of Kenilworth. The bridge will cost in the neighborhood of $9,000.

A FREAK POTATO

Friday afternoon Mr. Harry White, of Shelburne, showed the editor a remarkable freak potato. The tuber was about the size of a man's hand and bore a striking resemblance to a clenched fist. Attached to the main part of the potato were a thumb and four fingers, that had grown in exactly the position of the thumb and fingers of a man's right hand when it is tightly clenched. The fingers lay closely together, but were separate and each could be moved slightly independent of the others. On one side of the small finger was a bulge that was strikingly similar to the raised muscle on the side of the human digit when the hand is tightly closed. One of Mr. White's employees came across the curiosity while helping to load potatoes in his warehouse in Shelburne. Mr. White has no idea where the potato was grown, as it had evidently escaped the notice of the farmer by whom it was sold and delivered at the granary.

ORANGEVILLE'S BIGGEST STORE

George has the right idea

"Well, George, it looks as if we are going to get a real crop this year—wouldn't be surprised by the looks of things now if it was as good as 1915."

"Hope you're right, Lloyd, but if we do I guess I'll have to buy two Ford Trucks instead of the one I figured on. That haul would play hob with the teams—they're too slow anyway—I'll get a better price by getting there first."

"George" has the right idea. There isn't a farmer in this section who wouldn't be money ahead if he did all his hauling with a Ford Truck.

Drop in and see me first time you are in town. I have some figures on hauling costs that will prove mighty interesting.

The Willoughby Farm Agency

The Largest Farm Agency in Canada

APPOINTS ANOTHER REPRESENTATIVE AT ORANGEVILLE, ONT.

HEAD OFFICE: 43 VICTORIA ST., TORONTO

We have secured the services of Mr. Robt. P. Wilson, formerly of Snelgrove, and a prominent farmer in Peel County, to act as agent for us at Orangeville. Mr. Wilson has a practical knowledge of farming and is in a position to give you every assistance through the cooperation of the WILLOUGHBY FARM AGENCY in making a successful sale of your farm.

The advantages of listing your farm for sale with the WILLOUGHBY FARM AGENCY are many. We carry advertisements to-day in a great many daily and local papers, as well as our catalogues and general advertising. No one agent could hope to accomplish what we can do for you through our representative, Mr. Wilson.

We solicit from you, gentlemen, your business in the Orangeville District, through our representative, Mr. Wilson, for the sale of your farm or the purchase of a farm, and we guarantee that you will receive our best services through the WILLOUGHBY FARM AGENCY and our representative.

We would be glad if you would get in touch with Mr. Wilson at the Queen's Hotel and he will inform you as to our method of selling your farm. We have buyers to-day looking for all kinds of farms, large and small, and we are ready to bring them to see your farm if you list it to-day with our representative.

Thanking you,
Believe me,
Yours faithfully,

J. A. WILLOUGHBY
Pres. Willoughby Farm Agency.

OUTINGS FOR CHILDREN

The Banner had a brief call on Saturday from Miss White, a representative of the Neighborhood Workers' Association of Toronto. This Association is endeavoring to provide a summer outing for all the poor children of the city, whose parents are so circumstanced that they cannot give their little ones the holidays and change of scene that the heart of every child craves and that their physical and mental well-being demands. The Association is now making an appeal to families living in town, village or country, who can possibly do so, to throw open their homes to these city children for two weeks during the summer holiday season. Homes that can arrange to do so are asked to take one or two of these litle children for a couple of weeks. The Star Fresh Air Fund will be called on to pay transportation from the city and back again, but the hosts and hostesses are asked to make the children their guests and to do what they can to assist them to enjoy their brief respite from the confinement and heat of the city. Last year 236 children enjoyed holidays in this way and the people who took the children had such a good time themselves that the Association is hoping to find room for five hundred this year in homes within a reasonable distance of the city.

If the idea appeals to any readers of The Banner, they are invited to correspond with Mr. F. N. Stapleford, General Secretary, Neighborhood Workers' Association, 71 Grosvenor St., Toronto, giving particulars as to the age and sex of the children they would prefer to take and stating the time that would be most convenient to have them come.

CAMILLA

The Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Church, Camilla, will hold a Garden Party on the Camilla school grounds on Friday evening, July 7th, when a high-class programme will be provided by the Orpheus Male Quartette and the Orangeville Citizens' Band. Supper will be served by the ladies from 6 to 8 o'clock. The W. M. S. of the church will hold a bazaar in connection with the Garden Party. Seasonable refreshments provided on the grounds. Admission, 40c; children, 25c.

THE MAPLES

The Maples Women's Institute will hold its annual Garden Party on the school grounds at The Maples on Wednesday evening, July 5th. A varied and refreshing programme will be provided by The Williams Concert Company assisted by Mr. Cecil Menary, humorous vocalist. The Williams Concert Company is headed by Joe Williams, the inimitable English comedian, who is supported by Miss Agnes Adie, a gifted soprano, and Miss Dorothea Browne, a pianiste and accompanist of acknowledged ability. Mr. C. R. McKeown will occupy the chair. Refreshments served on the grounds. Admission, 35c. and 20c. This Garden Party will furnish an evening of real entertainment for everybody.

MONO COLLEGE

The last meeting of the Mono College Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. G. M. Cruikshank, 1st line, west, Mono, on Thursday afternoon, June 1st. Rev. Capt. Stewart, rector of St. Mark's Church, Orangeville, gave a very inspiring address on "Helping Our Boys and Girls to Find Their Right Life Work." Mrs. I. J. Murphy contributed an interesting Paper on "The Life and Works of Robert Burns." The hostess provided delightful gramaphone music. The meeting was brought to a close by Capt. Stewart leading in prayer. The annual election of officers was held and resulted as follows:—

President, Mrs. G. M. Cruikshank; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Geo. E. Island; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. J. Murphy; Secretary, Miss Myrtle Marshall; Treasurer, Mrs. W. N. Baker; Pianiste, Mrs. F. C. Island; Representatives to District Convention at Grand Valley, Miss Myrtle Marshall and Mrs. G. M. Cruikshank; Directors, the Officers, Mrs. Encil Murphy, Mrs. W. J. Cruikshank and Mrs. W. J. McKitrick; Auditors, Mrs. I. J. Murphy and Mrs. W. J. McKitrick.

The next meeting will be a Picnic, which will be held in Mr. I. J. Murphy's ravine on the Hockley Road on Thursday, July 26th, beginning at 2.30 p.m. There will be races and sports of all kinds. Prizes will be provided for the children taking part in the races.

MELANCTHON STATION

Crops are growing very fast during the past few weeks. James Sawden says he can see his sweet clover in the field beside the Provincial Highway grow seven millimeters during one night.

Station Street, both east and west of the market corner, is receiviing a good coat of gravel from Thomas' pit. Thomas Sanderson is road boss, and he is making a good job.

Mrs. Barrett, Sr., is on a visit to friends on the 4th line.

We were pleased to meet our old friend, Mr. Ben Tansley, of West Toronto, but formerly C. P. R. section boss between Shelburne and Melancthon Station.

Mr. Wm. Barrett is on an extended visit to friends in Toronto and Lindsay.

Frank Merkley's hay press is working in the neighborhood.

Mr. S. Sawden, of Toronto, paid our burg a visit last week.

—Orangeville Citizens' Band will make an excellent attraction for a Garden Party or other outdoors entertainment.

HERBERT LEGATE

Death Comes Unexpectedly to Promising Young Business Man in Paterson, N. J.

Numerous friends in business, religious and social circles of the community were shocked this morning when they learned that James Herbert Legate, the husband of Martha May Legate, had answered the call to the eternal home toward which he had directed the steps of many young people during his life as a Christian citizen and worker. Herbert Legate passed on last night at the Paterson General Hospital, where he was a private patient, recovering from the effects of an operation for appendicitis. He was in his twenty-eighth year.

Expressions of surprise, words of sincere sympathy, and an evidence of grief followed the announcement. Those close to the young man, because of the ties of relationship and those in the friendship group, were confidently expecting that Mr. Legate would be able to leave the hospital room and return to his home at 661 Fourteenth Ave. in at least a few days, and that very shortly he would be greeting his friends, as was his custom, in the usual happy manner. Yesterday the patient was happy and cheerful and when informed that abscesses had formed on some of the internal organs, that would probably delay his discharge from the hospital, he accepted the unexpected development lightly. With no thoughts of the serious termination Mr. Legate dropped into a peaceful sleep from which he did not waken in this world.

Herbert Legate was born in Canada on October 3rd, 1894, and had lived in Paterson for fifteen years. He was a nephew of John S. Leslie, of the Leslie Company at Lyndhurst, and served as the secretary of the business firm, being of valuable assistance in the management of the business. He was a member of the First Baptist Church, and an active worker and leader there, whose loss is irreparable. Herbert Legate was the superintendent of the Junior Department of the Sunday School. He was the vice-president of the Passaic County Sunday School Association, and was president of the State Alumni Association of the Summer School of Methods. His remarkable executive ability and willingness to serve the youth made his services indispensable.

The deceased was a young man of unusual Christian standing, yet fond of life in its fullest sense. He had a most lovable disposition, and efficiency was stamped upon everything he undertook, whether it was in business, in the religious circles, or as a leader in social activities.

Mr. Legate is survived by his widow, Martha May Legate, whom he married just six months ago. He has also two sisters and one brother. They are:—Mrs. Edith Legate Webb, of Minneapolis; Miss Florence Legate, of this city, and George Legate, of Vancouver.

The funeral service will be held at the Fourteenth avenue home at 4 o'clock on Monday afternoon, and interment will be made at the convenience of the family. The Rev. Frank McDonald, the young man's pastor, is hastening from Indianapolis, where he was attending the Baptist Convention, to take charge of the service.—Paterson, N. J., Press-Guardian, June 17th.

The late Mr. Legate is a son of John Legate, who was Deputy-Postmaster of Orangeville for a number of years under the late Guy Leslie and subsequently mail clerk on the Owen Sound division of the C. P.R. for an extended period. He is a nephew of Mr. T. G. Legate and Mrs. T. H. Coulter of this town.

MRS. JOHN NAIRN

The many friends of Mr. John Nairn will deeply sympathize with him in the death of his wife, who passed away on June 4th after a lingering illness. The deceased was born in Rathan, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, 69 years ago and was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Park, and came to Canada in 1860. For years Mrs. Nairn has been a sufferer from rheumatism and the patient way she bore this affliction and her kindly disposition drew around her a large circle of friends, all of whom will miss their little visits with her, but it will be by her husband and family that her loss will be felt most keenly.

Besides Mr. Nairn, a family of three sons, John, of Minburn, Alta.; George, of Lavoy, Alta.; Ernest on the homestead, and one daughter, Mrs. Walter Richardson, in East Luther, survive her.

The funeral was held on Tuesday in Knox Church to the Union Cemetery, Grand Valley, Wm. and Alex. Park, David, Lewis and Wm. Nairn acting as pallbearers. — Star & Vidette.

The late Mrs. Nairn was a sister of Ex-Postmaster John Park, of this town.

MELVILLE CROSS

A very heavy auto traffic may be seen on the Provincial Highway these days, mostly tourists from various points in the United States.

Notwithstanding the fact that we are approaching mid-summer the tide is still quite high on the Credit and fishing is very good.

Crops are looking their best in Caledon these days and haying will soon be general.

BLOUNT

The Blount Women's Institute will hold a Lawn Social at the home of Mrs. Charles Crombie on Wednesday evening, July 5th. Everybody welcome. Bring baskets. An interesting programme will be provided. Ice cream served. Collection taken.

THERE IS DANGER IN WATERY BLOOD

If Not Corrected Serious Results May Follow.

In no trouble is delay or neglect more dangerous than anaemia, a poverty of the blood. It is very common in young girls and in persons who are overworked or confined within doors. It makes its approach in so stealthy a manner that it is often well developed before its presence is recognized.

But taken in time there is a tonic medicine which increases the number of red blood corpuscles, thus enabling the blood to carry the life-giving oxygen to all the tissues of the body. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have had much success in the treatment of this stubborn trouble because of this wonderful property.

The correction of anaemic conditions by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is as certain as anything can be. Take as an example the case of Miss Mary D. Kelly, Charlottetown, P.E.I., who says:—"My blood was thin and watery, and my system very much run down. I could not do any work or walk upstairs without resting. I suffered greatly from headaches, my appetite was poor and I was also troubled with indigestion. I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and in a short time the results showed they were just the medicine I needed. I only used six boxes but am now feeling stronger and better than I have done for several years. From my personal experience I can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

These pills are sold by all medicine dealers, or will be sent by mail, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

W. M. S. CONVENTION

The first of three conferences arranged for in the Orangeville Presbyterial was held at Alton, Tuesday, June 13th. Miss L. Walker, Vice-President of the Alton Auxiliary, presided at the morning and afternoon sessions.

Reports of the Provinicial meeting held at Ottawa ,and of the General Council at Galt, were given by Mrs. Ferguson, Shelburne, and Mrs. Burkholder, Caledon. Both reports were excellent and conveyed to the delegates the inspiration and enthusiasm of the meetings.

A very pleasing feature of the afternoon session was a violin solo entitled "Abide With Me," by Miss Babcock, and a vocal solo by Mrs. Bagnell, Alton.

The Question Drawer, always a source of information and helpfulness, was responded to by Mrs. Burkholder.

During the noon hour the Executive of the Presbyterial met and with much regret accepted the resignation of Mrs. Ferguson as Treasurer. The members of the Executive, wishing to convey to her a token of their love, gave her, in remembrance of their work and fellowship together, a beautiful fern pot.

AMARANTH COUNCIL

TREMENDOUS CLOTHING BARGAINS AT TORRIE'S

ANOTHER BIG CLEAN-UP IN

MEN'S AND BOYS' SUITS

We were fortunate in meeting a wholesale clothing man from Montreal, who was over-stocked with Men's and Young Men's Suits.

On account of this huge purchase we have decided to extend our Sale until JULY 15th.

These Suits are of the very finest qualities of Worsted and all of them made up in the very latest styles, a great many being sample suits with the very best of workmanship on them.

We thought we had values before, but, if the people in the surrounding country knew the values we have on hand now, they would not hesitate a minute in looking over this immense stock of Clothing.

Young Men's Suits, reg. $25.00 to $35.00

FOR $18.00 TO $25.00

Do not miss these.

We also have wonderful values in Boys' Suits from $5.00 up.

Remember we have extended our Sale until JULY 15th. If you want Clothing we will make it worth your while.

IN MEMORIAM.

In ever tender memory of our dearly beloved son and brother, John G. Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Johnston, of Orangeville, formerly of The Maples, who departed this life on Sunday, June 29th, 1919.

We cherish his memory in our hearts.

Father, Mother, Sister, Niece.

IN MEMORIAM.

AIKENS—In fond and loving memory of our father, John Aikens, who entered into Rest on June 28th, 1921, at Relessey, Ont.

Just one year ago to-day
God called the one I love away
With Him to dwell for evermore,
He's resting to-day on the golden shore.

The midnight stars are gleaming
On a lone and silent grave,
Beneath sleeps one I love,
But one I could not save.

His weary hours, his days of pain,
His troubled nights are past;
His ever patient worn out frame
Has found sweet rest at last.

—WIFE.

Though your loving voice is silent,
And your true heart ceased to beat,
We miss your well-known footsteps,
And the sweet face we used to greet.

In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly, tenderly, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear father,
That we do not think of you.

Yet again we hope to meet you,
When the days of life have fled;
And in Heaven with joy to greet you
Where no farewell tears are shed.

Darling mother, we must turn for comfort
To the God we all do love;
'Twas He who called our father,
To his Heavenly home above.

—FAMILY.

BASEBALL NEWS

The best game of the season is promised local fans when Arthur and Orangeville meet at Idylwyld Park, Orangeville, on Wednesday, July 5th, at 3.30 o'clock sharp. Both pitchers, Heppler, of Arthur, and Irwin, of Orangeville, are speed ball artists, and are out for strike-out records. Irwin struck out 15 Hillsburg batsmen here two weeks ago in a 7-innings game. All the regular players of the local team will be back on the line-up as Orangeville must win this game to remain in the running. The Orangeville Citizens' Band will be in attendance. Admission, including tax:—Adults, 25c; children, 15c; autos free.

DIED.

Interment took place at Orangeville on Wednesday, June 28th, after the arrival of the morning train from Toronto.

CALEDON EAST

The chilly, disagreeable weather affected the attendance at the Garden Party held on the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Coulter on Wednesday night last under the joint auspices of the Orange and True Blue lodges of the village. At the members of the two lodges did not have any serious cause for complaint, for they had an excellent crowd and a very fine programme. The latter was provided by the Kenney-Wilson entertainers assisted by the Caledon East orchestra, Mr. J. W. Toase in saxophone selections and Mr. Geo. Maxwell, soloist. The artists were all in good form and received an attentive and appreciative hearing, the appreciation of the audience finding expression in repeated demands for encores. The members of the Kenney-Wilson company are Mr. Le Roy Kenney and and Mr. Robert Wilson, who have a fine reputation as refined and acceptable humorous entertainers, Miss Jean Alexander, a young vocalist of promise and real dramatic ability, and Miss Grace Bonnick, a charming pianiste and accompanist. Mr. A. D. McKitrick, of Orangeville, occupied the chair. At the close of the programme Mr. and Mrs. Coulter were tendered the hearty thanks of the gathering for their kindness in placing their beautiful lawn and home at the disposal of the Orange and True Blue Orders for the evening. The gate receipts amounted to $175 and despite the chilly evening an additional $75 was realized from the refreshment booth.

The garden party proper was preceded by an exciting lacrosse match between the Caledon and Caledon East teams. The game, which was one of the regular Peel County League series, was keenly contested and was won by the Caledon boys by the close score of 3 to 2. A large crowd witnessed the contest and each team had the support of a band of lusty-voiced rooters. The first quarter was scoreless and was featured by strenuous end to end play in which the teams appeared about evenly matched. The Caledon braves went out in front in the second period and were leading by 2 to 1 when the whistle sounded for halftime. The visitors got another in the third round. The home team played a hard, aggressive game in the final period, but while they held the visitors scoreless the best their home could do was a single tally. "Ginger" Stubbs, of Bolton, made an eagle-eyed referee and was strictly impartial in his decisions. The players were:—

Caledon—Goal, Wittick; point, Emack; coverpoint, C. Giles; defence, A. Harrington, H. McCort; centre, A. Giles; home, McLeish and Tribble; outside home, Smith; inside home, McDuff; spares, VanWyck, Lundy and McCormick.

Caledon East — Goal, Perdue; point, Thorington; coverpoint, Fleetham; defence, Sanderson and Ted Berney; centre, W. Cannon; home, McCaffrey and N. Cannon; outside, Allison; inside, McCartney; spares, Cunnington and W. Gray.

Be Sure You Put Them Out

CARELESSNESS with matches, cigarette butts, cigar ends, pipe ashes, camp fires, fly smudges, railway locomotives, slash-burning operations—human carelessness of some kind accounts for 97% of the forest fires which every year add further devastation to the northern areas of this province.

DON'T

DON'T throw away cigarette or cigar butts, pipe "heels" or burnt matches until you are dead sure they are out.

DON'T build your camp fire against a rotten log or stump; nor on windy points; nor near moss patches; nor at the base of a tree.

Build it in a former fire place, or on a flat rock, or on a spot cleared down to the true soil below, or by the edge of the water.

DON'T forget that the upper layer of ground in the forest consists of partially rotted wood which will burn.

The rangers on the Ombabika to Fort Hope canoe route in the far north on July 4th found an area 10 miles long by 4 miles wide which had been swept by fire since their previous trip. A camp fire left on a portage was the cause.

A prospector on the Montreal River started a fire on July 7th which burned over 4,800 acres in Baden Township, destroying 1,000,000 feet of pine and 9,000 cords of pulpwood, and which required attention for a month.

A party of fishermen camped on Porcupine Lake, Burton Township, Parry Sound, were responsible for a fire on July 10th, which burned over 25,000 acres and 2,000,000 feet of timber.

Indians smoking moose meat started a fire on June 26th, which ran through 1,700 acres of young jack pine trees.

Careless trappers on May 7th caused a fire in Head Township, which burned over 2,280 acres, half of it young white pine.

The best way to fight forest fires is to prevent them.

WHERE IS ONTARIO'S PARKMAN?

Some day, we hope, a man will be found to do for the Province of Ontario what Parkman did so well for Quebec, and give to the world a history of the heroes who preserved Upper Canada for the British Empire. There is as much heroism to record in the one province as in the other, and the material is capable of being treated in an equally romantic way. The picturesque coureur du bois had his habitat on all the great waterways from Montreal to the Red River. He was a moving figure with whom is associated the Argosies of the fur trade and the list of exploration. The historian of Upper Canada will have to be able to fit him into the life of the people who subdued the forests and laid the foundations of our premier province. Yet there is an abundance of incidents that would reveal the heroic qualities of the pioneers who within a lifetime converted a forest wilderness into a fruitful land and on occasions left their clearings to repel invasion. "Conscience money," in the shape of a $5 bill was received by J. H. Metheral, Peterboro. A note accompanying the bill directing that the latter be given to "Mr J H. Metheral who used to keep a bicycle shop in Peterboro." The recipient on the collection of any transaction that would explain the matter by putting his foot in the pipe at Galt street water shut-off, from which the cover had been removed. Jamie Bisdale, a three year old, found himself caught, and in his innocence also faced a problem to extricate the foot. Before they could do so the sidewalk had to be torn up, a hole dug, the pipe cut off, and even then the foot could not be removed. But with chisels and hammers the piece of pipe was broken and the lad was free.

Brampton Town Council gave a second reading to a by-law to grant the Sturgis Baby Carriage and Kantfall Curtain Rod Company $25,000 towards a new factory, and tax exemption for ten years. The company promises to erect a factory on a town site, the two to cost $25,000 and to instal a plant and machinery worth $25,000. Their staff is not to be less than 25 at any season of the year. The town gets a first mortgage on the property. The ratepayers will vote on the by-law on July 17th.

WHICH END?

The ceremony was over, both had "I willed" and the happy couple were receiving the clergyman's blessing. First he said a few cheering words to the bride, then he turned to the bridegroom to give him a few words of advice. "Now, my son," he said, "you have come to the end of your troubles." A few months passed and the man met the clergyman again. Overcoming his feelings, the man managed to gulp out: "I thought you told me at my wedding I had come to the end of all my troubles!" The clergyman smiled. "My friend," he beamed, "I did not tell you which end."

THE WATERWORKS

Willis Chipman Makes Preliminary Report on Proposed Improvements to Orangeville's System.

Some months ago the Town Council engaged Mr. Willis Chipman, of the firm of Chipman & Power, Toronto civil engineers, to make a report on improvements to the Orangeville Waterworks System for the purpose of increasing the supply of water for domestic and fire protection purposes. Mr. Chipman visited Orangeville and inspected the system on May 17th and 18th. His preliminary report on the proposed improvements was submitted to the Council by Reeve Gillespie on Monday night, June 5th. The report is quite lengthy and deals exhaustively with the construction of the original fire protection system about 1891, the present waterworks system in 1895-96, subsequent alterations and improvements of the latter and then discusses the proposed improvements, concluding with the following recommendations:—

1. The construction of a collecting reservoir west of the townline road (Amaranth-Mono townline) with a capacity of 40,000 gallons, at an estimated cost of $5,000.00.

2. The construction of a fire supply reservoir as near to the fire hall as practicable, to contain 300,000 gallons, at a cost of $15,000.00.

3. The metering of all factories and large consumers.

4. The construction of a fire proof pump house on storage reservoir, at an estimated cost of $3,000.00.

Mr. Chipman estimates the present storage reserve as only 50,000 gallons, 30,000 gallons at the reservoir at the springs and an additional 20,000 gallons in the Fire Hall reservoir. The construction of the collecting reservoir referred to in the first recommendation would add about 40,000 gallons to the existing reserve. The engineer suggests that this reservoir be 20 by 40 feet and that it be located immediately east of the timber chamber, or about 175 feet west of the townline. He recommends a building of reinforced concrete with a flat concrete roof. A pitched metallic roof would cost a little less than the flat concrete roof, but would have the disadvantage of not being fireproof.

The larger downtown fire storage reservoir proposed in the second recommendation may be of circular or rectangular shape. Mr. Chipman suggests a tank 40 feet wide by 100 feet long with side walls 14 feet in height. This reservoir would contain about 300,000 gallons and should be located as near the Fire Hall as practicable. The engineer suggests the bowling green as a suitable site, and refers to the vacant property on the north side of Broadway nearly opposite the Fire Hall as an alternative site. If these sites should prove too expensive a suitable site might be found in the vicinity of Louisa or Ada Sts.

On the subject of meters the report reads:—"When these works were constructed there were very few cities and towns that had then adopted a general metering of services. During recent years, however, we have persuaded a number of cities and towns to adopt meters on practically all services with the result that the consumption of water in these places is practically one half the consumption in unmetered towns. Where the supply is by gravity the temptation to waste water is greater than in a pumping system, particularly on lawns, yards, etc., and at garages, laundries and factories. If all your large consumers were metered, including the factories, hotels, garages and premises with lawns, your present supply would be sufficient for some years to come. If, however, meters be not adopted, it will probably be necessary to expend a comparatively large amount in securing an additional supply from another source at a very early date."

Dealing with the last recommendation Mr. Chipman expresses the opinion that the fire hall is now too crowded. There is no space for properly operating or taking down the pumping machinery, and the boiler is an additional fire hazard. It also makes the building uncomfortable for the family living in the flat above it. If a proper fireproof reinforced concrete pumphouse were constructed beside the downtown reservoir, or upon its roof, it would give ample space for the machinery and boiler, and the space vacated in the pump room in the fire hall could be used for other municipal purposes.

The first recommendation is the only one upon which the Council appears disposed to take action at the present time. After discussion of the report, it was moved by Councillors Parkinson and Anderson that the matter of securing plans and specifications for a collecting reservoir be left in the hands of the Fire and Water Committee, with authority to consult with Messrs. Wheelock and Christie and to advertise for tenders for the work. The tenders will probably call for a reservoir 25 by 50.

TOWNSHIP NAMES IN SIMCOE COUNTY

Mr. Isaac Day, P. S. I., at a recent meeting of the Historical Society in Orillia, gave a paper on the origin of the names of the Townships in Simcoe County.

Tecumseth — Named after the famous Shaunee Indian Chief, who was killed at Moraviantown in 1814.

Adjala—Local tradition holds that Adjala was the name of Tecumseth's daughter, but according to history Tecumseth had no daughter and only one son.

Essa—Also locally supposed to be the name of the wife of Tecumseth, but Benjamin Drake says that Tecumseth had only one wife, Mamate.

Innisfil—Derived from Innisfail, a poetical name for Ireland.

Nottawasaga—From the Algonquin words, Nahdowayor, Nahdowa, (the Iroquois) and Saga (outlet of river.)

Oro—A Spanish word for gold, said to have been given this because it was proposed to settle liberated slaves in the township, after Reo del Oro, a river in Africa. The settlement was started near Edgar, but has died out. The ruins of the old negro church are still to be seen.

Orillia—The Spanish name for bank of a river or shore of the sea. In Fothergill's almanac the township is named Aurelia, which was the name of Caesar's mother. The Spanish spelling is Orilla. Probably refers to the Township having so much shore line. The town site was originally laid out at Shingle Bay.

Medonte—Said to be a Delaware word meaning "evil spirit." It is also said to be from the Ojibway "Madonin," meaning "to carry on the back," so that the word might be connected with the portage on which Medonte lies between Orillia and Matchedash bay.

Matchedash — An Indian name meaning muskeg or marsh lands.

Flos, Tiny and Tay—These townships are named after Lady Sarah Maitland's three pet dogs.

Gwillimbury—Named after Miss Gwillimi, wife of Col. John Graves Simcoe, first Lieutenant-Governor of Upper Canada.

BARON HAMLET

(2827) (6090) (12757)

Will be kept for service during the season of 1922 at the stables of the owner, lot 15, 2nd line, east, Caledon.

TERMS—$15.00 for a living colt, payable when colt is one week old. Sale of mare renders fee due and payable.

All accidents to mares at risk of their owners.

BARON HAMLET was bred by James Rigg, Highbanks, Kirkcudbright, Scotland, and imported by the Graham Renfrew Co., Bedford Park, Ontario. Of his sire, Baron's Pride, nothing need be said, as it is well known that he was the best Clydesdale sire that ever lived.

BARON HAMLET'S dam, Banks Daisy, was sired by Hamlet (4433), gr. dam Fanny of Bombie (3104) by sir Colin (3188) by Samson (741). There is no better bred horse in Canada to-day. As a stock horse he is unsurpassed.

Foals in 1919 from Baron Hamlet sold as high as $150.00, at 10 months old. One of his colts foaled in 1920 won first prize at Caledon fall fair, beating the colt that won the first prize at the Dufferin County Show in Orangeville, and was sold the same day for $150..00, and was delivered at four and one half months old. Another of his colts, foaled in 1920, was sold at public auction for $155 at eight months and one half old.

Three of his colts foaled in 1921 won first, second and third prizes at Caledon fall fair in 1921. The winner of the second prize was sold at seven months old for $160.00. Three of his yearling colts also won first, second and third prizes at Caledon fall fair in 1921. These colts all won in heavy draft class.

BARON HAMLET was inspected on the 29th day of October, 1912, when he was Passed and Approved, Form I. He has also been Enrolled for the year 1922 in Form I. in accordance with Chap. 67, Statutes of Ontario, 2 George V.

Anaemia

But you can soon enrich thin blood, overcome the anaemic condition and build up the whole system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. F. G. Simmons, 42 Curtis St., Brantford, Ont., writes:

"For about eight years I suffered from anaemia. My circulation was poor, my gums and lips were pale, and my hands and feet were always cold. I was nervous and unable to sleep well. I had frequent headaches, seemed restless and easily worried or irritated. There was a buzzing sound in my ears. Indigestion was also one of my complaints, and I often was attacked by weak spells. I went to a doctor, who told me I was anaemic, but as I did not get any better I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after the first box I felt brighter and my headaches completely disappeared. I continued using the Nerve Food for quite a while. I am quite well now, and cheerfully and gratefully recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to people suffering as I did before I used this splendid medicine."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

James B. Hodgkinson, a blacksmith of Kinlough, was fined $5 and costs by County Magistrate McNab, of Walkerton, for using grossly insulting language to his stepmother, an aged lady who resides in a double house, the other portion of which is inhabited by Hodgkinson.

and to subdue rebellion. The courage, the industry, and the high moral earnestness of that generation have never been presented in their proper setting. To do that task adequately is the work of a lifetime, as the story of Quebec was to Parkman.

How little the present generation knows of Sir Isaac Brock, the hero of Queenston Heights and Lundy's Lane; of Laura Secord, and scores of brave women and intrepid men who cleared the forests as they blazed the way for those who have inherited the fruits of their toil and now live at ease in a free and fertile land. It is a moving tale of loyalty undimmed by hardships; of home unquenched by loneliness; and of faith kept aflame by the yearly visits of the Circuit rider. There is a greater heroism than that of the battlefield, and it is to be found in the lives of the men and women who made Ontario what it is to-day. In their daily struggles to overcome what would in this time be regarded as insuperable obstacles they achieved success. They left an example forgotten because it has not been chronicled by a romantic historian. Where is Ontario's Parkman? — Orange Sentinel.

PRELATE, SASK.

The wheat seeding is well advanced hereabouts despite the bad weather, heavy rains having fallen almost daily for the last two weeks.

A number of the young people met at the Prelate hotel on Monday evening, May 8th, to bid farewell to Miss Irene Mercer, who left for California the following day. The large dining room was cleared and the evening was spent very pleasantly in dancing. Miss Mercer is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner, of Orangeville.

SUNNY SASKATCHEWAN

To its crops, its cattle, its soil;
Where the sun very seldom hurts you,
And it's little we get for our toil;
Where it's forty below in the morning,
And at night, in the shade, ninety-three;
But in spite of it's climatic conditions,
It's Sunny Saskatchewan for me.

Sometimes we know that we fear it,
As we wince 'neath the sting of its cold;
There are times we wish we wern't near it,
When the flies and mosquitoes grow bold;
But there is something that grips and that holds you,
Though the life far from trouble is free;
And in spite of the heat, cold, disadvantages,
Well, it's Sunny Saskatchewan for me.

Now, my home 'tis a shack and a small one,
Winter blown by winds keen as a knife;
And the bill at the store is a tall one,
And I am told that I am wasting my life;
Though the pants that I wear are disgraceful,
And it is pretty hard picking you see;
Well, I still have my faith in the future,
And it's Sunny Saskatchewan for me.

For Saskatchewan is still in the making,
She is vast, she is raw, and she is new;
The province is teeming with riches,
But the markets are dreadfully few;
But a day is in sight in the future
When conditions all adjusted will be;
Faintly glimmers a light through the darkness,
And it's Sunny Saskatchewan for me.

BACHELOR.

THE FISHING PARTY

Wunst we went a-fishin'—me
An' my pa an' ma, all three,
When they was a picnic, 'way
Out to Hanch's woods, one day.

An' they wuz a crick out there,
Where the fishes is, an' where
Little boys 'tain's big an' strong
Better have their folks along.

My pa he jist fished an' fished,
An' my ma she said she wished
Me an' her was home; an' pa
Said he wished so worse'n ma.

Pa said if you talk, er say
Anythin', er sneeze, er play,
Hain't no fish, alive er dead,
Ever go' to bite! he said.

Purt'-nigh dark in town when we Got back home; an' ma, says she,
Now she'll have a fish fer shore!
An' she buyed one at the store.

Nen at supper, pa he won't
Eat no fish, an' says he don't Like 'em—an' he pounded me
When I chocked!—Ma, didn't he?

It was announced recently that the old Del Monte Hotel at Preston, which has long been in disuse will be opened as an up-to-date sanatorium with all modern facilities. It is understood the company behind the enterprise consists of one or two Kitchener physicians and business men.

MRS. ED. M'KIBBON

[illegible] friends and acquaintances [illegible] inexpressibly shocked last week [illegible] death of Mrs. McKibbon, [illegible] of Mr. Edward McKibbon, [illegible] Broadway. The sad event [illegible] on Thursday morning last [illegible] an illness of two weeks from [illegible]atism of the spinal column, [illegible]ed by tonsilitis. The de[illegible]ted [illegible], who was 61 years of [illegible] on [illegible]4th last, had been [illegible] for the last five or six [illegible]rs. [illegible]cKibbon was a daug[illegible] of [illegible] Mr. and Mrs. Robert [illegible] [illegible]xa Junction, where she was [illegible]n the farm now owned by Mr. [illegible] Cook, on the 3rd line, Am[illegible]. She was married to Mr. Mc[illegible] [illegible] thirty-eight years ago and [illegible] her marriage has lived mostly [illegible]ngeville or in the immediate [illegible] [illegible] Deceased [illegible] [illegible] her husband and a family [illegible] four sons and two daughters [illegible]ter are Robert A., of Mono; [illegible] in Toronto; Mrs. William [illegible] Mills; John E., Russell [illegible] at home. Mrs. William Tindale, Shelburne; Mrs. William Gray, Montreal West, and Mrs. William Gray, Burk's Falls, are the surviving sisters. Widespread sympathy is felt for the bereaved husband and family in their irreparable loss.

The funeral, which was largely attended, was [illegible] Saturday afternoon to Greenwood Cemetery, where the remains were laid at rest in the family plot beside those of her son, who died in the West a few years ago. Rev. S. [illegible] Garnett, of Caledonville, conducted the services at the house and grave and was assisted by Rev. E. H. Gray, of Toronto, a nephew of the departed woman. The pallbearers were her four sons, her son-in-law and a nephew, Mr. Jerry McKinney. Among the floral tributes were the following:—A pillow from the husband; wreaths from the family and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gray, Montreal, and sprays from the neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cowie, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fairbairn.

Among the friends present from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gray, Montreal West; Rev. E. H. Gray, Toronto; Mrs. Richard Harrison, Mrs. Harry Irwin, Mrs. Frank Scott, Mrs. Thomas Hilborn, Mr. and Mrs. John Jas. McKibbon, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McKibbon, Mr. Richard Harrison and his sons, Wm. and Fred, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. McKibbon, Markdale; Mr. and Mrs. John McKibbon, Mr. and Mrs. Adam McKibbon, Mrs. John W. McKibbon, Mrs. Chas. Atwood, Mr. Fred McKibbon and Mrs. Wm. Tindale, Shelburne; Mr. Jerry McKibbon and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rutherford, Bondhead; Mr. and Mrs. S. Price, Mrs. S. Price and Mr. E. Price, Marsville, and Mr. Wm. McDougall, Waterloo.

Dear mother, if we could but have raised yo[illegible] lying head;
Or heard [illegible] last farewell;
The grief [illegible] not have been so hard.
For those who loved you well.
Many [illegible] was heard that day,
And [illegible] tears did fall;
She [illegible] not loved by friends alone,
But by her neighbors all.

Then try to wipe away those tears
And try to weep no more;
For God knows best. He took her home,
Where parting, pain and troubles are no more.—Com.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mrs. [illegible]'s report of the National Convention held in Vancouver a short time ago is to hand and will be presented at the first meeting of the I. O. D. E.

Mrs. Arthur Cullen entertained the members of St. Mark's Women's Auxiliary at her home in Caledon last Thursday afternoon. The ladies spent part of the afternoon hemming a stock of linen provided for the occasion by the Linen Committee of the Hospital. We are indeed grateful to the ladies of this Society for their kindly and helpful interest.

The Hospital is indebted to Mrs. William Hillock, of Caledon, for a donation of home-made bread, eggs and cream.

The Hospital staff is very busy at the present time as the institution is filled to capacity. There were no less than four operations on Tuesday.

MONO COUNCIL

Chamber, Mono Centre,
June 16th, 1922

[illegible] met per adjournment of [illegible]ting. Members all present, Reeve presiding. Minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

General—McQuilken-Park — That the following be paid:—T. Y. McKay, repairs to grader, $1.60; W. S. Haddock, drawing steel for bridge, lot 24, con. 6, $5.25.

Fines-Park—That Alex. McDonald be a member of the Committee re Shelburne Memorial, to represent Township of Mono.

On request by some of the public spirited citizens of the township and others to celebrate in some way the locating of the first settlers in the township of Mono in the year 1822, the Council and others were appointed a Committee to make arrangements at as early a date as possible.

Council adjourned for two hours to view bridge opposite south half lot [illegible], con. 2, W. H. St. After viewing same Council decided to either repair or build new bridge after ascertaining the cost.

Fines-McQuilken — That this Council do now adjourn to meet again on Friday, the 21st day of July.

W. A. HENRY, Clerk. W. J. BOWER, Reeve.

DRENNAN—M'KIM

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ephriam McKim, Second Street, was the scene of a very pretty event at 3.30 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, June 20th, the occasion being the marriage of their only daughter, Miss Kathleen, to Mr. William John Drennan, of Toronto, son of Mrs. Charlotte Drennan and the late John Drennan, of Alliston. Rev. F. W. Mahaffy, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, performed the marriage service in the living room, which was decorated in attractive manner with marguerites, roses, peonies and ferns. Miss Cortia Mullin, of Toronto, played the wedding music. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in a white canton crepe gown trimmed with lace and wore a tulle veil with coronet of orange blossoms and pearls. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses, showered with sweet peas. Her only ornament was a diamond bar pin, the gift of the groom. The bridesmaid was the groom's sister, Miss Mary Drennan, who wore a gown of peach organdie with leghorn hat and carried pink sweet peas. The groom was supported by the bride's brother, Mr. Elmer McKim. While the register was being signed Mrs. Clarke Duff sang "For You Alone" very sweetly. After a buffet luncheon the bride and groom left amid showers of rice and confetti for a trip down the St. Lawrence River, the bride travelling in a navy canton crepe frock embroidered in sand, and hat to match.

GREEN—LAIDLAW

The marriage of Mr. John C. Green, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Marshall Green, of Orangeville, and Miss Isabel Laidlaw, daughter of the late J. C. Laidlw and Mrs. Laidlaw, of Toronto, took place at 2 o'clock on Thursday afternoon at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Howard C. Hoops, Oriole Parkway, Toronto. The ceremony took place in the reception room, which was beautifiully decorated with pink and white peonies and white roses. The bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. H. C. Hoops, was attired in white kitten's ear crepe with lace and pearls, and tulle veil worn by the bride's mother, caught with orange blossoms. She carried a bridal bouquet of roses. Miss Jessie Laidlaw, of Philadelphia, was maid of honor, and Miss Dorothy Fisher, niece of the bride, attended as bridesmaid. The attendants were both dressed alike in peach georgette with girdles of rainbow ribbon; their hats were of georgette to match and they carried unusual bouquets of pink and yellow snapdragon, mauve iris and bebe breath. The little flower girl was all in white with pink rosebuds and carried sweetheart roses. Mr. F. Turner was best man. Mrs. Laidlaw was gowned in black and white chantilly lace over black silk. Mrs. Green, mother of the groom, in black charmeuse with overdress of black lace, Mrs. A. D. Fisher, sister of the bride, in rust colored cream meteor with hat to match, Miss Laidlaw, sister of the bride, in blue taffeta and black hat, Mrs. Lester Green in georgette heavily beaded and large picture hat, and Mrs. Howard C. Hoops in mauve georgette with hat to match. Mrs. Lester Green sang "O Perfect Love" at the close of the service. The bride and groom left later in the day for a trip across the border, the former travelling in navy blue tricotine with blue hat with touches of grey and wearing a set of fox furs, the gift of the groom. On their return to the city they will reside at 40 Hillside avenue.

DUKE—RITCHIE

The marriage of Mr. J. Elgin Duke, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Duke, of Amaranth, and Miss Ethel J. Ritchie was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peterson, of Laurel, at 2.30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, June 21st. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. A. E. Thornley, pastor of Knox Church, Shelburne, in the presence of a company of about sixty-five invited guests. The bride, who entered the drawing room to the strains of the Lohengrin Bridal Chorus beautifully played by Miss Evelyn Duke, sister of the groom, was escorted by her father and looked charming in her gown of white duchess satin with overdress of georgette beaded with pearls. She wore the customary bridal veil and orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of ophelia roses and maidenhair fern. The young couple were unattended, but the bride was assisted by two little girls, Aileen Hostrawser made a pretty maid of honor in a dainty gown of white silk and carrying a bouquet of carnations and little Geraldine Johnston, a niece of the bride, was a winsome flower girl in pale green georgette and carrying a basket of sweet peas. During the marriage service the bridal party stood underneath a large arch of evergreens, prettily decorated with wedding bells and tinsel and banked with ferns and house plants. The drawing room decorations were white and the dining room was tastily done in pink and white. After receiving the congratulations of the assembled friends at the close of the service, the newly wedded couple led the way to the dining room, where a bountiful wedding breakfast was in readiness. The bride and groom left on the 5.30 train for Toronto, Niagara Falls and other points, the bride travelling in a costume of navy blue serge and a large white hat trimmed with white flowers. The gifts to the bride were numerous and costly, evidencing the high and general esteem in which the young couple are held. The groom's gift to the bride was a cabinet of silver and to the two little girls a beautiful bangle apiece. Upon their return home Mr. and Mrs. Duke will take up their residence on the groom's farm, lot 25, 4th line, Amaranth. The congratulations and hearty good wishes of a large circle of friends will accompany them as they start out in life together.

M'ELWAIN—MARTIN

On Wednesday afternoon, June 14th, at 4 p.m., Knox Church, Caledon East, was the scene of an unusually interesting wedding, when Mrs. Jessie Martin became the bride of Mr. Alexander McElwain, Caledon East. The wedding march was rendered by Miss Annie Walker, while the bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Mr. Harvey Wilson. She looked charming in a grey silk crepe dress embroidered in beads and a grey picture hat, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. She was assisted by Miss Mary McElwain, who was gowned in a bisque crepe dress embroidered in bronze beads and honeydew hat, and carried a bouquet of carnations and sweet peas. Rev. Lockhart performed the ceremony. After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the home of the bride's parents, where a dainty repast was served to a number of guests. Later in the evening the happy couple, accompanied by their friends, motored to Bolton to meet the 8.15 train for Bala, Muskoka Lakes, and other places, and were accompanied by Miss Babe Doyle and Miss Mary McElwain as far as Alliston.

SCOTT—EWING

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place at high noon on June 21st, at "Hillcrest," the home of Mrs. Wm. Ewing, Rosemont, Ont., when her second daughter, Gladys Elinor, was united in marriage to William Harold Scott, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Scott, Shelburne, Ont. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. C. H. Forth, pastor of Rosemont Methodist Church. The fair young bride, who was given away by her eldest brother, Mr. Arthur Ewing, looked charming in her gown of ivory satin and georgette, with veil and orange blossoms, and carrying a bouquet of pink and white carnations and maidenhair fern. Her only ornament was a necklace set with pearls, the gift of the groom. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Florence Ewing, who wore a lovely frock of rose crepe de chene and carried a bouquet of pink and white sweet peas. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Oliver Scott. The wedding music, from Lohengrin, was played by the bride's youngest sister, Ethel Ewing. The marriage took place on the spacious lawn beneath an arch of evergreens decorated with roses, in the presence of about sixty guests, friends of the bride and groom. The wedding breakfast was served in the dining room, which was beautifully decorated in pink and white, the attendants being school girl friends of the bride. The groom's gifts to the bridesmaid and pianiste were pins set with pearls, and to the groomsman a tie pin. The bride and groom received many useful and beautiful gifts. The bride's travelling costume was a suit of navy tricotine, with touches of embroidery, and hat to match. The happy couple left on the 4.30 train for Toronto, Niagara and other points, amid showers of confetti and good wishes from a host of friends.

COUNTY COUNCIL JAUNT

Members of the County Council, the county officials and some citizens took a motor trip to Oakville last Thursday afternoon for the purpose of viewing the new County of Hal-ton bridge over Sixteen Mile Creek, where the stream crosses the Dun-das Road a few miles from Oakville. The bridge, which is said to be the largest structure of the kind in the Province, is 992 feet in length, has 9 spans and is 190 feet above the water. It cost in the neighborhood of $250,000. The Dufferin visitors were greatly impressed with the sub-stantial nature of the structure and also with the engineering skill evi-denced in its design and construc-tion. After looking over the bridge, the party visited Oakville, where the Orangeville members inspected the new skating rink and brought home a number of ideas that will be of ser-vice when the construction of the Orangeville rink is commenced. Port Credit and other points were also visited during the jaunt. Four au-tos were required to convey the party.

PERSONAL MENTION

Miss Olga Guest, of Bronte, is holidaying with Miss Irene Mills.

Mr. Harold Rutledge, of Kitchen-er, spent the week-end with his pare-nts, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Rutledge.

Miss Martha Gordon, of Toronto, is visiting with Mrs. Wm. McKinnon, First St., and other friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hulse and little daughter, Phyllis, of Toronto, are visiting relatives in Orangeville and Mono.

Miss Berniece Rowan, of the Bank of Hamilton staff, is leaving on Fri-day for a two weeks holiday at Jordan, Ont.

Mr. W. N. McKinnon and friend, Mr. F. Mansfield, of Toronto, visit-ed at the former's home here over the week-end.

Miss Jean McGregor and Miss Carlyle have returned to Toronto after a pleasant visit with Mrs. Carlyle, Second St.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gray, Montreal West, were called to town last week by the death of Mrs. Gray's sister, Mrs. Ed. McKibben.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith motored to Brantford on Tuesday to attend the funeral of Mr. Smith's cousin, Miss Annie Smith, of Caledonville.

Mrs. Jessie W. Brooks and daugh-ter, Hazel, of Chicago, are visiting the former's brother, Mr. John S. Wallace, and Mrs. Wallace, of Laurel.

Dr. A. J. Hunter and daughter, Miss Dorothy, of Woodstock, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Kearns and other friends here for a few days last and this week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sloan and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Johnston, of Guelph, were the guests of Miss Barclay, Superintendent of the Lord Dufferin Hospital, over Sunday.

Dr. David McMaster, M. D., V. S., left for Tallahasse, Fla., on Wednes-day of this week after a visit of three weeks with Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Goodeve, First St.

Mr. Bert Daniels, of Toronto, was a visitor in town over the week-end. Bert notices many changes in the old town since he shook its dust off his feet some sixteen years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Park, Miss Marion and Master Carlton Park, of Hamilton, Miss Eleanor Carlton, R. N., of Woonsocket, R. I., and Miss Vera Carr, of Sarnia, are visitors with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Marshall.

Mr. W. A. Island, who was sum-moned to Orangeville about three weeks ago by the sad news of the death of his brother, the late Geo. E. Island, left for his home in Scotaguard, Sask., yesterday even-ing.

Mr. William Patterson, of Laurel, has returned home after a prolonged visit with his sister, Mrs. H. C. Harvey, of Philadelphia. Mr. Pat-terson is looking well and evidently finds life in the Quaker City to his liking.

Mrs. A. Bremner, Sr., and Miss Helen Bremner have returned home after a visit of two months with Rev. and Mrs. S. G. Cole, of Vermillion, South Dakota. They were accom-panied home by Mrs. Cole, who will visit here for some time.

Mr. W. A. Irwin, township clerk of Albion, gave The Banner a wel-come call while in town on Friday morning. Our oldtime Mono friend has taken on considerable avoirdu-pois since he gave up farm life for a business avocation in the Albion capital.

Mrs. John Aikens, of Glencross, announces the engagement of her youngest daughter, Sarah Edna, to Mr. John Lyttle Thompson, of Shel-burne, eldest son of Mrs. Wm. S. Thompson, of Glencross. The mar-riage will take place during the first week of July.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Brinsmead and daughter, Miss Isabel, of Loverna, Sask., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Goodeve, First St., on their way West after attend-ing the annual convention of The Weekly Newspapers Association in Ottawa. While in the Capital our visitors were the guests of Mr. Brinsmead's cousin, Mrs. Ellen Carson, and her sons. They have also visited friends in Collingwood, Rich Hill, Meaford and Toronto. Mr. Brinsmead left for home a few days ago. Mrs. and Miss Brinsmead will remain in town for some time.

Mrs. Alexander Bremner, of Ca-milla, announces the engagement of her daughter, Helen Louise, to Mr. Alexander Scott, son of Mrs. John Scott, Mono Centre, the marriage to take place early in July.

$25.00 AND COSTS

The proceedings on the charges arising out of the Irwin tar and fea-ther episode attracted quite a gath-ering to the Court House on Tuesday forenoon. Even the daily press had its representatives present. Audience and newspaper men were, however, destined to disappointment for the proceedings were neither lengthy nor sensational. Seven informations had been lodged, the charge in each instance being unlawful assembly. In the end fines of $25.00 and costs were registered against four of the offenders, Kenneth Hannahson, Rus-sell McKibbon, "Red" Delaney and Cecil Gray, and proceedings were withdrawn with respect to John Wilson, Verna Gerand and Ewart Reid. Mr. C. R. McKeown repre-sented the defendants.

SEVEN TEACHER SCHOOL

Orangeville High School teaching staff is being increased from six to seven. Mr. Scott, of the present staff, has resigned in order to com-plete his studies at College. The new members of the staff, who will commence their duties when the School resumes in September, will be Miss V. N. Quinlan, of Barrie, and Mr. Chas. D. Jones, of Hamil-ton.

ORANGE GARDEN PARTY

The members of Marsville L. O. L. No. 345 have secured the Ionic Quartette, of Brampton, and the Orangeville Citizens' Band as the leading attractions for their big Garden Party on the Marsville School Grounds on Tuesday even-ing, July 4th. Suitable addresses will be given by Mr. C. R. McKeown and a number of other speakers. Seasonable refreshments provided at booth on the grounds. Admission, 25 cents.

HOME FROM CAMP

About forty young men from Or-angeville and vicinity attended Militia Camp at Niagara with the Halton Rifles. The young soldiers arrived home on Saturday and re-port a splendid outing, although rainy weather detracted somewhat from the comfort of life in the open. This year's Camp was not a large one, but the drill was very thorough and the boys returned home with a lot of useful knowledge about sol-dering stowed away in the back of their heads. They also came home well bronzed and looking pictures of good health.

WESTON VS. DUFFERINS

The lacrosse match between Wes-ton and The Dufferins will be one of the outstanding features of Orange-ville's Dominion Day Celebration. The game will be keen on account of the oldtime rivalry between these teams. The visitors have en-gaged to bring up their strongest line-up and The Dufferins will as-suredly place their best team in the field. Weston are looked on as pro-bable winners of the senior cham-pionship this season and if The Duf-ferins can hold them in the holiday game it will serve to show that the seniors are not playing very much faster lacrosse than the better in-termediate teams. Earl Stevenson, a former Dufferin centre fielder, will be with the Weston team and will probably play the centre posi-tion. If so, he and Bill Stephens will have some pretty sprinting bouts. The game will commence at 3.30.

AN UNUSUAL EGG

Mr. Enoch Price, lot 6, con. 12, East Garafraxa, has a hen that pro-duced a novel specimen of hen fruit a few days ago. It was a double egg, but differed from the ordinary double-yolked egg, in that one egg was inside the other. The larger egg was about the normal size and looked like an ordinary egg until it was opened, when it was found to contain a smaller egg, a little larger than a bird's egg, enclosed in a per-fectly formed shell. The larger egg contained the usual yolk, but the contents of the inner egg consisted entirely of the substance commonly spoken of as the "white."

WILL NOT PUBLISH RESULTS

The Minister of Education announces to all concerned that this year it will not be practicable to publish in the daily newspapers as heretofore the results of the Departmental and Matriculation examinations conducted in the High and Continuation Schools throughout the Province. This situation is due partly to the change in the Regulations whereby candidates are permitted to divide their examinations over several years and partly to the fact that the number of candidates this year has increased greatly.

The increase in the number of candidates will necessarily extend by at least one week the time required to read the candidates' answers. It is hoped, however, that this loss of time will be offset by the gain due to not having to prepare lists for the newspapers. Accordingly, it is expected that the certificates will be mailed to the Principals for distribution to the candidates at least as early as heretofore. The Principals concerned are requested to make timely arrangements to send on the certificates to the candidates immediately on receipt of the sape from the Department.

REV. A. L. BURCH INDUCTED

A very happy event took place in the old historic church of St. Andrew's, Scarboro, when Rev. A. L. Burch, a former pastor of St. Andrew's, Orangeville, was inducted into the pastorate of St. Andrew's and Zion congregations. Rev. Mr. Burch has been acting as stated supply and interim Moderator during the vacancy of more than twelve months. Then a very unanimous call was given him to become minister, which call met with his acceptance. There was a large representation present from the Toronto Presbytery. The addresses to the pastor and people were given by Rev. M. McArthur, of Brampton, who was a classmate and intimate friend of Rev. Mr. Burch, and also a former pastor of this charge. Mr. McArthur said it was a great pleasure to him to be present at the consummation of this union and he foresaw for these congregations a great future.

PEEL COUNTY REGIMENT

The two Brampton newspapers state that Peel County is to have a regiment of its own, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel R. V. Conover. Recruiting will be restricted to the county only and the regiment will be officered by Peel County men. Capt. R. I. Blain will be second in command with rank of Major. Acting Major C. M. Corkett will have command of the Brampton company with Acting Captain Roy Lent second in command. It is the intention to organize two other companies, one at Port Credit and the other to be divided between Bolton, Alton, Inglewood and Caledon East. Headquarter details will be istributed to the various company headquarters. As many as possible will be kept in Brampton, dependent on the number of recruits secured and of the support received from the town.

Grand Valley will have an Old Boys' Reunion Sunday and Monday, the 6th and 7th of August. The following officers were elected:—Wm. Buchanan, Hon. President; R. T. Forgrave, President; Geo. Tough, vice-President, and W. O'C. Ahern, Secretary-Treasurer.

Although Goderich borrowed some $80,000 from the bank early in the year, it now develops that the available money in the civic treasury for the summer expenditures is but a little in excess of $1,000. The report of this condition brought quick action at the last meeting of the council, when a motion was passed authorizing the tax collector to collect arrears of taxes at once. When this is done the town will have something more than $20,000 available until the 1922 taxes come in.

BAFFIN LAND

Let common sense protest stubbornly against the misleading cry of "failure!" "failure!" In some respects the DeLong expedition has been a magnificent success. It demonstrated in a very special way that religion may be carried successfully into all enterprises, and particularly those which are scientific. Christ was not more certainly on the ship in Galilee, than He was on board the good ship "Jeanette." Of their first Sunday out DeLong's diary records, "Had the articles of war read, and the ship's company mustered. They read divine service, and were much pleased at observing that every officer and man not absolutely on watch voluntarily attended. Yes! mark you, it was divine service every Sunday. I once more open DeLong's ice journal and read, "Sent back for Lee. He had turned back,, had lay down, and was waiting to die. All united in saying the Lord's prayer and Creed after supper." Further on I read, "Alexy dying. Doctor baptized him. Read prayers for sick." DeLong further records these words, "I was much impressed and derived great encouragement from an accident last Sunday. Our Bible got soaking wet, and I had to read the Epistle and Gospel out of my Prayer Book. According to my rough calculation, it was the fifteenth Sunday after Trinity, and the Gospel contained some promises which seemed peculiarly adapted to our condition—Matt. 5:24, 'Take no thought of your life, what ye shall eat or what ye shall drink, nor yet for your body what ye shall put on.'" The ice diary of the closing days of that awful journey reads thus: "Lee died at noon. Read prayers for the sick when he found he was going." Again he writes: "We are in the hands of God, and unless He intervenes we are lost." Of the last Sabbath he says: "This is the one hundred and thirty-third day. Everybody pretty weak. Read part of divine service." Alas! alas! he could read no more than part of it. Far away from home, and hungry and freezing and dying, they cried unto the Lord, and they went right out of a cold earth into a warm heaven. We who neglect divine service because it is too cold or too hot, or we are too busy, or have company, let us take this chiding that came down from the north in the box containing the ice journal of George DeLong, the Christian commander.

The journal is a plain, untarnished statement that prayer was the essential business from start to finish. The prayers of the Arctic explorers in good weather, as well as severe, are illustrious example for all who go down to the sea in ships, as well as for all landsmen. Do not wait to pray till your provisions give out and your boat must be abandoned, and there is no game to bring down or fetch in, and you are lost in the snow-drifts. Prayer, though the fingers were too numb to turn the leaves, and the lips too stiff with cold to speak the words, and the eye too dim with fatigue to see the page. Oh! for the courage, the splendour! the simplicity of their faith.

They were men of splendid physique, if their photographs are accurate, and of cultured intellects, if we may judge from their diplomas and correspondence, and were fully equipped with all the meteorological instruments and philosophical apparatus; but listen to the glory of it all: they did not consider themselves high-browed, swelled headed, strong, stubborn or wise enough to do without God. Yes! let the infidel and atheist and blatant philosophy of our day hear it and repent. Do not chloroform yourselves and your religion by boasting that any expedition is a failure that sets up the Banner of the Son of God on the tops of icebergs till all the nations behold the crimson emblem. Do not stultify yourselves with the loose-tongued, slip-shodded boast that you do not support such noble-hearted, self sacrificing enterprises of both missionary and exploration. Therein you are placing an insurmountable object, and you are guilty of the sin of hindering the evangelism of the world. Arise out of a miserable, narrow-minded existence and place your hand upon the only true happiness to be found in the world, the supreme happiness of trying to make others happy.

Another success of this polar expedition was the fact of unparalleled courage demonstrated to the world. Let us all take notice that it is entirely different from that courage which we all admire—courage in battle. It is a far more difficult courage, for it was a fight against the dumb elements. Going into a battle the soldier knows that there is a possibility that the enemy may give way through cowardice. But icebergs never get afraid, and never get into a panic. The Arctic Ocean never was surrounded or flanked. A soldier going into battle knows that it is possible that the enemy's ammunition may give out. But the polar regions never lack ice for bullets and ice for guns and ice for stupendous bombardment. Yes, the most of all heroic courage was the courage of DeLong and his men, for they fought not other men that may be routed, but silent forces of nature, which never give any quarter and never surrender and never die.

God in olden times sent forth Joshua, David, Elijah and Paul in order to teach the world courage. Now He sends the Livingstones, the Stanleys, the DeLongs, the Collinses, and in the past month the death is recorded of Sir Ernest Shackleton. They did honor to the human race. Yes, more now than ever before there are giants among men, great numbers of men still conquering fatigue, and hunger and physical woe that they may present the round world to the cause of missionary and geographical study and discovery. The influence of such noble enterprise is most salutary. We want more men of that stamp to effect the reforms of state and church, such endurance that challenges to be frozen out by the coldness of the world. What is the matter with our churches? What is retarding the Church of God in our days? It is its mamby-pamby membership. There are thousands of Christians in the vineyard ready to sit down and eat grapes, but few DeLongs to push out into the cold. God is fitting out expeditions on every side, and men and women are required who care little for their own comfort and everything for what they can do for others. Frederick Oberlin commanded such an expedition. Florence Nightingale another, John Howard another, DeLong and Shackleton another.

Volumes and volumes of pain and struggle have been written and added to the long shelf of the world's library. While over-stopping and over-mastering all other volumes is the ice journals of all the explorers and sufferers who gloriously sailed through the glass gates, and entered into the Arctic repulsions of this world, in order that they might open passage for all the race to sail through, yet frozen stiff of the world's neglects, and flung dead in the exploration.

Dr. W. S. Bruce in his volume on "Polar Exploration," writing with regard to the aims and objects of modern polar exploration, says: "It would be of interest to take the chart of the Arctic Regions and to enumerate the different parts that yet remain to be explored, their name is legion. The Beaufort Sea, and the islands and channels to the north of the American continent, offer especially a splendid field for topographical, hydrographical, biological, geological and other research."

Hats off to the men who for the cause of science and religion go out and go in on such grand adventure!

THE TORTURE OF INDIGESTION

Thousands Made Miserable By This Trouble

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Relieves it

What is Indigestion and what causes it? As you know, solid food must be changed into a liquid by the stomach before it can be taken up as nourishment by the blood.

The stomach acts as a churn. It is covered by a strong, muscular coat and lined with a soft, delicate membrane which secretes the Gastric Juice which digests or dissolves solid food.

When food enters the stomach, the muscular coat squeezes and presses the food from end to end, or churns it, with the gastric juice to dissolve or digest it.

But—if the stomach muscles are weak—or if the dissolving fluid is poor or insufficient—then food cannot be digested properly and you have Indigestion.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" is the most wonderful medicine in the world for strengthening the stomach muscles and providing an abundance of pure, full-strength dissolving fluid to completely digest every meal. "FRUIT-A-TIVES" does this because it keeps the kidneys active, the bowels regular and the blood pure, which insures pure Gastric Juice.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" will correct your Indigestion or Dyspepsia and enable you to enjoy every meal. Try it.

RHUBARB WINE

Shortly after four o'clock on Sunday afternoon a message was received at the police station that there was a party of men lying to the side of the road a short distance beyond the Arkell station in an intoxicated condition. A car was procured and several of the members of the police force motored out to the scene. They found two of the party lying in the ditch apparently dead to the world, and two others working around the truck, which was stuck in the mud, one of whom was also under the influence of liquor. The owner of the truck was Gus Strome. All five were arrested, the truck released and brought back to the city, and the five locked up. They were Haman George, Jim Truckle, James White, Harold White and Gus Strome. They appeared in police court, and although they each pleaded not guilty they were convicted and fined $10 and costs each, with the exception of Harold White, who was dismissed, as the officers said he could walk around and was able to assist them in gettin gthe truck out. The party said they got drunk on rhubarb wine.—Guelph Herald.

MATRIMONIAL WASTRELS

While frequently nowadays, short courtings are the rule, one has only to glance around at the number of one's acquaintances to notice that a surprisingly large number of young men appear to be in no hurry to put their heads into the matrimonial yoke. Whether their young lady friends are to blame for this situation, I know not, but certainly it would seem as if a decided hint ought to be handed out to these sluggards to either make the boll and get married, or else retire from the field for the girl's sake, and let her be free to enjoy other company before her freshness fades and she has to take what she can get—become an old maid.

Over in the old land, so I'm told, about the second or third time a young man takes a girl home father or mother takes him quietly aside and asks him just what his intentions are. If his intentions are matrimonial and there are no objections to him, he is allowed to keep on coming for a reasonable period, when he is expected to become formally engaged—or be told to go about his business by the girl. But should he be a time-waster, one of those fellows who seek the company of a girl merely to pass away the time—he is given the "g. b." right off the bat.

It may be pretty hard to apply old country methods to Canada, but from some observations I have been making I think it wouldn't be a bad idea if parents here were to enforce the rule in certain cases. Of course, I know that it isn't the nicest sort of thing to do, but neither has any young man the right to waste a girl's time unless he means business in the matrimonial line. If he does so, he has a right to be called up short, for while his chances are good always to pick up someone, unfortunately, it isn't so with the girls. Of course a young man should recognize the situation, but many of them don't, and it is these that ought to be protected from the matrimonial wastrels. Why the girls don't bring their young men to the proposing point is more than I can understand, for the most of them seem to have the power to do so, but that is their secret, I suppose.—Guelph Herald.

The hunters of the Badjeros and Maple Valley sections organized a three-day ground hog hunt. And there was sure a time of slaughter among the ground hogs, a total of six hundred and ninety-seven of them passing in their checks while the hunt was on.

Postmaster W. W. Trimble, of Flesherton, received a message that his brother, James, had passed away at Detroit, following a stroke. Mr. Trimble left on the afternoon train for Detroit. The deceased gentleman was born on a farm near Flesherton 69 years ago.

Dr. J. W. Marshall, of Owen Sound, was sentenced to seven days in jail by Magistrate Creasor for driving a car while in an intoxicated condition. An appeal was entered immediately by Mr. H. G. Tucker acting for Dr. Marshall and sentence was suspended pending the hearing of the appeal which will likely be heard next December.

CHIROPRACTIC

Is Your Greatest Friend

Thousands of people are finding full restoration to health in Chiropractic adjustments, and why should you not be equally successful. Science is always on the move, and none has made more rapid progress than the Science of Chiropractic and for no other reason than its success to combat disease and give relief to suffering humanity. Investigate its merits. Get your information first hand from your Chiropractor, then you get it correct. Others may be misleading. A few Adjustments will convince you that Chiropractic will correct the cause of your disease, and put you in possession of good, healthy conditions. If you are afflicted in any way, acute or chronic, visit your Chiropractor, have the cause removed and enjoy good health and happiness.

CANADA'S PROSPERITY

Through Us Or In Spite of Us?

When the war was on and this country was putting forth every effort, at home and overseas, to aid the allied cause, a great spirit of confidence and faith, of willingness to work, economize and sacrifice, filled every class of the community from the highest to the lowest.

As a result, Canada's honourable war record has set her high among the nations, with a place at the Imperial Council table and a voice in international affairs.

Canada must and will come, with equal honour, through the troublous times of post-war adjustment. The only question is, will all of us help—or some of us hinder, by pessimism, apathy, or class jealousy?

To the Canadian farmer this question comes with a peculiar force. Agriculture must be the economic balance wheel of this or any nation. It is an occupation where nature herself demands energy, courage, economy, and efficiency. These sturdy qualities radiate from our farms to industries in other walks of life, where so many leaders were country-born and bred.

The farm home and farm life as the source of what has been and is the strongest and truest in our national character is interwoven with the history of Canada from its infancy. The settlers on the shores of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, toiling to clear a patch of forest and sowing their grain among the stumps; Hebert and the pioneers of New France, fighting Indians, enduring privations, wresting merely a rude living from their small clearings, but full of faith in the future, if not for them, then for generations yet to come; the men who rescued Upper Canada from the wilderness; the Red River colonists, who, after two years of complete destruction of their crops, sent a party to the Mississippi for seed grain for the next year and won! These men made possible the Canada of to-day.

The farmers of Canada, then, have a rich history and a noble tradition to live up to. Upon them Canada's progress has always, in the main, depended; upon them it will always, in the main, depend.

What, then, is necessary for the farmers of to-day? Simply the application of those qualities we have referred to—energy, courage, economy and efficiency, and under present-day conditions the return is sure and speedy. A very high percentage of farms owned by farmers in this country have been acquired and paid for in the farmer's own lifetime. For the present and future generations there is exactly the same opportunity. True, with each generation, and perhaps oftener, we may have to change our type of crops to meet changing market requirements, but surely that is a trifling task compared with that of those who had to establish themselves in a new country, create their farm, their community, their markets, and their civilization.

During the war years, the farmer, like most others, became unreasonably optimistic. As in other industries, he over-capitalized, tied up too much money in extravagant buildings and expensive machinery, bought tractors to get the crops in more quickly and easily, without considering whether the actual earning power of these warranted the investment. With the depression, which has followed, this over-expansion has been a serious burden and has shaken the faith of some in ultimate success.

We must get back the indomitable courage and untiring effort of Canada's early days. The farmer must remember that in the last analysis he is infinitely better off than the wage-earner of the city. True, his cash income may sometimes be small but he can, at the very worst, gain his living from the soil, while in the city the larger wage soon melts away in paying for things which on the farm involves no cash outlay. The farm products are necessities of life and must always command a market. The products of city industries must often create their market and their sale is subject to wide fluctuations. Sure of a market, then, the farmers' main problem is simply the lowering of cost of production to permit of a fair margin of profit even at present prices. This can be done and is being done.

We may call attention to the advertisement placed in this issue by the Federal Department of Agriculture. It is more than an advertisement, it is a call to united and cheerful effort, a summons to the Canadian spirit of the "will to win" which has burned so brightly throughout Canada's history—a spirit which is so well shown in a message received in Ottawa only a few days ago from one of the foremost farmers of the Province of Alberta. He says: "It started to rain the last part of the week, and this coming after the recent heavy rains has put the soil in a condition that it has not been in at this time of the year since 1916; the farmers are consequently very jubilant and if optimism could pay debts the farmers of Southern Alberta could, by next fall, cancel our Natioinal Debt."

The DeLaval is the Most Perfect Skimming Device Ever Made

It is largely because of the scientifically designed patent-protected bowl that the De Laval Cream Separator skims cleaner, delivers better cream, requires less power and lasts longer. Discs divide the milk into thin layers so that more thorough separation is accomplished at lower speed. They also give the bowl greater capacity for its size than that of any other separator.

Low speed makes possible smoother cream with unbroken fat globules. It combines with a small bowl of large capacity to reduce wear and make less power necessary.

Milk is delivered into the De Laval bowl beyond the wall of separated cream so that there is no re-mixing of milk, cream and skim-milk. This also makes for more thorough separation and greater capacity, and it is one of the reasons why the De Laval separates cream at lower temperatures than any other. The De Laval also delivers a thicker cream with less loss of fat than any other. These are just a few of the features we would like to show you.

A MOTHER'S HEALTH NEEDS GREAT CARE

The woman at home, deep in household duties and the care of motherhood, needs occasional help to keep her in good health. The demands upon a mother's health are many and severe. Her own health trials and her children's welfare exact heavy tolls, while hurried meals broken rest and much indoor living tend to weaken her constitution. No wonder that the woman at home is often indisposed through weakness headaches, backaches and nervousness. Too many women have grown to accept these visitations as a part of the lot of motherhood. But many and varied as her health troubles are, the cause is simple and relief at hand. When well, it is the woman's good blood that keeps her well; when ill she must make her blood rich to renew her health. The nursing mother more than any other woman in the world needs rich blood and plenty of it. There is one way to get this good blood so necessary to perfect health, and this is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. W. T. Riley, R. R. No. 1, Apple Hill, Ont., has proved the great value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to mothers, and tells her story as follows:—"Two years ago, after the birth of my boy, I became very weak and run down. Gradually I lost weight and energy until I was unable to do my housework. I could not sleep, my nerves would twitch and jump so that I arose in the morning with heavy aching limbs and head. Indigestion helped to make the misery worse, and my heart would palpitate terribly. I doctored steadily for a year without getting better, but just dragged along feeling that I would never be well again. But one lucky day, on the advice of a friend, I began treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I have taken only six boxes, but I wish you could see the difference. I am now able to do my work, go about and enjoy myself. I feel so entirely like a new woman that I advise every weak or ailing woman to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I know they will get beneficial results."

If you are ailing, easily tired or depressed, it is a duty you owe yourself and your family to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. What this medicine has done for others it will surely do for you. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Our grateful thanks are tendered the ladies of the Blount Women's Institute for their acceptable gift of one dozen hematitched pillow slips.

The Daughters are very grateful to all who contributed so generously to the shower for the purpose of furnishing the new servery. Thanks are also returned for the cash contributions handed in at the hospital opening on Tuesday of last week.

ATHLETIC MEET

Dufferin County Boys Hold Successful Field Day at Grand Valley.

Under the auspices of the Dufferin Boys' County Council, the boys of the County of Dufferin held their first annual athletic meet on the Agricultural Grounds in Grand Valley on Wednesday afternoon, June 27th. There was keen competition in all the events, Percy Byers, Orangeville, winning the highest honors and J. Talbot coming second. Fred Wansbrough, of Grand Valley, B. Hastilow and Elgin Hall, of Bethel, and Arthur Henry and Jack Marshall, of Orangeville, were also in the race for the highest honors. The winners and events were as follows:

220 yards dash—1 Byers, 2 Talbot, 3 Marshall.

Running high jump—1 Byers, 2 Wansbrough, 3 Hall.

Standing broad jump—1 Byers, 2 Hall, 3 Hastilow.

Putting the shot, 8 lbs.—1 Byers, 2 Henry, 3 Hastilow.

440 yards dash—1 Byers, 2 Talbot, 3 Hastilow.

The judges were: Robert Fairbairn, Orangeville; Stewart H. Porter, Orangeville; Jack M. Aiken, Orangeville; W. Craig, Grand Valley; R. V. Russell, Grand Valley, and Mr. Burke, Grand Valley.

The success of the meet is due in no small measure to the good work done by Stewart H. Porter, of Orangeville, the bustling and enterprising Warden of Dufferin County's first Boys' Council.

CALEDON'S ANNUAL

Caledon Presbyterians will hold their 35th Annual Garden Party on the spacious grounds of Mr. Thos. Smith in Caledon Village on Thursday evening, July 12th. The Committee in charge has secured the services of Mr. James Fax, the inimitable humorous entertainer, and Mr. Duncan R. Cowan, known everywhere as the man, "who made Royalty smile." These popular artists will be assisted by Miss Thelma Oswin, a national dancer. Each of the entertainers will be accompanied by his own pianiste. The grounds will be specially lighted for the occasion and two refreshment booths will cater to the wants of the big crowd that is sure to attend the affair. Lunches will be served a la carte for 15c, 20c and 25c.

ORANGE SERVICE

Orangeville's two Orange Lodges, L. O. L. 635 and L. O. L. 427, will hold their annual Church Parade on Sunday next, July 8th. The brethren will meet at 635 hall at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and march to Alexandra Park, where they will be addressed by Brigadier Walton and Adjutant Snowden, of the Salvation Army headquarters staff in Toronto. The two speakers are members of the Orange Order in Toronto. Members of neighboring lodges are cordially invited to take part in the parade and service.

LACROSSE NOTES

Inglewood defeated Caledon in a Caledon-Erin Lacrosse League game by 6 to 1 on Caledon grounds on Tuesday afternoon and retain their place in second position. The winners still have a chince to tie with Erin, who are leading the league with five victories and no defeats.

The visitors were never seriously threatened. They scored twice in the first quarter, twice in the second and once in the third. The game was cleanly played and witnessed by a large crowd.

A keenly contested game was played in Alton on Tuesday, when Connor and the home team met in a Caledon-Erin Lacrosse League game. Connor won by 4 to 3, although they were one goal down in the last quarter. Alton blanked the visitors in the first quarter, counting twice themselves. The visitors evened up the score in the second quarter. Alton went out into the lead in the third session, but were held scoreless in the last, while the Adjala boys bulged the net for two Alton — Goal, Davidson; point Harrison; cover, E. Holloway; defence, A. Smith, B. Morris; centre M. Smith; home, McIntyre, E. Smith; outside, Myers; inside, Simpson.

The Globe says that Verral Dedrick, of the Torontos, is among the most reliable and consistent defence players in lacrosse ranks. Dedrick who is a son of Mr Wm. Dedrick was one of the mainstays of The Dufferin defence for several seasons.

MARRIED

HURD-WELLS—At the home of the bride's parents, William St., Orangeville, on Wednesday, June 27th, 1923, by Rev. H. L. Partridge, Frank Hurd, of Erin, to Eva Pearl daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. G. Wells.

DUFFERINS WON

The senior championship lacrosse match between The Dufferins and the Riversides attracted a large crowd to Idylwyld Park on the holiday. The visitors came to town without spares and short one of the regular team complement of twelve men, so that the game was played with eleven men a side. Dufferins won by 9 to 6, but barring the first quarter when they had things pretty much their own way, were forced to extend themselves to pull out a victory. The visitors treated the spectators to some real classy lacrosse and on Monday's performance against the greenshirts should win more games than they have.

Riversides got the ball on the face-off and pressed momentarily, but play was speedily transferred to the other end of the field, where Cruikshank shot but missed. Riversides got a chance at Firth a little later, but the Orangeville goalie made a nice save. Dufferins pressed hard and were rewarded when Blythe Brown drew first blood with a close-in shot. Sutherland stopped a fast one from Cruikshank, but Golden, who was coming in at top speed, picked up the ball on the rebound and scored. Golden got two more before the period ended, outfooting his check each time and shooting while going in on the run. Blythe Brown tallied another for The Dufferins shortly after the second period commenced. Play then veered in favor of the visitors, who ran in a couple of counters, F. McCurry getting one and Max McGregor the other. As a matter of fact the Riversides tallied three in a row, but one was disallowed as the shot was made from inside the crease. Blythe Brown tallied again for Oranageville and at halftime the greenshirts were leading by 6 to 2.

Riversides broke away again in the third, McGregor and Sullivan each netting the ball. With their lead cut to two goals and the visitors pressing persistently the Dufferin defence stiffened and the Riverside sharpshooters were given few chances except at long range. Brown and Gordon relieved the tension by a neat piece of combination play, the former netting the ball after Clyde had given him a well-timed pass Cruikshank jumped into the limelight by pulting off a smart bit of individual play that brought The Dufferins another counter. Early in the last frame Gordon got in position for a shot that looked like a sure counter, but Sutherland made a brilliant save. A little later McGregor beat Scott and scored for the Riversides. Hawken tallied for The Duffs and then McGregor, who had been playing brilliantly, took another for the visitors. Golden was hurt and had to retire, Silver Bennett keeping him company. Cruikshank was ruled off for accidentally fouling McGregor, but the game had only a few minutes to go and there was no more scoring.

The Dufferin home showed improvement over former games, the players working together and putting more system and team play into their game. The defence was good at times and at other times it seemed wide open, the Riverside home men going through with apparent ease. It may be that the lapses were due to over-confidence, but they might easily be fatal in a close game. At its best the defence is much stronger than in 1922, but one or two of the players are capable of doing much better work than they showed on Monday. Some of the players showed lack of condition and plenty of good, hard practice is still needed before the team will be at its best. This criticism is made in a kindly spirit, for the team is undoubtedly one of the strongest that has ever worn the green and white and should give a good account of itself against the best in the series. Players and officials were:—

Riversides — Goal, Sutherland; point, Gore; coverpoint, G. Robinson; defence, A. Pherrill, S. Bennett; centre, F. McCurry; home, M. McCurry, J. Sullivan, Jack Walsh; outside, Max McGregor; inside, H. Gallaugher.

THE HALTON VOTE

Returns from Halton county show that every township in the riding gave former Premier Drury a substantial majority. In the four townships the U. F. O. Premier had a total majority of 1,203. T.. however, was not sufficient to overcome the adverse majorities in the towns of Oakville, Burlington Georgetown, Acton and Milton, which rolled up almost 2000 of a majority for Hillmer, the Conservative candidate. DODS TEAM WON

On Saturday afternoon the Hockley lacrosse team journeyed to town and played the Dods Knitting Co. team in the second round of the Dufferin League. The D. K. C. team scored one goal in each of the first three quarters, holding their opponents scoreless in the meantime. In the last period the visitors scored twice and the home team once, making the final score 4 to 2 in favor of the Dods Co. team. Sanderson played an excellent game in goal for the winners and all the other players worked well. Brawley accounted for two of their goals and Bradley and Black scored one apiece. McKelvey and Parker did the tallying for the visitors. Players and positions were:—

PRESENTATION TO TEACHER

Just before the school closed for the summer vacation the pupils of S. S. No. 18, Caledon, presented their teacher, Miss Bell, who has resigned and is leaving the school for good, with a beautiful mirror and the following appreciative address:—

Dear Miss Bell,—

We, the pupils of S. S No. 18, Caledon, have assembled here this afternoon to express in some slight measure our deep regret at your departure from our midst.

During the years that you have been with us you have performed your duties as teacher faithfully and efficiently. Socially you have assisted our community materially; and as a personal friend of pupils and parents you will be much missed.

We ask you to accept this mirror as a slight token of our esteem and love for you, and in the years to come as it reflects your own vision may it reflect pleasant memories of the time spent among the hills of Caledon.

Signed on behalf of the Section,
GRACE SPEERS,
EDITH SPEERS.

The address was read by Grace Speers and the presentation was made by Edith Speers. Miss Bell made a feeling reply, expressing her hearty thanks for the kindly gift from her pupils and their good wishes and the regret she felt at leaving the section and community.

CENSURE FOR BULLOCK

The following resolution, which our readers will find self-explanatory, reached The Banner on Monday's mail:—

"In view of the false statement recently made by the Worshipful P. C. M., T. H. Bullock, against our brother Orangeman, T. K. Slack, and placed at the disposal of Mr. C. R. McKeown for political purposes and believing as we do in the sanctity of the Orange obligation, in which we are directly bound to not harm our brother nor see him harmed, and that we speak the truth, and above all because of his exalted office, namely County Master, the awful stigma that will rest upon our Order, the principles of which we are proud of;

"Be it resolved that we, the members of L. O. L. 1099, view with horror and amazement the action of T. H. Bullock, and because of such action we believe our beloved Order will suffer irreparable loss;

"And be it further resolved that we invite our sister Lodges to join in condemning such action and prove that we do not tolerate such falsehood in our membership, much less with those who hold such an exalted office as County Master;

"Also be it resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to the County Master, The Sentinel and the county papers."

Thos. D. Fennell,
Worshipful Master.
J. E. Spence,
Secretary pro tempore.

MRS. ROBT. WALLER

Mrs. Robt. Waller, of town, passed away to her long rest Wednesday last, June 20th, after an illness of about seven years' duration, from cancer of the stomach. Her long and painful illness was borne with great fortitude and uncomplainingly, and death came to her as a friend.

Mrs. Waller was born in the township of Darlington, near Bowmanville, and came to Artemesia with her parents, the late Thomas Osborne and wife, when only one year of age, which makes her one of the few very old pioneers left, in fact we know of no one now living who preceded her to this district, where she arrived in 1853. Her parents settled on the east back line on the farm later purchased by Mr. Johnson Cullen. In later years they moved to Flesherton. Her father died here about thirty years ago. In 1876 the deceased lady married Mr. Robt. Waller, who mourns her departure in common with two daughters and one son—Lizzie (Mrs. J.A. McFadden), who has cared for her mother here during her long illness; Annie (Mrs. R. McFadden), of Mono Centre, and Geo., who lives on the homestead, west back line.

Mrs. Waller was a woman of deep religious convictions, her father being a local preacher in the early days of Methodism here, and she was closely identified with all the church organizations, including the Women's Missionary Society, until illness prevented. She was a woman of many sterling qualities and her departure is sincerely mourned.

The funeral took place Friday afternoon to Flesherton Cemetery, when Rev. Bowes, of Markdale, conducted the service in the church. The pallbearers were John Wright, Jas. Field, Thomas Clayton, John Heard, Mark Stewart and John Stewart, all of whom had known her since childhood.—Flesherton Advance.

MONO MILLS

The garden party in connection with the Union Sunday School met with good success again this year. The heavy rain which fell about noon certainly threw a scare into the Union Camp, but on towards evening the weather was all that could be desired and it soon became evident that last year's big record was going to be far surpassed. The committee gave all that the advance notices called for and a little more and appreciate fully the splendid patronage they received. The proceeds amounted to close on $300.

We are very sorry to note that a little six-year-old boy of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Murray, who was quite well-known here, died suddenly last week from diphtheria at their home in Toronto.

Miss Mildred Hanna, of Orangeville, who has been enaged as teacher in the school here, has resigned and we understand intends taking a trip West. She has been very successful in her work and we are sorry to lose her services. Miss Ruth Englehart, of Bronte, has been engaged in her place.

Miss Kathleen Potter, who has been attending West Toronto Collegiate, has been successful in passing her junior examination at the Conservatory of Music.

Mrs. R. B. Lee and children are visiting friends in Toronto.

Mr. Wm. Jackson is spending a few days with his daughter, Mrs. Geo. Holdsworth, of Cobourg.

Among those who are holidaying here we have noticed Mr. and Mrs. Fred Charles and children, Miss Smith and Mr. Calvin Lewis, Miss Ursula Matheson, Misses Maggie and Annie Harvey, and Mrs. Flynn, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mills, of Alliston, and Miss Irene Acheson, of Southampton.

Mr. James Arlow has the cement foundation of his new barn completed. Our local contractors, Messrs. James Taylor and Richard Lyness, are putting up the frame work.

One of the finest barns in Adjala was raised last week on the farm of Mrs. Wm. Leggett, of Connor, who had the misfortune to have her barn destroyed by fire last fall. The frame is 66 by 68 with four run of purlines and a double hip roof, and will be roofed and sided with corrugated iron. Mr. John Willerton, of Glencross, has the contract and is doing a first-class job.

The annual picnic to Stanley Park, Erin, of the Union Sunday School was held on Saturday last. Over two hundred were there and spent a very pleasant day indeed. A very interesting feature of the afternoon was a lacrosse match between the Mono Mills Juniors and a team from Erin. Our boys won out by the rather one-sided score of 11 to 1. No doubt this was partly due to the fact that the regular Erin team were not all available and a number of subs were used. Our boys are certainly capable of putting up a mighty good game. Their accurate passing and combination on the scoring end of the team looks nearly as good as some of the senior league stuff we have seen.

Rev. R. G. Davidson has taken up the work in the Methodist Circuit here. We welcome him and wish him every success.

Four pupils from the school here—Maggie and Ina Adair, Gladys Arlow and Gordon McCandless—wrote on their entrance examination in Caledon last week.

The members of L. O. L. No. 192 and the Lady True Blues will attend divine service in the Anglican Church at 7 o'clock next Sunday evening. A cordial invitation is extended to members of neighboring lodges to join in the service.

ALTON

The members of Alton L. O. L. 770 will meet for divine service in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday, July 8th, at 7 o'clock in the evening. The service will be conducted by Rev. T. W. Mills, of Caledon.

TORONTO MAN SPEAKS HIGHLY OF DRECO

Mr. Harry Hipkiss Finds Relief in Dreco When Other Medicines Fail. Now Has Splendid Appetite.

Mr. Hipkiss, of 2090 Dundas St. West, Toronto, had suffered for a long time from a run-down digestive system. It simply would not function properly until toned and regulated by the corrective properties of Dreco, the famous herbal remedy.

"My stomach caused all sorts of trouble," says Mr. Hipkiss. "My food wouldn't digest and everything seemed to sour. My liver was sluggish and I would get bilious and have dizzy spells. My joints ached with pain from rheumatism. My bowels never acted regular, and I didn't sleep well at night. My appetite was very poor, but now I can eat almost anything without suffering afterwards. I am certainly glad I heard of Dreco, for it has done away with my troubles. It seemed to hit the spot when everything else failed."

Sluggish action of the organs can be charged with causing suffering such as Mr. Hipkiss describes. Poor digestion causes a weakening of the other organs and speedily takes a toll on the general health. Dreco is made from roots, herbs, bark and leaves, which tone up these vital organs. It keeps them strong and healthy and acting as Nature intended.

Dreco is especially valuable at this season of the year to tone up a system run down by the rigors of winter. It contains no mercury, potash or habit-forming drugs.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Orangeville by R. Fairbairn, and is sold by a good druggist everywhere.

MOUNT ZION

The annual Garden Party under the auspices of Mount Zion S. S. will be held on the Orange Hall grounds at Violet Hill on Friday evening, July 6th. There will be a baseball tournament between Rocktown, Rosemont and Violet Hill teams, commencing at 5.30 o'clock; also sports for the children. Tea will be served from 5 to 7. Programme will begin at 8 o'clock and will include music by Mr. Fife's orchestra, singing by a Quartette from the Shelburne Methodist S. S., solos by Mr. John Stoddart, speeches and recitations. Refreshments will be served at a booth on the grounds. Admission, 40c. and 20c. Rev. C. H. Forth, chairman.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

A large number of the members of the Orangeville Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. T. G. Legate last Thursday afternoon, where they enjoyed a real literary treat. Miss Rheta Gray, B. A., of Toronto, gave an instructive and comprehensive address on the Reconstruction of the European Powers. Miss Ruth Coulter gave a recitation and Mrs. (Dr.) Bowles and Miss Alice McGuire contributed musical selections.

MRS. JOHN PRATT

In last week's issue we briefly noted the death at Laurel on Sunday, June 24th, of Mrs. Alice C. Pratt, beloved wife of John Pratt, at the age of 47 years. Deceased, who was married only two years ago, had been ill for the last year, or longer from dropsy brought on by a severe illness from the flu. The late Mrs. Pratt, who was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. Johnston, was born and had spent her lifetime in the Laurel neighborhood where she was widely known and held in genuine respect by everybody. She is survived by her husband, her aged mother, now in her 83rd year, who made her home with her daughter, and six brothers, William, James, John and George Johnston, of Amaranth, Thos. Johnston, of Chatham, and Edward C. Johnston, of Caledon. The late Mrs. Pratt was a consistent and faithful member of Bell Presbyterian Church at Laurel. There was a large attendance of neighbors and friends at the funeral, which was held from her late residence to Greenwood Cemetery on Tuesday afternoon, June 26th. The services were conducted by a former pastor, Rev. J. R. Bell, of Toronto, assisted by Rev. W. W. Rackham, pastor of the Laurel Methodist Church. The pallbearers were the six brothers.

THOMAS GLASSFORD

Thomas Glassford, one of the oldest citizens of the County of Peel, passed away at his home, lot 23, 2nd line, east, Caledon, on Tuesday June 26th, at the ripe age of 82 years and 8 months. Deceased was a life-long resident of the north of Caledon, having first seen the light of day on lot 18, 2nd line, east, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Glassford, who were among the pioneer settlers of the township, resided for many years. After his marriage to Miss Sarah Faulkner about fifty years ago the subject of our sketch settled on lot 23, 2nd line, east, where he resided continuously until his death. Few men in the community were held in such general esteem as a neighbor and citizen as the late Mr. Glassford. A man of sterling character and the strictest honesty he enjoyed the regard and confidence of the entire neighborhood. He was a staunch and faithful member of Knox Presbyterian Church, where he had filled the office of elder for a great many years. He was one of the oldest, if not actually the oldest member of Warnock L. O. L. 250, Caledon. In politics he was a pronounced Conservative, but a man of independent thinking, who considered public questions and issues on their merits. For seven years he filled the responsible offices of assessor and collector of taxes for the township of Caledon. Mrs. Glassford died some twenty years ago and the late Mr. Glassford is survived by two sons, Wm. E. and T. C. Glassford and one daughter, Mrs. E. E. Wilson, all of Caledon. George Glassford, of Caledon, is the only brother now living and Mrs. Thos. Russell, of Toronto, is the only surviving sister. The esteem in which the departed man was held was evidenced by the large funeral on Thursday afternoon last. Interment took place in Caledon cemetery, Rev. J. A. Matheson, of Mono Mills, and Rev. T. W. Mills, of Caledon, conducting the services at the house and grave. The remains were given burial with full Orange honours, the members of Warnock L. O. L. 250 and a number of brethren from neighboring lodges attending the funeral in regalia. The pallbearers, who were members of Warnock Lodge, were Bros. G. VanWyck, W. J. and John Warnock, Jos. Nesbitt, M. C. Hillock and Homer Hillyard. W. Bro. H. Hillyard, Past Master of Warnock Lodge, and W. Bro. W. J. Warnock read the impressive services of the Orange Order over the open grave.

MRS. W. W. WARNOCK

Mrs. W. W. Warnock passed away on Monday morning following an operation, much to the sorrow and regret of her many friends. For some years her health has been poorly and she underwent a previous operation for temporary relief, it being hoped that this one would be entirely successful. It is only a few months since her husband died. Mrs. Warnock was an English woman, of many fine qualities, and took a deep interest in Institute and Church work. The funeral took place on Tuesday to the Union Cemetery, service being conducted in Knox Church.—Star & Vidette.

PROF. MEM-O-REA

Professor Mem-O-Rea, a clever and versatile mind reader, has been the big attraction at The Gem Theatre this week and is drawing large houses. The Professor has aroused more than ordinary interest by his remarkable feats in mind reading. His answers on business affairs, domestic matters, sickness and many other topics of interest to people in the course of their everyday life have proved remarkably close to the truth and have aroused much speculation on the part of patrons of the theatre. The Professor is assisted nightly by Miss Rita Johnstone, a clever dancer, whose repertoire includes hornpipes, Irish and Scotch dances, etc. The artists will be here for the rest of this week and their performance with the air of mystery attending the work of Professor Mem-O-Rea, is sure to attract large houses every night.

PHILLIPS-DURKIN

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Durkin, of Bowling Green, on Wednesday, June 20th, at 2 p.m., when their daughter, Muriel, was married to Mr. Alfred Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Phillips, Laurel, Ont. Rev. Judson Truax, of Grand Valley, conducted the ceremony. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a beautiful dress of blue canton crepe and corsage bouquet of sweetheart roses and lily of the valley. Miss Mildred Durkin attended the bride, while the groom was supported by Mr. Ernest Neville, of Toronto. After a short honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Phillips will return and live on the groom's farm at Laurel, Ont.

WOODS-ELGIE

A very pretty June wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Elgie, of Camilla, at 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, June 27, when their youngest daughter Mabel Irene, became the bride of William Thomas Jackson Woods, son of Mr. William Woods, of Port Credit. The Rev. W. H. Hartley, of Shelburne, pastor of the bride, officiated, the ceremony taking place on the lawn under an arch of evergreens and white wedding bells. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a dress of white messaline satin draped with lace. Her veil of embroidered tulle was crowned with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and maidenhair fern. Miss Edith Jackson acted as bridesmaid, wearing a gown of coral French pongee and carried a bouquet of carnations. Little Edith Greason made a sweet flower girl, dressed in white silk and carrying a quaint little basket of pink and white roses. Mr. Herbert Elgie, brother of the bride, was best man. The Lohengrin wedding march was played by Miss Marjorie Greason, cousin of the bride. After the ceremony a magnificent wedding repast was served in the dining room under the supervision of four girl friends of the bride. The tables were prettily decorated with white peonies. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl sunburst, to the bridesmaid a bar pin with a diamond setting, to the flower girl and organist little gold bar pins, and to the groomsman gold cuff links. The happy couple left later in the evening amid showers of confetti for a trip to Toronto, Niagara and Port Credit, carrying with them the good wishes of their many friends. The bride wore a travelling dress of French blue canton, and velour coat and a small white hat. The young couple received many beautiful and useful gifts. Their many friends unite in wishing them health, prosperity and happiness.

BOWLING GREEN

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Durkin when the Ladies' Aid and Women's Institute united with the people of the community to present Miss Muriel Durkin with a miscellaneous shower. The Institute, in which she has been a willing and capable member for a number of years, gave her a beautiful wicker fernery. A number of friends joined in giving her many pretty and useful gifts. The church, of which she has been organist, presented her with a handsome wicker chair. Mrs. Roy Smith read the address and the presentation was made by Miss Vera Johnston. Miss Durkin replied in a brief but happy strain. Lunch was served and all retired home wishing the bride-to-be much happiness. The address read as follows:—

Miss Muriel Durkin,—

We, your friends of the Bowling Green Methodist Church, find it impossible to let this occasion pass without, in some way, showing our esteem. We have met here to-night to express our appreciation of your services as organist of our church. We have always found you genial, courteous, willing and a cheerful helper, and we know your services will be missed to a great extent in this community. You will also be missed for your kind and pleasant manners.

Showing you this respect we would ask you to accept this chair, not as a reward, but in the hope that it may help you to remember your friends at Bowling Green. We take this opportunity of wishing you future happiness and prosperity.

CERTO (Surejell)

How to Make Red or Black Currant Jelly

Crush well about 3½ lbs. ripe fruit. Add 1 cup water, stir until boiling, cover pan and simmer 10 minutes. Place in jelly bag and squeeze out juice. Measure 4½ cups juice into large saucepan. Measure 7½ level cups (3¼ lbs.) sugar in separate pan. Bring juice just to boil, and begin to add sugar slowly, with constant stirring, taking about 5 minutes to add sugar, keeping juice nearly at boil. Then bring to boil, and at once add ½ bottle (scant ½ cup) Certo, stirring constantly, and bring again to a full boil, for ½ minute. Remove from fire, let stand 1 minute, skim and pour quickly.

LUCKY CHARMS

Most sensible people have gone far past the stage of believing in luck or charms. It is decidedly curious, therefore, to find athletic and other sportsmen in Great Britain attributing success to their possession of charms. Probably it proves that professional players do not come of a very high or mentally capable class.

It is stated out recently that the Rosenborg of the "surprise" football team in the British season, the Celtic Athletic, ascribe their success to their mascot, a baby girl. The team takes the field, each one touches the child's hand, and the captain caresses her head with the ball.

Tottenham Hotspurs have for their mascot a small boy. Wearing the club colors, he accompanies the team everywhere. Huddersfield Town possess an Alladdin's lamp as a charm against reverses, while Preston North End have faith in the luck-bringing powers of a wishbone.

The Guy's Hospital Rugby team carry with them to all their matches an ancient milk-can, which is supposed to radiate influences in the club's favor.

The Oxford rowing eight had for their mascot a sheep-dog, while the hopes of Cambridge were centred in an outsize in polliwogs.

Perhaps in no branch of sport is superstition more rife than in the boxing ring. Boxers are strangely emotional, and in some instances are given to shedding tears over much less important matters than defeat.

On one occasion Pedlar Palmer was reduced to abject misery by the loss of a certain pair of knickers which he always wore when fighting. Bob Fitzsimmons pinned his faith to horseshoes, especially those forged by himself. Broadribb, the first man to defeat Carpentier, always carried a Prayer Book in a bag, while Carpentier himself will on no account change beds the night before a fight.

In this he is no less adamant than Joe Beckett, who would rather run almost any risk than flout this old superstition.

THE INHABITANTS OF THE ZOO LIKE CATNIP

The tigers and the puma scornfully refused to notice the herb when it was presented to them by the keeper, but the lion, the lioness and the big leopard were boisterous in their manifestations of pleasure.

The lion planted a foot upon it, smelled it, licked it, sprawled upon it, and tossed it about in ways unbecoming to his kingly dignity. The leopard picked it up in her huge paws, took long and ecstatic sniffs, and rolled over and over upon it in the exuberance of her delight. In her efforts to apply it to the upper part of her head, she performed acrobatic feats of an astonishing kind.

From this experiment the investigator was satisfied that love of catnip is not confined to the domestic branch of the cat family.

The Sales Manager's Mid-week Chat

by Long Distance

The enthusiasm generated on Saturdays seems to die down around mid-week.

The Saturday morning sales conference is a real "get together" meeting and when the Chief speaks his voice is the voice that makes them want to do better. He talks as one who knows. When their enthusiasm dies down around mid-week Johnson knows the need for revival. His three minute chat with each of the boys on the road works wonders. Perhaps he got the idea from the Church's mid-week meetings.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY GIFT

It Was a Cartload of Roses.

By F. A. MITCHEL

The map of that part of Europe in which began the great European war has been changing ever since it was a part of ancient Gaul. Centuries ago there was a kingdom composed largely of what is now Flanders. The capital was probably Ghent, though the time of my story is so remote that one cannot be sure about this. The country was then governed by a queen who had the same name as the present ruler of Holland—Wilhelmina.

One day a farmer living on the outskirts of the capital said to his son, a strapping young man just come of age:

"Hans, I wish you to take into town a cartload of flowers. I learn that tomorrow is the queen's birthday, and there will be a great demand for the flowers on the part of courtiers to bestow upon her majesty. I hear she is both young and beautiful and that she will take a husband from one of her own subjects. Therefore many gallants will wish to bestow gifts upon her, and there is no gift that will so touch a woman's heart as flowers."

Hans obeyed his father. Going out to the barn, he harnessed a mule to a cart and then drove it into the garden. It was the month of June, and there were many roses in bud and in bloom. Hans loved the roses better than any other flower and put so many in the cart that there was no room for any other flowers. However, he knew that roses brought the best price, so he concluded to leave the load as it was. Then going to his room he put on the clothes he usually wore to the city, a doublet of dark blue and hose to match. Then girding on his sword—every one wore a sword in those days—he mounted his cart and drove the mule toward the capital.

Hans had no sooner reached the outskirts of the city than he met a young man in a very brilliant costume and with feathers in his hat and other marks of being a noble. Seeing the roses in the cart, his eyes lighted with pleasure.

"How much for your roses?" he asked Hans.

"They are not for sale at present," replied the countryman. "If they are wanted here they will bring a better price when I approach the palace, for this is the queen's birthday, and there will be many gallants wanting flowers for gifts to her majesty."

The man abused Hans for a country bumpkin, but Hans drove on, paying no attention to him. Hans was stopped many times by courtiers, sometimes men, sometimes women, and received many offers for his load, but he drove on, always saying, "If you are willing to give so much here what will I be offered when I reach the market place in the center of the city?"

Finally he stopped his mule at the palace gates and was about to drive into the courtyard when he was stopped by a sentry.

"I have a gift for her majesty Queen Wilhelmina," said Hans. "Let me pass."

The chamberlain happened to be looking out of a window at the time and, seeing a cartload of roses below, bethought himself that there was a fine opportunity to buy flowers with which to decorate the throne room, in which his royal mistress would that day receive her birthday congratulations. Running down and out, he said to Hans:

"How much for your roses, my man?"

"They are not for sale."

"But you must sell them. I wish to buy them for the queen. I will give you a thousand florins for them."

The chamberlain looked at Hans as if he thought him daft.

"Come, come," he said coaxingly. "Don't be a fool. The queen will not accept a gift from such as you. But she must have your roses. So many are not to be had elsewhere. Drive them into the courtyard, and I will pay you."

"I will drive them into the courtyard, but only as a gift for her majesty," replied Hans.

"We will see about that," cried the chamberlain angrily, and, taking the mule by the bridle, he led him through the gateway into the court and stopped before a door of the palace. Then he went inside to summon servants to carry in the roses while he obtained the money to pay for them. He returned, leading half a dozen lackeys with baskets, and he held in his hands a bag containing a thousand florins. He found Hans standing before his cart with folded arms.

"Get out of my way," said the chamberlain.

"If you touch one of the flowers," said Hans, drawing his sword, "I will make a hole in you."

"Treason!" cried the chamberlain. "Guards!"

A dozen soldiers came running to the scene. The queen, hearing the words "Treason!" and "Guards!" and fearing a plot or a revolution, put her head out through an upper window and asked to know what was the matter.

"This countryman," said the chamberlain, "refuses to sell me roses, which I wish to decorate the throne room for your majesty's reception today."

"Perhaps you have not offered him enough for them," said the queen.

"I have offered him a thousand florins."

"That surely should be sufficient. Why will you not sell me your roses, my good man?"

"Because I have brought them for a birthday gift for your majesty."

"A birthday gift!" exclaimed the queen, surprised.

"I have told him," put in the chamberlain, "that your majesty would not accept a gift from such as he."

The queen looked down on the scene below for a few moments without speaking. "The fellow," she said to herself, "has some boon which he wishes in return for his gift." Aloud she said:

"I will accept your roses. Is there anything I can do for you to show my appreciation for your offering?"

"None, your majesty."

The queen was taken aback at this, but since she had given her royal acceptance of the gift she could not take it back. So she thanked Hans, and the lackeys carried in the roses, and Hans drove away, the courtiers and others who had collected laughing in their sleeves at him.

Hans drove back to the farm, where his father, seeing the cart empty, asked him how much he had received for the roses.

Hans told his father what had occurred. The old man was much pleased until his son told him that when the queen asked him what she could do for him he had said "nothing." Then the father abused him for a fool. But Hans replied that if showing one's loyalty to one's sovereign were being a fool then he was glad to be one.

Queen Wilhelmina waited a month before taking any further action in the matter of her gift of roses, then made inquiries as to whether Hans had sent in any request for a favor of any kind. When she was told that he had not she thought a great deal about Hans and what she should do in the matter. She considered it beneath the dignity of a queen to accept a gift from a subject, certainly not one of lowly origin. She sent for him, and when he appeared she said to him:

"I have need for your services. I am going to try you in the diplomatic service. There is a boundary dispute between me and King Carl, whose dominions adjoin mine on the east. My prime minister will instruct you as to the matter, after which I wish you to proceed to King Carl and make as good a settlement as you can."

"But, your majesty," Hans stammered, "I am but a countryman, unskilled in"—

"Something tells me," the queen interrupted, "that what others have learned by study and experience you know intuitively. This is not a request, but a command. Go and on your return report to me what you have done. My chamberlain will provide you with the necessary funds."

Hans after acquainting himself with the case he was to handle, dressed in proper apparel, went at the head of an embassy to King Carl, and, being closeted with him, the king steeled himself against the ambassador as he had against others. But Hans began at once to gain his confidence. He learned from the king on what he had set his heart and relinquished all claim to it. This enabled him to get what the queen wanted. The result was that he made a very satisfactory agreement. When he returned and reported what he had done the queen was very much pleased. She created him a noble and placed him at the head of all her diplomats.

Hans, after acquainting himself with sent his father a thousand florins, the amount he had been offered for the roses, and the old man, who had heard of his son's preferment, about which every one was talking, wondered how such a fool had been able to achieve such honors so far beyond his station.

Hans grew continually in influence. Those were warlike times, and ambassadors had tried to gain their ends by threatening war, and if they did not try threats they resorted to chicanery. Hans' plan was always the one he had tried with King Carl. He sought to discover what was for the best interests of both parties and when he had done so to convince the sovereign with whom he dealt of the fact. In this way he achieved a reputation for statecraft which was really nothing but common sense and a liberality which in the end resulted in his sovereign's profit.

One day Queen Wilhelmina asked Hans what she could do for him beyond what she had done to repay him for the valuable services he had rendered her in preventing war.

"Permit me," replied Hans, "on your next birthday to send you a cartload of roses."

When Queen Wilhelmina was assured that Hans would name no other favor she granted it, and on the anniversary of the day that he had made the first gift he made another, only this time the cart was driven by one of his servants. When Hans went to the palace to offer his congratulations, instead, as before, of being informed by the chamberlain that the queen would not accept a gift from such as he, that functionary announced to him that her majesty had decided that a proposition of marriage from him would be agreeable to her.

There was much debate among the queen's subjects who knew the story of Hans' birthday gift whether he made it simply as an act of homage to a sovereign or whether he aspired to her heart and hand. But no one except Hans knew that, and he never told.

Nerves So Bad That She Would Sit and Cry

Mrs. Mary Hocking, Madoc, Ont., writes:—

"Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done me a wonderful lot of good. I suffered from general weakness and was so run down and my heart and nerves were in such bad shape that I would sit down and cry and not know what I was crying about. I also used to have weak spells. Thanks to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, however, I am real well now. I shall always keep a box of the Nerve Food in the house, and recommend them to my friends; they are a wonderful medicine."

(Mr. J. W. Vince, Druggist, of Madoc, Ont., says: "I have sold Mrs. Hocking your Nerve Food, and the medicine has done her much good.")

YOUNG DAUGHTER MADE WELL

Mother Tells How Her Daughter Suffered and Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vancouver, B.C.—"My daughter is a young girl who has been having severe pains and weak and dizzy feelings for some time and had lost her appetite. Through an older daughter who had heard of a woman who was taking it for the same trouble, we were told of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My daughter has been taking it for several months and is quite all right now. It has done all it was represented to do and we have told a number of friends about it. I am never without a bottle of it in the house, for I myself take it for that weak, tired, worn-out feeling which sometimes comes to us all. I find it is building me up and I strongly recommend it to women who are suffering as I and my daughter have."—Mrs. J. McDONALD, 2947 26th Ave. East, Vancouver, B. C.

From the age of twelve a girl needs all the care a thoughtful mother can give. Many a woman has suffered years of pain and misery—the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance of the mother who should have guided her during this time. If she complains of headaches, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, make life easier for her.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for such conditions. C

HIGHEST BUILDING IN THE UNITED STATES

The highest dwelling in the United States is now claimed by Mount Rainier, in Washington. The structure, a novel stone house, erected by the United States Government to provide shelter for mountaineers overtaken by storms, is on the south side of Mt. Rainier, ten thousand feet above sea level. It is on a sand and pumice stone ridge at the base of Gibraltar Rock, a landmark of the section. Built of massive stones gathered on the site, the shelter resembles in architectural design the square Indian dwellings of the Southwest. It houses twenty-five persons, is equipped with steel bunks, with mattresses and springs, stretchers, emergency food rations, stoves and fuel oil, and first aid kits. It cost $2,500 to build. While this Mt. Rainier residence may be the highest in the United States, it is still far from the world's altitude record for residential improvements. A house situated on the summit of Donkia Pass, in the North of Sikkim, Thibet, occupied by Thibetan guards is located some eighteen thousand feet above the sea level. It is said to be the highest inhabited dwelling in the world. Peruvian shepherds occupy a hut on the Andes at a height of seventeen thousand feet.

Mrs. J. Truax, of Grand Valley, was the recipient of a life-membership pin and a silk umbrella from the W.M.S. of the Grand Valley Methodist Church.

FOREST GIANTS FELLED

Giants they were rearing proud heads sixty, seventy or a hundred feet toward the sky.

But a mighty power came sweeping through the Credit Valley on the wings of Monday night's storm, and in a moment the structures that nature had builded through long decades, lay prone upon the ground, their crowns of oak and birch and maple foliage, low among woodland weeds.

No soft Delilah wind it was through which these Samsons of the Credit were thus brought low. "Tornado" is what the townspeople call it and the farmers who received heavy visitation of greater sorrow and loss than that of trees could give, bestow the same name.

Among those who suffered most are C. E. Cotton, who owns the 50 acre "Longford Farm," lying a mile north of Port Credit, and of Jas. Craigie, opposite, on the Centre Road.

Woodland Battle

Like a section of a huge woodland battlefield was part of Mr. Craigie's farm, little more than a hundred yards from his house. A row of long grey trunks of pine trees, averaging sixty feet in length, lay stretched side by side, with here and there a jagged edge of white showing where the Storm King had broken the tree. At the outer edge of the field of destruction two maples whose roots were intertwined had fallen together, the mass of sticky brown earth upturned at their base forming a menacing screen twelve or fifteen feet broad and ten feet high. Further down in the fruit orchard, some of the cherry trees had been snapped completely off, the soft earth where they had stood being carpeted with the little half-formed green cherries. Between 25 and 50 fruit trees, all well-laden, went here, and 157 trees went down in a strip of bush 400 yards long and 40 feet wide.

Didn't Respect Oak

"It must have taken that oak nearly a hundred years to grow," observed Mr. Cotton, as he stood looking down on a fallen monarch. You can see what the strength of the wind must have been when it would uproot an oak of that size. The roots of the oak go down very deep, and in many cases the storm has snapped the trees off instead of uprooting them. Most of the pine trees have been uprooted. Two beautiful trees, a white birch and a straight pine, lay side by side.

"It is strange what queer freaks the wind played during the tornado" Mr. Cotton remarked, glancing across the field to where a small shack, flimsily built of light boards, stood intact. "That little building, put up for strawberry pickers, was left quite unharmed, but just beside it a fine apple tree that bore bushels of fruit was split in two."

On Mr. Cotton's farm, about 300 trees, chiefly pine, white birch, oak and maple, and also fruit trees, were levelled.

No Mills to Saw Wood

At the home of Mrs. H. Allan, Stevebank Road, three fine Lombardy wood poplars were uprooted and just beside them a catalpa tree was split down through the centre, and a huge spruce bent over, with the ground about it heaved up as if by an earthquake.

At the base the boles of all the trees blown down averaged three and a half feet through, some of them more.

In the old days, say in 1845, when there were 21 saw-mills in the township, this amount of wood would soon have been converted into lumber. Nowadays there seems to be no trace even of the old mills, though remains of "Quance's Mill" may be seen at Clarkson, two miles or more from the farms mentioned. —Evening Telegram.

PARROT FISH

The Parrot Fish, which is found in the warm waters of the Mediterranean Sea, is one of the most curious creatures known. It has a beak resembling that of a parrot, cheek-pouches similar to those of a monkey, and it chews a cud like a cow. Its favorite food is the seaweed and other aquatic plants that grow on the floor of the Mediterranean. With its beak, formed by a hardening of the points of the upper and lower jaws, it snips off portions of the plants. These are passed back and stowed away in the cheek-pouches. When enough has been accummulated for a meal the fish quits browsing and begins leisurely to chew the weeds, for all the world like a cow. Unlike the cow, however, it has no teeth in its jaws; instead they are set back in the throat. This appears to be no disadvantage, for they serve their intended purpose admirably.

Our Provinces by the Sea

Few countries in the world offer a greater variety of scenery or better travelling facilities than the Dominion of Canada. Canadians, if for no other reason than the improvement of their general education, should see and know Canada first, while the globe-trotter will also find much to interest him. Varied and easily accessible are the diversions for the summer tourist in the Maritime Provinces: New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. Here one gets the salt tang of the sea as well as the scene of mountains, moor and lake. The climate is ideal. Every opportunity for boating, bathing and fishing is afforded. Golf is a popular sport and good hotel accommodation is plentiful.

The rugged south shore of Nova Scotia offers a choice between fashionable sea-side resorts and quiet little fishing villages. The Bras d'Or Lakes of Cape Breton are almost an exact replica of the famous English Lake District.

Prince Edward Island is an idyllic garden where the best of surf bathing, boating and fishing are available. New Brunswick forests are filled with game, her rivers teem with fish, and delightful summering spots line Fundy's shore and the Baie de Chaleur. Canadian National Railways operate a network of lines serving the choicest parts of these Maritime Provinces.

The Duty of Fire Prevention

Carelessness with cigarette butts, cigar ends, matches, pipe ashes, camp fires, fly smudges, railway locomotives, slash-burning operations—human carelessness of some kind accounts for over 95% of the forest fires in Ontario.

It is impossible to say how many fires along railway lines are not due to engine sparks, but to the thoughtless smoker tossing away his cigarette or cigar butt. However, there is no doubt a fair number of forest fires originate in this way, and such are preventable. Each individual should realize his personal responsibility to be careful with fire in any form in northern Ontario.

Save Ontario's Forests

The Ontario fire ranger is at the mercy of all types of carelessness, and cannot prevent fires starting, as a rule. He can only attempt to limit the consequences. He is entitled to your help and co-operation by being careful with fire.

M'KELVEY–HADDOCK

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Haddock, of Relessey, was the scene of a very pretty though quiet wedding on Wednesday, June 27th, when their only daughter, Elsie Caroline, became the bride of Carman William McKelvey, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. William McKelvey, of Relessey. The Rev. C. H. Forth, of Rosemont, officiated. Promptly at high noon, the bride, escorted by her father, took her place beneath a prettily decorated arch, to the strains of the Lohengrin bridal chorus, played by Miss Reta Lewis. The bride, a winsome and attractive girl, was becomingly gowned in dove flat crepe, wore the conventional bridal veil caught with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and maidenhair fern. Miss Mossie Ireland, of Shelburne, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid and wore a gown of silk canton crepe and carried a bouquet of carnations. The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. Stanley Halbert, of Newton Robinson. During the signing of the register a piano solo was rendered by Miss Verna McKelvey, a sister of the groom. The groom's gift to the bride was a cabinet of silver, to the bridesmaid an onyx ring, to the best man an onyx tie pin and to the soloist a signet ring. Immediately after the ceremony the bride led the way to the dining room, where a dainty luncheon was served. Later the bride and groom left by motor en route for Caesarea Beach, Uxbridge and Toronto, the bride travelling in a suit of navy tricotine and picture hat to match. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm on the 3rd line, east, Mono.

BRIDGFORD–DUKE

A very pretty June wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Reid, Centre Road, Caledon, on Wednesday, June 27th, at 4 o'clock, when Mrs. Reid's sister, Miss Uretha Lillian Duke, became the bride of Mr. George Bridgford of Hamilton. The Rev. H. L. Partridge, pastor of the Methodist Church, performed the ceremony. The bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father, Mr. James Duke, to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Alice Webb, who was gowned in pink and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The bride wore blue crepe and carried a bouquet of bridal roses and lily of the valley. Miss Margaret Read, of Toronto, who was maid of honor, wore a mauve gown and carried pink carnations. Miss Kathleen Reid, niece of the bride, who wore a pink gown and carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas, acted as interpreter and looked very sweet as she translated the words of the service into the signs of the deaf and dumb alphabet. The bride was a pupil for fourteen years at the Belleville Institute, where she received her education and took up domestic science, also training for a nurse in the Sick Children's Hospital. After the ceremony a repast was served in the dining room, where the tables were attractively decorated in pink and white. The happy couple left on the evening train amid showers of confetti for Toronto and Hamilton, the bride going away in a blue suit and mauve hat. They will reside at 24 Park St., Dundas, Ont.

DEAN–COOK

A very pretty wedding was solemnized last Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Cook, 3rd line, Amaranth, when their daughter, Lillian Florence, was united in marriage to Mr. Samuel Alexander Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Dean, of Toronto, formerly of Alton. Rev. F. W. Mahaffy, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Orangeville, conducted the ceremony. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a becoming gown of white crepe de chine with satin ribbon trimmings, and also a beautiful hand-embroidered tulle bridal veil. The ceremony, which was in the form of a Dominion wedding, took place on the spacious lawn, the young couple standing under a pretty arch erected for the occasion. Mrs. C. Baughman, of Toronto, sister of the groom, played the wedding march from Mendelssohn, while little Miss Audrey Prust, in a dainty dress of maize silk, made a charming flower girl. During the signing of the register Mr. C. Baughman sang, "O Promise Me." After congratulations had been extended to the happy couple, the guests repaired to the dining-room, where a sumptuous wedding repast was served. The tables were beautifully decorated with flags and bunting, and white and pink roses and peonies. In the course of the dinner Rev. Mr. Mahaffy proposed a toast to the bride and groom, which was responded to by the groom in appropriate words. The newly married couple were the recipients of a large number of handsome and costly wedding gifts, testifying to the esteem in which they are held by their many friends, including substantial cheques by the parents of the contracting parties. The groom's gift to the bride was a curate of silver, in English design; to the pianist, a pearl ring; to the soloist gold cuff links, and to the flower girl, a necklace set with pearls. Mr. and Mrs. Dean left on the six o'clock train for Toronto and points on Lake Simcoe for a short honeymoon, amidst the hearty good wishes of a host of friends who accompanied them to the station. The bride's travelling suit was of sand Poiret twill, with hat of robin-egg blue. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Dean will make their home in Toronto. Friends were present from Toronto, Hamilton, Orangeville, Alton, Lefroy and other outside points.

HILLYARD–THOMPSON

On Wednesday, June 27th, at 3 o'clock, in St. Paul's Church, Toronto, the marriage took place of Marion Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Thompson, to Mr. Jas. Ryerson Hillyard, of Caledon, Rev. Dr. Cody officiating. The bride, who was given away by Rev. W. E. Wilson, was handsome in white georgette crepe, embroidered in crystals, her veil being held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of bridal roses and lillies of the valley. Mrs. W. A. Macpherson was the matron of honor, and wore platinum crepe, and a smart hat with a large cabouchon of ribbon, and a corsage bouquet of mauve sweet peas. The bridesmaid, Miss Darne Challis, was in embroidered French net, trimmed in orchid and her bouquet was of Ophelia roses. The best man was Mr. John Ross Dickson. After the ceremony a reception was held in the Yellow Room of the King Edward Hotel, where Mr. and Mrs. Hillyard received their guests. Refreshments were served from a buffet. Among the guests were Rev. W. E. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson, Mr. J. A. C. Cameron, K.C., and Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. W.C. Dillon, Mrs. L.A. Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. B. Mundey, Mrs. C. F. Martin, Mr. Homer Hillyard, Miss Bertha Lowe and Miss Ruby Laughlin, Caledon, Miss Perdue, Miss Edith Lew, Mrs. M. Faulkner, Miss Frances Thompson, Miss K. Hutchinson, Mrs. S. Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Thomas. Mr. and Mrs. Hillyard left for a short honeymoon trip by motor, visiting Niagara Falls, Hamilton and Guelph, and have now taken up their residence on lot 13, Centre Road, Caledon.

RED HOT JULY DAYS HARD ON BABY

July—The month of oppressive heat; red hot days and sweltering nights; is extremely hard on little ones. Diarrhoea, dysentery, colic and cholera infantum carry off thousands of precious little lives every summer. The mother must be constantly on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they come on suddenly to fight them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during the hot summer as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels and stomach, and an occasional dose given to the well child will prevent summer complaint, or if the trouble does come on suddenly will banish it. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail, at 25 cents a box, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville Ont.

TERRIFIC WIND STORM

Two Lives Lost and Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars Damage in the Elora District.

Shortly after five o'clock on Monday night, June 25, 1923, the most destructive cyclone that ever visited this section of Ontario took place. The terrific wind was accompanied by lightning, rain and hail. Big trees were uprooted and hurled high in the air, fences were levelled, barns lifted from their foundations, unroofed or levelled to the ground, and all kinds of havor wrought. At least two deaths have resulted in this immediate vicinity. Isabel Louise Brohman, daughter of Councillor A. G. Brohman, and Mrs. Brohman, Lower Pilkington, had noticed the storm coming, and while her mother went to prop the barn doors she ran to slide shut the door of the drive shed. The mother reached the house in safety, but the girl was struck on the back of the head by a scantling from the barn, and was blown over a wire fence into a flower-garden. Mr. Brohman who had been out to vote, arrived home a minutes or two after the wreck of his buildings, and the sad occurrence referred to. Miss Brohman lived less than half an hour after the accident, and was dead before medical aid had arrived, the telephone wires being down necessitating a trip to Elora by auto to summon a doctor.

The other victim of the storm was Wm. Farley, a brother of Mr. T. H. Farley, of Elora. He had been working in the field with a manure-spreader and team, on the farm of Mr. John Kelly, and the indications seem to point to the fact that the horses became unmanageable in the storm and ran away. He was a man well on in life and had worked for farmers in this neighborhood for many years. He was a quiet, industrious man, very highly spoken of, and everyone who knows him regrets his death under such tragic circumstances.

The storm, which came practically without warning, was of incredible fury, and lasted perhaps ten or fifteen minutes in all. The havoc wrought will run to hundreds of thousands of dollars. A number of remarkable escapes from sudden death are reported, and it is a matter for thankfulness that the loss of life was not much greater. It is impossible to get a complete list of the damage done, but we have been able to secure the following from what we believe to be reliable sources—the properties being principally located in West and South Pilkington and Nichol Townships:—

Wm. Hornsby, barn damaged.
M. L. Auger, barn wrecked.
J. P. Bosomworth, barn wrecked.
J. Gammie, barn wrecked.
Joseph McFadden, barn wrecked.
John Lowe, barn damaged.
George Bauman, barn wrecked.
W. Shoemaker, barn wrecked.
Ed. Wallace, barn and house badly damaged.
T. Weadick, barn damaged.
Wm. Kirby, barn a complete wreck.
John Bye, barn wrecked.
Fred Bosomworth, barn wrecked.
Smith Aitchison, barn and house badly damaged.
Simon Aitchison, barn unroofed.
John Aitchison, barn wrecked, house damaged.
Wm. Drewery, barn and house damaged.
William Weadick, barn wrecked.
Alf. Archibald, barn wrecked.
Oliver Marshall, barn wrecked.
George Hill, barn damaged.
D. Adrie, barn damaged.
Art. Weadick, barn damaged.
Robt. Cunningham, barn wrecked
Forbes Mutrie, silo, windmill and part of barn roof gone.
S. Davis, barn damaged.
Bert Wright, shed blown away struck by lightning and burned.
Dan Wright, silo gone and barn damaged.
William Dunbar, one barn a complete wreck, the other badly damaged.
Wm. Harrison Jr., barn a complete wreck.
Wm. Harrison Sr., barn badly damaged.
Robert Brydon, barn partly unroofed, house damaged and windows blown in.
Wm. Keating, barn a complete wreck.
Thos. Keating, barn a complete wreck.
Thos. Loxton, one barn completely wrecked, the other badly damaged.
Norman Ryder, barn a complete wreck.
James Lowe, barn very badly damaged, drive shed a complete wreck.
Michael Duggan, barn very badly damaged.
Andrew G. Brohman, barn, drive shed and straw shed completely wrecked. Daughter killed.
Wm. McRobb, barn completely off wall, house badly damaged.
Albert Giles, half of roof off barn, silo and poultry house down.
Robert Beattie, barn off wall.
George Watson, roof off barn.
Geo. Ross, one side and end of barn damaged, auto destroyed.
Alf. Goodwin, barn twisted on foundation.
Methodist Church unroofed and walls damaged.

The above takes no account of orchards destroyed, trees uprooted, fences demolished, implements destroyed and a myriad of other damage. There has been nothing like it before in this section for the magnitude of the disaster.—Elora Express.

MOTTART–BOSWELL

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at 12 o'clock noon, on June 20th, in St. Alban's Church, Grand Valley, when Mary Elizabeth, only daughter of Mr. Edwin Boswell, was married to Samuel Ernest, son of Mrs. Ellen Mottart. Rev. O. G. H. Lloyd officiated at the ceremony.

The bride looked very pretty in a white satin crepe de chine, draped with radium lace and edged with chrystal beads. The bridal veil was of embroidered net caught up with orange blossoms. Miss Janet Black, of Orangeville, and Miss Constance Hastilow were the bridesmaids. The former was gowned in lavender canton crepe with hat to match and Miss Hastilow in a pretty gown of yellow duchess satin trimmed with pale yellow. Little Miss Edna McPherson made a pretty flower girl in a dress of old rose organdie. Mr. Marshall Mottart acted as best man and the bride was given away by her father. Throughout the ceremony St. Alban's choir rendered the marriage music in a very acceptable manner, and during the signing of the register, Miss Galbraith sang "O Perfect Love" very beautifully to Sir J. Barnby's setting. Mrs. Geo. Boswell played the wedding march. The church was appropriately decorated for the occasion by the ladies of the church in appreciation of the faithful work of both the bride and the groom in the various activities of the church.

After the ceremony the bridal party proceeded to the home of the bride, where a reception was held. The happy couple left on the afternoon train to spend their honeymoon at Richmond Hill, Niagara Falls and other points south, the bride travelling in a pretty navy blue silk gown. Many of their friends were at the station to wish them a pleasant trip and a safe return home.—Star & Vidette.

Between $800 and $1000 will have to be spent on new instruments for Dundalk band before Bandmaster Park will assume the leadership of that organization.

Before taking his life in the sitting room of his home at 666 St. Clarens Ave., Toronto, Chas. Zimmerman, aged 60, scribbled a brief note in which he declared "that family squabbling had compelled him to seek peace in another world."

LITTLE–SNIDER

A pretty June wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Snider, Amaranth, June 20th, when their eldest daughter, Florence J., became the bride of Mr. Emerson Little, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Little, also of Amaranth. Promptly at two o'clock, to the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Myrtle Snider, sister of the bride, the bride entered the parlor on her father's arm. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. A. E. Thornley, pastor of Knox Church, Shelburne, in the presence of about thirty guests. The bride was becomingly gowned in white silk crepe-de-chine, trimmed with pearls, and carried a bouquet of carnations and maidenhair fern. After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served. The bride received many useful gifts. The groom's gift to the bride was a necklace set with pearls, and to the pianist a gold brooch. The happy couple left amid showers of confetti for a short honeymoon trip to Toronto. The bride's travelling suit was of navy blue tricotine with hat to match. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm.—Economist.

11 BARNS BLOWN DOWN

Inglewood and Cheltenham Districts Suffered Great Loss in Recent Storm.

It has been impossible to get complete word of the conditions caused by the election night storm at Cheltenham, for both telephone and telegraph wires were out of commission. When the C. P. R. train reached Brampton from the north on Tuesday the trainmen reported 11 barns completely demolished between Inglewood and Cheltenham, or between the first and third lines, west, Chinguacousy.

It is said that the poles and wires that are lying on the ground are in a worse mess than when the telephone service was interrupted by the ice storm of two years ago. Huge trees were wrenched from the ground and twisted into matchwood. Report says that several houses in the village were damaged. The only stories of the storm from that district are picked from people on the rural lines who have seen someone from the immediate locality.

As no barns in the district affected have been erected at a cost of less than $5,000, the loss is easily estimated. Great sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. Jack Troughton. They had a barn fire last fall with a loss of $12,000. Last week they raised a new barn and it collapsed in the storm. Very small wind insurance is carried in Peel, owing to the moderate winds which generally prevail.

At Meadowvale Thos. Steen lost a silo, one of the most common losses in the storm area; George R. Brown his driving shed; John Crozier, William McCracken, Albert Wolfe, barns; W. P. Fraser, secretary of the Ontario Jockey Club, a large number of extremely beautiful old trees on his lawn. In Spears' bush, 100 trees were torn up and on Smith's flats a tree was struck by lightninng and burned, the only record of fire during the storm. George Alce's barn at Rockside was shifted on its foundations as were those of Messrs. Mannclark and Hogg, Snelgrove, and Bert McClure, near Cheltenham.

J. Watson's garage, Snelgrove, was lifted off its foundations and set down sidewise. One of the vagaries of the storm, near Meadowvale, was the destruction of W. McCrarken's barn and the leaving of 30 pigs unharmed underneath. W. Smith had a barn-raising on Monday, brought to an abrupt close by the storm. The framework was left standing uninjured.

When Jark Troughton's barn collapsed at Cheltenham, the timbers fell inward and one of the carpenters was imprisoned for some time under the mass of timber, but finally managed to crawl out unhurt.

Mr. G. S. Bowes, of Milton, formerly for many years a much respected citizen of Markdale, died a week ago Monday, aged 92 years.

Many will learn with deep regret of the passing away at the Royal Alexandra Hospital, Fergus, of one of the oldest residents in Nichol township in the person of Mr. John R. Wissler, township clerk, on Wednesday, June 27th, 1923, at the age of 79 years. Mr. Wissler had been clerk of the municipality for 35 years.

Canada Confident of the Future

CANADA is endeavoring to regain her after-the-war stride in the midst of many difficulties,—debt, deflation and depression being some of them.

Quick remedies and academic theories beset her path on every side. Some suggest that our debt worries can best be eased by going further into debt. Others paint a blue ruin, decry their own country and indulge in mischievous propaganda generally, while still others look for a new social order or some miraculous sign to indicate a better coming day—all this in apparent forgetfulness of the fact that just as there was no royal road to win the war, there is now no royal road to pay for it or regain our former buoyancy, vigor and confidence.

Some are leaving Canada hoping to escape taxation, only to find there is no escape anywhere. In seeking for easy remedies too many of us overlook the fact that the greatest remedy is honest, hard work faithfully and intelligently performed, accompanied by old-fashioned thrift.

It takes time, it takes patience, it takes grit. But every Canadian knows in his heart that Canada is coming through all right.

Our Experience Proves It

Look back over the path Canada has trod. The French Colonists, cut off from civilization by 3,000 miles of sea, faced a continent—a wilderness—without the aid of even a blazed trail. They had to fight savages, frosts, scurvy, loneliness and starvation.

The United Empire Loyalists subdued an unbroken forest in one generation growing their first wheat amid the stumps and snags of the new clearing.

The Selkirk settlers came to Manitoba when the prairie was a buffalo pasture, and grew wheat where none had grown before and where those who knew the country best at that time said wheat would never grow. To-day the Canadian prairies grow the finest wheat in the world.

In proportion to population Canada stands to-day among the wealthiest nations in the world, with average savings on deposit per family of $800. Canada's foreign trade per head of population stands amongst the highest of the commercial nations, being $102 per capita in 1922-23 as compared with $35 in 1913-14, the "peak" year before the war.

New Opportunities for Canada

In Canada, although prices in the world markets fell below war level, our farmers reaped last autumn the largest grain crop in Canadian history, and Canada became the world's largest exporter of wheat, thus in large measure making up for lower prices.

Last year, Great Britain, after an agitation extending over thirty years, removed the embargo on Canadian cattle, and a profitable and practically unlimited trade is opening up for Canadian stockers and feeders.

"The 20th Century belongs to Canada"—if Canadians keep faith.

The next article will suggest practical opportunities for profit making on our Canadian farms.

GAINS FIVE POUNDS AND FEELS FINE

Dreco a Big Help to Henry Titus, of 275 Jarvis Street, Toronto, who Now Finds Work a Pleasure. His Wife Also Taking It.

Another Toronto citizen has found that Dreco amply lives up to all claims made for it as a reliable corrective for digestive complaints. Let him tell you how this famous remedy helped restore his health and strength.

"My kidneys had troubled me for a long time," says Mr. Titus. "I had terrible pains across my back at times and could hardly stay at my work. My stomach was in bad shape too. Everything I ate seemed to sour and form gas, causing pains in my stomach, and headaches. My joints and muscles ached with rheumatism and my head, nose and throat were stopped with catarrh, which however, is now clearing away. I felt weak and tired in the mornings and by night was all worn out.

"Now, however, things are different. My bowels are regular and I eat and sleep much better and feel much stronger and am not tired out when night comes. Have gained five pounds and didn't mind a good hard day's work.

"My wife is also taking Dreco, as she has been in poor health for some time and I have recommended it to many of my friends who have attained good results. Dreco is the best medicine I have ever taken.

Dreco acts on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels in a natural way. The juices of herbs, roots, bark and leaves from which it is scientifically prepared, speedily restore these vital organs to proper functioning and the whole system benefits. Dreco is safe and reliable and contains no mercury, potash, habit forming drugs, or any other harmful ingredient.

DUFFERIN U. F. O. POLITICAL ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of Dufferin United Farmers' Political Association was held in Shelburne Town Hall, Saturday afternoon last, with J. M. McNaughton, of Orangeville, County President, in the chair. J. A. Hand, of Shelburne, County Secretary-Treasurer, read his report, which showed the organization to have a balance on the right side. Auditors Frank Lyon (Jessopville) and H. Hilborn (Grand Valley) presented their report. There was considerable discussion on how to improve the farmer organization before another election comes round. Practically every speaker voiced the opinion that defeat in the election would help rather than injure the whole farmer movement in Ontario and all were optimistic in regarding the outlook of the future. The Directors were re-elected as follows: Orangeville, J. M. McNaughton; Mono, Jas. White; East Garafraxa, M. M. Cormick; Amaranth, W. R. Rutledge; East Luther, H. H. Hilborn; Melancthon, A. Vance; Mulmur, Geo. A. Forster; Shelburne, J. A. Hand; Grand Valley, Geo. Greer. The directors will appoint their president and secretary-treasurer when they meet at Geo. Greer's on July 11th.—Economist.

ORANGEVILLE PRESBYTERY

(Intended for last week.)

In order to give an opportunity to combine business and pleasure the Presbytery of Orangeville met at Stanley Park, Erin, on Tuesday, June 26th. There was a good attendance, not only of ministers and elders, but of other Christian workers, men and women as well, who responded to an invitation from the Presbytery to be present. Rev. John Griffith, of Honan, China, was present and gave an instructive address on conditions in China at the present time, which he made plain are far from satisfactory. Though Christian work has progressed wonderfully in the last thirty years, still only one person in a thousand professes the Christian religion. Brigandage is quite in order and as a consequence life and property are most unsafe. Several delegates, who attended the General Assembly gave their impressions of that meeting. All emphasized the excellent Christian spirit of the debate on church union by both parties to the question, and all were delighted with their trip to Port Arthur.

A call from the congregation of Flesherton to Mr. Hammond, a recent graduate of Knox College, was considered, but was sent back to the field for more signatures. Rev. J. A. Black, of Horning's Mills, is called to the congregation of Omemee in Peterboro Presbytery. His call is to be dealt with at a meeting in Shelburne on July 4th, after Mr. Black's congregation has been notified. Rev. N. Wadell, B. D., of Ballinafad, was appointed moderator for the next six months.

Four of the teachers on the staff of Shelburne high and public schools have placed their rsignations in the hands of the School Board.

ROYAL DISHES FOR BANQUETS

A famous and popular royal dish at wedding banquets of the fourteenth century was a baked sturgeon. The fish was first soaked in wine for forty-eight hours, then stuffed with almond paste, dates, grated manchets, sugar, sack, rosewater and saffron.

These were all mixed with butter to form a stiff composition, put into the fish, closed up and baked. In the dish around the fish were gooseberries, currants and barberries.

The osseous plates or armors were removed from the fish and gilded, and replaced on the fish when ready for the table. Wine was added to the sauce produced by the berries and juice of the fish, and this was poured around the fish, which was served on a hughe trencher.

One dish, sometimes introduced after the fish course, was called a "subtlety," and consisted of curious figures made of jellies and confectionery to represent men, animals and mythological characters.

On festive occasions the Earl of Warwick, the king-maker, kept 30,000 men in his different castles, and when in London six oxen were daily consumed at breakfast. The huge oaken table filled almost the entire length of the castle hall, and at ten o'clock in the morning groaned beneath the great masses of fresh and salted beef, poultry, fish and strangely concocted dishes.

A SUDDEN CALL

Thos. Broughton, of Corbetton, Died During Sunday School Service.

This village and district received a shock on Sunday when it became known that Thomas Broughton, a highly esteemed resident of the Gravel Road, Melancthon, was stricken with death while performing his duties of Sunday School Superintendent at Corbetton Methodist Church Mr. Broughton had just been arranging with the school for the date and place of the annual picnic when he fell to the platform and in four or five minutes after he entered the spirit world. First aid treatment was quickly given by his son, Arthur, and others, who were present, but to no avail.

In the passing of Mr. Broughton the Methodist Church and the community loses a man of the highest Christian character and a most faithful worker. He had been superintendent and bible class teacher at Corbetton and took great interest in this work for many years. He passed away at his post of duty.

The extreme heat of last week is supposed to have contributed to his death. He had a high ideal in life and his good influence in this community will remain long after him.

He is survived by his wife, two sons and one daughter, namely:—Robert Broughton, of Chicago University; Arthur and Lillian at home. There are also three brothers and two sisters: John, in Buffalo, N.Y.; George and Stephen, Dundalk; Mrs. Manton, Toronto, and Mrs. Henry Lonsway, Alliston. Much sympathy is felt for the sorrowing ones.

The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon to Dundalk Cemetery Rev. F. G. Stotesbury, of Meaford officiated, assisted by Rev. Mr. Partridge, of Orangeville, and Rev. W. E. Curran, of Corbetton. A profusion of flowers surrounded the casket.

The following acted as pallbearers: R B. Oldfield, Thos. Oldfield, Bert Henderson, R. Watson, J. Livingston, J. W. Blakely.—Dundalk Herald.

A GLORY OF LONG AGO

Rockwood, Ont, can observe Dominion Day by listening to the oldest inhabitant tell how the village observed the first anniversary of Confederation on July 1, 1867.

Rockwood flung a $2 bill to the breeze of that far-off Dominion Day morning from the top of a greasy pole. All day long rioting citizens of Guelph and Fergus wore out the youth off their Sunday clothes trying to climb the greasy pole and get the $2 bill.—Toronto Telegram.

NINETIETH BIRTHDAY

Alexander F. Cranston, a pioneer resident of Caledon East, celebrated his 90th birthday at the home of his son, Rev. J. A. Cranston, 78 Wheeler Ave., Toronto, (The Beaches) recently, surrounded by his family of six sons and one daughter, and fourteen grandchildren. Mr. Cranston, who is a widower, his wife having predeceased him 13 years ago, came from Scotland to Canada 70 years ago and settled in Caledon East, and lived there until a few years ago. A pleasant time was spent by the family, who had not been re-united since the death of Mrs. Cranston 13 years ago. The following were the members of the family present: C. J. Cranston, Mono Road, Ont.; Rev. J. A. Cranston, minister Kew Beach Presbyterian Church; R. J. Cranston, the homestead, Caledon East; Rev. R. A. Cranston, Trenton, Ont; Rev. W. T. Cranston, Tansley, Ont.; D. L. Cranston, vice-principal, the Collegiate, Port Hope, and Mrs. Glassford, Winchester, Ont. Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Duggan, of the Dale Estate, Brampton, were among the friends present at the happy family reunion.

BLACK KNIGHTS COMING

The County of Dufferin will hold its first Black Celebration on Saturday, August 11th, when this town will be the scene of an imposing Demonstration under the auspices of the Black Preceptories of the County of Dufferin. It is expected that there will be an immense crowd in town for the day. Toronto Black Knights are coming out in full force and have promised an attendance of between 2000 and 3000 Toronto Sir Knights. Two special trains will run to Orangeville from the city and arrangements are being made to run a third special from Owen Sound and other points north. The day promises to be a memorable one in the annals of the Royal Black Knights, who are, as most of our readers know, closely associated with the Orange Order.

12TH OF JULY PICNIC

As announced in last week's issue of The Banner the members of Relessey L. O. L. No. 1083 will celebrate the 12th of July by holding a picnic in Mr. Heber Waller's grove, lot 20,, 4th line, east, Mono. The brethren have arranged an excellent programme of sports, races and other attractions and are counting upon a good time for everyone. The sports will begin at one o'clock with a baseball tournament in which it is expected that four of the teams of the district will take part. This will be followed by races, jumping, speeches and other entertainment. Refreshments will be served at a booth on the grounds. Dinner and supper will be provided, the former from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and the latter from 4 to 6 p.m. 40 cents will be charged for adults and 25 cents for children for each meal.

UNION SERVICES

The Union Services of the Orangeville Methodist and Presbyterian churches started off very auspiciously last Sunday. In the morning the two congregations worshipped in St. Andrew's Church, the pastor, Rev. F. W. Mahaffy, preaching an excellent sermon on the subject of hospitality. The evening service, which was held in the Methodist church, was also conducted by Mr. Mahaffy. Large congregations attended the services.

Next Sabbath morning the service will be in the Presbyterian Church when Mr. Mahaffy will preach on the subject, "God's Demand Upon Our Abilities." The subject for the evening service in the Methodist Church will be the "Message of the Book of Jonah." During the absence from town of Mr. Partridge, who is away on his vacation, Mr. Mahaffy will have the pastoral oversight of the two congregations.

—The Orange Lodges of Orangeville and district are celebrating in Erin to-day.

THROWN FROM RIG

Mrs. Geo. Holtby Victim of Fatal Accident in Brampton.

The entire community was badly shocked on Friday last to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. Geo. Holtby, as the result of an accident. Mr. and Mrs. Holtby had been in Brampton on Friday morning doing some shopping, and left for home shortly after eleven o'clock. On their way east, between the first and second lines, a car driven by Bert Nixon passed them, laden with greenery for the decorations in Brampton. It is thought that some of the ends of the branches brushed the horses and startled them, causing them to bolt. Mrs. Holtby was thrown out on her head and rendered unconscious. Mr Nixon went immediately to Mr. Holtby's assistance, and the injured woman was brought back to Brampton to the offices of Drs. Vanderlip and Smith, where an examination was made. She was found to be suffering from concussion of the brain, and was taken back to her home on the fifth line east. She lingered without regaining consciousness until 5 p. m., when she passed away. One of the outstanding members of the community, Mrs. Holtby's sudden death has been deeply deplored by a very large circle this week. She was the daughter of the late Squire Woodhill, one of the pioneers of Chinguacousy, who founded the village of Woodhill, where she was born 62 years ago. After her marriage, Mrs. Holtby resided on the fifth line east, where she became a devoted member of Harrison's congregation, working actively in the various departments of the church As a friend and neighbor none was more highly esteemed, and she leaves behind her the memory of a beautiful Christain character. She is survived by her deeply sorrowing husband, and a family of four sons and three daughters to whom is extended the deepest sympathy in this sad affliction The sons are Arthur, Junkins, Alta., Everard, Elnora, Alta., Thomas, Sandhill, and John Stanley Mills, and the daughters, Mrs. Richard Little, Mayfield, Mrs. John Hostrawser, Nashville, and Mrs. Wyatt Somerville, Woodhill. One brother, John, of Cooksville, also survives. The funeral, which took place on Monday afternoon to Brampton Cemetary from her late residence, was largely attended, the services at the house and grave being conducted by Rev. G. W. Lynd ,Grahamsville, assisted by Rev. H. E. Eaton of Shelburne. The pallbearers were her sons, John and Thos., three sons-in-law, and her brother.—Conservator.

CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL PROSPERING

Property is Hard to get in School Area at Tweed—Another Section to Enter

R. Segsworth, Field Secretary of the Ontario Trustees and Ratepayers' Association, spent a day last week at the consolidated school, at Tweed. He found that it is prospering splendidly. It is a great asset to the community, and to the school sections that amalgamated to bring about the consolidation. Mr. Segsworth finds the school so popular that it is quite hard for any person to purchase property within the school area. Recently a farmer who had a splendid place outside the area, desired to get in so that he might have the advantages of the school, but he could not find any farmer who was desirous of the sale of his property. The alarmists, prior to the consolidation, stated that the taxation would be so high that the farmers would very quickly dispose of their property to avoid the increase in taxation. Happily, this has turned out otherwise, as the tax rate on the rural sections since consolidation has been reduced ½ mill. One section that refused to enter at the beginning, after watching consolidation work for a year, almost unanimously decided to come in. Another section is now hoping to get in, but the way may be blocked, as the rooms are all full.—British Whig, Kingston.

WEAK DIGESTION DUE TO POOR BLOOD

Perfect Digestion Will Come if the Blood is Made Rich and Red.

There is no tonic for the stomach that is not a tonic for every other part of the body. But the stomach depends, as does every other organ, on the blood for its energy.

There can be no perfect digestion unless you have rich, red blood. This is scientifically true. The way, then, to tone up the stomach is to enrich the blood.

Most stomach remedies try to digest your food for you. How much better it is to tone up the stomach so that it will do its own work, as nature intended. There is no pleasure in eating predigested food. Tone up your stomach, then your appetite and digestion will soon be normal.

If your digestion is weak and your blood thin, you need Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to restore the strength to your blood; in addition use care in the selection of your diet and your stomach trouble will soon pass away. Mrs. Charles Le Rose, Fruitland, Ont., suffered severely, and tells what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for her. She says:—"I was a terrible sufferer from stomach trouble. The doctor called it nervous indigestion. Everything I ate distressed me, and I became so weak and run-down I could hardly walk. I had a pain around my heart most of the time, and I slept very poorly. I was afraid I would not get well, as the doctor's medicine was not helping me. In this serious condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended and I decided to try them, and I can truthfully say that they made me feel like a new person. I will always give this medicine a word of praise when I get a chance for I think there is nothing to be compared with it for dyspeptics, or any one weak, nervous or run-down."

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail, at 50 cents a box, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ORANGE SERVICE

Members of L. O. L. 635 and Aaron L. O. L. 427, the two town Orange lodges, held their annual church parade from L. O. L. 635 Hall on Sunday afternoon. Instead of marching to one of the churches as has been the custom heretofore the brethren paraded to Alexandra Park, where the service was held in the open air. It had been planned to have Brigadier Walton and Adjutant Snowden, of the headquarters staff of the Salvation Army, Toronto, address the members of the Order, but the arrangement fell through at the last moment. The service, however, was ably taken by Rev. D. G. Atkinson, of Mono Mills, who had the assistance of the officers of the local S. A. Corps, both of whom spoke briefly and in impressive manner. Rev. S. Dunn Dinnick, recently Methodist minister at Mono Mills, was also on the platform and led the gathering in prayer. Rev. Bro. Atkinson spoke from the text, "Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee a Crown of Life." Rev.2:10

The speaker emphasized the enduring greatness of the reward promised in the words of his text, which he interpreted as a message on loyalty to the Bible and to the Crown. Every Orangeman should be faithful to the words of the living God as given to mankind in holy writ and loyal to the Crown of Great Britain. The Bible and the Crown were emblems of the Orange institution. The Orange Order made no claim to exclusive loyalty, but it will admit no man to the Order, who is not loyal and whose principles are not strictly Protestant. Mr. Atkinson described the Bible as the foundation stone of the Loyal Orange Institution and exhorted his hearers to be faithful to the Word of God because it is an authentic message from the divine ruler of the universe to His creatures here on earth. He commented on the style and diction of the Book of books, which he declared was worthy to be read and studied for its style if for nothing else, and described the unity of the different parts of the Bible as wonderful. Digressing to present day politics, the speaker described the last election as "a grand and glorious victory for Protestantism in Ontario," and a triumphant fight for the maintenance of our Public Schools system. In closing Mr. Atkinson appealed to the brethren to be loyal to the principles set forth in the constitution of the Order and to be always faithful to the Word of God. How were the people using the Bible? Were they relegating it to the background, or were they reading it and giving it the place it should have in their homes and lives.

The lodge fifer and drummer and the band of the local Salvation Army Corps headed the march to and from the park. About seventy-five members of the Order were in line. A liberal offering was taken at the service, half going to the Orangeville S. A. Corps and the balance to the True Blue Orphanage at Richmond Hill.

ORANGEVILLE BEATEN

Mimico Won Saturday's Lacrosse Match in Overtime.

The Dufferins dropped a championship game to Mimico on the latter's grounds on Saturday afternoon. The greenshirts, who were without Brown and Gordon, were leading by five to three in the early part of the last quarter, but Mimico rallied strongly when Cushing was benched and managed to tie up the score before the gong sounded. Ten minutes overtime was played, both teams struggling desperately to pull out with a win. The tie was unbroken until near the close of the overtime period, when Harrison managed to score the winning goal for Mimico. The Mail & Empire gives the following report of the match:

In one of the most spectacular and sensational games played on the Mimico grounds this year, Mimico nosed out Orangeville in their senior O. A. L. A. fixture Saturday, 6 to 5, after 10 minutes' overtime play. Mimico further proved that they are a strong finishing team and for the second time in three weeks overcame a two-goal lead to win in the overtime.

Mimico outscored the visitors 2 to 1 in the first and Orangeville landed the only goals in the second and third periods, making the score read 3 to 2 in their favor. Orangeville increased their lead to two goals at the opening of the fourth session, but Mimico banged in two in less than a minute to tie the score. The 3,000 Mimico fans went wild and they kept up their cheering until Orangeville, with two minutes to go again took the lead. The crowd began to leave the field, thinking it was a loss for Mimico, but Ted Harrison grabbed a long pass and slipped it into the Orangeville nets evening the score. The first half of the overtime went scoreless and three minutes before the end of the last half Mimico staged a field-length rush which resulted in Harrison tallying the winning goal.

Firth, in goal for Orangeville, a former net guardian for Mimico saved his team a dozen times. In the second and third periods he was invincible and stopped shots with every part of his body. Bailey Mimico's star home, marred his good playing by penalties. Cruikshank played a good game, scoring two of Orangeville's counters. Ted Harrison was the hero for Mimico, getting the tying and winning goals. The teams:

FAMILY REUNION

A delightful family reunion was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. White, William St., on Dominion Day, when their sons and daughters met together on the occasion of their mother's birthday. The happy family group consisted of Mr. and Mrs. T. N. White and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Arthur and daughter, and Mr. Percy B. White, of Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. W. G. White and little daughter, of Brantfort, and Misses Ruby and Reta, of town. Two members of the family who were not present and were much missed, were Privates Howard and Harry, who were killed overseas during the war.

NEW CHIEF APPOINTED

The town council has appointed Thos. Portland, of Toronto, chief of police in the stead of the late James Ewing. The new chief, who has filled positions in Brantford, Cochrane and other places, is a six footer and looks like a first-rate man for the job. He is a married man and will move his family to town as soon as he secures a house. Chief Portland received the appointment at a salary of $800 and uniform.

MELVILLE CROSS

A delightful social evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Corbett on Friday night, June 29th, when the parents and children of the Melville school section assembled and presented their teacher, Miss Janet B. Standing, of Inglewood, with an address expressing their appreciation of her worth and services as a teacher accompanied by a dainty wrist watch, a brooch and a bouquet of flowers. The address was read by Mr. Ernest Adams and the presentations were made by Misses Jean Davison, Lorna and Gladys Corbett. Miss Standing, although visibly affected by this evidence of the love and esteem of her pupils and the people of the section, made a neat response, expressing her grateful thanks and the regret she felt over the prospect of leaving the section. Mr. E. H. Delaney occupied the chair and added his tribute to the worth and satisfactory work of Miss Standing. Miss Standing has been in charge of the school for the last four years and it is safe to say that it is many years since the people of Melville got a teacher who was so popular and so universally beloved by the children. A splendid supper was served following the presentation and the remainder of the evening was happily spent in dancing and other amusements. Mr. and Mrs. Corbett proved themselves an admirable host and hostess, doing everything possible to contribute to the happiness of their guests.

AN ASSEMBLY YARN

Rev. J. H. Turnbull, a former Mono and Orangeville boy, now pastor of High Park Presbyterian Church, Toronto, is credited with telling one of the best stories in Assembly history at the recent Presbyterian General Assembly in Port Arthur. In the course of an address before the Assembly Dr. Turnbull referred to Dr. Drummond's warning that to go ahead with church union would be disastrous. The pastor of the High Park Church contended on the other hand that to stay out would involve still greater chaos and peril.

"It is like this," he said: "Two Irishmen were once pursued by a bull. One of them spied a suitable tree and mounted it without delay. The other passed it in his haste, but presently descried a goodly hole into which he dropped. But ever and anon he would bob up, popping back in again just as the bull swept over him. 'Stay down, you fool,' shouted the Hibernian in the tree. 'Fool nothing,' roared the other, 'there's a bear in the hole.'"

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY GIFT

It Was a Cartload of Roses.

By F. A. MITCHEL

The map of that part of Europe in which began the great European war has been changing ever since it was a part of ancient Gaul. Centuries ago there was a kingdom composed largely of what is now Flanders. The capital was probably Ghent, though the time of my story is so remote that one cannot be sure about this. The country was then governed by a queen who bild the same name as the present ruler of Holland—Wilhelmina.

One day a farmer living on the outskirts of the capital said to his son, a strapping young man just come of age:

"Hans, I wish you to take into town a cartload of flowers. I learn that tomorrow is the queen's birthday, and there will be a great demand for the flowers on the part of courtiers to bestow upon her majesty. I hear she is both young and beautiful and that she will take a husband from one of her own subjects. Therefore many gallants will wish to bestow gifts upon her, and there is no gift that will so touch a woman's heart as flowers."

Hans obeyed his father. Going out to the barn, he harnessed a mule to a cart and then drove it into the garden. It was the month of June, and there were many roses in bud and in bloom. Hans loved the roses better than any other flower and put so many in the cart that there was no room for any other flowers. However, he knew that roses brought the best price, so he concluded to leave the load as it was. Then going to his room he put on the clothes he usually wore to the city, a doublet of dark blue and hose to match. Then girding on his sword—every one wore a sword in those days—he mounted his cart and drove the mule toward the capital.

Hans had no sooner reached the outskirts of the city than he met a young man in a very brilliant costume and with feathers in his hat and other marks of being a noble. Seeing the roses in the cart, his eyes lighted with pleasure.

"How much for your roses?" he asked Hans.

"They are not for sale at present," replied the countryman. "If they are wanted here they will bring a better price when I approach the palace, for this is the queen's birthday, and there will be many gallants wanting flowers for gifts to her majesty."

The man abused Hans for a country bumpkin, but Hans drove on, paying no attention to him. Hans was stopped many times by courtiers, sometimes men, sometimes women, and received many offers for his load, but he drove on, always saying, "If you are willing to give so much here what will I be offered when I reach the market place in the center of the city?"

Finally he stopped his mule at the palace gates and was about to drive into the courtyard when he was stopped by a sentry.

"I have a gift for her majesty Queen Wilhelmina," said Hans. "Let me pass."

The chamberlain happened to be looking out of a window at the time and, seeing a cartload of roses below, bethought himself that there was a fine opportunity to buy flowers with which to decorate the throne room, in which his royal mistress would that day receive her birthday congratulations. Running down and out, he said to Hans:

"How much for your roses, my man?"

"They are not for sale."

"But you must sell them. I wish to buy them for the queen. I will give you a thousand florins for them."

The chamberlain looked at Hans as if he thought him daft.

"Come, come," he said coaxingly. "Don't be a fool. The queen will not accept a gift from such as you. But she must have your roses. So many are not to be had elsewhere. Drive them into the courtyard and I will pay you."

"I will drive them into the courtyard, but only as a gift for her majesty," replied Hans.

"We will see about that," cried the chamberlain angrily, and, taking the mule by the bridle, he led him through the gateway into the court and stopped before a door of the palace. Then he went inside to summon servants to carry in the roses while he obtained the money to pay for them. He returned, leading half a dozen lackeys with baskets, and he held in his hands a bag containing a thousand florins. He found Hans standing before his cart with folded arms.

"Get out of my way," said the chamberlain.

"If you touch one of the flowers," said Hans, drawing his sword, "I will make a hole in you."

"Treason!" cried the chamberlain. "Guards!"

A dozen soldiers came running to the scene. The queen, hearing the words "Treason!" and "Guards!" and fearing a plot or a revolution, put her head out through an upper window and asked to know what was the matter.

"This countryman," said the cham-

MARSVILLE

The Women's Institute held its annual garden party in the Marsville school grounds on Friday evening, June 25th. The evening was favorable and there was a very large crowd present to enjoy the excellent program. Duncan R. Cowan, of Toronto, was the principal entertainer and all his numbers were well received. The Donaldson Bros. provided excellent music. The Rev. A. W. Hare, of Hillsburg, gave a recitation, which was highly appreciated. Dr. Campbell, of Orangeville, filled the position of chairman in his usual pleasing manner. The receipts at the gate and booth were about $230.

Monday evening proved very unfavorable for the Grove garden party. However, a large crowd turned out in spite of the threatening rain. Mr. Bob Wilson again proved himself a good entertainer and every one of his selections was enjoyed by all present. Miss Grace Bonnick very ably assisted him to make the program interesting. Short addresses were given by Rev. J. D. Waite, a former pastor, and Rev. S. B. Stokes, the present pastor. Mr. C. R. McKeown, M.L.A., occupied the chair to the satisfaction of all.

The members of the Marsville L. O. L. No. 345 attended service in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday afternoon, when the Rev. A. W. Hare delivered an excellent sermon to the members of the Order.

The Rev. S. B. Stokes, the new pastor of the Orton circuit, has already moved to his new field of labor. He occupied the pulpit of the different appointments on Sunday and made a very favorable impression.

MOTOR ROAD MAPS

The 1923 road map of the Ontario Motor League is now on sale at The Banner Office. The map has been thoroughly revised and greatly improved in a number of respects. It shows in accurate red outline the Provincial Highway system of Ontario and also the best roads in Western Quebec, New York State and Eastern Michigan. The relative importance of all roads is indicated by three classes of lines—red, medium and thin black. The map sells at 50 cents, the same price as last year.

Bobby, just home from his first visit to the country, was telling the folks of its wonders. "And say, ma," he said, "out on the farm they get milk from cows, and it's just as good as any."

Is Your Corn Crop Infested?

The European Corn Borer leaves no question of doubt as to its presence in a field of corn. Guard carefully against the infestation of your crop.

Beware of These Signs

The first easily observed sign of the infestation is the breaking over of the corn tassels.

Later the feeding of the "worms" begins to show on the stalks, which, being greatly weakened, break over.

Finally the cobs and shanks become infested and the entire stalk collapses to the ground.

The borer then seals itself for the winter in corn stubble or corn stalks, which must either be burnt up or ploughed under before June 1st of the year following.

How to Make Delicious Cherry Jam

Sour cherries give finest flavor. Pit and crush well about 2½ lbs. Cherries. Measure 4 level cups (2 lbs.) crushed cherries into large kettle and add ¼ cup water. Tie three tablespoons pits in cloth and crush with hammer. Place with cherries to increase flavor, stir until boiling, cover kettle, simmer 10 minutes, then remove pits. Add 7½ level cups (3½ lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire, and stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard for one minute, remove from fire and stir in 1 bottle (scant cup) Certo. From time jam is taken off fire allow to stand, with occasional stirring, 5 minutes only, by the clock, skim, then pour into glasses.

PAGE-BLACK

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place at Knox Presbyterian Church, Horning's Mills, on Wednesday, June 20th, when Marion Freda, daughter of Rev. J. A. and Mrs. Black, became the bride of Edward C., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Page. The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and the season's flowers. The bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her brother, Morley, to the strains of the Lohengrin bridal chorus played by Miss Genevieve Lang, Toronto, girl friend of the bride. The bride's father, Rev. J. A. Black, officiated. The bride looked charming in a navy poiret twill suit with grey trimmings and large picture hat and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, white carnations and ferns, and was attended by her sister, Jean, the groom being assisted by his brother, Art. Page. During the signing of the register Knox Church choir rendered the anthem, "Perfect Love." After the ceremony a reception was held at the manse, where Mrs. Page, in duchess satin, and Mrs. Black, in grey satin and corsage bouquet of roses, received the guests, to the number of ninety young people. A dainty luncheon was served in the dining room, which was decorated in pink and white with banking of ferns and roses. The bride and groom were the recipients of many handsome and useful presents, showing the high esteem in which they are held. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful cabinet of silverware, to the pianist a gold bar pin. The bride and groom left amid showers of confetti for an extended motor trip, and on their return will reside on the groom's farm north of Horning's Mills.—Free Press.

THE LATE W. A. McCULLA

W. A. McCulla, the veteran postmaster, of Brampton, and a man who had been prominent in the public life of that town and the county as well, passed away on Sunday morning, July 1st, aged 85 years.

The late Mr. McCulla was born in Sligo, Ireland, but came to Canada with his parents as a lad of eleven. His father the late John McCulla was for thirty years town clerk of Brampton. Mr. W. A. McCulla was a builder and contractor from 1865 until his appointment as postmaster in 1895. He was appointed a justice of the peace by the old Sandfield MacDonald Government, and represented Peel in the Dominion Parliament in the Conservative interests from 1887 to 1891. Previous to his parliamentary term h eserved for several years as a member of the Brampton School Board, was for fifteen years a member of the Town Council, was for three years reeve, fo ra like period mayor, and in 1886 he was warden of Peel County He was also formerly registrar for the county.

He was postmaster for forty years, was a member of the Orange Order, a charter member of Golden Star, I. O. O. F., and the oldest member of Ionic Lodge, A. F. & A. M., which he joined fifty-three years ago. In religion he was an Anglican.

He married the third daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McBride, of Claude, Chinguacousy. On March 15th, 1918, the couple celebrated their golden wedding. Within the past twelve months Mrs. McCulla died. The surviving members of the faminy are: Two daughters Mrs. Mabel Scott, of Brampton; Mrs. W. J. Darby, of Toronto; one son, John, of Toronto, and one brother, Thos. B. McCulla, of Dunnville, Ont.

BRITAIN'S NATIVE LIVE STOCK

Some one has been directing attention again to the wild cattle of Chillingham, Eng. These animals, carefully preserved by the Duke of Hamilton, are said to be direct descendants of the aboriginal ancient British breed. Absolutely different animals from the big red Devons of the south-west, yet equally different from white-faced shorthorned Herefords, and other English breeds.

Both of these vary enormously from the shaggy, long-horned Highland cattle. Yet Highland cattle are only so by adoption, for originally they were from England, the herd from which they descended having been part of the dowry of Princess Margaret Tudor when she married James IV. of Scotland. The real Highland cattle are the Polled Angus, which are harmless.

If you want to find a complete contrast to any of the cattle mentioned, you have it in the small, sleek, deer-headed Jerseys, of Norman stock, which give such wonderfully rich milk, or in the Kerry cattle, which are the smallest of all. Great Britain is, in fact, the greatest of all countries for breeds of cattle.

Or turn to horses. Could you find any two breeds more different than the tiny Shetland pony, and the huge Suffolk Punch? The original Shetland breed is said to have come from Norway, but has long since become smaller, stockier and in every way different.

Devonshire has two completely different races of native ponies, the Dartmoor and the Exmoor. The former is high-withered, ewe-necked and lanky; the latter almost as stocky as the Shetland pony.

The wild Welsh pony, one of the best in the world, is said to have inherited its fine shape and staying qualities from war horses left behind by the Romans when they abandoned Britain.

Scotland has its Galloway nags, believed to inherit a Spanish strain, from survivors of the Spanish Armada, while the Fetlar Island bred ponies undoubtedly possess Arab blood.

All the best terriers belong to Britain, and so do most other sporting dogs. Dozens of different strains of sheep, and nearly all the best pigs also originated in those islands.

Even cats may be included, for it remained for the Isle of Man to produce a cat without a tail.

BAPTISMAL SERVICE

On Sunday, July 16th, at 3 p.m., there will be a Baptismal Service held in St. Mark's Church at 3 o'clock. All Anglican parents, who have children that are not baptised are invited to bring the children to that service. 52-tf.

BRITISH USE CHEQUES.

Practice Helps Banks to Improve Financial Situation.

The English are beginning to believe their habit of using cheques more and more, and cash less and less, to pay their way through life has been one of the factors in the recent spurt of the pound in its race to catch up with the dollar. Of course it has not reached the point where people write cheques indiscriminately, just as a matter of national pride, but all the newspapers have been giving serious consideration to the thought that the cheque writing habit, ever becoming more common, has helped improve the financial situation.

The idea appeared in print the other day when the London Bankers' clearing house announced that of the sums now paid into the city banks only seven-tenths of 1 per cent. come in currency and coin, all the rest being transfers of credit by cheque. Not many years ago the percentage of cash deposits was several times higher than to-day.

It has been pointed out frequently of late that the use of cheques instead of cash allows banks usefully to employ perhaps larger sums than otherwise might be possible in piling new stones upon the nation's economic structure.

The English, so their newspapers say, are more given to the cheque habit than other people, and this despite the fact that each cheque is taxed twopence. A cheque book cannot be had for the asking, as in America; it must be bought and paid for. Even housewives make general use of cheques when they go to market, and, as many of the large banks have branches, there is usually a bank within walking distance of the home. The high fees for postal money orders make it cheaper to remit by cheque for amounts of over one pound, and this, too, has encouraged the cheque habit.

Psychologically some observers question whether the habit is a good one from the standpoint of thrift, since many people who would think twice before spending a certain sum out of their pockets do not hesitate to write a cheque for the amount; just as it often seems easier to tell a store clerk to charge a purchase to one's account than it is to shell out the actual coin. But others contend that the increasing bank clearings—they amounted to more than £37,000,000,000 in London alone last year—show not only economic betterment but also that the average Englishman has preserved his honesty as well as his belief in the honesty of his countrymen.

Grip of the "Staub-Lawine."

The Staub-Lawine, or avalanche of snow dust, is one of the dangers of the Swiss mountains. A whirlwind accompanies it, says John Addington Symonds in "Our Life in the Swiss Highlands," and, lifting the snow from a whole mountain side, drives it onward through the air to overwhelm forests, to bury men, beasts, and dwellings, and finally to settle into a hard, tightly packed mass. The snow that forms these Staub-Lawine is dry and finely powdered. When it comes to rest it immediately hardens into something much like ice; it wraps the objects embedded in it in a tight implacable clasp. A man or a horse caught in the storm is likely to have his breath squeezed out by the even, clinging pressure of the particles, if indeed the wind has not already blown it out of him. A man who was once caught at the edge of the avalanche just when it was settling down to rest, was carried off his feet; in a moment the snow held his legs, pinned his arms to his sides, and crawled upward to his throat. There it stopped. He could breathe; but as the mass settled he felt that he could scarcely expand his lungs, and knew that he must soon die of suffocation. He was at the point of losing consciousness when some comrades came along running to his rescue.

Beautiful in Its Ruins.

Melrose Abbey was a beautiful abbey—now in ruins—on the bank of the River Tweed, Scotland, 40 miles southwest of Edinburgh. It was founded by David I. (1124-1153) for the Cistercian monks in 1136, and became the mother church of the order in that country. After being twice damaged by the English, it was rebuilt in a style of increased magnificence between the years 1322 and 1505, but was again devastated by the English under the Earl of Hertford, in 1545, and was totally ruined during the Scotch reformation. Since that time no attempt at restoration has been made, and the ruins have served as a quarry for the neighboring town of Melrose.

The ruined church is all that remains at the present day. It is greatly admired for the beauty of its architecture, which belongs to the Second Pointed style. Melrose Abbey is the burial place of Michael Scott, the Wizard of the Lady; Alexander II., and Johanna, his queen; William Douglas, the "Dark Knight," and the second abbot, St. Waltheof. The heart of Robert Bruce is said to be buried before the high altar.

Aged Australian.

Australia's age record is claimed by Thomas Thomson, who was born at Northampton 108½ years ago, and is now living at Ballarat. He has issued a challenge to the rest of the commonwealth to produce an older man. He is in good health, and every Sunday walks half a mile to church. At a recent mayoralty reception he climbed the stairs as well as a man of seventy. In 1920 he was presented to the Prince of Wales, to whom he remarked: "I was a lively young fellow of twenty-three when your great-grandmother was crowned queen."

A Young English Chemist.

Miss Helena Stewart, who has opened a chemist's shop in London, is only twenty-one years old and is the youngest qualified chemist in Great Britain.

"I Had Terrible Backache From Kidney Disease"

Mrs. H. A. McNeill, Canaan Sta., N.B., writes:

"I was troubled for years with terrible backache, resulting from kidney disease. At times in each month I remained in bed, the pain was more than I could stand, and to walk was almost impossible. I used about $50.00 worth of other medicines, but with little results. Now I am completely better, after using only five boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Would Have Given $100 For One Night's Sleep

"Before I got Tanlac I often said I would give a hundred dollars to get a good night's sleep,but now I sleep like a child every night and feel so well it doesn't seem like I am the same person," said Mrs. Annie Stillson, highly esteemed resident of 263 Simcoe St., London, Ont.

"I suffered for years from nervousness and stomach trouble. My appetite had all but left me and what I ate hurt me so bad I actually dreaded to sit down to the table. My nerves were so unstrung I could hardly sleep at all, and I was so weak and tired many days I couldn't do my housework.

"But it's a pleasure to sit down to a meal now, for I enjoy my food like a child does candy and nothing I eat hurts me a particle. My nerves are perfectly calm and my sleep rests me so I feel refreshed throughout the day. Tanlac has no equal."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37-million bottles sold.

Bolton Woollen Mill Completely Destroyed by Fire

Bolton Woollen Mill was completely destroyed by fire at an early hour on Wednesday morning, causing a loss placed by the owners at between $175,000 and $200,000.

When first noticed by the manager, W. R. Lockwood, who lives close by, the whole interior of the mill was a mass of flames, and absolutely nothing could be done to save the main building. A light breeze from the west drove the flames away from the residences and storerooms and made the task of saving the picker-house an easy task by those who gathered. The boiler-room in the basement was of fire-proof construction and was left intact.

In addition to the main building, which was filled with the most modern machinery, a large order of blankets ready for shipment, was a total loss. The building was of solid brick, two stories, and part-basement containing boiler-room.

Mr. E. A. Walshaw, who resides in Toronto, was notified and was soon on the scene. Mr. Walshaw later placed the loss at between $175,000 and $200,000, covered by insurance. He also announced that the mill would be re-erected at an early date.

The origin of the fire is a complete mystery. Mr. Lockwood visited the mill at 7 o'clock the previous evening and there was no fire in the boiler later than Tuesday noon although the plant had been in operation until 6 o'clock. The fire was first noticed by Mrs. Lockwood shortly after 4 o'clock.

Bolton Woollen Mill has been successfully operated by the Walshaw family, father and son, for forty years, first by the late J. Walshaw and later by his son, E. A. Walshaw. The firm name, for many years, has been "J. Walshaw & Son Limited." Bed blankets were the chief production of the mill.

This is the fourth time the mill has been destroyed by fire. The original frame building was burned about thirty years ago. This was replaced by a three-storey brick building, then by a one-storey structure, the one just burned being two-storey with basement containing scouring and boiler rooms.

The destruction of the mill is a severe loss to the village, and the announcement by Mr. Walshaw that he will rebuild will be received by the employees and the public generally with the greatest satisfaction. The normal staff of the mill is forty, some of whom have been regularly employed for thirty-five years.—The Bolton Enterprise.

Legislative Halls of Prince Edward Island

The Garden Province of Prince Edward Island has for its capital Charlottetown, a city of wide, tree shaded streets, beautiful parks, splendid public buildings and fine homes. Being situated on the Canadian National Railways and at the junction of three rivers and Hillsborough Bay, it has fine facilities by rail and water for the transportation of the products of its industries. There is about the city a most homelike, attractive appearance. In front of the Legislative Buildings, which are grouped with admirable taste in the park-like heart of the city, there is a large open square, which gives to that portion of the city an old-world atmosphere. Charlottetown was included in the Canadian Weekly Press Association's itinerary over the Canadian National Railways. The photograph shows the Parliament Buildings with a stretch of the beautiful park in front of them.

MEEKS–ALLEN

On Wednesday, June 27th, a pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. Alvin Allen, Mono, when Mrs. Mary Emma Allen, formerly of Proton, became the bride of Mr. James Meeks of the same place. During the ceremony the happy couple stood under an arch of evergreens, roses and orange lillies on the beautiful lawn. Rev. Mr. Hartley, of Shelburne, officiated. Little Miss Ethel Allen was flower-girl and looked charming in pink silk. The bride was attired in brown polo cloth.

The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace, to the flower girl a gold bracelet and necklace, and to the organist a gold bar pin.

The bride received many costly and beautiful presents showing the high esteem in which she is held.

Friends present from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Patton and daughter, Miss Bernice, Proton; Mrs. Robt. Mills and son, Thomas, Dundalk; also friends from Shelburne, Everett and Mono Centre.

Mr. and Mrs. Meeks left on the 6.30 train for Hamilton, Toronto and other points. On their return they will reside at Primrose.—Dundalk Herald.

RICHARDSON–MORROW

A pretty weddig was solemnized on Wednesday June 27th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Morrow, Dundalk, when their daughter, Dorothy Letitia, was united in matrimony to Ernest Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Richardson, of Laurel. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Mr. Rackham, Laurel, in the presence of a large number of guests. The bridal party stood in front of a bank of ferns, the bride being prettily attired in crepe de chene over white satin, and wearing an embroidered veil with wreath of orange blossoms. Little Del Harrison was flower-girl, and Donald Grosskurth, ring-bearer.

Among the guests from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. E. Richardson, Miss Bessie Richardson, Laurel; Miss Jennie Richardson, Toronto; Mr. Art. Richardson, Hespeler; Mr. and Mrs. Grosskurth, Miss Mullins, of Laurel; Mrs. Banks, Davidson, Sask.; Mrs. (Rev.) Couch, Harold and Herbert Couch, Wasaga Beach; T. Hemphill, Miss Maud Hempill, Ceylon; W. H. Hemphill, Misses Fannie and Edith Hemphill, Flesherton; Mr and Mrs. Geo. McVicar, Hopeville; Mrs. Robt. Watkins, Mr. and Mrs. Barton and son, Bobbie, Toronto.

ALTON

Mr. Barnes, of Bolton, is visiting his friend Mrs. Robt. Dods.

Mr. Orion Barker is home from the West on a visit to his mother, Mrs. Lemon.

Mr. John Lovell and children are spending a week at Niagara and Toronto.

In the recent music examinations all the candidates prepared by Miss Margaret Meek were successful.

Canadian Academy of Music—Primary Piano, 1st class hon., Marion Cameron. Miss Hope Barber was successful in passing her Elementary Piano.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Porter left on Monday for Elmira, where they have taken over a motion picture business.

Mrs. T. Meek has finished her work as a summer speaker for the Institute. She reports a very enjoyable and successful trip.

STILL–STILL

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Still, Glencross, was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding on Wednesday, July 4th, 1923, when their second daughter, Willa Hilda, was united in marriage to Mr. Albert Edward Still, second son of Mrs. Alexander Still, of Mono Centre. The Rev. Mr. Coutts, of Camilla, conducted the service in the presence of the very near relatives of the bride and groom. Promptly at eleven o'clock the bride, who was given away by her father, entered the parlor and took her place beneath an arch of evergreens beautifully decorated with orange blossoms, white ribbon and bells. The bride was becomingly gowned in white satin draped with radium lace and wore a sterling silver bar pin with diamond setting, the gift of the groom, and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations, sweetheart roses and maidenhair fern. After receiving the congratulations, the happy couple led the way to the dining room, where a dainty luncheon was served by two girl friends of the bride. The bride received many useful and costly gifts. Later Mr. and Mrs. Still left amid showers of confetti and good wishes for a short honeymoon trip by motor to Muskoka going by way of Bala, Burk's Falls and Magnanetewan, the bride travelling in a navy blue suit and small white hat. Upon their return they will make their home on the groom's farm, 2nd line, east, Mono. The good wishes of their many friends go with them on their journey through life.

On the Monday evening previous the friends and neighbors surprised the bride by presenting her with a kitchen shower. The evening was spent in music and dancing, after which a lunch was served

IN MEMORIAM

In ever loving memory of Mrs. John Conley, who died very suddenly July 10th, 1918.

The midnight stars are gleaming
On a lone and silent grave;
Beneath sleeps one we love,
But one we could not save.

Ten years have passed and gone,
But, oh, we miss you mother, dear,
We see your empty chair,
We miss you in our home,
We miss you every where;
But there's nothing left to answer,
but your photo on the wall.

This day brings back sad memories
Of one who went away,
To be with God in Heaven,
In your heavenly home to dwell.

Her cheery ways, her smiling face,
Are a pleasure to recall;
She had a kindly word for all,
And died beloved by all.

Oh, we could not keep the years back
When we looked on her sweet face
We loved her, yes, we loved her,
But Jesus loved her more.
And He has safely called her
To yonder shining shore.

Mrs. William Rawn (daughter)

Oh darling grandma, how we miss you,
Only God can tell;
For in our aching hearts we know
We have no grandma now.

Your hands were clasped upon your breast,
We kissed your lifeless brow,
The face we loved so well in life,
In lying now beneath the sod.

'Tis hard to part from friends we love,
Never shall your image fade,
Loving thoughts will always linger
In the grave where grandma's laid.

The golden gates were opened,
A gentle voice said "come,"
And with farewells unspoken,
She calmly entered home.

PRESENTATION TO SCHOOL TEACHER

On Thursday evening, 28th June, the families of S. S. No. 7, Chinguacousy, gathered at the home of Mr. J. H. Taylor in a farewell party to Miss Grosskurth, who has completed a term of four years as teacher in that section. Mr. R. McCulloch, one of the trustees, took the chair and called on Andrew Henderson and Bessie Carnwell on behalf of the scholars to present Miss Grosskurth with a handsome tray and glassware, along with an appreciative address, which testified to four years of faithful service and of friendships formed which will last in the memories of parents and children. A very pleasant evening was spent, short speeches were made by men and women of the section, all speaking in praise of the good service rendered by the teacher. Messrs. Carnwell, Jos. M. Dolson, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. R. Henderson, who came over to join in the good wishes of all, also Mr. Taylor, at whose home the people met, all spoke kind words of appreciation. The teacher replied fittingly, thanking her scholars for their gift and address and the people for their kind expressions of regard and their appreciation of her work in the section.—Brampton Banner

PRESENTATION TO TEACHER

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Holmes, of Caledon, on Friday, June 29th, when the friends and pupils of Union S. S. No. 20, Mono and Caledon, gathered to present their teacher, Miss Sadie Rayburn, with an onyx ring and bar pin in a pretty little basket and the following address:—

Dear Miss Rayburn,—

It is with regret that we have learned that you are about to sever your connection with U. S. S. No. 20. In the last three years you have made many friends and many people have looked to you as a kind, true friend rather than a school teacher. The good times we have enjoyed together during your residence in the section will never be forgotten, and we ask you to accept this gift as a remembrance from the section. We trust that wherever you may be good luck and prosperity may be yours. Our kindest thoughts and best wishes go with you.

From U. S. S. No. 20, Mono and Caledon.

HELEN RAWN.
LILA STUBBS.
OLIVE HOLMES.

Miss Helena Rawn read the address and Miss Lila Stubbs made the presentation. Miss Rayburn expressed her gratitude in a few well-chosen words.

A PRESENTATION

At a meeting of the Whittington Methodist Church Ladies Aid Society held at the home of Mrs. William Farnell, Mrs. James White, a valued member of the Society, was presented with a Salad Bowl, and an address of appreciation on the eve of her departure for her new home in Orangeville. Mrs. White has been zealous in the work of the society for a great many years and her removal is keenly regretted by the ladies of the Whittington church and the community at large. Mr. White, who has been an excellent citizen and a valued member and officer of the church, will also be very much missed. The best wishes of all their friends in the Whittington neighborhood accompany them to their new home in Orangeville. The address read:

Whittington, June 28th, 1923

To Mrs. Jas. White.

Dear Mrs. White,—

We, your friends and co-workers in the Whittington Ladies' Aid, have learned of your approaching departure from our midst. Words fail to express our regret at your removal from our church and community. As a member, and later as President of our Ladies Aid, you have proven to be a willing worker in the Master's vineyard. You have endeared yourself to us by your amiability and your unselfish service to our society, to our church and to the community at large. Your regularity in attendance at the meetings of our society and the church services has been a worthy example for us. Your absence will be much felt and when we see your vacant place you may be sure that with loving thoughts we will remember you.

Our loss however will be another's gain, for we know that while you and Mr. White take a well earned rest from the work of the farm you will be found untiring workers in every good cause.

We ask you as a slight remembrance of the Whittington Ladies Aid to accept this Salad Bowl. When you use it may it recall to you happy memories of your friends and co-workers at Whittington.

May God's richest blessing rest upon you and may you be spared many years to continue your good work.

Signed on behalf of the Whittington Ladies Aid

Mrs. S. Cruikshank,
Mrs. A. White.

Mrs. White made a feeling reply in which she thanked the ladies for their kindly remembrance and spoke in appreciative terms of the friendships and associations of the Whittington neighborhood.

JUSTICE FOR THE POOR

Do the Canadian Courts afford sufficient means of defence for those accused of contravention of the provisions of our Criminal Code? This is a question that is frequently asked and it is often answered in the negative by those who have intimate knowledge of our processes of law. Many of those who are dissatisfied with the present system suggest that it might be considerably improved if Public Defenders were appointed in connection with the Courts in our larger centres of population. The Public Defender would be an eminent attorney whose duty it would be to conduct the defense for any poor person unable to retain private council. Like the Crown Prosecuting Attorney he would be paid a salary from the public funds and he would hold office during good behavior.

The arguments in favour of such a system are numerous and are voiced by men of influence and wide experience in both Canada and the United States. For instance the Hon. T. L. Woolwine, a California attorney, who holds a position corresponding to that of a Crown Prosecutor in Canada, says: "The office of Public Defender was created for the protection of those too weak to help themselves. No man should be convicted of crime without having had the opportunity of making a proper legal defense, and it is to my mind a duty of the state to provide him with such defense if he is unable otherwise to secure it." This attorney, in company with many other attorneys and judges in those cities of the United States where Public Defenders have been appointed, holds the opinion that a permanent salaried official of this sort can conduct the defense of indigent prisoners better than any other person. In many courts it is customary to assign cases to any lawyer who happens to be willing to undertake the defense for the consideration of a fee of about $25 provided out of public funds. Under this latter system, as may be conjectured, accused persons have not always received adequate defense. Too frequently inefficient lawyers who could make no better living have hung around court rooms in the hope of picking up assignments of this sort, with the result that the defense has over and over again been inadequate or perfunctory. The Public Defender, on the other hand, would be an attorney of experience and ability. Not only would his work be more efficient but it would cost the public less to provide his annual salary than to dole out fees to special lawyers.

Several cities in the United States have adopted the Public Defender system as an experiment and later have confirmed it as a permanent feature of their court system. Testimony from all of these cities confirms the statement of Judge Frank R. Willis. It was he who said after noting the results of the system in his own department: "I find that instead of the ordinary methods of defendant's attorneys in trying to secure an acquittal by any or all kinds of means, legitimate or otherwise, the Public Defender has uniformly endeavored to present the facts of each case thoroughly to the jury, and tried to secure only such verdict as the facts of the case would warrant. It has been a great saving to the county in the matter of expense and has usually been productive of a more fair and impartial administration of justice than the method formerly employed of appointing attorneys, unfamiliar with criminal law to represent the defendant's interest."

When the Canadian public has had opportunity to discuss the ever-increasing mass of evidence as to the efficacy and satisfactory results of the Public Defender system it is not improbable that there will arise a clear demand for its adoption in this country as a method which will ensure justice for the poor.

THE GEM THEATRE

Mr. Alan Maxwell, the proprietor of The Gem Theatre, has generously turned the theatre over to the Orangeville Boys' Council on Monday and Tuesday of next week. This means that the proceeds of the shows on these two nights will go to the Boys and will help swell the fund for the Swimming Pool. Monte Christo, a William Fox production from the popular novel by Alexandre Dumas, will be presented both nights. A play of this outstanding character should ensure large houses and give the Boys' Council a good return from Mr. Maxwell's generous offer.

—After a protracted illness Mrs. John Graham died at her home in Alliston on Sunday morning, July 1st, at the age of 80 years. The funeral was held on Tuesday following her death, interment taking place in Alliston.

—Rev. J. A. McConnell, at one time pastor of The Maples and Waldemar Presbyterian churches and a well-known member of the Presbytery of Orangeville, is now pastor of Carmel Presbyterian Church at Hensall in the Presbytery of Huron.

—Mr R. J. Donaldson 6th line, Mono, saw a full-sized doe on his farm on the 2nd of July. The doe followed one of the fences for some distance at a leisurely pace until she found an opening to her liking, then jumped through and was speedily lost to view.

—John Donaghy, deputy registrar of Peel County, was taken to a Toronto hospital last week with a bullet wound in his left hand, the result of an accident while cleaning a revolver. The bullet was broken when it struck the bone of the hand and lodged in dangerous proximity to two main arteries.

—On Saturday, June 30th., Mr. A. W. Wright, the veteran editor of the Mount Forest Confederate, completed twenty-one years of newspaper work in Mount Forest. Commenting upon this interesting fact Mr. Wright expresses the hope that he has cut not only his eye teeth but also his wisdom teeth. The Banner extends its best wishes for the future.

—While unloading coal for H. White & Co., of Shelburne, a week ago Tuesday morning, Mr. R. H. Galbraith was in some way caught between the wagon and a coal car that was being shunted into position and had his collar bone broken and two ribs fractured. One horse pulled clear out of the harness and the harness and the other horse was shoved to one side by the moving car but was not injured.

OUR HOLIDAY WEEK

Next week The Banner will take its annual midsummer holiday, and consequently there will not be another issue of the paper until Thursday, July 26th. The office will be open as usual for general business and orders for job work will receive prompt attention.

—Mrs. Wm. Robbins, of Toronto, was in town for a couple of days last week.

—Orangeville Lawn Bowling Club is holding its fourteenth annual tournament on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

—Mr. and Mrs. James White, of Whittington, have moved to town and are now comfortably settled in their new home on Second St. We welcome them to town.

—Misses Ina Porter and Coral Irwin, of the Orangeville Public School staff, have resigned and are accepting positions in New Toronto. Their loss will be regretted in the school and social life of the town.

—Mr. W. T. Rawn, of the Mono-Caledon townline, was struck and quite seriously injured on Friday last by a car driven by Mr. Claude Pownall, of Orillia, formerly of Orangeville. Mr. Rawn is foreman on the county road between Orangeville and Mono Mills and was working on the highway at the time.

—The oiling of Orangeville streets referred to in The Banner two weeks ago, has been completed. The Council has made an excellent job and the dust nuisance seems to have been effectually abated for this year. Mayor Jeffers and the Council are to be complimented on the excellent work they have done on the streets of the town.

—Mono Mills L. O. L. No. 192 and members from a number of the neighboring lodges attended divine service in the Anglican Church in Mono Mills on Sunday night. There was a large turnout of the brethren. The fife and drum band of Mona Britons Lodge made its first public appearance, furnishing excellent music for the march. The band was under the leadership of Mr. Thos. Pressley, of Orangeville.

LACROSSE JABS

At Alton on Monday afternoon the home team was defeated by Inglewood 8 goals to 0. Alton team is not getting many goals this summer, but it is certainly getting a fine lot of experience that will stand the players in good stead for another season. Although Inglewood got six of their goals in the first period, that ended their fast work. They did not get another till the third period and only one more in the fourth. Following are the players:—

After a hard battle between Caledon and Connor lacrosse teams on the grounds of the latter on Saturday evening, the result was a tie, 1 to 1. The spectators declare it one of the best games in the Caledon-Erin League. Connor scored their goal in the first period, and Caledon made theirs in the third. The players were:

Connor—T. Baxter, goal; R. Leggatt, point; J. Baxter, cover; C. Baxter, L. Leggatt, defence; N. Leggatt, centre, H. Lee, Palmer, home; Rolley, outside; Dr. Fagan, inside; R. Lee, N. Baxter, subs.

The standing of the Caledon-Erin League to date is:

	Won	Lost	Tied
Erin	6	0	0
Inglewood	5	1	0
Connor	2	3	1
Caledon	2	3	1

WILBERT L. ALLEN

Friends hereabouts will regret the news of the death of Wilbert L. Allen, a son of Henry Allen, formerly of Mono Mills. The sad event took place at Port Dalhousie quite suddenly last Thursday morning. We understand that the young man had been summering at Port Dalhousie. The funeral was held from his home at 27 Playter Boulevard, Toronto, at 2:30 Saturday afternoon, interment taking place in Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Deceased was a cousin of Fred and Miss Jean Atkinson of this town.

SAMUEL NODWELL

Samuel Nodwell, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Nodwell, of East Garafraxa, passed away at his home in Port Elgin on Saturday night, June 30th, at the age of 62 years. Deceased was born and spent the early part of his life on the 14th line, East Garafraxa. Twenty-one years ago he was married to Miss Sarah Langford, of Camilla. For a short time after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Nodwell lived in Owen Sound, moving from that city to Port Elgin, where they have since resided. The late Mr. Nodwell is survived by his wife and a family of four sons and three daughters, who have the sympathy of all their friends in the great trial and loss that has overtaken them. Messrs. Thos. Nodwell, Toronto, George Nodwell, Grand Valley, Wm. E. and Robert Nodwell, of East Garafraxa, are brothers. Mrs. J. H. Simpson, Mrs. Urias Everson, Mrs. Will McGowan, East Garafraxa, and Mrs. Henry McGowan, Witchekan, Sask., are the sisters who survive. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon, July 3rd., interment taking place in Port Elgin Cemetery. In the absence of the Methodist minister at Port Elgin, the services were taken by Rev. Elliott, a Methodist clergyman from Owen Sound.

Among the friends from a distance at the funeral were Messrs. Wm. E. and Robt. Nodwell, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Simpson, Mrs. Will McGowan, Mrs. Urias Everson and Messrs. Will and John Simpson, East Garafraxa, and Mr. R. W. Langford, Camilla.

SUMMER COMPLAINTS KILL LITTLE ONES

At the first sign of illness during the hot weather give the little one Baby's Own Tablets, or in a few hours he may be beyond aid. These Tablets will prevent summer complaints if given occasionally to the well child and will promptly relieve these troubles if they come on suddenly. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in every home where there are growing children. There is no other medicine as good and the mother has the guarantee of a government analyst that they are absolutely safe. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail, at 25 cents a box, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NOTICE TO EGG PRODUCERS

On July 7th., 1923, the Dominion Egg Regulations became effective. This legislation demands that Eggs be bought from the producers and also that they be sold to the consumer according to grade.

To obtain the highest grading, Eggs should be gathered every day, marketed twice a week, nests should be kept clean, and eggs should never be washed. Male birds should also be separated from the fowl at this time of the year.

DEFINITION OF GRADES

SPECIALS—Eggs of uniform size weighing over 25 ozs. to the dozen or over 47 lbs. net to the 30 doz. case; absolutely clean, strong and sound in shell; air cell small, not over 3-16 of an inch in depth; white of egg to be firm and clear and yolk dimly visible; free from blood clots.

EXTRAS—Eggs of good size, weighing at least 24 ozs. to the doz. or 45 lbs. net to the 30 doz. case; clean, sound in shell, air cell less than 3-8 inch in depth; white of egg to be firm and yolk slightly visible.

No. 1's—Eggs weighing at least 23 ozs. to the dozen or 43 lbs. to the 30 dozen case; clean, sound in shell; air cell less than 1-2 inch in depth; white of egg to be reasonably firm; yolk may be quite visible but mobile, not stuck to the shell or seriously out of place; cell not necessarily stationary.

No 2's—Eggs clean; sound in shell; may contain weak, watery eggs with heavy yolks; and all other eggs sound in shell and fit for food.

Definitions of grades in class "Cracked and Dirties" to be same as for grades in Fresh Gathered class, except that the terms referring to soundness and cleanness are not to apply.

PULLET EGGS—Eggs which have the quality of Specials and Extras, but which fall short in weight, shall be known as "Pullet Specials," or "Pullet Extras," providing they weigh at least 23 ozs. to the doz. or 43 lbs. net to the 30 dozen case, in the instance of the former, and 20 oz. to the dozen or 37 1-2 lbs. net to the 30 doz. case, in the instance of the latter.

BACK ACHED TERRIBLY

Mrs. McMahon Tells How She Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chatham, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a run-down condition after the birth of my baby boy. I had terrible pains and backache, and was tired and weak, not fit to do my work and care for my three little children. One day I received your little book and read it, and gave up taking the medicine I had and began taking the Vegetable Compound. I feel much better now and am not ashamed to tell what it has done for me. I recommend it to any woman I think feels as I do." —Mrs. J. R. McMAHON, 153 Harvey St., Chatham, Ont.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has for nearly fifty years been restoring sick, ailing women to health and strength. It relieves the troubles which cause such symptoms as backache, painful periods, irregularities, tired, worn-out feelings and nervousness. This is shown again and again by such letters as Mrs. McMahon writes, as well as by one woman telling another. These women know, and are willing to tell others, what it did for them; therefore, it is surely worth your trial.

Women who suffer should write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Cobourg, Ontario, for a free copy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women." C

LODGES TO UNITE

(Intended for last week.)

For some months negotiations have been in progress looking to the the union of Orangeville's two Orange Lodges, Aaron L. O L. 427 and L. O. L. 635. A joint Committee representative of the two lodges recently formulated a basis of union, which has since been adopted by each of the interested lodges. Everything is therefore in readiness for the union, which it is expected will be effected next December by the organization of a new lodge which will operate under a new number and warrant. The existing lodges will surrender their warrants and the members will become members of the union lodge. It is expected that the union will work for the benefit of Orangeism in the county town, which should now have one of the largest lodges in the county. The two negotiating lodges have a membership of 120 or upwards.

C. W. N. A. EXCURSION

People of Maritime Provinces Lived up to Reputation for Warm-Hearted Hospitality

After a visit to Fredericton, it is possible to say that the welcome extended to the Weekly Newspapers Association leaves no doubt in the mind of any of the members as to the fact that they are as warm-hearted as they are said to be. All along the route wherever the train stopped for any length of time, the citizens of the towns and cities were out en masse to extend the freedom of the city to their visitors.

Some 180 members of the Association and their wives left Toronto on Thursday afternoon on a special Canadian Pacific train of 12 coaches, for Halifax. In fairness to the C. P. R. it must be said that the attention lavished on members and their ladies was all that could be expected and in many cases the newspapermen expressed surprise at the treatment given them. There were seven standard sleeping cars, two dining cars and an observation-compartment car on the train. The meals served in the diners were never less than six courses and the only complaint, if any could be voiced, was that the members of the Association seemed to spend the most of their time in answering calls to the dining car or in accepting the festive hospitality of some town en route.

Accompanying the train were Mr. W. B. Howard, Assistant General Passenger Agent, of Montreal, J. Harry Smith, Canadian Press Representative, Montreal, Mr. Elliott, of the Dining and Sleeping Car Service, Toronto, and the superintendents of the divisions over which the train passed. The Canadian Pacific men succeeded in every way in making things as pleasant for the members as possible and soon the greatest of good fellowship prevailed.

Leaving Toronto for Montreal via Belleville, the country around Port Hope and Bowmanville is one that might be the envy of farmers living so far inland as around Orangeville. Some of the farms are situated so that the farm buildings are within a few hundred yards of the lake, thus giving the owners the added opportunities of a summer resort. The train arrived in Montreal shortly after midnight so that, remaining there but a matter of half an hour, the party were unable to see the city or that portion of southern Quebec through which the train passed during the night, but the next morning when we were passing through Maine in its northern part, we could discern the difference in the country. Stops were made at Boonville and McAdam, in New Brunswick, just on the border. This portion of Maine and New Brunswick is thickly dotted with the Jackman lake series and from the car one could imagine that as a place to spend a few weeks, it would rank next to our Own Muskoka.

From McAdam, the train passed down to Fredericton Jct. and back in a north-easterly direction to Fredericton, the capital of the province of New Brunswick. This city is one of the prettiest in the Dominion and boasts avenues of shade trees, while the St. John River, more than three-quarters of a mile wide, makes a semi-circle around the town, the other half being completed by the hills.

The people in Fredericton were not a bit behind their friends elsewhere along the route and did all in their power to make the members feel at home. Automobiles were waiting in scores to conduct the party to one of the city churches where another of the famous New Brunswick luncheons was served. Lieut. Governor Todd and a member of the Legislature tendered a warm official welcome and speedily obtained the interest of his hearers bby relating a story that had to do with newspapermen. It seems that a weekly paper was instituted in one of the large prisons of the United States but was forced to suspend publication not on account of lack of funds or readers but because they could not get an editor. After the laughter died down, the speaker further convulsed them by adding that the advice given was that the authorities should try a daily newspaper. This paper was warmly received of course, since the weekly publishers are more or less critical of their daily contempories and the manner in which sometimes, they conduct their papers.

But the festivities had onll begun. From the church the members were taken around the city in autos and after viewing the various points of interest including the silver fox ranch where there are 40 pairs of foxes together with scores of young ones, an invitation was extended on behalf of the Lt.-Governor of N. Brunswick to the Parliament Buildings There the premier of the province, and the Lieut.-Gov. delivered addresses, the gist of which was that New Brunswick wanted it unnderstood for once and for all that there was nothing in the talked about secession from the Dominion. The daily newspapers this morning carried more than half a column featuring the needs of the province, its grievances, etc., as enlarged upon by the speakers.

A speaker from British Columbia struck a warm note when he urged that all members of parliament should be obliged to visit the various parts of the Dominion in order to obtain a national view of the situation in the coast province where the "yellow peril" was a much more realistic danger than the east supposed. Such a grip had been obtained by the Orientals, said he, that a revision of the immigration laws was a pressing necessity. This speech followed those of the men from New Brunswick who also urged that the members of the Press Association try to inculcate in their papers a spirit more national and broader than had hitherto been the case. Such a power as the weekly newspaper with its readers who practically devoured every word contained therein could be made greater and of more benefit to the Dominion as a whole if they accepted the arguments presented

Speaking about Fredricton, one of the members of the party while brousing around, discovered a plate on one of the buildings on Queen Street, the main "drag", placed there in 1901 by the Daughters of the Empire to the effect that the house on which the plate was placed had been first used in 1758 by the first Governor in New Brunswick. In was in excellent repair and was being used as a store. A feature of the building was its strength. Hand made shingles that would be the envy and despair of the owner of a lumber yard, at least a foot square and an inch and a half thick covered the walls of this historic house and from the man who had charge of the building, it was possible to learn that there was at least a foot of plaster between the struppings and the exterior of the walls.

Not satisfied with viewing the house, this member further investigated and was successful in securing one of the hand-wrought nails which had been driven into the shingles and which were few indeed.

Following the welcome, a reception was held in the Legislature following which an orchestra aided in no mean manner the progress of a dance. Canvas spread on the floor saved the carpet.

What was painful to some of the members who remained to the last and who seemingly believed that Fredricton had some of the prettiest girls in the Dominion, was the fact that during the reception, the train had been switched from the C.P.R. to the C. N. R. tracks and had gone across the river for ice and water. It is said that a few of the members of the party, became lost and wandered around Fredricton yards half the night trying to locate the train. Of course they deny it but on the authority of one of the train crew, one man finally located the baggage car which had been left in the yard and went to sleep on a trunk.

This particular person speaking of the event later, confessed it was rather late when he located the train but was most voiciferous on the subject of a robin which was naturally up early, and which perched on a telegraph pole conveniently near his window in the car. He said that never in his life before, did he want to do harm to a robin as he did then.

After leaving Fredricton, the train was little more than three hours in reaching St. John, Canada's national sea port, noted among other things for its wonderful reversible falls. Unfortunately when the train passed over the bridge near the falls, the tide was low and little or nothing could be seen.

The complete personel of the special train party of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association was as follows:—

Follow this simple rule to have lovely, gleaming hair

Never shampoo your hair without olive oil, hair specialists warn. To do so is to leave hair dry, dull, brittle—all its rich warmth of color and life gone. No hair can be beautiful unless clean, they say. Nor can hair be beautiful without the glossy sheen so much admired.

Therefore—use olive oil shampoo.

You see prettier hair everywhere, today. Women have learned that the most delightful form of olive oil hair wash is PALMOLIVE SHAMPOO.

It is convenient for home use, and most economical—costing but a fraction of what you'd pay to have the same treatment from a specialist.

It cleanses away all dirt and oil—thoroughly removes dandruff. And it leaves hair fluffy, soft, pliant as a baby's; with the gleaming sheen of new silk.

Send coupon today for free 15c-size trial bottle. Or get full-size bottle at your dealer's. Use it. Results will amaze you—after even one shampooing.

ISAAC MOORE

Another former resident of Shelburne passed away quite unexpectedly at his home in Toronto on Thursday, June 21st, in the person of Isaac Moore, who, previous to seven years ago, was C. P. R. section foreman at Shelburne. The deceased was ill only about one week, his death being due to an abscess on the brain. He was bitten on the neck by a black fly, from which blood poisoning developed and it settled on the brain. The late Mr. Moore was about 48 years of age and is survived by his widow and two sons, Stewart and Elwin. Three brothers and two sisters also survive. The funeral took place from his late residence, 266 Western Ave., West Toronto, on the Saturday afternoon following, interment being made in Prospect Cemetery. The funeral was under Masonic auspices.

There were 1,000 fewer votes polled in Kincardine on June 25th than in the 1919 provincial contest. Similiar conditions prevailed in many other urban municipalities.

Christ Church Cathedral, Fredericton

Fredericton, the capital of New Brunswick, was one of the cities visited by the Canadian Weekly Press Association on their itinerary over the Canadian National Railways recently. The city, located on the St. John River, is one of the prettiest in the Maritime Provinces. It has a population of 10,000 and contains many beautiful homes as well as the Parliament buildings, University of New Brunswick, Geological Museum and Christ Church Cathedral, one of the stateliest religious edifices in Eastern Canada. Splendid motoring roads connect with the main highways of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and the New England States. The photograph shows Christ Church Cathedral, which is patterned after the type of old English churches found in the motherland. It contains a beautiful stained glass chancel window presented by the Episcopal Church in the United States.

Canadian National Railway's Solid Steel Press Special.

This magnificent train was that which carried delegates to the annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' Association, through the Maritime Provinces and back to Toronto. It was composed of the best equipment which the Canadian National Railways could furnish. There were seven standard sleepers of the latest design, two modern diners with special crews, a specially equipped baggage car, a tourist car for the use of the train crew and a locomotive engine of the transcontinental type. From start to finish the train was of solid steel construction and excited much interest and admiration among the delegates and at all points visited.

The special was the longest all steel passenger train ever run over the Atlantic division of any Canadian railroad. The sleeping cars were similar to those used on the transcontinental run of the Canadian National Railways and they found much favor among the 200 passengers on board, all of whom expressed themselves as being astonished at the accommodation, comfort and convenience which these sleeping cars provided. The dining cars found similar favor in the eyes of the passengers and, in fact, the whole train from the engine to the last car was the subject of many compliments from all on board.

Accompanying the delegates were the following members of the Canadian National Railways staff: C. K. Howard, General Tourist Agent, Montreal; F. W. Robertson, General Passenger Agent, Moncton; A. H. Lindsay, Advertising Agent, Moncton; H. C. MacFarlane, District Passenger Agent, Halifax; F. L. Dougan, Travelling Passenger Agent, Moncton and G. H. Lash, Publicity Representative, Montreal.

PRINCE OF WALES ROAD - ORANGEVILLE

TEACHER HONORED

At a picnic held on the school grounds of the Granger school in Mono on Thursday, June 28th, the pupils and people of the section presented the teacher, Miss Evelyn Gallaugher, with a cut glass water set and the following appreciative address:—

Dear Miss Gallaugher,—

The pupils and members of S. S. No. 9, Mono, desire at this time to express to you their sincere regret at losing you as their teacher, and at the same time to convey toyou their hearty appreciation of your valued services during the two years you have spent with them.

We know that the faithfulness in the discharge of your duties on innumerable occasions and your eagerness to help both in school work and in the community in general have oftentimes caused you many sacrifices. And now in recognition of your services so generously given, we ask you to accept this water set, not as a gift in any way adequate to the faithfulness shown us, but merely as a slight token of our appreciation for you. We feel we shall all miss you very much, but we hope you will always retain among your new friends a small corner of remembrance for the friends you have left behind in Granger, and may God's richest blessings rest upon you.

Signed in behalf of S. S. No. 9, Mono

THE 12TH IN ERIN

Dufferin County Orangemen Have Splendid Afternoon in Stanley Park.

Dufferin County Orangemen and several of the Lodges of Wellington and Peel counties celebrated the 12th of July in Erin Village. The demonstration attracted an immense crowd and the village was filled to overflowing with Orangemen and their friends. Some thirty-four lodges took part in the afternoon procession, which came to a close at Stanley Park, where a varied programme of speaking, music, games and other entertainment was provided by the Erin brethren. The order of the procession was:—

Mounted Marshalls

County Master J. J. White presided during the speaking. Excellent addresses were delivered by Rev. D. G. Atkinson, C. R. McKeown, Reeve Ircine, of Arthur, and a number of other speakers. Erin defeated Caledon East at lacrosse 5 to 3 and Fergus girls downed the Erin girls at basket ball by a score of 6 to 2. Foot races were keenly contested.

Lodge coming the longest distance, not deciding dressed ladies lodge, Arthur; L. O. B. A.; best dressed men's lodge, Huttonville L. O. L. 211; best marching ladies lodge, Mono Mills True Blues; best marching men's lodge, Shelburne Young Britons; oldest Orangeman in parade, Jas. Brown, Erin.

The Irish drummers from Earl Kitchener, lodge, Toronto, who headed L. O. L. 685, Orangeville, and the fine fife and drum band of the Mono Britons lodge were two of the popular attractions of the day. The Irishmen had everything trimmed by a mile, the drums to kicking up a noise. The big drums could be heard for miles and when the drummers got busy nothing else could be heard

A MISUNDERSTANDING

The following communication copied from one of the Toronto newspapers, is self-explanatory:—

"Mrs. M. A.—I understand that there was some misunderstanding as to my knowing your daughter previous to a party held in Toronto a short time ago. This is not correct as I have known your daughter for over two years and it was I who took her to the party, and there were no unfavorable remarks passed about the young woman, as she is a perfect lady."

C. FERGUSON.

BABY'S GREAT DANGER DURING HOT WEATHER

More little ones die during the hot weather than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, dysentry, cholera infantum and stomach troubles come without warning, and when a medicine is not at hand to give promptly the short delay too frequently means that the child has passed beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in the house where there are young children. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if the trouble comes suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will relieve the baby. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HEALTH FOR WEAK DESPONDENT PEOPLE

From End to End of Canada Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Doing Good Work.

There is not a nook or corner in Canada in the cities, towns, villages and on the farms, where Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have not been used and from one end of the country to the other people sound their praise. You have only to ask your neighbors and they can tell you of some run down man, suffering woman, ailing youth or unhappy anemic girl who owe their present health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The success of this medicine is due to the fact that it acts directly upon the blood, making it rich and pure, and thus brings new strength to every organ and nerve in the body. Mr. Andrew F. Webb, Melanson, N. S., tells what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for him as follows:—"I was in a run down condition from overwork and what the doctor called a nervous breakdown. My sister urged me to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills. After taking several boxes I improved wonderfully and feel like a different person. I sleep well, eat well, and my nerves are stronger and with confidence I can recommend these pills to all weak run down people."

If you are suffering from any condition due to poor, watery blood, or weak nerves, begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills now, and note how your strength and health will improve. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or they will be sent by mail, post paid, at 50c a box from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ARNOTT REUNION

"The Homestead," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Arnott, Grey County, was the scene of a happy gathering on Saturday, June 30th, when the Arnotts, numbering about sixty-five, assembled on the spacious lawn with one object in view, to make this 1923 Arnott reunion a memorable one, which they assuredly did.

The family had spared no pains in arranging everything for the comfort of their guests. The long tables,groaning under the weight of good things, were laid under the evergreens. Dinner being served at 12:30, all were able to do ample justice to the delicious repast, after which speeches were made. Toasts to "Our Country," "The Arnott Reunion" and "The King's Heath" were proposed and responded to. A letter from Dr. Henry Arnott, Sr., of Hamilton, who was unable to be present, was read and enjoyed by all. A delightful afternoon was spent with music, sports and old time chats. The tea, which rivalled the dinner, was served at 5:30, and best of all, an invitation was extended to all to remain over the week end, which invitation it may be safely said that half a hundred accepted.

Before dispersing, a vote of thanks was tendered the host and hostess and their assistants for their endeavor to make the day what it was—The Best Yet.

WALKER–RUSK

Bonar Presbyterian Church, Toronto, was the scene of a quiet, but pretty wedding when Ethel, daughter of Mrs. Mary Rusk, Margueretta street, and of the late Alexander Rusk, of Mono Mills, became the wife of Mr. Robert Alexander Walker, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Walker, of Mono Road. Rev. N. A. McEachren officiated. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Walker left for a honeymoon trip through New York State. The bride went away in a suit of navy blue Poiret twill with grey hat trimed with ostrich plumes to match. On their return they will go to their summer home. Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be at home to their friends in Toronto in September.

M'GUIRE–BYFIELD

In the presence of many friends and relatives, a quiet marriage was solemnized at St. John's Church, Norway, at 8 o' clock Friday morning, July 13, when Gwendolyn Christine, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Byfield, was united in marriage to William Horace McGuire, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blaney McGuire of Orangeville.. Rev. Canon W. L. Baynes-Reed officiated. The bride, who was given away by her father, entered the church to the strains of the wedding march. She was clad in a quaint gown of grey canton crepe and wore a grey hat with touches of blue and a white fox fur. Her corsage bouquet was of white roses and lily of the valley. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Betty Thompson Mackenzie sang "Because." Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. McGuire left on a motor trip through Ontario, the bride travelling in a blue Jersey suit wth facings of white and a French sport hat. They will reside on West Broadway, Orangeville.

DYER–TAYLOR

At Victoria Presbyterian Church, Toronto, Rosalie, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Taylor, of Humbervale, became the bride of J. Lindsay Dyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dyer, of Rockwood. Rev. C. E. Dyer, brother of the groom, and Rev. D. T. L. McKerroll, offciated. The bride wore a bridal gown of white kitten's ear crepe trimmed with seed pearls and a veil of Brussels net with a wreath of Orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white sweetheart roses. The groom was attended by his brother, J. H. Dyer, of Armstrong, and Miss L. McGiven, wearing a gown of orchid taffeta and picture hat to match, and carried a spray of Ophelia roses, was bridesmaid. Mrs. George McLaren, who wore a dress of white crepe de chine and carried a spray of Ophelia roses, acted as matron of honor. After the wedding ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Storey on Watson Ave. The bride and groom will live at Cochrane.

WATSON–STANDING

Inglewood was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday, July 11th, when Miss Mary Standing daughter of Mrs. Standing and the late Robt. Standing, of Inglewood, became the bride of Bazil Edmund Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Watson of Caledon. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's mother, where the knot was tied by Rev. Dr. Spence, the young couple taking their places before an arch of evergreens, banked with daisies. The bride was brought in and given away by her brother, Windsor Standing, and the wedding music was played by Mrs Windsor Standing The bride wore a beautiful gown of white silk canton crepe de chine, with hat to match real orange blossoms and her wedding bouquet was of white roses and lillies of the valley. After the ceremony the young couple received the congratulations of their relatives and friends, some forty guests partaking afterwards of a delicious luncheon. Mr. and Mrs. Watson motored to Brampton and took the train for Toronto, where they took the boat for a trip to the Thousand Islands. The bride went away in a handsome gown of fawn and brown crepe de rhine, with hat to match and a cloak of fawn and navy blue French poirette twill. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Watson will reside on the groom's farm in Caledon. The bride received a large number of very handsome gifts, and wore the gift of the groom, a handsome string of pearls.

TRAGIC DEATH

A Sad Fatality in Arthur Township.

One of the saddest fatalities in the history of this community was that by which William Norman Rendall, of Arthur Township, lost his life on Wednesday afternoon last. The sympathy of a host of friends is extended to the bereaved parents and family in the irreparable loss they have so suddenly sustained. The deceased who was a fine robust young fellow, aged eighteen years, one month and twenty-eight days, was assisting a neighbor, Mr. John Clements. They were working around the barn with the team. The boy left the horses for a minute about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, while he went over to the pump for a drink. For some reason or other the animals attempted to run away and dashed out into the yard. The unfortunate boy ran to the waggon, jumped into the box and caught the lines. Just as he picked them up the team crashed into a tree. The neckyoke was broken and the animals advanced one on each side of the tree. The shock threw the boy forward on the doubletree and he was terribly crushed between the end of the wagon box and the tree. So great was the force of the impact that a heavy rock-elm doubletree was snapped and the harness was entirely stripped from one of the horses. Mr. and Mrs. Clements rushed out to the boy's assistance, he was in a semi-conscious state when lifted from the wagon. His mother was sent for and he was carried across to his own home where he passed away about forty minutes after the accident. The deceased was in every way an exemlary young man, who was popular with allwho knew him, and his tragic demise cast a gloom over the entire neighborhood.

His funeral which was very largely attended took place on Friday forenoon from the residence of his parents to Greenfield Cemetery. The services at the house and grave were conducted by his pastor, Rev. C. G. Treanor of St. Andrew's Church. Those who acted as pallbearers were Alex. Mainland, John Hawkins, Wm. Robertson, Clifford Edmonson, Harry Murray, and T. Mainland. — Arthur News-Enterprise.

PIONEER CLIMBS MONUMENT

Caledon East Man at Ninty-two is Hale and Hearty—Attends Church Every Sunday

At 92 years of age Alexander Forsythe Cranston, a pioneer of Peel County and a resident of Caledon East, climbed Brock's Monument on Tuesday, thus breaking the existing record made by a "lad of 90," a few years ago.

When asked about his feat, he said: "I just thought I would go up, so I went. I had never seen the country from that height before. It was a new experience for me. I felt a little stiff on Wednesday but that is all gone now.

Mr. Cranston came to Canada from Crawford, Lanarkshire, Scotland, where he was born. He speaks with a rich accent of his race. The voyage from Scotland was made on a sailing ship carrying 700 people, and occupying nine weeks. He continued up to Toronto by water from the port of landing, Quebec. From the former city he journeyed to Caledon, Peel County, where he made his home. As years passed he became known as the owner of one of the largest and best saw mills in remember when "we used to draw the district. Old timers of Peel still logs to Alex. Cranston's saw mill." In conjunction with the mill he operated a large farm.

Still Enjoys Curling

Despite his 92 years he still takes a great delight in the winter sport of curling, and, like good wine, he improves with age. A treasured possession is a set of brass-handled "stones" passed down from father to son for many generations. He celebrated his birthday on Friday, and Tuesday put the younger generation to shame by climbing the monument.

In 1913 Mr. Cranston visited his native heath and there saw his sister, who was eight years old at the time of his departure, for the first time in 60 years.

He married Hannah Wilson, of Halton County, and on the homestead raised seven children. All children are living in Canada, the land of their birth. They are: Mrs. J. M. Glassford of Winchester; C. J. Cranston of Mono Road; Rev. J. A. Cranston, of Kew Beach; R. J. Cranston, living on the old homestead at Caledon; Rev. R. A. Cranston, of Trenton; Rev. W. J. Cranston, of Transley, and D. L. Cranston, vice-principal of the Collegiate Institute at Port Arthur. There are 14 grandchildren.

Every Sunday Mr. Cranston attends church, following his habit formed in the days of his youth. He has been an elder in the Presbyterian Church for many years.

GREAT LACROSSE PLAYED IN RAIN

Dufferins and Maitlands Tie at the Beach—Locals Stage Great Rally in Final Period of Game

The report of the Dufferin-Maitland lacrosse game,, which appears below, is taken from the Toronto Evening Telegram. The game took place at Scarboro Beach on Saturday afternoon and the reporter who wrote the account of the battle is a member of the Maitland club. The report is as follows:

The Orangeville-Maitland tie was the fastest scoring, most spectacular lacrosse battle played this season, and the largest crowd of the year was served up a thrilling brand of the game under the worst possible conditions. The play was not always of the best, loose work at both ends having much to do with the big score, but the water soaked field was mainly responsible for that, and the water soaked crowd showed their interest by sticking it out until the final whistle found the teams deadlocked, and Captains Conacher and Scott mutually agreed to play it off some other day when the elements might be more favorable.

The players themselves had had enough of the heavy going for the one afternoon, and the crowd in the uncovered part of the stand shared their view, although the more fortunate ones under the roof yelled for overtime. For the purpose of proving which is the best team a full replay of the match is a good arrangement, as real lacrosse had become almost impossible at the end of Saturday's game, and on a dry field the opposing outfits can be judged on their real merits. The fans at least had a full afternoon of excitment, even if the "no decision" ending was not popular with those out of the rain. The O. A. L. A. council, the members of which were practically all present, held a meeting in the referee's room directly after the contest and decided that the teams would meet on Wednesday again at the Beach, the Association to take full charge of the gate receipts and other arrangements.

Game Hard Fought

The game itself was as hard fought as the score would indicate. In the first half Maitlands had a decided edge, in the second Orangeville were the best, and the finish they staged was a wonderful effort. The slippery footing made it especially hard for both defences, their checks stepping around them time and again as they slipped and skidded in the mud.

The Orangeville home, however, as the game progressed fitted their style in better with the heavy going and this was the big factor in enabling them to tie it up. They shifted around systematically, passing surely, until they had the Maitland rearguard, who backed in altogether too close, off their stride, and then a quick shot or an individual rush did the trick. The mud gave a bouncing ball some strange twists which did not help the goalkeeers any, and the Dufferins took advantage of this to a greater extent than did their opponents by working around for their shots. The Maitlands instead tried to dash right in for their goals, and while this worked well at the start it tired them out noticeably, and towards the end the uncertain footing stopped as many of their hurried rushes as did the Dufferin defence.

Dizzy Early Pace

At the start, led by Conacher, the locals set a dizzy pace. The Big Train had the supporters of both Orangeville and the Maitlands cheering him, and in the first half he scored two goals and helped in others in spite of the number of tumbles he took from attempting to swerve too fast. The Maitland fielders also held their own in the first forty minutes, and at half time the score stood seven to four in their favor. Then, after the interval, the "legs" seemed to have gone right out of the Maitland field, and the Dufferins outran them both going and coming.

Conacher was plainly tired out, and the heavy pounding he had received around the legs did not help him, and while the Orangeville net had many close shaves, the Maitland attack lacked the punch of the earlier stages. A fierce bombardment on the Maitland goal in the last quarter finally ended in the Dufferins tieing up the count, 8 to 8, and for the remaining minutes of the game both clubs seemed to have shot their bolt.

Home Men's Day

With both attacks having the edge on the opposing defences, the outstanding work of the game was done by home men. Gordon and Brown stood out for Orangeville, the latter scoring five goals, one on a very spectacular rush. Golden, Burnsides and Ewing also featured with some fine work. For Maitlands, Conacher played a hard game, while Starling showed more real lacrosse than any other man on their attack. Cotton fielded tirelessly and scored two pretty goals. Both goalies had numerous close-in shots to save Orangeville's rally at the end sent the crowd away talking mostly about the Dufferins, but on the entire play the teams were very evenly matched.

BEFORE MY BABY CAME

I Was Greatly Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sydenham, Ont.—"I took your medicine before my baby was born, and it was a great help to me as I was very poorly until I had started to take it. I just felt as though I was tired but all the time and would have weak, faint spells. My nerves would bother me until I could get little rest, night or day. I was told by a friend to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I only took a few bottles and it helped me wonderfully. I would recommend it to any woman. I am doing what I can to recommend this good medicine. I will lend that little book you sent me to any one I can help. You can with the greatest of pleasure use my name in regard to the Vegetable Compound if it will help others take it."—Mrs. HARVEY MILLIGAN, Sydenham, Ont.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many women are poorly at such times and get into a weakened, run-down condition, when it is essential to the mother, as well as the child, that her strength be kept up.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother at this time. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and does not contain any harmful drugs. It may be taken in safety by the nursing mother.

STUCKEY—LOCKHART

A quiet wedding took place at Westminster Presbyterian Church, when Dora E. Lockhart, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lockhart, Cache Bay, Ont., was united in marriage to Mr. Ernest A. Stuckey, druggist, of Schomberg, second son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Stuckey, 707 Shaw street, Toronto. Rev. James Little officiated. The bride, who was given away by her aunt, Miss Nesbitt, wore a grey Canton crepe dress and hat to match and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. Miss Belle Lockhart, sister of the bride acted as bridesmaid, wearing orchid crepe and carrying a corsage bouquet of sweet peas and lily of the valley. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Oscar Stuckey. A dainty lunch was served at the home of the bride's aunt, after which the happy couple left on a motor trip to Rochester, the bride wearing a navy blue suit and sand hat.

DUFFS OUTPLAY MAITLANDS

Fast Work of the Orangeville Home Proves Too Much for Maitland Team

Before one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a mid-week lacrosse game in Toronto, Maitlands went down to defeat at the hands of the Dufferins of Orangeville by 9 to 5 at Scarboro' Beach grounds yesterday afternoon. The game was a thrilling spectacle, and the excitement was intense, especially when the local team began to cut down Orangeville's 5 to 1 lead in the third period. When the teams left the field for the third rest period the score was knotted at 5 all. The Dufferin home is one of the best ever gatherd together in the history of amateur lacrosse. The players are fast and tricky, and whenever they beat their checks and got in on the net they made no mistake about scoring. They also form one of the most accurate shooting homes in lacrosse and they can pick an opening and drive the ball from any angle.

Clyde Gordon and Blythe Brown were the stars of the Dufferins on the attack, the former scoring three counters, and the latter two. To Gordon goes the credit for breaking the Maitland's morale in the last period, when with the score even he notched two beautiful goals, and put the result beyond dispute. Eddie Hawkins was a good second to these two, his dodging in and out of the defense being a treat to watch. He was finally dewarded for his good work when in the last period he beat his check from the back of the net, and running out in front slipped the rubber past Couttie.

Fast In Field

The Dufferin fielders worked hard throughout the game. Burnside at centre was especially good. He scored two pretty goals, and fed his home with the ball in fine style. On the defense Henderson, Scott and Cruickshanks were prominent, while Firth in goal played a sensational game, and prevented what seemed to be sure goals time and again.

The work of the Maitland's attack at times seemed listless in the first half, but the players came to life with a vengeance in the third period, and scored four goals, being all over the Dufferin's defensemen at this stage of the game. The passing of the Orange and Black home players was not as accurate as it might have been, and this fault at times cost their team dearly. Lionel Conacher, the Maitland Captain, although closely watched by his check, was in rare form, and it was mainly through his efforts in the third quarter that the Maitland team was able to get back in the running. The three goals that he scored came in this period.

Two in First Period

Play opened up in the first quarter at top speed, and the ball moved from one end of the field to the other very rapidly. Neither of the homes had much success in attacks on goal, and play was very even. Near the end of the period, howevr, Gordon worked around the back of the net, and passing two men scored the first goal of the game. Shortly after this Burnside after a hard run down the centre bulged the twine behind Couttie, and Orangeville were two up at the intermission.

Orangeville Accurate

In the second quarter Maitlands were the first to score on a scramble in front of the Dufferin net. The Orangeville players, however, soon gained the upper hand, and before half-time they had scored three more on wicked shots from the sticks of Blythe Brown and Burnside. In this period the losers had a lot of hard luck, Maitland shots twice hitting the goal post.

The Maitland squad was all over the Duffs in the third period, and it looked at this point in the game as if Orangeville was fading and Maitlands would be able to pull out a win. Cotton scored the first goal of the quarter when he scooped up a loose ball in front of the net, and from then till the end of the period the losers forced the play, Conacher counting three times.

Eight minutes of the last period had been played before Gordon talled, and when he followed this up soon after with another it seemed to take the pep out of the losers, and from then on the Dufferins dominated the play. Before the final whistle when Hawkins and Scott bulged the net.

Maitlands—Goal, Couttie; point, Reeves; cover point, Brown; first defense, J. McLean; second defense, Chandler; third defense, Virtue, centre, Cotton; third home, Plummer; second home, Conacher; first home, Braden; outside, Johnston; inside, Starling; spares, Stevenson and McClure.

Referees—Querrie and Doyle.

Memorial to Pioneers

As a feature of the big celebration to be held in Pictou County, Nova Scotia, during the third week of July, St. Andrew's Society of New Glasgow will have placed at Pictou a monument, as shown above, to commemorate the arrival of Scottish Pioneers at Pictou in the ship "Hector" in 1773. His Excellency Baron Byng will unveil the monument on Tuesday, July 17th.

The monument, as will be seen by the above, is a bronze figure of a Highlander, in the dress of the period, holding an old-fashioned flint lock gun in one hand and with an axe on his shoulder, looking over the forest where he is to make his future home. The bronze figure is about 9 feet in height and the granite pedestal about 8 feet, so that the total height will be about 17 feet.

The monument will be erected on the old market square, Pictou, which is being enlarged and improved for the purpose. It is the work of a Boston sculptor, Mr. Wilson, a native of New Glasgow, Pictou County.—Photograph courtesy Canadian National Railways.

The modern method of selling

by Long Distance

The history of material progress is based on substituting non-fatiguing machinery for human labor, wherever possible.

No merchants in the world have ready to their hands such an extraordinary aid to making sales as is afforded by the Long Distance lines in Canada and the United States.

"Men differ," said Charles Darwin, the great scientist, "less in capacity than in their determination to use the powers they have."

Are you deriving the fullest advantage from Long Distance service? We can make you a report on how Long Distance is being used successfully in almost any business to increase sales.

THERE were 1021 forest fires reported in Ontario last season. The vigilance of the fire rangers kept 53 per cent. of these down to a size not exceeding five acres. But yet the total area burned was over 346,000 acres—equal to a strip of forest one mile wide from Toronto to Cochrane.

Of the total number, only 52 were lightning fires. In other words, out of every 100 fires, 59 fires were due to man's carelessness and were preventable.

Accordingly, the problem of forest protection in Ontario calls for the co-operation of the whole citizenship of the Province. If reasonable care be exercised by everyone in the woods to prevent the start of fire, our forests will be safe. Railway officials, campers, prospectors, lumber firms, settlers, construction firms—all can help by being careful of fire in the woods, and by joining hands with the press, the leaders of public opinion, and the business men of Ontario, in promoting educational propaganda to reduce forest fires.

Storied Halifax -- The Warden of the Honour of the North

1.—George's Island at the entrance to Halifax Harbor. 2.—Soldiers firing the one o'clock gun at the Citadel. 3.—The quaint clock tower erected by the Duke of Kent near the foot of Citadel Hill. 4.—Children playing in the Halifax Public Gardens. 5.—Waiting for daddy's ship to come in. 6.—Regatta on the North-West Arm, Halifax. 7.—Moat around the ancient Halifax Citadel.

Halifax, where this year's convention of the Canadian Weekly Press Association was held, is the capital of the Province of Nova Scotia and one of the most important Atlantic ports of Canada. It welcomes home the returning wanderer; greets with friendly clasp, the newcomer to the Dominion, and bids God-speed to the departing traveller. The ships in leash at the docks are fed by the Canadian National Railways with lumber from British Columbia; golden grain from the prairie provinces; minerals and manufactured goods from Ontario and Quebec; products of the forest, field and mine from the Maritime provinces. From these ships the Canadian National Railways distribute imports from the British Isles and other parts of Europe, while to and from them, year in, year out, thousands of travellers are carried.

The city received its present name about the middle of the 18th century in compliment to Lord Halifax, Secretary of State in the British Cabinet. It retains more of its British origin than any other place in America.

Historically Halifax has many points of interest, including the citadel which crowns the hill behind the city. From the old rampart of this fort a panoramic view of the country and ocean can be had. The quaint old clock tower on the lower slopes of Citadel Hill is another feature. It was built by the Duke of Kent and still records the time.

In the city are many beauty spots. One of these is the Public Gardens, centrally located, a splendid botanical garden and playground combined. With the shady walks, flowers and plants attract the adult, the children find pleasure in wading or sailing boats upon the ponds and lakes.

Many of the city's buildings, public and commercial, are worth a visit. These include the Natural History Museum; St. Paul's Church, which contains as part of its structure much of that old portion built soon after the founding of Halifax; the dock yard and the dry-dock.

A short distance from the city limits there is a fine natural playground called Point Pleasant Park. There is also an expanse of water known as the North-West arm, where big regattas are held. In the neighboring countryside good fishing and hunting can be had. Good roads conducing to all parts of Nova Scotia provide easy access to points of interest for the motorist, equestrian or hiker.

Geographically, Halifax is advantageously situated. It is nearer Liverpool than is New York by over 600 miles. Its harbor is one of the four greatest in the world and is accessible at all hours of the day and the year around by the ocean-going steamers. Bedford Basin has a circumference of twenty miles. To meet the ever-increasing dimensions of ocean-going vessels, and the vast expansion of Canadian trade, new docks and railway terminals are in course of construction.

This was the city which the Canadian Weekly Press Association chose as the site of its 1928 convention and from which the members were carried by the Canadian National Railways to Cape Breton, through Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and back to their starting points in Montreal and Toronto.

BOWLING TOURNEY

Telford, of Owen Sound, carried home Orangeville Challenge Cup, and Watson, of Grand Valley, won out in Consolation.

Orangeville lawn bowlers were favored with ideal weather for their annual tournament last week. The affair was the usual big success, everything passing off without a hitch. The greens were in excellent shape and as a result good bowling and close finishes were quite the order of the tourney. Thirty-nine rinks competed, visiting rinks being here from as far north as Owen Sound, Meaford and Clarksburg. A number of the Toronto clubs were represented and as usual the city rinks were well up in the running. Local bowlers had the grounds nicely decorated and did everything possible to add to the enjoyment of the visitors. The ladies served refreshments in a large tent at the south end of the playing green and made a great success of the social and entertainment side of the tourney.

McTaggart, of Rusholme, and Dr. Gear, of Erin, reached the finals in the Trophy event. In the final game the Toronto quartette had rather the better of the argument, winning out by 18 to 14. The final of the Association event found Telford, of Owen Sound, and Salisbury, of St. Matthews, still in the running. The final game proved a close and uncertain affair until the very end, the Owen Sound rink scoring a 17 to 16 win. In the Consolation final, Thos. Watson, Grand Valley, worsted J. B. Heuther, of Guelph, by 16 to 15. The tournament committee put up handsome prizes in all events and their liberality in this respect elicited much favorable comment from the visitors to the tournament.

Details of the play in the three events follow:—

THE TELEPHONE GIRL

The Telephone Girl sits still in her chair
And listens to voices from everywhere
She hears all the gossip,
She hears all the news,
She knows who is happy and who has the blues;
She knows all our sorrows, she knows all our joys.
She knows all the girls who are chasing the boys;
She knows all our troubles, she knows all our strife.
She knows every man who is mean to his wife;
She knows every time we go out with the boys.
She knows the excuse every fellow employs.
She knows every woman who has a dark past,
She knows every man who is inclined to be fast.
She knows every man who is In fact there's secrets 'neath each saucy curl
Of that modest demure little telephone girl.
If the telephone girl would tell all she knows,
It would turn all our friends into bitterest foes;
She could start a small breeze that would soon be a gale.
Engulf us in trouble and land us in jail,
She could turn loose a story, which gaining in force
Would cause half the wives to sue for divorce..
She could get all the churches mixed up into fights,
In fact she could get the whole world in a stew,
If she told a tenth part of the things that she knew.
Oh, people, now does'nt it make your head whirl
When we think what we owe to the telephone girl.

LAUREL

On Tuesday evening, July 17th, a pleasant social evening was spent at a Christian home established on in honor of Mrs. Ernest Richardson, formerly Miss Letty Morrow, of Dundalk. The first part of the evening was spent in games followed by a presentation and address to Mrs. Richardson. The address was read by Miss Pearl Trimble and the presentation of an aluminum ever-wear set was made by Messrs.A. Morrison and T. Nelson The address read as follows:—

Mrs. E. Richardson
Laurel, Ont.

Dear Friend,—

It is with great pleasure that we, your neighbors and friends, have met here to-night to spend a social time with you and to extend to you and your husband greetings and congratulations and best wishes for future happiness. We anticipate for you a successful voyage through life of ever unceasing usefulness. A Christian home established on earth is God's greatest opportunity given for Christian service of the highest kind. As fellow members and friends in church and community life, we feel it our pleasurable duty at this time to convey to you in so far as words can do so our deep appreciation of the place you have taken and the help given in all departments of its life. In the church you ever gave encouragement by your helpfulness. In the Sabbath School you have been a valued teacher and officer, and in the Choir and Young People's Societies we have felt the influence of your cheerful personality. You have been endowed with many talents and these you have used freely in contributing to the usefulness of the church and community life. It is with thankfulness and pleasure to us that you are still to reside in our midst and it is our fond hope to receive the benefit of your varied talents in the future. As a little reminder of our appreciation of your services and our best wishes for your future happiness we ask you to accept the accompanying gift.

Signed on behalf of the church and community,

MRS. A. BANKS

—The members of King Edward Black Preceptory, No. 833, Shelburne, gave one of their charter members, Sir Knight Alex. Macdonald, a very pleasant surprise a few days ago, when they presented him with an honorary life membership certificate. Sir Knight Macdonald was an active worker in the Shelburne Preceptory from its organization some fourteen years ago until he removed to Orangeville a year past.

Mr. Lou Smith, of Brantford, is visiting his cousin, Mr. J. E. Smith.

TRIMMED HESPELER

Orangeville Juveniles trimmed the Hespeler Juveniles by 9 to 4 on the latter's grounds a week ago Saturday. The game was clean and fast, both teams serving up classy lacrosse. Donald Douglas, Aubrey Hall and Harry Crawford, three Shelburne boys, who recently signed up with the locals, were on the line-up and added materially to the effectiveness of the green shirts.

PIANO TUNING

John T. Anderson, West Toronto, the well-known Piano Tuner, is in town and is prepared to attend all orders for Piano Tuning in Orangeville and the surrounding district. WESTON HERE AUG. 1st.

The lacrosse fans are already on tiptoe over the coming game between the oldtime rivals, Weston and The Dufferins, who clash for the first time this season on Idylwyld Park on Wednesday afternoon between two of the strongest teams in the senior series. Weston are leaders of the series with a single loss so far and The Dufferins have to win the game to stand any chance of being in the running for championship honors. Ball will be faced at 3.15 sharp. Admission, 50c and 25c., including amusement tax.

CO-OPERATIVE DOING BETTER

The Orangeville Co-Operative Marketing Company will hold its annual business meeting inthe Public Library Auditorium on Saturday afternoon, August 4th. We understand that the Company will have a better showing to submit to its shareholders this year. Last year the annual statement showed a net loss of $2,332.56 on the year's operations. This year there is a net profit of $1,827.27, which means quite an improvement in the Co.'s affairs, when the profit is considered in relation to the loss of a year ago. A loss of $950.04 had already been incurred when Mr. Watt, the present Manager, took charge of the affairs of the Company. This Mr. Watt had to overtake before any progress could be made toward piling up the profit already referred to. Another satisfactory feature of the year's business is the fact that a gross profit was made on every line handled. The total turnover shows a small decrease, the figures being $99,695.26 for 1923, as compared with $101,049.17 for 1922.

FREE GARDEN PARTY

Mr. Lou Swinton, of Caledon East, will be the host at a Free Garden Party on his farm, lot 23, con., 7, Mono, on Monday evening, July 30th. The programme, which will be absolutely free to all, will be provided by Duncun R. Cowan, the popular public entertainer, Miss Clara Butt, an entertainer who is widely and favorably known, and Mrs. Westlake, pianiste. Mr. C. R. McKeown, M. L. A. will occupy the chair and the evening's fun will commence with a lacrosse match between Hockley and Caledon East teams. The lacrosse game will commence at 6:30 sharp. A good orchestra will be in attendance during the evening. Refreshments will be served on the grounds by Neil McQuarrie, of Hockley.

IMPERIAL PRESIDENT COMING

County Master J. J. White had a letter the other day informing him that Rev. David Ness, M. A. of Scotland, Imperial President of the Grand Orange Council of the World, who has been in Canada for some weeks past, would visit Orangeville for the Black Knights celebration on Saturday, August 11th. It is expected that Bro. Fred Dane, of Toronto, First Vice-President of the Grand Orange Council, will accompany the Imperial President. Dufferin County Black Knights are fortunate indeed to have two such distinguished members of the Order as guests at their Celebration.

JOHN M'INTYRE

Grand Valley lost a well-known citizen in the person of Mr. John McIntyre, who passed away on July 13th after an illness of four months. He is survived by a widow and the following sons and daughters:—Ed. and Jessie Lee, Grand Valley; Mrs. C. W. Morris, Windsor; Mrs. J. S. Small and Frank, Detroit; and Dr. H. A. Blythe, Ont. There were thirteen children in the family. Seventeen grandchildren also survive as well as one sister, Mrs. Charles Young, of St. Joseph's Island. The late Mr. McIntyre was born in Newcastle, Ont., on Dec. 11th, 1845.

THOMAS SHIELDS

Another formerly well-known resident of Primrose passed away suddenly in Hamilton hospital on Friday, July 13th, in the person of Mr. Thos. Shields, who previous to five years ago lived on his farm, lot, 26, Prince of Wales Road, Mono. The deceased had the misfortune to fall and fracture his thigh bone about a week prior to his death. The late Mr. Shields was born in Ireland and came to Canada when only a small boy. He first lived in Caledon and afterwards moved to Mono, where he resided until the death of his wife, the late Mary Wiggins, about six years ago. Since then he has been living with his son, Samuel, at Beamsville. The body arrived in Shelburne on Saturday evening and was taken to Harris' Undertaking Parlors, whence the funeral was held on Sunday afternoon. The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. W. H. Hartley, of Shelburne. The pallbearers were Messrs. Wm. Shields, Robt. G. Little, W. J. Henry, John Dowdell, Robt. and Jos. Little. The late Mr. Shields was in his 81st year and is survived by one son, Samuel, of Beamsville, and a daughter, Mrs. Fred Smith, of Beeton. The remains were interred in Shelburne cemetery.

THE ENTRANCE RESULTS

Results of the Entrance examinations for Dufferin County, which are published elsewhere in this issue show that the members of Principal Hartmier's entrance class of Orangeville Public School pupils made an exceptionally good showing. Mr. Hartmier had twenty-seven pupils write on the Entrance and twenty-seven were successful in passing, sixteen of them with honor standing. This is assuredly a showing that reflects a great deal of credit on the work of the Principal. Miss Mary Marshall, one of the Class, had the distinction of taking the highest marks in the county. Miss Marshall is a daughter of Mrs. Allan Marshall, South Broadway.

We understand that the Public School prize of $10.00 is to be divided equally between Mary Marshall and Margaret Willoughby, the winners of other prizes awarded by the Board are:—Arithmetic, $2.00, Ethel Shepley; Grammar, $2.00, Pernecce Davison; Composition, $2.00, Margaret Kearns; Geography, $2.00, Fred Webb; History, $2.00, Lucille Montgomery.

MONO MILLS

Mrs. O. E. Tench, of Newmarket, is visiting friends here.

A number of our young people motored to Wasaga Beach on Sunday and enjoyed a pleasant day at that popular resort.

Mr. Geo. Adair has a gang at work grading and repairing the road through the village.

Miss Gladys Arlow and Gordon McCandless from this school and Garnet Rawn and Luella Spinks, of Albion school, were successful in passing their Entrance exams.

The local lodge of the Lady True Blues were awarded first prize at the demonstration in Erin on July 12th.

The townline trouble of a few weeks ago was up in Orangeville police court on Thursday of last week. It seems that Claude Pownall, a resident of Orillia, formerly proprietor of the Gem Theatre in Orangeville, motoring with his wife uncertain course in a big Columbia Six Car and ran into and seriously injured Mr. William Hanna, foreman of the road gang at White's Hill. As no person seemed to be sure that the accused had any booze he was let off with a small fine.

At the June meeting of the Loyal True Blue Lodge, No. 339, the members presented one of their number, Mrs. Reggie Jackson (nee Miss Ena Atkinson) with a serving tray and the folowing address, Miss Maggie Lee reading the address and Miss Minnie Lyness making the presentation:—

Dear Sister—

We, your sisters and brethren of Loyal True Blue Lodge, No. 339, take this occasion to extend to you our most hearty congratulations on your marriage and our sincere good wishes to you and your husband for happiness and prosperity in your new home. You have come to us from a far distant land—a land where a steadfast allegiance to the Protestant faith is coursing rivers of blood—and we hope and trust this land of ours, in which you are now establishing your home, will fulfil your highest hopes.

In our Lodge you are a valued member, regular and prompt in your attendance, and in your diligent and successful study of the work of the True Blue you have been an inspiration to all of us, and we look forward with pleasure to the future co-operation of yourself and your husband. We would ask you to accept this little gift as token of our good will and respect and hope it will remind you sometimes of our pleasant associations here, and we trust that He who is the inspiration of all good work may bless and prosper you abundantly.

Signed at Mono Mills, June 11, 1923.

BOY KILLED IN ERIN

The 12th of July celebration in Erin was marred by a distressing fatality. About 7:30 in the evening Freddie Gerrie, the three and a half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gerrie, residents of the village, ran in front of an Overland car driven by Harry Acheson, an Orangeville young man, who was accompanied by Neil Crewe. The car was moving quite slowly, but the boy was so close at hand when he darted from behind another car that Acheson had no chance to stop. One of the wheels of the car passed over the little chap inflicting injuries so severe that he succumbed about ten o'clock. At the coroner's inquest on the sad affair, the jury brought in a verdict stating that the fatality was purely accidental and freeing the two young men from any blame in the matter. Profound sympathy is felt for the

ALTON

The Union Sunday School Picnic held in Stanley Parrk, Erin, on Saturday afternoon, July 14th, was a decided success in spite of unfavorable weather conditions. About 250 pupils and friends motored to the grounds where they enjoyed an afternoon of boating, baseball, races and other sports. Three boys dressed as clowns added much to the merriment for the little folk. The picnic supper served in the dining hall was enjoyed by all. The following were the successful contestants in the races:—

25 yds., 5 years and under, mixed, Laura McLachlan, Jean Beguley, Mercer Nodwell.

Burnett, Malcolm Donaldson, Willie

50 yds., boys, 6 to9 yrs.—Murray Amos.

50 yds., girls, 6 to 9 yrs.—Amanda Madill, Teressa Brown, Flossoe Proctor.

75 yds., boys,10 to 15 yrs.—Lloyd McLachlan, Bobbie Madill, Wallace Cuthbert.

Married Women's Walking Race—Mrs. Stuart Corbett, Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. Thos. Meek.

An apology is due Miss Hope Barber for an error made in a recent issue of The Banner. It was stated that Miss Barber had passed the Elementary Piano examination. This should have been the Primary Piano. We regret the error deeply. Miss Barber is a pupil of Miss Albertha Reams, Orangeville.

The baseball match between the Girls team of The Beds Knitting Co. Orangeville, and the Alton team resulted in a victory for the latter by a score of 24 to 3. The winning team was in good form and played a clever game. As a result the visitors got no runs after the second innings. After the match lunch was served the Orangeville girls on the lawn of the Palmer House and the remainder of the evening was spent in games.

Rev. W. N. Carr, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, is taking a few weeks holidays. During his absence the congregation are having the interior of the church re-decorated, Bert McLean and Lorne Shaw are doing the work.

Margaret Dods, Jack Merrison and Daisy Trimble were successful in passing the Entrance to High School examinations.

Out of 69 applicants for the positions of Principal and Assistant of Alton Public School, the following were chosen:—Miss Grace McKinley, R. R. No. 5, Owen Sound, kurth, of Laurel, as Assistant.

The Board of Trustees of the Public School purpose doubling the lighting space of both rooms of the school, thereby filling a long felt need for more light.

The Senior and Junior Institutes each held successful meetings during the past week. The former met at the home of Mrs. Joyce McConnell, and the latter at the home of Miss Ruth Babcock. The Juniors are picnicing at Credit Forks on Saturday, Aug. 4th.

Preparations are being made for a big day in town on August 6th when Alton will holdits civic holiday. Park and will be worth going to see. The sports are to be held in the Arrangements are being made for parades, lacrosse matches, girls baseball matches, the usual races, etc. People are invited to bring their baskets and join in the big picnic supper at 6 o'clock. A good programme will be given by home talent at night. No admission is being charged as the day is for the people of Alton and the surrounding communities to enjoy. Come and bring your friends.

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT

Friends of the family in this district will learn with sorrow of the death on Saturday morning, July 14th, of Will[illegible]r, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Brewster, of Pilot Mound, Man. The unfortunate young man died from the effects of injuries sustained when an auto in which he was riding turned turtle on the evening before his demise. Mr. Brewster, who was 28 years of age, was a third year law student in Vancouver, and had come home for a month's vacation only a short time before his death. The funeral was held from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fraser Perfect, Pilot Mound, at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, July 15th. Deceased was a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Perfect, West Broadway.

C. W. N. A. EXCURSION

With the Weekly Newspapers in the Maritime Provinces

At Fredericton the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association excursionists entered a section of New Brunswick served by the Canadian National Railways and journeyed by by the lines of this system for most of their tour of the Maritime Provinces.

Fredericton is a city of many interests to the tourist. Not only has it been for 122 years the capital of the province, but its situation on the banks of the St. John River, over sixty miles from its mouth, is environment noted for its natural beauties and its historical reminiscenses. Before it was selected as the capital of the province it was the site of an Acadian settlement, while five miles distant, at a point called Aukpaque, was an Indian village famous as the site of a house of assembly in which the Indians held their periodical pow-powe.

Fredericton itself is both pretty and interesting. Many of its public buildings and church edifices are artistic in architectural design, while a building of particular historical value is that in which the first session of the Legislative Assembly was held in 1788 after the capital had been transfered from St. John. Lovers of art will find in the Provincial Parliament building much architectural beauty of its exterior of interest, for in additon to the and interior there are hanging upon the walls of the assembly chamber several rare and beautiful paintings in oil among them being those of George III, and his consort Queen Charlotte, Lord Sheffield, and Lord Glenelg. The portrait of Queen Charlotte, is by Sir Joshua Reynolds, and is naturally highly valued. In the Legislative library, among its 14,000 volumes will be found many rare and valuable works. The University of New Brunswick, an institution which has exercised a potent influence in the educational affairs of the province, has had a century of existence.

For its suburban drives, flanked as they are by magnificent trees, murmuring brooks, and picturesque riversides, Fredericton is noted far and wide. The city is also the center from which many interesting trips by water can be made by steamer, motor boat or canoe. The population of Fredericton proper is 8,000, while, in Maryville, a town of 2,500, it possesses an interesting and pretty suburb.

The principal product of the factories of Fredericton are boots and shoes, lumber, manufactures of wood, canoes, motor boats, leather, concrete blocks, and farm implements. The annual value of its manufactured products is approximately two million dollars. The city is surrounded by a good agricultural country, and the Dominion Government has one of its experimental farms, over 500 acres in extent, in its vicinity.

ST. JOHN RIVER

By the "Valley Line" operated by the C. N. R. the Association travelled to St. John, following the St. John River to where it empties into St. John Harbor and the Bay of Fundy. For over eighty miles the river is in full view and the scenery is unsurpassed anywhere on the continent.

At that point where the River St. John enters the harbor is what Mark Twain dubbed the "reversible falls." Apt was the term for while there is no sheer drop from top to bottom, when the incoming tide rushes into the rock-walled channel it is at times higher than the river level, and consequently falls upstream, while when the tide recedes from the channel the water falls in the other direction. From the high bridges which cross the gorge the visitor obtains a magnificent view of these "reversible falls," the like of which are said not to exist in any other part of the world. The gorge also possesses a whirlpool in which debris is sometimes captured and held prisoner for weeks at a time. According to a tradition, in this whirlpool a floating tree was once held prisoner for some years. This so got on the nerves of the Indian aborigines that they came to the conclusion that it was incarnated with the spirit ofthe devil, and in order to exercise it offered homage in the form of beaver skins, which they attached to the "haunted tree" by aid of an arrow.

ST. JOHN

St. John is for tourists a city of many attractions. Having been founded by New Englanders, its origin is of peculiar interest to Americans. This occurred in 1783, and the visitor who ventures to the foot of King Street, now one of the principal thoroughfares of the city, will be standing on the spot at which these settlers landed.

It was evidently foreordained by Nature that the site upon which St. John stands should become a city of importance . It has been aptly described as "one of the big front doors of Canada on the Atlantic coast—a door that is never closed winter or summer." In fact it is during the winter season that its importance as a port for ocean-borne traffic becomes more pronounced.

The harbor of St. John is a magnificent body of water stretching seaward as far as the eye can see. But that in which nature was bountiful in providing has been supplemented by the expenditure of a great many millions of dollars. As a result of this expenditure the main harbor on its west side possesses ten berths, with a depth of 32 feet veyor connections with the grain elevators of the Canadian Pacific Railway. These elevators, of which there are two, have a total grain capacity of 1,750,000 bushels. Another grain conveyor, connecting with one of the Government piers, is at present under course of construction. On the eastern side of the main harbor adjoining the half-million bushel elevator of the Canadian National Railways, are three berths, while at the "Long Wharf" of the latter railway system, situated in the northern part of the horbor, are two berths. Still another berth is that at the Acadia Sugar Refinery, situated near the south of the harbor. The last named berth is connected with the Canadian National Railways, as is the greater part of the eastern front of the man harbor.

But these are by no means the only features appertaining to the handiwork of men in providing harbor equipment for St. John. For instance, big things are under way in Courtenay Bay, just outside the inner harbor. At this point an enormous drydock, 1,150 feet in length, is in course of construction, and when completed will be one of the largest in the world. Adjacent to this drydock is a breakwater 7,070 feet long upon which the finishing touches are being made. There are also under way the construction of a ship repair yard and the dredging of a basin to accomodate shipping and additional wharfage space for the Canadian National Railway system Had it not been for the suspension of work on the undertaking during the war the dry dock and breakwater would have been completed a year or two ago.

Some conception of the importance of St. John in connection with ocean-borne traffic may be gathered from the fact that during the winter, lines of steamers are regularly plying between its port and such distant parts of the world as Liverpool, London. Manchester, Bristol, Dublin, Glasgow, Havre, St. Nazaire, Bordeaux, Antwerp, Christiania, South Africa, New Zealand, Australia, British West Indies, Cuba British Guiana, Argentina, and ports on the Mediterranean.

St. John which has a population of 63,000 is an important manufacturing, wholesale and retail center. wood working and pulp mills; box factories, cotton mills, sugar refinery, fish canneries, metal foundries, lime kilns, mattress factory, paper bag works, edge tool plants, tanneries, breweries, and factories for the making of nails, biscuits, confectionery, and brushes and brooms. The census of five years ago gave the aggregate factory output a value of nearly $15,000,000, while the capital invested was placed at $20,244,000.

In its location St. John is both pleasantly and conveniently situated.

Resting upon a rocky ridge, the city is practically made up of a series of terraces from which in many instances pleasant views are obtained. In appearance the business structures of the city are both imposing and attractive, while many of them are more modern than they otherwise might have been because their predecessors were wiped out by more than one disastrous fire of which St. John has been the scene. Many of the residences, both in the city and its suburbs, are handsome homelike structures.

Fanned as it is with cool sea breezes from the Bay of Fundy climatic conditions in the city during the summer months are ideal. It has several restful small park areas or squares, while at Rockwood, a suburb, is a park of surpassing beauty, from which a view of the Bay of Fundy is obtainable. At the west end of this park the public gardens are located. where lovers of horticulture find much to gratify their tastes. In the vicinity of the city are a number of pleasant driveways, from which many bits of charming scenic effects can be caught from carriage or motor.

Near the mouth of the river is the site of the St. John Fort erected in the early days of the French regime, made particularly famous by the vigor with which it was de-unexpected attack while the latter was on a trip to Boston. Later, under the British, it became Fort Frederick, and in local parlance is known today as "Old Fort." On the Carlton heights is an interesting Martello tower, erected over a century ago, and overlooking St. John, while still another site of an early fortification is Fort Howe.

From St. John the trip was via S. S. Empress to Digby, N. S., thence by Dominion Atlantic Railway through the famed Annapolis Valley to Halifax.

HALIFAX

Halifax has in combination an interesting historical past and a present outstanding importance as the site of one of the three or four greatest harbors in the world. Unlike many others, its harbor was not created by the erosion of rivers and streams. Its origin, so geologists inform us was a deep depression which took place in the earth's crust along this coast in the dim and distant past. As a matter of fact there are three harbors in one, the elevated peninsula upon which Halifax is situated being almost surrounded by its adjacent waters. The main harbor, on which fronts the most important of its docks, is in itself capable of affording anchorage for an enormous fleet of ocean-going steamers, while further inland is the famous Bedford Basin with a circumference of twenty miles.

Running for a distance of three miles up the seaward side of the city is a narrow fiord known as the Northwest Arm, a short distance from the entrance to which was once located a famous chain battery with a boom stretching from bank to bank for the purpose of keeping out French warships. At the upper end of the Arm is Melville Island, on which, during the war of 1812, captured American prisoners were held, and which, during the recent European war, was used for the incarceration of Germans. Still another point of interest on this Northwest Arm is a large four-square stone tower built on the Italion campanie model. While of recent construction its importance lies in the fact that it was erected by the citizens of Halifax to commemorate the granting of free institutions to the Province of Nova Scotia in 1758.

The entrance to Halifax Harbor, between what is known as Devil's Island on the right side on entering and Chebucto Head on the left, is 5½ miles wide. The harbor proper has an area of about ten square miles and an average width of about 1¼ miles, with about 23 miles of deep water anchorage, some 5½ miles of which are along the business waterfront of the city. Unlike either New York or Boston, Halifax harbor has no intricate channel entrance. There is also an absence of strong tides and in winter of ice. In other words, ingress and egress from the harbor is possible at all hours of the day and at all seasons of the year. Within forty minutes of leaving their docks steamers are well into the Atlantic Ocean.

Geographically, Halfax is advantageously situated. It is nearer Liverpool than is New York by over 600 miles, while as a connecting link with the Pacific coast and the Orient it also has the advantage the distance from Liverpool via Halifax and Prince Rupert to Yokohama being10,009 miles, compared with 11,961 via New York, a saving of 1,900 miles. From the usual route travelled by steamers on the North Atlantic the port of Halifax is only sixty miles distant, thus making it a convenient point into which "lame ducks" can limp when in need of repairs. The big steamship Olympic, which made the harbor its headquarters during the war, on one voyage made the distance between Liverpool and Halifax in less than four days.

Halifax has several important industries. Located on one side of the harbor is the big plant of the Halifax Shipyards, Limited. The company only began operations in June, 1918, with the drydock as the nucleus of its plant, but at present it has under construction four ocean-going steamers of from 8,100 to 10,000 tons each for the Dominion Government, with over 1,400 workmen on its payroll. The company's property has a frontage of 1,600 feet on the waterfront, and when construction of plant is completed the yards will be equipped to handle hulls of four steamers up to 10,000 tons at one and the same time. On the Dartmouth side of the harbor is located a large oil refinery, whose plant covers some fifty acres, and when completed will entail an expenditure of $12,000,000. The crude oil is brought from Mexico right to the plant in tank steamers. Here also is a mammoth sugar refinery, with a daily capacity of 1,800 barrels. The Dominion Government ceneus of 1917 gave the product of the factories of Halifax a value of$15,247,469, figures which must necessarily be below the present annual output, there having since then been a substantial expansion in the industrial life of the city.

The export trade of Halifax during the year 1919 was $41,697,142, while the imports had a value of $15,071,156. Its principal exports are fish, lumber, wood pulp, apples, potatoes, and other farm products. A particularly large trade is done with the West Indies, with which a steamship service was inaugurated as far back as 1842.

Halifax was first settled in 1749, or about 144 years after the French had founded Annapolis on the Bay of Fundy, when the British Government, realizing its strategical importance, landed an expedition there under Governor Cornwallis, who in addition to troops had in his company 2,576 settlers, a number with this event the name of the place was changed from Chebucto to Halfax, in honor of Lord Halifax. From the day that it was founded in 1749 Halifax was continuously occupied by British troops until about a score of years ago, when the fortifcations were taken over by the Canadian Government, since when home troops have been in command. A few years ago a similiar change took place in respect to the naval branch of the service.. Present population of Halifax is 70,000 The original fortifications at Halifax were located on the site of what is still known as the citadel, an eminence 255 feet in height and in the heart of the city today. At present it is little more than a show place, the main fortifications being located at more favorable strategical points on both sides of the harbor and on certain of the islands which stand at its mouth.

Naturally Halifax abounds in spots of historical interest. The citadel itself, from which a magnificent panoramic view is obtained, is worth travelling a long distance to see. Lovers of the antique will find much to interest them in Prospect Park, a memento of the early system of fortifications which existed at various strategical points throughout the country to protect settlers against the inroads of enemies white and red. In the old grave yard will be found headstones bearing the name of early inhabitants who passed away a couple of centuries ago, while in St Paul's Church tourists will find an interesting structure which was erected in 1750 by the Imperial authorities in order to provide a place of worship for the inhabitants of that day. The old Parliament Buildings are also worthy of close inspection.

In the vicinity of both Halifax and Dartmouth are a series of well-appointed driveways and picturesque lakes and streams well stocked with sporting fish. On the adjacent Atlantic coast there are excellent bathing beaches, Cow Bay, about seven miles beyond Dartmouth, being the most popular. Point Pleasant Park and the Public Gardens are two points within the City of Halifax that no tourist who has an eye for the picturesque and the beautiful should fail to visit.

That part of Halifax which was destroyed in 1917 by the explosion which occured on board one of the muniton ships enroute to Europe, resulting in the loss of over a thousand lives, has been almost completely restored.

Leaving Halifax for Truro by the main line of the Canadian National Railways, the traveller encircles the city, passing close to the North-west Arm at Armdale. At Rockingham the shores of Bedford Basin are reached, along which the train speeds for its total length, finally arriving at Windsor Junction a few miles beyond. An interesting feature about Windsor Junction is a mass of enormous rocks which have the appearance of having been split by the hammers of Titans. "Noah must have thrown his ballast overboard here" remarked the famous American poet, Joaquin Miller, when his eyes rested on the scene. Probably nothing just like it is to be found on the continent.

MATTHEW McCUTCHEON

The township of Erin lost a highly-esteemed citizen when Matthew McCutcheon of Lot 8, third line, passed away on Monday morning. Mr. McCutcheon was in poor health for some time. In May he went to Guelph Hospital for treatment. After about a month there he returned home and gradually failed until death came.. His devoted wife ministered to him with self-sacrificing solicitude. Matthew McCutcheon was a son of the late Thomas McCutcheon, and spent his life in Erin township. He was sixty-eight years of age. In his young manhood he marred Miss Nellie Mitchell, of Everton. Two children blessed the home, Grace at home, and Thomas, who resides at Preston. He was a man who aimed to live an upright life, and was a regular attendant of the Disciples' Church at Everton. He was a thrifty farmer, very handy with tools, and quite adept in the making of whiffletrees, neckyokes, sleighs and other farming sundries. The funeral to Everton Cemetery was largely attended. The mother of the deceased died last winter at the ripe age of 86 years.—Advocate.

Admired Hair Is Shampooed This Way

Hair that gleams with life and color

Women admired and envied for their richly beautiful hair know this secret. Hair specialists agree that it beautifies hair.

Olive oil for the shampoo?

It has been used since history began For its gentle cleansing action removes all dirt and oil from scalp and hair. Dandruff is dissolved and washed away. And the bright sheen of life and color is greatly increased.

It leaves hair fluffy—never dry or brittle. It leaves hair silky and pliant as a baby's—with the inimitable gloss so much desired.

Thousands of women now regularly treat their hair this beneficial way. They use PALMOLIVE SHAMPOO—olive oil in its most perfect form for the shampoo. Easy to use. And very economical.

You can get full-sized bottles at your dealer's. Or, by mailing coupon, you may have a 15c trial bottle free. Get some at once. Use it. See the results that follow even one shampoo.

BURNED BY GASOLINE

A strange and unaccountable accident occured at Elwood Turner's Luther, on Friday afternoon, whereby his eldest daughter, Lorraine, was severely burned. He had just filled the reservoir of a gasoline iron, and handed the cup containing a few drops to his daughter. As she passed him the gasoline burst into flames, setting fire to the child's apron. She escaped Mr. Turner's first efforts to grab her, and got outside when her action fanned the flames. She was rather painfully burned on face and arms, the deepest injuries being on the hands. The doctor does not expect there will be any permanent disfigurement, the burns being largely on the surface, although one hand may be marked a little.

Misses Youry and Harkley have resigned from the teaching staff of Shelburne High School. Miss Charlotta McDonald, of Niagara Falls has been engaged to fill the one vacancy. Misses Marjorie and Addie Jelly have resigned from the Public School staff. They will be succeeded by Misses Lillian Howard, of Markdale, and Cora Best, of Whitfield.

GOOD MONEY IN GOOD FARMING

"Let's Get to Work and Pay Off the Mortgage"

NINE years ago Canada's national debt was about one-third of a billion. It is more than two and one-third billions today.

Our debts have greatly increased—our revenues must also go up. The farmer has to bear his share of the increased ourden. That means he must increase his revenue.

Complaint has been heard that farmers under present conditions in Canada cannot make farming pay. And yet many thousands of Canadian farmers do make it pay.

How Is It Done?

Patient and industrious "carry on" will do wonders, but something more is needed. Too often "patient industry" is coupled with "dull persistance" in poorly thought out methods.

Farmers today more than ever, must plan ahead, as well as "plug along"; indeed they have no option, if they wish to succeed.

Co-ordination of head and hand will mean real success. Farming in Canada has paid and pays now on many farms. It can be made to pay on almost every farm. Canadian agriculture has passed through low profit-making eras successfully in the past and can do so again.

With the increased cost of production, the higher standards of living now prevailing cannot be maintained by poor farm management, "boarder" milkers, scrub beeves, poor quality hogs or non-profitable hens.

That even under present conditions profits may be made is testified by many skilful, observant and non-plunging farmers, who believe more in the policy of "slow but sure" and "pay as you go" rather than speed, with excessive borrowing and the often consequent disaster.

The results on our Experimental Farms also bear testimony to the value of thorough, skilful work.

The Farmer Must Manufacture

But crops alone are not enough. The farmer must change his crops into less bulky and more high-priced products—milk, pork, beef, mutton, poultry, etc.

With fair yielding cows dairying shows good profits in Canada. The average cow has increased her yield 25% in the last ten years. She can quite readily go up another 25% and more, and there's where the profit lies. Better feeding, better selection and better breeding will do the job—feed, weed, breed.

To do better feeding means better pastures and more generous supplies of palatable roughage. Short rotations including clover and ensilage crops (corn, sunflower, pea and oat, etc.) will provide feed in abundance for both summer and winter. The experiments and investigations which the Dominion Department of Agriculture have carried on prove that farming scientifically and systematically undertaken will pay profits. The records and particulars of such work in every province are available to the Canadian farmer.

Are you growing grain, or producing seed or interested in fruit? We can give you information that will help you. Do you breed live stock? Are you keeping dairy cattle? Are you interested in poultry or bees? Ask us for information. We have some that will help you.

We have published and have for free distribution 300 different reports, bulletins and circulars dealing with matters of interest to you. Ask for what you want, or for a list of our publications.

We shall have something more to say later. Meantime write the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, about your problems.

Crop Returns Should be Increased

On the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa some crop costs and crop profits in 1922 as contrasted with all-Ontario average crop costs and crop profits are given below. The all-Ontario figures are in brackets:

	Cost per acre	Profit per acre
Hay	$21.13 ($13.50)	$11.21 ($5.09)
Corn for Forage	$47.50 ($33.75)	$10.38 ($2.86)
Oats	$26.47 ($19.32)	$ 7.33 (.04)

Experimental Farm crops are sometimes claimed to be produced at too great cost. Thousands of experiments, however, show that increased cropping costs wisely applied up to a reasonable point always increase crop profits. This is true on the Experimental Farm—and on any and every farm.

The barn was 50x65 feet, well built, in good repair and valued at $2,000. There was an insurance of $1,500. The loss is estimated at over $3,000. The fire was caused from spontaneous combustion.

Hearing that her father, David Dobson, of Wiarton, who had married for the second time, had gone to the Houseof Refuge at Walkerton, his daughter, Mrs. Boyd Simpson of Vancouver jumped on the train and crossed over the continent to take her father out of the home for aged indigents. The lady prior to her marriage, was a high school teacher, and remembering the hand that had toiled for her in other and better days, she lost no time in hurrying hitherward on hearing the drift of events.

NINETIETH BIRTHDAY

Twenty Grandchildren and Twenty-two Great Grandchildren join Mrs. Agnes McCannell, of Inglewood, in Celebration of Anniversary.

The village of Inglewood was in a gala mood last Wednesday afternoon, everyone, old and young, joining with Mrs. McCannell in celebrating her 90th birthday. Mrs. McCannell was born on Lot 3, 5th line, west, Caledon, where she lived until her marriage 66 years ago, when she removed to the site of the present Shale Brick Works, just outside the village of Inglewood, andhas resided there and in the village ever since. She was surrounded today by her four sons and four daughters, and 20 grandchildren, as well as a large number of her 22 great-grandchilden. Their immediate family held a gathering at 2 o'clock when W. J. Jamieson, a son-in-law, gave an impressive address.

On the conclusion of the address, the great-grandchildren present filed in and gave each an American Beauty rose to their aged relative, while David Graham, a friend and neighbor of 63 years, presented her with a bouquet on behalf of the Bible class of the Methodist church, withwhich she was connected for many years. Besides Mrs. McCannell was her lifelong neighbor and friend, Mrs. Margaret Henry, who this spring celebrated her 91st birthday. Mrs. McCannell is a daughter of the late Squire James Hunter, a wealthy Irish-Canadian, born in Nova Scotia, who brought his Scotch wife to Caledon when it was being opened up. Mrs. McCannell recalled the names of the Kirkwoods, McLaughlins, McLarens, Rowans, Graams and Smiths who were pioneer contemporaries of her parents. The family kept open house for the minister, Rev. Duncan McMillan, who gave Mrs. Henry two pennies for reciting, as a child of 8, the entire 119th Psalm, and also for schoolmaster Rowan, who taught in the old log school at the "White Church" a famous North Peel place of worship. Mrs. McCannell told of seeing deer mingling freely with the cattle in her father's farm yard, of spinning five skeins a day on the large wheel, each skein containing 14 knots, and naively remarked that a girl who could not do this was no good. She made syrup in the bush, and presented a brother-in-law Mc. Donald, with five gallons of her own boiling as a wedding present.

She took charge of the home at 14 years of age on the death of her mother, and became handy at sewing and plaiting hats for the family, while her father made boots and slippers for them. Her children are Mrs. Geo. Patterson, Inglewood; Mrs. Robert Bollman, Lansing; Mich.; Mrs. Al Bowman, Owen Sound, Mrs. W. J. Jaimeson, Inglewood; John A. and James T., Inglewood; Archie, Guelph, and William G., Hamilton. One brother, James Hunter, of Calgary, 86 years old, wrote his sister a letter of congratulation this week, and sent her his photo. The home was turned into a bower of roses and summer flowers, while a streamer over the entrance of the home of John A. McCannell, where the reception was held, bore the words, "July, 25, 1833—July 25, 1923."

MANY FELICITATIONS

Addresses were made by Rev. H. Pawson, Rev. Dr. Spence, and a program of music was given by Mrs. H. Bush, Mrs. H. Spratt, Mrs. H. Pawson, Miss D. Cullam. Mrs. McCannell is wonderfully well preserved for her years, her sight and hearing being still quite keen, and her interest in life especially in the affars of her very large famiy, unabated. Little Phyllis Bolman, Lansing, Mich., one of the guests was very much elated that she was celebrating her 5th birthday on the same day as her great grandmother's 90th birthday.

James Nixon, aged 33, a young married man residing in Barrie, had a narrow escape from serious injury when he sustained a six-inch tea on the right side of his head. Mr. Nixon was an interested spectator of the well drilling operations in that town. He was sitting with his father-in-law, W. Cameron, when a large piece of scaffolding fell from the derrick and stuck him on the right side of the head, knocking him unconscious. Four stitches were necessary to close the wound.

SYMPTOMS OF DEBILITY

How to Tell Whether Your Blood Needs Revitalizing.

The symptoms of general debility vary according to the cause, but weakness is always present, a tendency to perspire and fatigue easily, ringing in the ears, sometimes black spots passing before the eyes, weak back, vertigo, wakefulness caused by inability to stop thinking and unrefreshing sleep. The cause of the trouble may be some drain on the system, or it may be mental or physical overwork, sometimes insufficient nutrition due to digestive disturbance.

If you have any or all of these symptoms try building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as the new blood courses through your veins there should be an increase in your appetite, a better digestion and soon a renewal of strength and vigor.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail, at 50 cents a box, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"Peggy," the pet dog of Allan Taylor, son of W. J. Taylor, Woodstock, performed an act of canine devotion at Southside Park when it jumped into a pond and pulled out a lad from the water, in response to his cries for help. He was bathing in the pond, and was trying to see how far out he could go without going out of his depth.. Unfortunately, he got into a hole and went under. When he came up he shouted for help and the dog, hearing his cries immediately jumped into the water, gripping him by the bathing suit and carried him back to a shallow part of the pond.

SERIOUSLY INJURED

Hind Wheel of Car Passed Over Mrs. Bert. McLaughlin

Mrs. Bert McLaughlin, a married woman, 30 years of age, was very seriously injured near Brampton last week, when a hind wheel of a car in which she had been riding passed over her body The car which was driven by Robert Davey, and in which two other persons were riding was making the turn at the corner of George and Railroad streets, where there is a steep embankment. Becoming alarmed that the car would overturn, Mrs. McLaughlin jumped out and in some manner fell under the wheels. Drs. Vanderlip and Smith, who were summoned, state that che had suffered severe internal injuries, but cannot say as yet whether her condition is critical.

MAKING FARMING EASY

Where a farm has running water the watering of stock is greatly simplified. The hard work of pumping water to the surface becomes unnecessary and the routine of daily farm work is made much easier. It becomes easier still where it is possible to pipe the water through the buildings, thus making it unnecessary to turn the stock out for water in cold winter weather. Mr. Richard Young, who farms on the 1st line, west, Caledon, immediately south of this town, furnishes an illustration very much to the point. On Mr. Young's farm a hundred yards behind the barn on a hillside above the farm buildings there is a good sized spring. Before Mr. Young purchased the farm in 1900, the owner was in the habit of carrying all the water used in the house down from the hill. With a few hundred feet of three-quarter inch pipe Mr. Young has changed all that. The water is now piped to the buildings. In the stable there is now fresh, running water at all seasons, with water bowls for the animals. The pipe line is also used for a bathroom in the house and supplies water for the heating service. Outside there is a lawn service just as convenient and every bit as satisfactory as our town services. Back in 1900 the pipe line cost Mr. Young $56, a mere bagatelle, in comparison with the labor saving benefit of the service. To-day the same work would probably cost a little over $100, whereas there are wells in this district that have cost their owners as high as $300. It is quite true that all farms are not so favorably situated as that of Mr. Young, but there are many farms in this district with running water, where judicious planning and a moderate expenditure would make it possible for the owners to have a service just as good as the one Mr. Young enjoys.

EDITORIAL NOTES

It must be evident to most citizens by this time that the town council made a wise move when it arranged for the oiling of the leading streets of the town a few weeks ago. The oil has effectually disposed of the dust nuisance, a blessing for which all householders should be duly thankful. The laying of the dust is not the only benefit that follows oiling. The oil acts as a road preservative. Any person who cares to examine any of the streets that were treated will find that the heavy oil and the surface covering of the street have formed a hard composition that is impervious to rain and does not grind into dust under the stress of auto and other vehicular traffic. This will undoubtedly prove of great value in preserving the road surface. The outlay for oil may amount to a considerable sum, but it should prove a profitable investment, because the use of the oil will cut down the expenditure necessary for the repair and upkeep of the streets treated.

The Fergus News-Record takes issue with the Farmers' Sun and J. J. Morrison on the question of "Broadening Out" on which the U. F. O. has been very much divided. The News-Record holds that "Broadening Out" helped W. E. Raney, late Attorney-General, in his campaign in East Wellington. In proof of its contention our cotem refers to the vote polled by Mr. Raney in the urban centres. The following paragraph illustrates the News-Record's line of argument:—

"If Broadening Out was a failure, let The Sun explain these figures. Mount Forest gave Mr. Raney a straight majority over his Conservative opponent. He more than doubled the vote received by Mr. Hellyer in 1919, while the Conservative vote sunrank from 292 to 269. Fergus was the home of the recent Conservative candidate, yet even here the vote for that party dropped from 584 in 1919 to 470 last month, while Mr. Raney got over four times as many as the U. F. O. vote here at the previous election and considerably more than the combined U. F. O. and Liberal vote in 1919. Similarly the Progressive vote in Elora increased in practically the same proportion as it did in Fergus, while in Erin, the only other incorporated village in the riding, it was almost doubled."

It is hard to understand how bandits could hold up and maim bank messengers, rob them and then make a successful getaway in broad daylight right in the heart of a busy city the size of Toronto. Scores of people witnessed the holdup, hundreds were at work within earshot of the occurrence, telephones were available in nearly every building in the vicinity to transmit the news to police headquarters, and yet the robbers were able to complete their work in leisurely fashion and make their escape without molestation and without any appearance of undue haste. A telephone message to police headquarters would have brought a small army of policemen to the scene in a few minutes. It would have given headquarters an opportunity to despatch motorcyclists to important points and to trail the robbers once they were sighted. The trouble was that no person seems to have thought of phoning until it was all over and the bandits were well on their way to a place of safety. The occurrence illustrates the general lack of presence of mind in an emergency. There are comparatively few people who have the ability to grasp a situation and do the right thing on the spur of the moment. If someone of the many spectators of the sensational holdup had possessed the presence of mind to rush to the phone and call police headquarters, the bandits would probably have been caught while making their getaway. In any event the police would have been hot on their trail, instead of losing several precious hourrs.

Premier Ferguson is quoted as saying that Ontario's road policy is to be shorn of some of its expensive features. In some quarters this has been interpreted as indicating that the widening of the leading highways will be abandoned. It is doubtful if this would be wise or far-sighted. Wide roads have become necessary with the rapid development of auto and motor truck traffic. The people of Dufferin County have an illustration of the wide road and its advantages in the Prince of Wales running north of Orangeville. If they want to experience the disadvantages and dangers of a narrow road they have only to take an auto trip over the Centre Road running south of Orangeville. It is doubtful if two heavily loaded trucks would be able to pass each other at many places on the Centre Road. They could pass without the slightest trouble anywhere on the Prince of Wales Road. The Centre Road is a highway that always gives grave concern to the timorous or inexperienced driver. On the Prince of Wales there is ample room for the green driver to get along in comparative safety. Auto traffic has grown by leaps and bounds in the last ten years. It will increase in volume for many years to come. Auto truck traffic is still in its infancy. Ten years hence there will be probably ten trucks travelling the through highways for each truck that is using them at the present time. Fifteen years ago the man who advocated widening our roads would have been considered a fit subject for the insane asylum. To-day the advantages and the necessity of wider roads for through traffic is becoming generally recognized. Fifteen years hence the wide roads will be even more necessary than it is at the present time. Any abandonment of the policy of the late Government on the widening of the leading highways would be a backward step and a grave mistake.

FEELS LIKE HE COULD DO TWICE AS MUCH WORK NOW

Long Standing Digestive Troubles Yield Readily to the Corrective Influence of Dreco, the Famous Herbal Remedy.

Another Toronto citizen, Mr. T. G. Lusted, of 107 York Street, has found health in Dreco. Mr. Lusted's ailments were all traceable to that common source of human ills—the stomach. This important organ was not working properly, resulting in a gradual weakening of the other organs and a distressingly poor state of health generally. Mr. Lusted's description of his symptoms and the beneficent effect of Dreco on them follows:—

"My trouble has been one of long standing weakness of kidneys, stomach and liver, brought about through chronic constipation. My bowels never acted regularly and I always had to be taking laxatives. My food would not digest properly, everything seeming to sour, causing gas. The pains in my back were so bad at times that I could hardly bend over and my work seemed ever so hard. My liver was sluggish and spots floated before my eyes while I often had dizzy spells. My food never seemed to taste good and I finally lost my appetite altogether.

"I have taken but one bottle of Dreco and my troubles have greatly improved. I feel like I could do twice as much work without getting tired. My wife has noticed a big change in me and I am getting a good healthy color in my face again. I intend to complete the full treatment and would recommend Dreco to anyone."

Symptoms such as Mr. Lusted describes can be charged to sluggish action of the digestive organs.

Dreco, scientifically compounded from roots, herbs, bark and leaves of known medicinal value, quickly tones up these vital organs and restores them to normal functions. Spring finds everyone more or less run-down and in need of a good tonic and regulator. Get a bottle of Dreco to-day. It is pleasant to take and prompt in action and contains no mercury, potash or habit forming drugs.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Orangeville by R. Fairbairn and is sold by a good druggist everywhere.

WANT BONDS GUARANTEED

Last week a deputation from the Gummed Paper Company whose factory in Brampton was badly wrecked during the storm of June 25th, waited on the Brampton town council and asked the municipality to guarantee $20,000 of the company's bonds for a term of twenty years. In return for the guarantee the Company is willing to give the town a first mortgage on their factory appraised by the insurance companies at $23,500 and on their plant valued at $35,000. The Company also desire to build a $10,000 addition to their plant and would give a mortgage on the new building as well. The Council deferred action until it had an opportunity to investigate the condition of the factory and plant.

GOOD SEED CORN PAYS

Corn is none too good a crop throughout the Province at the present time, though better growth is now reported. Late seeding and cool weather combined to give the crop a poor start. In Dufferin, where ordinary seed was used, many of the stands are thin, and a few have had to be plowed up, according to Agricultural Representative H. A. Dorrance. That there is a very real difference between good and ordinary seed, particularly in a year such as the present, was strikingly illustrated by an example pointed out by Mr. Dorrance.

George Thompson, of Mono township, has a field of corn that averaged better than two feet high, without pulling up the leaves, on July 16th. There were no misses of any account, in fact the field had germinated 94 per cent., and the crop looked well. The average field in the section, on the other hand, was about half this height, and misses were common.

Mr. Thompson, on the advice of the Agricultural Representative, purchased No. 1 guaranteed seed at $3.35 this spring from a seed grower in Essex County. The average price of seed corn planted generally through the Orangeville district this spring was $1.50 per bushel. Sown in drills the way Mr. Thompson has put his crop, a bushel of corn will plant three acres, therefore the difference in cost between planting the poorer fields and the one on the Thompson place would be about 60 cents per acre, whereas the actual difference in value at the present time would run into several dollars. At harvest time, even with very favorable weather from now on, there will be a difference in yields which will more than justify the higher priced seed.

SWINTON'S GARDEN PARTY

A large crowd attended Mr. L. Swinton's free garden party on his farm on the 7th line, Mono, on Monday night. A royal time is reported and everybody carried home golden opinions of Mr. Swinton's liberality and his good qualities as an entertainer. A fine program was provided by Duncan R. Cowan, the noted entertainer, Miss Clara Butt, Miss Gallaugher and Mrs. Westlake. The lacrosse match between the Caledon East and Hockley teams resulted in a tie game, each team scoring two goals.

VACANT POSTMASTERSHIP

William J. Lowe was the choice of the meeting of the Liberal Executive in the Oddfellows' Hall, Queen St. east, last Friday night. We had the news next morning from a Conservative source and Liberals have confirmed it. It seems ten names were balloted on. One candidate is said to have left the meeting in a huff. They say a letter was read from Hon. Chas. Murphy deprecating the holding of a meeting, but as he did not send lawyer Curry with the message no attention was paid to the request. We hear that the meeting was pledged not to disclose its proceedings, a seemingly unnecessary something, if it is true there were several present who were not members of the executive. Anyhow, the Tories knew all about the meeting on Saturday. Having selected the man for the office of postmaster, the next thing is to install him. Mr. Lowe, besides being the chosen one for the office, holds the patronage for the county. We expect that the office will remain open for a long time. Kitchener is said to be awaiting for a year a new postmaster.—Peel Banner.

M'INTYRE-JENKINS

At a quiet ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Jenkins, Woodbine Avenue, Toronto, the marriage took place of their daughter, Edith, to Dr. Harry A. McIntyre, son of the late John McIntyre and Mrs. McIntyre, of Grand Valley, Ont. Rev. W. Leo Boyd officiated. The bride wore peach canton crepe and carried a bouquet of cream rosebuds, and was attended by her sister, Miss Violet Jenkins. The groom was supported by Mr. Harry Johnston, of Blyth. After a dainty luncheon Dr. and Mrs. McIntyre left for London. They will reside in Blyth, Ont.

ALFALFA POPULAR

Acreage in Dufferin County Has Increased Three Hundred Per Cent. in Last Two Years.

Increasing evidence is coming to hand regarding the growing popularity of alfalfa. In Dufferin County the increase in the past two years is estimated at 300 per cent. by Agricultural Representative H. A. Dorrance.

The crop is giving excellent satisfaction, except where poor seed has been purchased. When the seed has been Ontario grown, there are no bare spots in the fields, and close to two tons per acre of splendid hay has just been stored away.

On the farm of W. P. Dodds, East Garafraxa, just west of Orangeville, 24 sheep were pastured for several weeks last fall on an acre and a half of alfalfa. Despite the fact that the animals ate the legume down to the ground, the field is in good shape this season, and is supporting a large bunch of hogs.

Mr. Dodds operates a 100-acre farm and has over a third of the place in the "King of Legumes." It is bringing his land up to a high state of fertility. "Curious to find out just how far the roots of alfalfa penetrate the soil and work it up, I dug down around a root. When I got down three and a half feet the root broke off and I gave it up. But I am convinced," Mr. Dodds added, "that that root went down at least two feet farther than I did."

Where alfalfa was seeded down with spring wheat on his farm last May, the young plants have now reached a height of two feet and the roots an equal depth. This particular strain is the Grimm, but Mr. Dodds is trying several kinds. He has not saved any of his crop for seed, needing it all for feeding purposes, but he makes sure that the seed he purchases is of the best quality and that it is Ontario grown, and therefore hardy.

THEY WERE LUMBEGS

The Erin Advocate has this to say about the two big drums that were the champion noise producers at the Erin celebration on the 12th:—

"A special feature of the parade was the presence of two real "Belfast Lumbeg drums," which were in charge of four Ulster Volunteers, each man having seen service in Ireland at the time of the rebellion. The approach of the big drums brought the hands of the people to their ears, as they were pronounced ear-splitters. These drums stand out prominently in the history of the struggle for civil and religious liberty in Ireland. In the early days of faction fighting, when modes of signalling were not as common as they are now, it was thought to invent something that would be heard by the distant brethren as a "call to arms," hence the "Lumbeg drum" came into being. Certain beats were instituted as a "protestant signal," and these drums can be distinctly heard from eight to ten miles away. Space does not permit to go into detail of the innumerable occasions upon which the "old Lumbegs" saved our brethren from persecution and even death. However, as they headed the Orangeville lodge in the parade here, it was something new, and now we know something of their history it fills us all with pride that the parade was favored this year by the "old time Lumbegs." Every Ulster Orangeman knows and loves the sound of the "old Lumbegs."

QUIT CARRYING WATER

The Provincial Department of Agriculture has provided a Truck, equipped with Air Pressure Water System, Hot Water Boiler, Sink Pumps, Bath-room Equipment, etc., to be used in Demonstrating the installation of a moderate priced equipment for supplying running water, and the conveniences made possible thereby, to the rural homes. The Truck will be at the following places in Dufferin County:

Horning's Mills—August 9th, 1.00 to 8.00 p.m.
Grand Valley—August 10th, 1.00 to 8.00 p.m.
Orangeville—August 11th, 11.00 a.m. to 5.00 p.m.

The Truck will be stationed near the public hall, and the men in charge will be ready to give demonstrations any time between noon hour and 8 p.m. If the weather is unfavorable, then the lecture will be given in the Hall.

A demonstrator will be in charge during the hours indicated, and the public, both men and women, are invited to visit the Truck, examine the equipment, and have methods of installation, costs, demonstration of how most of the plumbing can be done with ordinary labor, etc., fully gone into.

CHATHAM GIRL TO WED PRINCE OLEG VLADIMIR

Introduced to Future Husband by King of Jugoslavia.

Miss Louise MacLachlan, former Detroit girl, now a relief worker with the Near East Relief, in Greece and Smyrna, is to be married in August to Prince Oleg Vladimir, cousin of the King of Jugoslavia, it was reported on July 27th.

Miss MacLachlan, it is reported through the Detroit branch of Near East Relief, is the daughter of Mrs. D. MacLachlan, 156 William Street, Chatham, Ont.

The romance which culminated in the engagement of the Detroit girl and the Jugoslavian Prince, originated through an introduction of the two by King George II. of Greece, it is said.

Miss MacLachlan, with other refugees, was driven from the American College conducted by her uncle, Dr. Alexander MacLachlan, in Smyrna, during the uprisings there.

Prince Oleg was banished from Russia during the revolution.

Banner readers will be interested to learn that the young lady is a granddaughter of the late Malcolm MacLachlan, of Erin, and a great granddaughter of the late Daniel MacLachlan, who settled on lot 3, con. 4, west, Caledon, over one hundred years ago. The "White Church" was subsequently built on the Daniel MacLachlan farm and it is also said that the first schoolhouse in Caledon was built on this farm. Miss MacLachlan is also a grandniece of the late Alexander MacLachlan, the Scottish-American poet, in whose honour a memorial was erected in the Forest Lawn Cemetery a number of years ago, and is therefore a relative of his daughters, the Misses MacLachlan of this town.

THE WATER RESERVE

The Banner is pleased to learn that the water reserve in the reservoir north of Greenwood Cemetery is more satisfactory this year than for several years past. Usually in the dry summer season the reserve became so low that it caused the council no end of anxiety and frequently led to notices restricting the use of lawn services to certain hours and cautioning all water users to exercise the greatest care in order to conserve the supply. This year, however, the water in the reservoir has been much higher than usual and so far there has not been the slightest reason to fear a possible water famine. The improvement in the reserve is attributed to two factors. First the protection that the springs are receiving from the pines planted on the reservoir property a number of years ago. The young trees are now quite a size and afford the springs adequate protection from the hot sun and drying winds. The other factor is the saving accomplished through street oiling. When the watering cart was in service it used about 15,000 gallons a day on the streets of the town. This is conserved now that the need for street watering no longer exists and helps out the reserve a whole lot.

Viscount Grey Lover of Birds

Many interesting tales of bird life are told by Viscount Grey, all the result of personal experience, of careful, quiet watching in the few hours of leisure which he has been able to steal from public life.

If there were a prize for the best nest-building, Lord Grey says he would award it to the long-tailed tit. During every week-end in a period of two and a half months which he spent in his country cottage he watched a pair of long-tailed tits building their nest in a sweetbriar hedge. These birds are such careful and conscientious nest builders that they never hurry, and perhaps nothing made Lord Grey so happy as to see the little family born into the world on a Sunday in May after his many week-ends of watching.

Lord Grey's most faithful friends were two widgeons, which settled with him for some time, leading a tame and happy life. Then they decided to take a long tour, joining a flock of wild birds. After an absence of six or seven months the female widgeon returned to Lord Grey's garden, and a month later the male widgeon returned. Both had probably travelled thousands of miles, but both returned to the sanctuary they remembered in England.

In Lord Grey's opinion partridges provide the highest standard of family life and robins the lowest. Mr. and Mrs. Robin are glad to get rid of their families as soon as possible, and themselves always separate for the autumn and winter.

"I like the cuckoo," says Lord Grey, "but I am inclined to apply the remark to him that you often hear applied to a discreditable friend: 'I can't help liking him, I know him so well.'" He tells how an apparently innocent young cuckoo became fierce and revengeful when a baby whitethroat was placed in the nest legitimately his, but which the cuckoo had stolen.

Those who are interested in the supposed "mystery" of how the cuckoo gets its egg into a nest which it cannot get at properly would, perhaps, like to be informed of a physiological fact already well known to most naturalists. The hen cuckoo is so equipped by nature that it is able to grip, pass along, and release at will the newly but completely formed egg about to be "laid."

The bird is thus enabled to place its egg carefully and gently at the bottom of even a deep nest with only a small opening at top. If the egg were carried and placed into such a nest by the beak, this feat could only be accompanied by dropping it at random on to another egg or eggs, with risk of cracking and perhaps general mess.

There is a species of crow in India which assembles in flocks of about twenty or thirty in the recesses of forests, and whose note so exactly resembles the human voice in loud laughing that a person ignorant of the real cause would fancy that a very merry party was close at hand.

The laughing jackass, when warning his feathered mates that daybreak is at hand, utters a cry resembling a troop of boys shouting, whooping, and laughing in wild chorus. The innocent nightjar, which has been slandered under the name of goatsucker, has a cry as of one lamenting in distress, which once heard is never forgotten.

Among birds that have the power of imitation the parrot is supposed to talk the best; but, as a matter of fact, is voice is decidedly inferior to that of the mynah, a species of starling, of which there are examples at the Zoological Gardens. Curiously enough, the cock bird speaks in a high, clear tone like that of a child, while the hen has a gruff voice.

Another bird, the "morepork," of Australia, is frequently heard vehemently demanding more pork in a clear, stentorian voice. The whip-poor-will of America also demands his punishment in a distinct imitation of the human voice, and the command of the guinea-fowl to come back could easily be mistaken for a human voice.

In "Marvels of Instinct," Mr. G. Garrett recalls the story of a sparrow which, finding a newly built martin's nest, took "possession" in the absence of the owner. The martin, seeing the usurper, called for help, and soon a thousand martins came, at "full speed," to attack the sparrow; but the latter, being covered in on every side, and presenting only his large beak at the entrance of the nest, was invulnerable, and made the boldest of them that durst approach him repent of their temerity.

After a quarter of an hour's conflict all the martins disappeared. The sparrow thought he had got the better, and the spectators judged that the martins had abandoned their undertaking.

Not in the least! They immediately returned to the charge, and, each of them having procured a little of the tempered earth with which they make their nests, they all at once fell upon the sparrow and enclosed him in the nest to perish there, although they could not drive him out.

Early Britons Used Coal.

Tools and cinders found near the ancient Roman wall in England indicate that the Britons used coal previous to the Roman invasion in 54 B.C. By the English people it was first used as a fuel in 852, and, in the blast furnace for the production of iron, in 1612. In America those intrepid Jesuit missionaries, Joliet and Marquette, discovered coal near the present site of Utica, Ill., in 1673 That the Indians were acquainted with numerous coal beds and actually burned these black "stones" instead of firewood, there can be no doubt.

DANIEL M'CALLUM

Daniel McCullum, who departed this life at his home on Main street on Saturday morning last, was a resident of Shelburne for the past 30 years. He was born in the township of Caledon on March 4th, 1839, being a son of the late Mr and Mrs. Archy McCallum, early settlers of that township. He came to Dufferin county 55 years ago, first settling at Rosemont, where he was engaged in farming for a short time. Later he devoted much of his time to threshing. At that time the old-fashioned horse-power was in vogue and many were the hard and trying experiences in those days in salvaging the grain crops. In his latter years at Rosemont the deceased drove the stage daily from that place to Shelburne and return. In 1893 he took up his residence in Shelburne, and continued to reside here. Declining health forced him to retire from active service duties less than a year ago. He is survived by his widow, who before her marriage was Sarah Hunter of Rosemont, one son Dalmar McCallum, Toronto; and one daughter, Mrs. Jas. L. Landborough, Shelburne. He also leaves one brother Archy McCallum of Saskatchewan. Interment took place in Shelburne cemetery on Monday afternoon of this week, Rev. A. E. Owen, pastor of the Methodist church, conducting the services at the house and grave. The pallbearers were Messrs. J. J. Metcalfe, Charles Lindsay, Samuel Lindsay, Alex. Campbell, J. W. Hamilton and W. J. Davey. Relatives from a distance who attended the funeral are: Archy McCallum, Shallow Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McCallum and daughter Jessie of Sarawak township; Dal. McCallum Mrs. M. Davis and Archy Davis, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Jos. McCallum, Guelph; Mr. and Mrs. John J. McFarlane and daughter, Gladys Duncan McCallum, Dan. Ferris and Murray Hunter, Toronto; Hamilton Hunter and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hunter, Rosemont; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McCallum and two daughters and Alex. McLeish of Caledon East.—Free Press.

TO EXPECTANT MOTHERS

A Letter from Mrs. Smith Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Trenton, Ont.—"I am writing to you in regard to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I would not be without it. I have taken it before each of my children was born and afterwards, and find it a great help. Before my first baby was born I had shortness of breath and ringing in my ears. I felt as if I would never pull through. One day a friend of my husband told him what the Vegetable Compound had done for his wife and advised him to take a bottle home for me. After the fourth bottle I was a different woman. I have four children now, and I always find the Vegetable Compound a great help as it seems to make confinement easier. I recommend it to my friends." — Mrs FRED H SMITH, John St., Trenton, Ont.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for expectant mothers, and should be taken during the entire period. It has a general effect to strengthen and tone up the entire system, so that it may work in every respect effectually as nature intended. Thousands of women testify to this fact. C

STOLE $3,000

Ellen Schrieber, 19, Deserted by William Wicks, at Arthur, After She Had Stolen Money and Run Away to Marry Him At Guelph.

Ellen Schrieber, a young woman nineteen years of age is in the County Gaol at Owen Sound charged with the theft of three thousand dollars from her foster father with whom she resides at Pike Lake, Normanby Township, about four miles from the town of Mount Forest. The Provincial Police are hot on the trail of William Wicks, alias Charles Batton, who it is alleged induced the girl to steal the money, and elope with him to Guelph, where it is alleged he induced the girl to believe that he would marry her.

Schrieber is an old farmer of German extraction, who had lived in Normanby Township for a number of years. He has a great aversion to banks, and preferred to keep his hoard of money about his home and his farm. He had saved through years of toil and frugality the not insignificant sum of seven thousand dollars, part of which he kept in the house, and the remainder, several thousand dollars in a jar buried under some bushes near the house.

Schrieber's foster daughter, who is now at the County Gaol awaiting trial is said to be mentally deficient, was prevailed upon to steal two thousand from the jar in the bush, and another from the house. The theft was committed about six o'clock on Thursday evening, and the money was handed over to Wicks about ten o'clock the same evening. The plan was that they were to go to Toronto by way of Gueph, and from there to leave for South America, where it is said Wicks has been in connection with oil drilling operations. The plans also included a marriage ceremony at Guelph.

Early Friday morning the couple left Mount Forest, the girl taking her foster father's car. When they had reached Arthur the car broke down and leaving the girl at a grocery store, Wicks said he would place their grips on a train, and hire a car to go to Guelph. He has not been seen since. The girl finding herself deserted at once complained to the authorities, and she unfolded the whole dismal tale to them. She was brought to Owen Sound by Provincial Constables Binnie, of Guelph and Jones, of Owen Sound. An information was laid but she was remanded until one o'clock on Monday afternoon.

Wicks instead of proceeding to Guelph, as he had promised, it is alleged, hired a taxi cab at Gibbons Garage and proceeded east. He was traced as far as Toronto, and the police have information that he spent the night at a hotel there. From what can be learned, Wicks is about forty years of age, and has been living in that community for some time.

Russell Gidley, of Blyth, was assessed $200 and costs by Magistrate C. A. Reid for having liquor in other than a private house. On the same day, Smith McClure of Bruce Township paid a fine of $200 and costs for having liquor in his automobile in Wingham.

Some time ago the Sauble Falls Light & Power Co., built an addition al 18 inches to their dam at the Sauble in order to provide more head for their plant, but Seaman's who own the saw mill, claimed that sued for damages. They were awarded $90. They asked for the it drove their mill too quickly and 18 inches to be taken off the dam, but Court did not grant this, so the decision wound appear somewhat of the nature of a compromise.

CANADIAN COAL

Address by Mr. F. W. Gray, of British Empire Steel Corporation, before the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association in Sydney on June 30th, 1923.

It is not necessary to inform this audience, which is drawn from all parts of Canada and has arrived at this easternmost point after travelling over a great part of the country, that as Canadians we have a rich and vast heritage, and that the future of this countryy is so promising as to need no emphasis and to call for no exaggeration on our part.

Nevertheless, Canada suffers under one serious limitation, one that, but for the resources of Nova Scotia would, in the long run, be fatal to our hopes of national development, and would some day force the absorption of Canada to the United States.

I refer to the shortage of coal deposits in Eastern Canada. Between the coalfield of Nova Scotia and the fringe of the great coalfield of Alberta, there is a distance of 1,800 miles, or as far as from England to the Caucasus, that is entirely without coal resources.

The coalfields of Nova Scotia, 70 per cent. of the reserves of which are concentrated around this city, is a lone and singular occurrence in the Dominion. With the exception of some inferior coal in Chili and the coalfield of Vancouver Island, it is the only coal deposit on either the Atlantic or the Pacific shores of the American Continent, the nearest coal deposit in the United States is 800 miles away. These conditions give to the Nova Scotia field extraordinary economic and national value, out of all proportion to the actual extent of the field.

Coal is the basic raw material of modern civilization, and no nation can hope to become great, self-sustaining and independent that is without coal. It is not too much to say that the coal of Nova Scotia is the guarantee of economic independence, and consequently the guarantee of national independence to Canada.

In the West there is a large concentration of coal resources which some day will cause Alberta to exceed the East as an industrial centre, and will bring population and wealth to the West in such degree that it will become a dominating factor in the political economy of the Dominion.

The coalfield of Nova Scotia, if its resources are preperly used, will enable the East to hold its own, and will prove a main factor in holding East and West together in the indissoluble bond that the Fathers of Confederation planned for.

Those who saw Sydney Harbor in war years, filled with vessels of war, troop-ships and transports, and saw the armed convoys leaving Sydney weekly, with the regularity of train service, gained illuminaton on the importance of the combined coal and steel industries to Canada. Had the neutrality of the United States during the years 1914 to 1917 been other than a benevolent one, Canada could not, without the coal of Nova Scotia, have provided men or ships, and could not have manufactured munitions or exported grain and war supplies.

Fom the Island of Cape Breton got less than 6000 men went away to the Front, almost entirely volunteers and in a very large part composed of miners. As a result of this, the prodution of coal has been very much reduced.

Readers of newspapers, particularly those published outside of Nova Scotia, may be pardoned if they have an idea that social conditions are very disturbed in the mining districts of the provnce. It is probably true, as it is in all urban centres at this time, that sinister forces, originating outside Canada, are being exerted against society as it exists under British institutions, but it is scarcely necessary to state that a population with a war record like that of Cape Breton Island cannot, in the nature of things, contain any dangerous elements of disloyalty, and is, as it always was and will be, intrinsically sound at heart and able to deal with its own social problems in the manner approved of by our racial and national traditions.

The coalfield situated around Sydney is unique, 70 per cent. of the reserve in the coal seaus is situated under the sea. Coal is now being mined at distances exceeding 2¼ miles to sea, and 70 per cent. of all the coal being mined in this district is won from under the sea. Our engineers are making technical history, and their projects are of a character that will make Cape Breton renowned in the annals of mining engineering.

A crying need of the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, from which a large part of this audience comes, is an assured supply of suitable fuel for domestic heating at moderate price. The small householder cannot longer afford to pay from $18.00 to $20.00 per ton for anthracite, and he cannot look for much relief in the price of anthracite, if any. Indeed as the years go by, it will become dearer and increasingly hard to obtain.

There is made in Sydney from Sydney coal, a by-product, coke. This is a fuel that has all the qualities of anthracite, but in greater degree; 8 tons of it is equal to 10 tons of the best quality commercial anthracite. By the erectioin of coke ovens in Montreal and other cities of Quebec and Ontario, it is possible to provide the householder with a fuel that will cost him less than anthracite, will give him greater heat—with less labor, and will relieve Canada of the necessity to import anthracite. If this were done the mines of Nova Scotia would have an annual market for coal that would be absolutely dependable and steady; the quantity of coal mined in Nova Scotia would increase, and it would be unnecessaray to send money out of the country for imported anthracite.

The manufacture of domestic coke from Nova Scotia bituminuous coal in the large cities of Ontario and Quebec is one way in which Nova Scotia can help those provinces, and in return receive very considerable assistance herself, and in combination add greatly to the wealth of the Dominion.

"My Heart Would Palpitate, I Had Weak Spells"

Mrs. L. Whiting, 202 King St. West, Brockville, Ont., writes:—

"I took very sick with my nerves and stomach, and seemed to be all run down. At times my heart would flutter and palpitate so and I would take such weak spells in the pit of my stomach that I sometimes thought I would never get better. I had almost given up hope when a friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I did not stop until I had taken twenty-five boxes. It has done wonders for me and I want to recommend it to everyone."

TRAIN CRASHES INTO AUTO

Occupants of Car, Who Sustained Terrible Injuries, Had Miraculous Escape from Death.

A serious accident occurred on the eighth line G. T. R. crossing here yesterday (Wednesday) evening when Mr. R. C. Kearns' automobile was struck by the 6:15 northbound passenger train. Mr. Kearns and Miss Pearl Stewart, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Stewart, were returning from the lacrosse match at Orangeville. Mr. and Mrs. Ira Palmer, who were also returning from Orangeville, stopped their car opposite the Methodist cemetery to await the passing of the train. When they slowed up Mr. Kearns' car passed. Mrs. Palmer beckoned to them to stop, but Mr. Kearns was evidently not aware of the approach of the train. Mr. Palmer, who witnessed the accident, states that the auto was turned completely around and hurled ten feet in the air. In the decent it tore out a post, smashing the railing on the road and crashed down the embankment, lodging against the wire fence on the north side of the road. The occupants were thrown against the barb-wire fence. The train was stopped and assnstance was immediately at hand. Dr. Spearing was hastily summoned and the victims of the accident, both of whom were seriously injured, were removed to the home of Mr. D. W. Watson. Mr. Kearns sustained a compound fracture of the right leg, fractured collarbone, a fleeh wound on the right arm which required ten stitches to close, and many severe bruises. Miss Stewart sustained very severe facial wounds, two fractured ribs and is suffering profoundly from the shock. The automobile was damaged beyond repair, being reduced to a crumpled heap of twisted steel, splintered glass and wood. Deep sympathy is felt for Mr. Kearns and Miss Stewart, both of whom are popular young people of Beeton.—Beeton World.

The Most Romantic City in North America

1—The Quebec Bridge which spans the St. Lawrence, seven miles above the city; 2—An ancient cannon on the old ramparts of Quebec; 3—A Quebec Habitant boy with his picturesque equipage; 4—A typical bit of rural scenery a few miles from Quebec City.

Quebec City, the Gibraltar of the New World, was one of the chief points of call in the itinerary of the Canadian Weekly Press Association over the Canadian National Railways recently. It was a place of intense interest to these publishers and editors, for Quebec is the cradle of the history of Canada. There France's domination of Canada began and there it died, leaving the way open for British dominion over, and the confederacy of the provinces from coast to coast, under one Parliament, one flag and one king. There on the ramparts of the citadel commanding the St. Lawrence, the phantom figures of Champlain's soldiers keep company with the khaki clad sentinel of the present day garrison force.

Quebec is a city with an individuality. It is unlike any other city in North America. It is a city of contrasts. Beside a fine modern building one finds a structure with windows heavily shuttered, with massive doors, and walls of thick grey masonry, typifying the days when Quebec was a fortress and the stronghold of the continent. From the spacious width of the Grand Allée one has to walk but a few steps to find a street so narrow that two persons may shake hands across its width. From the modern post office it is only a short distance to the walls which girded the city in the days of siege. A stiff short climb will carry one from the new railway station to the ancient St. Louis gate, through which the dying Montcalm rode after his defeat by Wolfe on the nearby Plains of Abraham. The swiftly propelled automobile passes by, without a salute, the quaint, slow going calèche.

A few miles above Quebec stands the famous Quebec bridge, the greatest undertaking of its kind in the world. Across it the Canadian National Railways runs into the heart of the city. It has a total length of 2,340 feet with a suspended span of 640 feet hung between two cantilever arms of 1160 feet. The suspended span is slung high enough above the water to allow the tallest masted ship to pass beneath with ease at highest water.

The harbor front at Quebec is a busy spot in summer. It is the port of call of ocean liners and trans-Atlantic freighters and a great volume of business pours in and out of this port during the months of open navigation.

Quebec is the centre of the country populated by the Habitants. These people, who correspond to the peasant of France, live in a simple way, and are open-hearted in their hospitality to the stranger in their community. In their quaint but tidy homes the spinning wheel may be seen in use and many picturesque fashions to be found nowhere else on the continent are still in vogue.

Amazing Facts Given By Mrs. Ruth Thornton

"Since taking Tanlac I've regained the thirty-five pounds I lost while sick and five pounds besides," declared Mrs. Ruth Thornton, 717 Asumption St., Windsor, Ont.

"At the time I got Tanlac a case of the 'flu' had brought me down to where I was only a shadow of my former self, and so weak I could hardly walk across the floor. My stomach caused me more misery than words can tell. My nerves were so completely unstrung I just dreaded to go to bed, for I couldn't sleep. Even to sweep the floor was a burden to me.

"But Tanlac has made me so well and strong my housework is like play to me. My appetite is enormous, my food digests perfectly, and I sleep the whole night through and never hear a sound. My friends tell me I am the picture of good health. I never can praise Tanlac enough for the good it has done me."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Moved by Mr. McBride, seconded by Mr. Trathen, that when the Council adjourns to-day it stands adjourned until Monday, August 6th next.—Carried.

NOTICE—Mr. Trathen gave notice that he will, at the next meeting of Council, ask for leave to introduce a bill to levy a rate for County, Township and School purposes, also for paying bonus on wire fence.

On motion Council adjourned.

L. H. WILLIS, Clerk.

J. F. McDONALD, Reeve.

JOHN CURRY

Orangeville lost an esteemed citizen last week through the death of John Curry, which took place at his home on Third Avenue, on Tuesday July 24th, after a long illness from an obscure internal ailment, that baffled the skill of the attending physicians. Deceased, who was 69 years of age, was born in the township of Mono in 1863, being a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Horner Curry, early settlers in this district. He had spent his lifetime in Orangeville and neighborhood. For several years he engaged in dairying on what is commonly known as the Wilcox farm on the Prince of Wales Road. He afterwards purchased the McMaster homestead, lot 7, Prince of Wales Road, where he farmed successfully until March, 1922, when he sold the property and moved to Orangeville. His illness commenced in May of the same year. Deceased was a quiet, industrious man, who had many friends and very few enemies. He was a successful farmer, being specially well-informed on the dairying branch of the industry in which he was keenly interested. He was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, a Conservative and a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters and The Maccabees. He is survived by his wife and a family of three sons, Harvey, a member of the Falconer Hardware Co., Ray, of the Robert Simpson Co. staff, and Fred of Orangeville. Messrs. W. J. and Thos. I. Curry, Orangeville, are brothers and Mrs. Thos. Hughes, Toronto. Mrs. Jas. Hughson, Caledon, and Mrs. Jas. Corrigan, Toronto, are the sisters still living. The sympathy of our citizens is extended to the wife and family in their time of sorrow.

The funeral, which was quite largely attended, was held from his late residence to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Friday afternoon, Rev. F. W. Mahaffy conducting the services. The pallbearers were Messrs. Geo. A. Leighton, Geo. Allen, Dr. W. J. Price, F. A. Falconer, R. B. Henry and W. E. Island. A large number of floral tributes testified to the esteem and sorrow of friends of the family. These included a wreath from Court Gardiner, C. O. F., a crescent from the family, wreath from Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Falconer, a wreath from the brothers and a wreath from Mrs. Heath, Toronto.

Friends here for the funeral included Mr. Harkey Hughson, Hamilton; Messrs. Francis and John Frank, Belfountain; Messrs. Ben and John McKinney, Mrs. Heath and Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hughes, Toronto; Mrs. Thos. Murray and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Graham, Shelburne.

MRS ANN MAY

Mrs. Ann May, widow of the late William May, both old residents of Orangeville and district, died in this town on Thursday last at the age of 79 years. The funeral was held from Hulse's Undertaking Parlors to Greenwood Cemetery on Saturday afternoon, Rev. J. W. McDonald, rector of St. Mark's Church, and Rev. G. W. Tebbs, of Burlington, conducting the services. The pallbearers were Messrs. M. Vareoe, John Buchanan, Wm. Braiden, H. L. Modeland, Col. J. A. V. Preston and J. A. Skelton.

DEATH OF MRS. BROOKS

Another of the old pioneers of Band Head district has passed away in the person of Catharine Sparrow, relict of the late J. J. Brooks, who died at the residence of her son, Ernest, Sunday, July 22, after a long illness, and in her 88th year. Mrs. Brooks was born in Tipperary, Ireland, in 1835, and in 1844 came to Canada with her family, settling near Mono Road. In 1855 she married J. J. Brooks, moving with him to the homestead on the 6th of Tecumseth, in the vicinity of which she remained until her death. Mrs. Brooks was a life-long Methodist. One sister survives, Mrs. Hubbard, of Orangeville, and the following children: Mrs. W. J. M. Kinley, Caledon East; Mrs. Ed. Shuttleworth, Dauphin, Man.; Jonathan Brooks, Alliston; Alfred Brooks and W. T. and Ernest, at home.

WILLIAM REID

William Reid, formerly a well-known resident of Orangeville, died in Guelph General Hospital on Thursday last, July 26th. Deceased, who had been living in Milton for the last thirteen years, had his leg broken in an accident last March. The limb was set and appeared to be doing nicely for some weeks. Trouble developed during June and the doctors found it necessary to amputate the limb. The bone proved to be deceased and death finally ensued. It is currently reported that the trouble was due to the action of some over zealous partisans who prevailed upon the unfortunate man to leave the hospital and go home to vote on election day, but we have not been able to confirm the report. The late Mr. Reid was 73 years of age and unmarried. He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. William Piggot, of Hespeler, and Misses Martha and Annie Reid, of Orangeville. The remains were brought to Orangeville for burial the funeral taking place from the home of his sisters near the C. P. R. station to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Friday afternoon. Rev. F. W. Mahaffy conducted services at the house and grave. The pallbearers were Messrs. Robt. Henderson, T. C. Peavoy, J. VanWyck, Wm. Braiden, John Norris, Bert Allen.

MIDGETS WIN

Outscored Fergus by 11 to 3 in Championship Match.

The Dufferins-St. Simons match on Idylwyld Park on Wednesday afternoon of last week was preceded by a well-played game between the Orangeville and Fergus midgets, also for group championship honours. The kids played snappy, clever lacrosse and many of them showed a familiarity with the fine points of the game that would have done credit to senior players. The locals excelled in combination work and the methods employed by their attack were effective, as the score of 11 to 3 amply proves. The greenshirts were ahead at all stages. The quarter time score was 2 to 0 in their favor, at the half they led by 7 to 3, at three-quarter time by 8 to 3, and at the finish by 11 to 3. The players were:—

Fergus—Goal, McDonald; point, E. Russell; coverpoint, Carter; defence, Wells and A. Russel; centre, Day; home, Graham and Rae; outside, White; inside, Atchison; spares, Blakeley and Alpaugh.

Dufferins — Goal, Gray; point, Black; coverpoint, Moore; defence, Watt and Merlins; centre, Robertson; home, Duke and Brawley; outside Bradley; inside, Young; spares, Hogben, Snell and Davidson.

Referee—J. Z. Henry.

JUVENILES DEFEATED

The Orangeville juvenile lacrosse team were defeated by the Hespeler juveniles in a championship lacrosse match at Idylwyld Park here on Saturday afternoon. The locals defeated Hespeler on their own grounds a couple of weeks ago by 9 goals to 4 but on Saturday the visitors tallied six times while the homesters tallied twice. In the first period neither team scored, but soon after the opening of the second quarter Orangeville ran in two goals in quick succession. Then things looked bright for a while but the Hespelerites soon struck their stride and the locals were rather outclassed in the last half of the game.

The defeat of the locals may be accounted for by lack of practice and over-confidence. The visitors have a good defence and a first-class goalkeeper but their home is not as efficient as the rest of the team. Several of the locals were forced to play out of their positions and this no doubt counted against them. The Hespeler team and a good crowd of rooters motored to town and spent most of the day here. The gate receipts show that there were 64 people present to witness the game. Probably the boys got nervous and couldn't play when they saw such a multitude on hand to cheer.

MOTORCYCLE ACCIDENT

Mr. Leonard McCaffrey, of Caledon East, who is camping at Stanley Park, was the victim of a nasty accident the other day, when he attempted to ride a motorcycle, the property of a friend who had come to pay him a visit. The lad lost control of the machine and, while it was travelling at quite a speed, collided with a stump. As a result of the collision nthe boy received a bad wound in the abdomen and internal injuries. He is under the doctor's care.

ORANGEVILLE RUNNERS-UP

An Orangeville rink, skipped by Mr. J. D. Torrie, were runners-up in the Eaton Memorial Cup competition at the Brampton Bowling Tournament last week. The locals won a long string of games before they reached the final, in which they were pitted against Dr. Cameron, of High Park. The city rink won the game by a score of 14 to 8. The players were:—

High Park	Orangeville
E. A. Walshaw	Dr. W. J. Price
G. Robinson	W. J. Gillespie
R. Irving	T. S. Parkinson.
Dr. Cameron—14	J. D. Torrie—8.

—St. Luke's Church, Glencross, will hold a big Garden Party on the night of August 15th. The garden party will be at "Sunnyside Farm," the home of Mr. Thos. Allen. Particulars later.

—The Methodists are busy renovating the Parsonage during the absence of the pastor and his family. The improvements are on an extensive scale and included the tearing down of the back part of the old parsonage.

Holiday Season is Here and You Will Want a Nice Club Bag or Suit Case. Come To ARNOTT'S SHOE STORE

—Farmers have completed their haying in this district and are now busy with the fall wheat and barley harvest. The hay crop was very heavy and took a lot of handling. Fortunately the weather has been favorable, making it much easier to get the crop cured.

—Orangeville friends regret the death of Mr. J. G. Kingsboro, of Little Current, who was well-known in town. Mr. and Mrs. Kingsboro spent a couple of winters in Orangeville and made a number of warm friends during their sojourn here. Mr. Kingsboro was a member of the local curling club and an ardent devotee of this popular winter sport.

—Mr. Isaac Nicholson, one of Orangeville's oldest citizens, celebrated his 89th birthday on July 15th. The old gentleman is still bright and alert. During the illness of his daughter, Mrs. C. Dahl, with whom he resides, he is making his home with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Donaldson, of Reading, old friends of the family. Mr. E. C. Daniels secured a fine photo of Mr. Nicholson on his birthday anniversary.

SPEEDY DELIVERY

Mr. S. H. Rutledge, the West Broadway granite and monument dealer, recently received twelve crates of granite direct from Aberdeen, Scotland. The granite was shipped from Aberdeen on July 3rd and arrived in Orangeville on July 19th just sixteen days later. This just about constitutes a record for speedy delivery. Fifty years ago it would have taken four months to deliver a similar shipment. The consignment weighed six tons and Mr. Rutledge placed the order over eight months ago.

Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Price intend leaving town on Friday for a two weeks vacation trip on the Upper Lakes. Dr. Price's dental office will be closed while he is away.

Mr. C. A. Lamon, Manager of the Bank of Hamilton, is home again after a two weeks vacation in Oshawa and other points. Mrs. Lamon and children are still in Oshawa.

Dr. Kyles has returned to town after a pleasant three weeks' vacation summering on the Lake Huron shore near Port Elgin. Mrs. Kyles and sons will remain for some weeks longer.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Modeland and children, of Winnipeg, are visiting Mrs. Modeland's father, Mr. J. H. Hulse. The visitors had the happy experience of being able to celebrate the tenth anniversary of their marriage in the old home on Saturday last.

Mr. Justice Walsh, of Calgary, one of the Judges of the Supreme Court of Alberta, and Mr. J. N. Fish, barrister, of Regina, were interested spectators of the Weston-Dufferins lacrosse match yesterday afternoon. The two visitors practiced law in Orangeville a number of years ago.

Dr. and Mrs. Chas. Brereton, of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Rose, of Guelph, paid Mr. J. H. Hulse and the Misses Hulse a short visit on Monday while on their way through town from Kitchener, where Dr. Brereton was skip of one of the successful tourney rinks.

Mrs. Wm. Semple, of Moose Jaw a daughter of the late Samuel Cruikshank, Second Line, west, Mono, is visiting relatives in Toronto, Dufferin County and at Teeswater. Mrs. Semple expects to remain in Ontario until September 1st. Our visitor reports excellent crop prospects in the Moose Jaw district.

ALEXANDRA PARK

The Town Council has completed a number of needed repairs to the Town Hall and Alexandra Park. The Town Hall, or Market Building as it is sometimes called, has been repaired and repainted and is looking quite modern in its new coating. The Park has been cleaned up, the grass neatly cut and the water has been turned on in the fountain in the centre of the square. The Park had a rather neglected appearance earlier in the year, but there is no sign of neglect now. These are matters that add to the appearance of the town and help to make a favorable impression on our visitors.

UNION SERVICES

The Union Services held by the congregations of the Orangeville Methodist and Presbyterian churches during July will be continued for the whole month of August. During July the services, which were in charge of Rev. F. W. Mahaffy, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, were held in the Presbyterian Church in the morning and in the Methodist Church at night. During August the order will be reversed, the morning service being held in the Methodist Church and the evening service in St. Andrew's Church. Rev. H. L. Partridge, pastor of the Methodist Church, will have charge of the services this month and will also be charged with the pastoral oversight of the two congregations. Strangers are cordially welcome at these services.

MOTOR ROAD MAPS

The 1923 road map of the Ontario Motor League is now on sale at The Banner Office. The map has been thoroughly revised and greatly improved in a number of respects. It shows in accurate red outline the Provincial Highway system of Ontario and also the best roads in Western Quebec, New York State and Eastern Michigan. The relative importance of all roads is indicated by three classes of lines—red, medium and thin black. The map sells at 50 cents, the same price as last year.

A BIG SCORE

Dufferins Won Wednesday Game From St. Simons by 17 to 3.

The Dufferins won a comparatively easy victory from St. Simons in the championship lacrosse match played on Idylwyld Park on Wednesday afternoon last. The visitors were badly outscored, finishing the game with the small end of a 17 to 3 count. The score hardly indicates the nature of the game, which was not nearly as one-sided as one would be led to infer from the tally. St. Simons handled the ball a great deal. In fact there was not any marked disparity between the teams in this respect. In the field the visitors had their share of the play, their defence played a steady game and made the Dufferin home earn the most of their goals, but their home was no match for The Dufferin defence, which was in top form and turned in one of the best games of the season. It is greatly to the credit of the St. Simons team that they never gave up trying. Despite the adverse score that the greenshirts piled up in the first half of the game, they stuck pluckily to their job and gave their best right to the finish of the game.

The first goal went to The Dufferins in easy fashion. Ewing captured the ball right from the face-off, ran up the field and transferred to Cruickshank, who dodged through the Saints defence and beat Fletcher with the shot. St. Simons did not even handle the ball. After some end to end play Brown sent in a sizzler that lodged safely for the second counter of the game. Brown took another on a pass from Cruikshank and then Scott ambled up the field, passed a couple of men and shot for the fourth. Golden took two on pretty plays and the quarter ended with The Dufferins leading by 6 to 0.

Kavanagh went into the flags for the visitors and for the remainder of the game defended the Saints citadel in fine style, stopping a large number of shots that had every appearance of being tagged for counters. After Kavanagh had stopped a couple of hard shots, Wilson set the ball rolling for The Dufferins with a clever shot that fooled the net guardian. Sargeant followed suit a little later and then Golden took one on a well-judged pass from Gordon. McFadden and Davis combined for the first counter for the Saints, the pair featuring in a clever pass from behind the flags followed by a lightning shot that Firth did not even see. Eddie Hawken scored the last goal of the period after working his way around from the side of the net in a manner that won him a round of cheers. Halftime score 10 to 1.

In the third period Gordon and Wilson scored one each for the greenshirts. Scott bulged the net for the Saints' second counter. The Dufferins were all over their opponents in the last period. Gordon tallied shortly after the face-off. Sargeant and Wilson took one apiece. Shortly after play resumed Gordon and Brown combined for another, the latter making the shot. Golden capped a tidy bit of combination play with a neat shot, that counted the fifth for the quarter. Just before the gong sounded for full time Lount beat Firth for the Saints third goal. The game was very clean, only one penalty being imposed and that for an accidental offence. The players and officials were:—

St. Simons—Goal, Fletcher; point, Bullen; coverpoint, Kavanangh; defence, Kitchen, Nettleship and Heyes centre, Baird; home field, Lount, Russell and McFadden; outside, Scott; inside, Davis; spares, Johnston and Beasley.

The Dufferins—Goal, Firth; point Cushing; coverpoint, Henderson; defence, Scott, Cruikshank, Ewing; centre, Burnside; home, Sargeant, Golden and Brown; outside, Gordon; inside, Hawken; spares, Wilson and McAulay.

Referee, Barnett; Judge of Play, Parkinson.

One of the features of the game was the fine fielding of Wilson, Burnside and Sargeant. The fleet-footed trio covered a lot of ground and seemed tireless.

ANOTHER WIN

Dufferins Downed Riversides by 6 to 2 on Saturday.

The Dufferins justified the hopes and expectations of their supporters by winning their Saturday game from the Riversides by a score of 6 to 2. The match took place at Scarboro Beach and was witnessed by about 2,000 fans. It was a real game and the greenshirts were forced to their best pace to win. Riversides, who travelled in hard luck the early part of the season, had their full line-up on for the first time this year. They have one of the heaviest teams playing senior lacrosse and their handling of the Dufferins was none too gentle. However the greenshirts came through the game without suffering any serious injuries and the players should be in good shape for Wednesday's game with Weston. Dufferins led by 2 to 0 at the quarter and by 3 to 1 at halftime. Riversides scored the only goal of the third period, but the greenshirts went out in front in decisive fashion in the final quarter, holding their heavy opponents scoreless and doubling their own count. The Globe gave the following report of the game:—

Riversides put up a plucky battle on Saturday at the Scarboro Beach grounds in an attempt to stop the Orangeville Dufferins in their onward rush toward the O. A. L. A. senior championship. The game was a battle royal for three periods, the score at three-quarter time being only 3 to 2 for the visitors, but in the final period the great home field of the Oranngeville team got down to business and ran in 3 goals, winning by 6 to 2. Robinson and Zinn were absent from the line-up of last year's association champions, the former, who is one of the fastest fielders on the team, being ill.

The Orangeville attackers again demonstrated that it is going to take an airtight defence to stop them, for their combination play was perfect, while their shooting was deadly. "Eddie" Hawken, the diminutive home man for the winners, turned in one of the best games of his career. He made the most brilliant play of the game to score one goal. Cruikshank and Gordon were also in the limelight on the attack, the former scoring two goals and doing a lot of fielding, while the latter notched one tally and headed a number of dangerous rushes on the opposing net. Golden fielded his position well and managed to score his team's second counter. The mainstay of the defence was Scott, who time after time broke up the Riverside rushes and also found time to make a number of dangerous sallies down the field.

Riversides are one of the best teams in the senior race and if they had not lost a number of their regulars earlier in the season through injuries they would now be right up in the running. On Saturday their defense held the visiting home men at bay for the greater part of the game, and it was only in the last quarter that the winners had any great advantage in the play. "Max" McGregor played well on the home and scored one goal. Walsh worked hard on the attack all through the game and was rewarded with a goal near the end of the second period. The Black and White team showed surprising speed in the field, the McCurry brothers and "Jerry" Sullivan recovering a lot of loose balls and generally outrunning their checks. O'Rourke and Spragg played well on the defense, while Sutherland in goal made many clever saves.

The visitors outscored the losers by 2 to 0 in the first quarter, but the latter team was outlucked in a number of its rushes on the opposing net. In the second quarter Riversides held The Dufferins even, each team scoring once, Hawken and Walsh being the marksmen. This made the halftime score 3 to 1.

At the start of the third the Black and White forced the play and Firth in the Orangeville net was called upon to make many difficult stops. Just a few seconds before the whistle was blown for the end of the period, McGregor, after a pretty piece of combination play, scored the goal that cut down the visitors' lead to one tally. In the final period the visiting team came to earth and while "Tim" O'Rourke was serving a penalty they ran in three goals in quick succession and the final gong rang with Orangeville in the lead by 6 to 2.

Orangeville—Goal, Firth; point, Henderson; cover, Cushing; defence, Scott, Sargeant and Ewing; centre, Burnside; home, Golden, Wilson and Brown; outside, Gordon; inside, Hawken; spares, Cruikshank and McAulay.

Riversides — Goal, Sutherland; point, Gore; cover, G. Robinson; defence, E. Sullivan, C. Pherrill and O'Rourke; centre, D. McCurry; home, J. Sullivan, Walsh and Smith; outside, McGregor; inside, Gallaugher; spares, J. Spring and M. McCurry.

Referees—Eddie Powers and C. Querrie.

PRAISE FOR THE DUFFS

In his comments on the Riverside-Dufferins game on Saturday, Charlie Querrie hands the following bouquets to the Orangeville team through the medium of The Daily Star:—

"We are not trying to take any credit away from Orangeville by telling you what a great game Riversides really put up, for Orangeville won by a score of 6 to 2, and deserved the win, but it was only in the first and last periods when they were the best. Orangeville are a really great aggregation and it would not surprise us one bit if they were in the finals against Brampton, Weston or Maitlands.

"One thing that should please Orangeville was the good work of their defence, which has been rather "lax" all season. Firth, in goal, was good while Henderson and Cushing have seldom played better. Ewing not only checked well, but took several excursions down the field. McAulay worked like a beaver and Scott held Max McGregor as well as could be expected.

"Two men not usually so much in the limelight stood out for Orangeville, especially the former, Hawken. Cruikshank was tireless in the field and scored the goal in the last period that put Orangeville well away and then added another. Hawken gave a good display. He started the two plays that allowed Gordon and Golden to score the first two goals and then he brought the crowd to their feet cheering when he scored a goal in the second session after a brilliant effort. It was surely a great day for the name of Hawken.

"And by the way Sargeant and Wilson did some great work for Orangeville, especially the former. Burnside, who has been ill, was not as good as usual, but tried all the way. Orangeville is a great team and any team that stops them will deserve all the credit in the world."

"The fact that Hawken and Cruikshank starred Saturday is one secret of Orangeville's greatness. One day it is Brown in the limelight, then Gordon or Golden occupy the rung of glory. Saturday Gordon, Golden and Brown were closely watched, so someone else came through and this is always an asset for any team."

BLACK KNIGHTS' DAY

Posters have been issued for the Black Knights' Celebration in Orangeville on Saturday, August 11th. These disclose the extensive and varied nature of the program arranged for the Celebration. At one o'clock the Preceptories will form at Alexandra Park, parade the principal streets and then march to the Exhibition grounds, where there will be speaking, music, racing and other attractions. The committee is providing prizes in all the racing events and is also offering a number of Preceptory and band prizes, to be awarded on the showing made in the street procession. The Celebration is attracting widespread interest and is bound to attract an immense concourse to Orangeville for the day. The ladies of the different churches are making arrangements to serve dinner, thereby helping out the hotels, which are also making special preparations to handle the crowd. Citizens generally are asked to tidy up and decorate their lawns and residences so that the town may look its best and create a favorable impression on all visitors. Merchants along Broadway can also help by decorating their places of business.

IN CAPE BRETON

Canadian Newspaper Excursionists Visit the Sydneys.

Magnitude of Coal and Steel Industries a Revelation to the Visitors.

From Truro the line of the Canadian National Railways goes to the Sydneys in Cape Breton. At Mulgrave, nearly 187 miles from Halifax, the famous Strait of Canso is encountered. The Strait is about fourteen miles in length and one mile in width, and is a canal created by Nature for the purpose of connecting the ocean and the Gulf of St. Lawrence, thus providing a safe as well as a short cut for vessels plying between the two bodies of water. It has been aptly termed the "Golden Gate of the St. Lawrence." The number of vessels annually using it run into thousands. Mulgrave is in consequence an important shipping port. Most of the fresh and cured fish from Canso, destined for Ontario and other points in the west, are shipped from the port.

Mulgrave is noted for the beauty of its situation as well as for its importance as a port. Standing as it does on high land, visitors are enabled to obtain from it glorious views of the Strait of Canso with its richly wooded high lands, picturesque little islands, and the many and varied description of vessels which are carried on its bosom.

The Sydneys

The district within which the "Sydneys" are located is one of the most important and interesting in the Dominion. The outstanding features of the district are its industries and its harbor. Within the district proper there are three towns bearing the name Sydney, a name which was bestowed upon it 136 years ago in honour of Lord Sydney, at that time British Secretary of State for the Colonies. One of these is known merely as Sydney, another as Sydney Mines, while the third bears the appellation of North Sydney, thus avoiding confusion of names. Each occupies a place on the shores of Sydney Harbor. Still another important town which can practically lay claim to being within the district is Glace Bay, fronting on the Atlantic, about fourteen miles from Sydney. The aggregate population within the boundaries of these four towns is about 48,000, largely the result of the rapid growth of the last decade or two.

Sydney Harbor is one of the finest in the world. It is two miles wide at its mouth, extends inland for a distance of four miles, and has an area of over 25 square miles. Within its confines all the navies of the world could be accommodated with anchorage at one and the same time. And it is without rocks and shoals.

Sydney Harbor has a peculiarity in respect to its geographical situation as well. And this lies in the fact that it is nearer Europe, Africa and even South America than any other point on the North American Continent. Compared with New Orleans it is 600 miles nearer Rio Janeiro. This geographical advantage is due to the fact that the point of land in which it is situated juts further into the Atlantic than any other point of land on the North American seaboard. Still another interesting feature about the harbor is that a steamer can, on sailing from it, make a voyage, by way of the St. Lawrence, 1,784 miles into the interior of the Dominion. For the tourist the harbor provides facilities for making delightful steamboat trips, among them being the far-famed Bras d'Or, the north shore of Cape Breton and St. Ann's Bay. And plus these ample opportunity is afforded for motor-boating and yachting, with excellent fishing for those who enjoy the sport.

The outstanding features of the Sydney district are its iron and steel and coal mining industries. Its iron and steel industries are located at Sydney and Sydney Mines, it being in this respect the most important in the Dominion. As a coal mining centre it is the largest in the Province of Nova Scotia, 75 to 80 per cent. of the total output coming from the mines in the district, the quantity last year being 5,004,757 long tons. One concern alone (the Dominion Coal Company, an associate of the Dominion Steel Corporation) has eighteen collieries in operation. But the industrial activities of the district are by no means confined to the production of iron, steel and coal, among its other important industries being those appertaining to the fisheries, lumber, shipping, wood and iron working plants and agriculture.

The town of Sydney Mines, which has a population of 7,500, is located on the northwest point of Sydney harbor where it joins the Atlantic ocean. As may be readily gathered from the latter part of its name, the town is an important mining centre. The fact that the output of coal from the mines in the district averages about 900,000 tons annually is proof of this. It is also the site of one of the plants of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, Limited, the equipment being blast furnaces, open hearth steel furnaces, coke ovens, engineering shops, coal washers, etc. The steel billets produced here are shipped to the forging plant of the company at New Glasgow. The steel capacity of the plant is 100,000 tons a year.

North Sydney, between which and Sydney Mines there is a distance of only about three miles, is of particular importance as a shipping port, in connection with which it is equipped with extensive docks furnished with the most modern facilities for shipping coal and receiving iron ore, the latter coming from the mines in Conception Bay, Newfoundland, owned and operated by the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company. North Sydney is the port of departure for the steamship line daily sailing direct to Port aux Basques, Newfoundland, a distance of about 90 miles, and which is covered in about six hours. At Port aux Basques there is a railway connecting with St. John's, the capital of Newfoundland. There is also an excellent ferry service operating between North Sydney and Sydney. The population of North Sydney is 5,500. The residential part of the town is well built, and there are some fine old houses along the water front.

The City of Sydney is situated on a peninsula jutting into Sydney harbor at its southern extremity, being flanked on one side by what is known as the South Arm. Sydney is particularly noted as the site of the big steel plant of the Dominion Steel Corporation. It is only within the last twenty years that Sydney has obtained importance in respect to this particular industry. In the meantime it has grown from a town of 3,000 to a city with a population of 28,000, and, in addition to its manufacturing importance, is a large wholesale distributing centre.

The outstanding figure in bringing about the creation of the now famous and extensive iron and steel plants in operation there was Henry M. Whitney, a Boston capitalist, who was at the time actively interested in the coal mining industry of the district. In fact, it was largely for the purpose of creating a market close at home for the product of the coal mines, owing to the restrictions which the New England States imposed on Nova Scotia coal, that Mr. Whitney, in 1899, took the preliminary steps for the creation of the present iron and steel industry, now one of the most important in the Dominion.

The extent of the plant may be gathered from the fact that it covers an area of 725 acres, employs about 5,000 men, and has a payroll of $14,500,000. Its principal products are pig iron, steel rails, wire rods and their various products, and ship plates. The last named industry, which is the first of its kind in the Dominion, was only inaugurated in Febrbuary, 1920, a five million dollar mill having been erected for the purpose. There are also large plants for the production of coke and benzol. The latter was started shortly after the outbreak of the recent war for the purpose of producing material for the manufacture of high explosives, an enterprise in which Thomas Edison was associated.

Among other industries, Sydney has a large plant for the production of fertilizers, an enterprise in which Nova Scotia capital is interested, and machine shops, stove works and wood-working plants.

Aside from its industrial features Sydney has many attractions as a summer resort, while within the city and its suburbs are many fine homes.

Glace Bay, a town with a population of about 17,000, is a place of many interests. Its outstanding industrial feature is its coal mines, it being in this respect the centre of the Dominion Coal Company's operations, giving employment to about ten thousand miners. There are also many other industries, among which are those connected with the fisheries, machine shops and woodworking plants, while within its harbor are located large coal-shipping docks. Glace Bay is connected with Sydney both by steam and electric railways. One point of particular interest in the town is the Marconi wireless station, reputed to be the largest in the world.

Louisburg, distant from Glace Bay about a dozen miles, could boast in the early days of the old French Regime of possessing the strongest fortress on the North American Continent, and as such was the scene of more than one famous battle. In 1758 the fortress was finally subdued by Wolfe, who, in the following year, was equally successful in capturing Quebec. To-day the site of the fortification is a mass of moss-covered ruins, but it is none the less interesting on that account. Its harbor is an exceptionally fine one. It is 2 1-2 miles long by 1 1-2 miles wide. Among the industries of the town are lobster canneries, fish-curing plants, lumbering, development of electric power, and deep sea fisheries. A large Marconi wireless station is also located there. In the vicinity of the town are many lakes and streams which afford excellent fishing. The population is about 1,600.

Cape Breton.

Cape Breton, while generally referred to as an island, is in reality made up of a number of islands set in lakes of salt and fresh water. The most famous of its lakes is of course the Bras d'OrLake,so named because of its shining and placid waters. The extent of this lake may be gathered from the fact that it almost cuts in twain the Island of Cape Breton. Naturally, it is an ideal spot for yachting and motor boating as well as for its many delightful steamboat routes. Cape Breton is also noted as a land of heights and depths being dotted with mountains, valleys and picturesque rivers. Nestling on the shores are many delightful and picturesque summer resorts, the most interesting of which is probably Baddeck, because it is the site of the thousand-acre summer home of the late Dr Alexander Graham Bell.

Antigonish

Retuurning westward across Cape Breton and the Strait of Canso, the tourist reaches thirty-eight miles beyond Mulgrave, the picturesque town of Antigonish, which the famous Judge Haliburton (Sam Slick) once termed one of the prettiest spots in the eastern section of Nova Scotia. The town is charmingly situated in a valley, the surrounding hills of which possess inviting drives in various directions. It has a population of about 2,000, largely composed of Highland Scotch in descent, and among them Gaelic is still to some extent spoken. It is the seat of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Antigonish, and its cathedral (St. Ninian)is a fine stone edifice with a seating capacity of 1,200. St. Francis Xavier College, attended by a large number of students, is also located here.

New Glasgow

In speaking of New Glasgow one has really in mind four towns (New Glasgow, Stellarton, Trenton and Westville), for although separate municipalities they are geographically as one. This locality is noted for its industrial activity. The most important industry is that of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, whose plant is located in Trenton. It is the oldest iron and steel company in the Dominion, having begun operations 41 years ago, and in the early part of the war attracted considerable attention throughout Canada by being the first producer of steel suitable for the manufacture of shells. Its plant at Trenton consists of rolling mill and forging plant, while blast furnaces, open hearth steel works, coke ovens, engineering shops, coal washers, etc., are located at Sydney Mines. The company also has a ship-building yard at Trenton, from which during the last three or four years has been launched several ocean-going steel steamers, while it holds the controlling interest in the Nova Scotia Car Works, located near the steel plant. American capital is largely interested in the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company.

The district is noted for possessing one of the largest and best coal areas in the Dominion, while at Stellarton is a seam of coal thirty-eight to forty feet, the thickest in the world

From the high lands in the immediate vicinity of New Glasgow the tourist can obtain a glimpse across the Straits of Northumberland of the shores of Prince Edward Island.

Pictou, about sixteen miles west of New Glasgow, is one of the oldest towns in Nova Scotia. It is important as a shipping point, steamers running from it to the Magdalen Island, to Prince Edward Island and Cape Breton ports. Pictou will this year celebrate the 50th anniversary of the landing of the ship "Hector," which transported the Scottish pioneers who founded this section of Nova Scotia

Truro

Truro is typical of the many pretty little towns to be found within the Province of Nova Scotia. Its streets are wide, well-flanked by a luxurious growth of shade trees and well-kept lawns Its public park is noted for its beauty, while the natural cascade within its borders has been aptly described by Joseph Howe, who a generation ago was one of Canada's outstanding statesmen, as the most appropriate of spots "for old men to see visions and young men to dream dreams." A wishing-well is another of the park's attractions.

On Bible Hill, surrounding the Provincial Agricultural College, is a model farm of 220 acres, a spot well worth the tourist's inspection. Truro's most important industries are woollen mills, condensed milk factory, woodworking establishments, hat and cap, clothing and carriage factories. It is the centre of a large lumbering and agricultural district, and has a population of 7,000.

Truro's existence may be said to date from 1760, when a colony of fifty-three persons came from New Hampshire, to occupy the lands of the departed Acadians. These settlers were orginally Scotch and Irish immigrants to the New England States, who were attracted by the liberal grants offered by the British Government.

Truro occupies a strategic position as a distributing centre for the wholesale trade and for manufacturing. Consequently we find established various big industries, each employing hundreds of skilled operatives and whose business covers Canada from coast to coast. Large wholesale houses, in various branches of trade, attest further to the natural advantage of location and the enterprise of Truro's business men.

The town is beautiful of situation at the head of Cobequid Bay sheltered by the Cobequid range of mountains from the cold north winds of the Gulf, in the picturesque valley of the Salmon River.

A special point of interest, which must claim attention, is the Provincial Agricultural College situated on the heights of old Truro at Bible Hill. Two splendid edifices occupy commanding situations—the Science Building, built by funds made available by the Federal Government, and the main College Building, used for administration offices and classrooms. Assembled here is to be found probably the finest collection of live stock owned by any public institution in Canada, and amongst which will be found prize winners of international repute. The farm proper in connection with the College embraces 600 acres.

The natural park comprises over a thousand acres acquired by gift and purchase, and its diversity of scene is in striking contrast to the flat table land on which Truro stands. Visitors from abroad, who have viewed the beauty spots of many foreign lands, have not hesitated to proclaim Victoria Park unique in a beauty all its own.

A blue-book of 800 pages on the Lausanne Conference with the Turks has just been issued by the British Government. The final passage runs:

"Lord Curzon postponed that it was twenty minutes to eight. Soon after nine o'clock he must be in the train. He would ask Ismet Pasha in the short interval before he left to talk the matter over again with his friends. If he could come back in, say, half an hour there might still be time to conclude peace.

"Let him discuss the points again with his friends and his experts. Let him once again reflect. Lord Curzon and his colleagues would then be happy to see him again.

"Lord Curzon concluded by pointing out that this might be the last time he would ever see Ismet Pasha. He wished to carry back to London a memory of friendship and peace, and he would like to sign a common pact of peace and friendship with Ismet Pasha before he left."

Research Vessel to Sail.

A 2,000-ton schooner is being fitted out for a ten months' voyage of adventure and research in little known parts of the world by the Scientific Expeditionary Research Association, an English Association of scientists of all classes. The vessel probably will sail from London, England, in July. She will take 50 passengers and already the applications are in excess of this number.

From London the tentative route is to the Canary Islands, isthmus of Panama, Galapagos Islands, Easter Island, then westward to a series of islands within the tropics and back through the Panama canal.

GUARD BABY'S HEALTH IN THE SUMMER

The summer months are the most dangerous to children. The complaints of that season, which are cholera infantum, colic, diarrhoea and dysentery, come on so quickly that often a little one is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they do come on suddenly to banish them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during hot weather as Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels and are absolutely safe. Sold by medcine dealers, or by mail, at 25 cents a box, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

In Putting Away Winter Woolens Save By Washing This Way

Put away your winter woolens, this spring, clean and soft—without harmed colors or fabrics in washing. It will save a lot of money, you'll find, by giving longer wear.

In thousands of homes this is being done. Careful housekeepers now use PALMOLIVE PRINCESS SOAP FLAKES for laundering all valuable fabrics.

Woolens, silks, satins, crepes, and expensive cottons; all come from washing with beauty renewed—and fabric uninjured.

Purest, unadulterated soap, these white, crinkly flakes save money two ways: By giving longer fabric wear; and by cutting down soap cost—because they last longer.

They give richest, stiffest suds — in washing machine, tub, or bowl. It dissolves all dirt speedily but gently. Splendid for all household use.

IMPERIAL PRESIDENT COMING

County Master J. J. White had a letter the other day informing him that Rev. David Ness, M. A. of Scotland, Imperial President of the Grand Orange Council of the World, who has been in Canada for some weeks past, would visit Orangeville for the Black Knights celebration on Saturday, August 11th. It is expected that Bro. Fred Dane, of Toronto, First Vice-President of the Grand Orange Council, will accompany the Imperial President. Dufferin County Black Knights are fortunate indeed to have two such distinguished members of the Order as guests at their Celebration.

At a meeting of the Listowel Town Council the rate was struck at 39 mills, an increase of 2 mills over last year

Durham citizens rewarded the public spiritedness of Mr. A. A. Canada Faces the Future With Confidence

CANADIANS have always been noted for courage, optimism and faith in their country.

Canada was not built up by pessimists, nor will Canada continue to develop if her people allow themselves to become croakers and grouchers. Canada is fundamentally an agricultural country. We have a soil and climate which can grow the world's finest agricultural products.

Canadian farmers who have earned the capital invested in their farms out of profits in farming are numbered in thousands. These successful farmers have paid off their mortgages, stocked their barns and stables, bought their machinery, made a good living and brought up their families. It meant hard work, but today they are independent.

We Must Cut Production Costs

Canada is meeting with the keenest competition in the marketing of her products. To hold her own and regain her place on the world's market, she must reduce cost of production.

The only way to do this is to increase production per acre, per cow or per other unit.

But improved quality, also, is essential to meet market demands.

The quantity and the quality of the products and the cost of production in competitive countries is beyond our control.

Prices of agricultural products are regulated by world supply and demand.

Hence, decreasing production will not help the Canadian farmer.

Money in Mixed Farming

In recent years, at different points on the prairies, oats fed to steers have brought from 70c to $1.07 as against the Fort William price of 42c per bushel, while barley used for the same purpose has brought as high as 99c as against the Fort William price of 57c per bushel. Farmers marketing their coarse grains in this way lower marketing cost, have a sure market and make money on their grain, while at the same time they market their roughage, otherwise often wasted.

The cattle embargo is now off. Steers are worth more money and certain to make good money for the Canadian farmer from now on.

Money in Pigs

The Dominion Experimental Farms have proved by actual test that there is a profit in feeding pigs. Last year at the Central Farm, Ottawa, after paying for feed, labor, interest and depreciation, the net profit per pig was still $4.63.

Profits from Sheep

As money-makers, sheep are hard to beat. In every Province from Prince Edward Island to British Columbia are found many flocks returning generous profits to their owners.

Poultry Pays

Poultry makes money for those who adopt modern methods, whether East or West. Little Prince Edward Island markets co-operatively in carlots, shipping annually upwards of one million dozen eggs. The British Columbia Co-operative Poultry Men's Exchange markets in the same way, thus saving ruinous glut in their local market.

There is a market for good Canadian horses, whether light or draught.

Grow Seed

Canada's Northern grown seed possesses extra vitality. There is a large market for it to the south. Canada exports seed potatoes, but imports other seeds. She has the opportunity to grow seeds for herself and for export.

The Future

Ten years from now the pessimists of today will have been forgotten. Britain has removed the embargo against our cattle. She wants our beef and bacon, our cheese, butter, eggs and apples, our wheat and flour. As the population of the United States increases, she will compete less and less against us on the British market. Eventually, she will herself be an importer of many other food stuffs besides wheat from this country.

Canada has the men, the climate, the land, the stock and the potential markets necessary for agricultural success. Let us farm with all the industry and science we can muster. Let's get to work and pay our debts. Canada is moving forward with confidence in its future. Let us keep going ahead.

New Type of Talking Machine.

Claiming the human throat as the inspiration of his invention, a Colorado man has introduced a new type of talking machine. The exterior is similar to others of the cabinet form, but the interior contains numerous departures from the usual make of instruments. The essential part of the innovation, described in Popular Mechanics Magazine, is a metal appliance fashioned after the throat and inclosed in the apex of a wooden horn of heavy construction. The tone is also increased by means of various other sound-absorbing and magnifying arrangements.

Mermaid Evidently Domestic.

Sailors report sighting a mermaid two miles off from Redondo. It rode the waves within a few feet of their vessel and looked upon them with sad eyes. This mermaid was different from the run of the species in that there was a child at its bosom. It resembled a well-developed human babe of three months old. In this respect the Redondo mermaid is far in advance of any Ocean Park or Venice mermaid ever seen. No Venice mermaid would think of wheeling a baby cab. They spend all their time brushing their hair.—Los Angeles Times.

MARK TWAIN'S REPENTANCE

Mark Twain was called upon to speak at a club dinner and took for his theme "Honesty." He said when he was a boy he one day saw a cart full of melons. He was a boy—and he was tempted; besides he liked melons. "I sneaked up to that cart," said Mark, "and stole a melon. I went into an alley to devour it. But —I had no sooner set my teeth on it than I paused; a strange feeling came over me. I came to a quick resolution. Firmly, I walked up to the cart, placed the stolen melon where I got it from—and took a ripe one."

Edmund Harvey, one of Guelph's well-known residents, died suddenly a week ago Sunday afternoon, while seated on his verandah. He was born in Galt 79 years ago, and, with the exception of ten years spent in Toronto, had lived almost all of his life in Guelph.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The autoist who escapes an accident in these days of motor mishaps and fatalities surely has something to be thankful for.

The oldtime barn raising still takes its toll of human life. If there was less excitement and more headwork at these affairs there would be fewer barn raising accidents.

A Newmarket man was sentenced to not less than three months and not more than one year in Guelph Prison Reformatory on a charge of fraud and theft. The charge was preferred by a Beeton man to whom he had sold Mexican oil stocks. It is gratifying to learn that even sellers of worthless stocks sometimes get their desserts. If every man who goes about the country selling worthless stocks had his dues the Newmarket prisoner would have plenty of company.

Statistics tell an impressive story of Canada's importance as a gold producing country. During the calendar year 1922 Canada produced 1,263,364 fine ounces of gold, valued at $26,116,050, an increase of 36 per cent. over that of the previous year, according to a report issued recently by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Last year's production has only been exceeded once, that being in 1906, when 1,350,057 ounces, valued at $27,908,153, was produced. In this production Ontario was, of course, the leader, as will be shown in the following figures for the various provinces:—Nova Scotia, 1,042 ounces, valued at $21,540; Ontario, 1,000,340 ounces, valued at $20,678,862; Manitoba, 156 ounces, valued at $3,225; British Columbia, 207,370 ounces, valued at $4,286,718; Yukon, 54,456 ounces, valued at $1,125,705.

Police Magistrate Jelfs, of Hamilton, takes sensible ground, when he holds that there is no need to disfigure the landscape with huge, unsightly signboards, when Ontario has a press that is both efficient and influential. The newspapers of Ontario can do all the advertising needed and are in a position to do it more cheaply and more effectually than any other medium. The day when people stand gaping open-mouthed at ten by twelve signboards has gone never to return. We are living in an auto travelling age, when locomotion is too swift to permit of leisurely inspection of signboards or other objects that happen to line the highways. When the citizen of today wants to post himself on the markets and commodities that he wishes to buy or sell he sits down at home and peruses the columns of his favorite newspaper. Newspaper advertising was never so effective as it is right now.

To the Ontarioan, who has long since become accustomed to prohibition and its benefits, the temperance situation in Great Britain is a matter of more than passing surprise. That a people so intelligent and progressive in other matters should be content to remain under the incubus of the liquor traffic is not easy to understand at this distance. There are forturnately signs that the British people are not entirely indifferent to the liquor traffic and its evils. Lady Astor's bill to prohibit the sale of liquor to any person under eighteen years of age was recently passed by both Houses of the British Parliament. This is perhaps not a very long step in the direction of prohibition, but it indicates that the British legislators are not entirely averse to temperance legislation. Much educational work is still needed before the people will be ready for any advanced temperance measures. A great deal of good is expected from local option, which will likely be adopted in many residential districts. It is believed that the example of experiments along the local option line will spread and in time prepare the way for restrictive measures of a general nature. It is interesting and suggestive as well to recall that the local option plan was the method of procedure that found favor in the early days of temperance campaigning in this province.

Has it ever occurred to you that the merchants who believe in advertising and make a practice of advertising regularly are doing a great deal to help put and keep their town on the map. What would the great outside world know about Orangeville if it were not for Orangeville's newspapers? What would the buying public of the district know about Orangeville's advantages as a shopping centre, if it were not for the advertisements that Orangeville business men run in the newspapers of the town? Other towns and villages are doing all they can to pull trade in their direction and away from this town. Newspaper advertising is one of the strongest magnets that can be used to hold trade and bring new buyers to this town. Once the path is travelled from a farmer's or a villager's home to this or any other shopping centre, it becomes easier and more natural to make the same trip another time. Advertising is a great lever in the hands of the business men in Orangeville and other towns and the possession of newspapers gives the merchants of Orangeville a great advantage over business men in places in this district that are not favored by having newspapers. Strange that there are always some merchants who lack the enterprise to make use of the advertising columns of their home paper. But let some outsider come to town with a high sounding scheme for the betterment of their business and they rise to the bait with hardly a second thought and utterly regardless of the cost.

WESTON WON

Pulled Big Surprise by Defeating the Dufferins in Wednesday's Game.

Tally Was 3 to 2 and All Scoring Was Done in the Second Period.

The Dufferins and their supporters were frankly surprised and keenly disappointed at the outcome of the championship game with Weston on Idylwyld Park on Wednesday afternoon of last week. Backers of the greenshirts counted on a hard game, but could not see anything but a victory for their favorites. It is easy, therefore, to imagine with what feelings they watched a game in which the home team was outplayed, out-generalled and outscored. At the close of eighty minutes' hard, gruelling lacrosse the garnet-shirts from Weston, rivals of the Dufferins in many a hard struggle for lacrosse supremacy, walked off the field victors by a score of 3 to 2.

Four thousand people, by far the largest crowd that has attended a game here this season, saw The Dufferins go down to defeat. It was a hard, gruelling contest, played in sweltering midsummer heat. The heavy Weston team was in the pink of condition and went through the match at top speed. The team was certainly at the top of its form and turned in one of the best lacrosse games it has played this season. This cannot be said of The Dufferins, who were plainly stale from the effects of too much lacrosse. The players showed very clearly the effects of their hard struggle with Riversides at the Beach on the preceding Saturday and their games with St. Simons and Maitlands on the previous Wednesday and Saturday. Their condition demonstrated very clearly that a team cannot play three games in eight days without a slump in form. The players tried hard, but their play lacked the snap for which this season's greenshirts have become famous. Ordinarily the Orangeville field should run away from the Weston field, but in Wednesday's game the advantage in speed seemed on the side of Weston, who gathered in the loose ball oftener than The Dufferins and had possession of the sphere much longer than their opponents. At that The Dufferins were only beaten by a single goal, and a little luck might easily have changed the defeat into a victory. In the first quarter particularly they had the edge on their heavy opponents and deserved a couple of goals on the showing they made. Again toward the close of the final period they were on the aggressive most of the time and had several chances to tie up the game. These were spoiled by Rountree's gilt-edged work in the flags.

The game was peculiar from the fact that all the goals were scored in the second period. During the first quarter and the last half of the contest, the two teams struggled on practically even terms without a score on either side. For a moment the tide of battle would swing in favor of the heavy garnet-jerseyed Weston players. The next instant the greenshirts would rally, repulse the attack of their opponents and carry the ball to the other end of the field for a determined onslaught on the Weston citadel. Many of their attacks were stopped by Farr and Holley, who used their weight to good effect. When The Dufferins came did beat the big Weston defence, their shots were usually handled by Rowntree, who played one of the most brilliant games of his career. At the other end of the field Firth was playing equally well. Some of the Orangeville goalie's saves were sensational and he showed excellent judgment in going out after the ball. The heavy Weston team checked hard and close. Some of their tactics were questionable, but they got away with everything except on a few occasions. Farr had a special stunt that bothered Hawken badly When Eddie started to dodge around him, the big defence man simply poked his stick under his arm and held him with the stick. The game was half over before the officials got wise to the fact that it was Farr who was holding Hawken with his stick and not Hawken who was holding Farr's stick under his arm as it appeared to the spectators.

Dufferins got possession of the ball on the initial face-off and made a spirited attack on the Weston flags. Farr relieved and the play shifted to the other end of the field, where Firth was called upon to make a save. Fast end to end play followed for some time with the Weston team checking hard and close. Golden made a fine shot but Rowntree was in the way. Farr and Hawken mixed matters and were banished to the sidelines for two minutes. Rowntree made a beautiful save, and Firth followed with a similar one a moment later, when Scott slipped and fell, allowing Keith a clear opening to shoot.

Orangeville supporters cheered loudly when Sargeant bulged the Weston net with a shot from out at the side. Their joy was short lived. for the ball had struck the net on the outside just back of the post. Ewing was benched for fouling Kingdom and Weston rushed hard while they had the odd man advantage. Burnside brought the Dufferin crowd to their feet with a dodging run and a great shot that Rowntree was lucky to corral. Earl Stevenson was benched shortly before the quarter ended.

White, the Shelburne boy, who was holding down inside home for the Weston outfit, put his team out in front shortly after the face-off in the second period with a shoulder high shot that fooled Firth. Orangeville rushed, but the attack faded when Gordon was struck and downed by Holly. The checking had become closer and more determined on both sides and stops were getting quite frequent. The Weston home featured a pretty bit of combination play, that culminated in a score by Harris, who shot from directly in front of the flags. This second reverse seemed to put the Orangeville boys on their mettle and it was not long until Ewing notched The Dufferins first counter, after a dodging run from behind the flags followed by a swift side shot. Henderson was banished for checking his man too strenuously and while he was watching the game from the bench, Weston scored their third and last counter, Bill Coulter doing the needful. The Dufferins pressed hard for the remainder of the quarter and were finally rewarded with their second goal, which came on a pass from behind the net by Ewing to Sargeant who slammed the ball by Rowntree just as the latter turned to face the new angle of attack.

Wilson and Robinson replaced Hawken and Sargeant in the third period. Robinson started off with an accurate underhand grounder that gave Rowntree a close call. Dufferins had their share of the play but threw away several opportunities by badly judged passes. Farr and Coulter were benched for roughing it. Dufferins did not make much of their two men advantage as they allowed their opponents to retain possession of the ball the greater part of the time. Cruikshank, Gordon and Robinson had shots but Rowntree was in the way of them all. The game shifted in favor of Weston, when Henderson was benched for the second time. Toward the close of the quarter the play was decidedly in favor of the visitors.

The final period found Hawken and Sargeant back in their positions. Dufferins made determined efforts to tie the score. Time and again it seemed that they were on the point of succeeding, so persistent were their rushes and so nearly did they penetrate the Weston defense. Farr and Holly led the Weston defence in its efforts to stand off the attacks of the fighting greenshirts and rush after rush was broken up by one or the other of the pair. Hard pressed by their lighter opponents the Westonites resorted to ragging the ball thereby bringing down the displeasure of a large section of the crowd, who kept shouting to them to "play the game." Firth made a couple of wonderful saves near the finish of the game. Once when the Weston home broke right through and shot from close in he blocked the shot with his body. The close of the game was marked by a scene of excitement. The overjoyed Weston fans swarmed over the field in crowds, surrounded the victorious players and gave them a clamorous greeting as they left the playing oval.

Weston ran a special train to Orangeville for the game and had the backing of five or six hundred enthusiastic supporters. Practically every town and village inside a radius of fifty miles was represented at the match, which will go down in lacrosse history as one of the greatest struggles in the annals of the game. The Weston supporters were much in evidence about town until their special pulled out for home shortly after nine o'clock at night. Players and officials were:—

Weston—Goal, Rowntree; point, Farr; coverpoint, Holly; defence, W. Coulter, Harris and H. Coulter; centre, Earl Stevenson; home, E. Kingdom, K. Kingdom and Hutch Keith; outside, R. Stephenson; inside, White; spares, Ramshaw, G. Coulter and Riley.

Orangeville—Goal, Firth; point, Henderson; coverpoint, Cushing; defence, Scott, Cruikshank and Ewing; centre, Burnside; home, Sargeant, Golden and Brown; outside, Gordon; inside, Hawken; spares, Robinson Wilson and McCaulay.

Referee, Eddie Powers; Judge of Play, Pete Barnett.

Orangeville and Fergus juveniles figured in a lively contest prior to the big game. The Orangeville boys had the edge on their opponents and won the argument by a score of 9 to 6. The teams served up some clever lacrosse and were liberally applauded for their good work.

1923 Season's Last Call for

WOOL!

We would intimate to all who have wool to sell, and who wish to dispose of it this season, that it should be marketed not later than August 15th. While not making any predictions as to wool values for next year, it is our impression that for this season, at least, prices now are at the top, with a strong feeling in the market that lower price levels will be reached.

SELL BEFORE AUGUST 15th.

1923 Trimmed Hats 1923

We have exactly 30 Trimmed Hats to sell that represent as good style as anything we have turned out this season. These are all the way up to $10.00 each, a few being even higher than this price, but for a speedy clearance we make all at one price:

YOUR CHOICE FOR $ 2.50

PRACTICALLY ALL SUMMER GOODS AT CLEARING PRICES

That means that now is the logical time to buy.

On Saturday, August 11th (Derry Day) would customers please shop early. This, without question, will be one of the busiest days that the citizens of Orangeville have seen in a very long time, and to avoid disappointment, your supplies should be secured in good time.

Better buy on Friday than go without over the week-end.

F. T. HILL & CO. LIMITED, Orangeville.

THIS FROM BRAMPTON!!

Do we think Excelsiors can go to Orangeville and duplicate Weston's achievement. Optimism is our middle name. Excelsiors understand Orangeville, just as Weston did, and playing the same game have as good a chance to sew up the Duffs' speed. Give the greenshirts a gruelling, but legitimate checking game, and their speed is like the alley cat, you don't know where to find it.—Brampton Banner & Times.

The Excelsiors will find that The Duffs have plenty of speed left to take their measure when they come to town.

The barn built on the Gamble estate to replace the one destroyed by fire last fall is a model of good material and workmanship. The material was supplied by Mr. John Thompson, of Mulmur, and the carpenter work was done by Mr. Wm. Silk, of Shelburne, and his men. It is interesting to learn that Mr. Silk completed his contract in fifteen days.

RELESSEY

A very pleasant evening was spent on Wednesday night, July 25 at the home of the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Carman McKelvey when the young people of the neighborhood gathered and presented them with a shower of useful and appropriate gifts. A few short speeches and the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" was followed by a musical programme, when there were several piano duets by the Misses Halbert, of Uxbridge after which the young ladies served a dainty lunch. At the conclusion of the evening's merrymaking all took their departure, wishing the popular young couple long life and prosperity.

ALTON

Visitors noticed in Alton this summer include Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Parker and family and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nixon and family, formerly of Calgary, who are camping on the old Presley Farm. They intend to spend the summer here.

Mrs. D. A. Cameron, of Alton visited friends in Toronto last week.

Mrs. A. Davis and daughter, Miss Maud Davis, of Toronto, spent the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Coulter. "Emeria Villa," Cataract.

Miss Gladys and Master Harvey Beamish, of Cooksville, are spending their summer vacation with their aunt, Mrs. A. E. Cameron, and other friends at Alton.

LAUREL

Miss Edith Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Wallace, held a delightful birthday party on Saturday when a number of her girl friends were her guests for the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Millar and Miss Doris, the latter's mother, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. W. H. Gray.

Mr. J. A. Richardson and Mr. J. Kerr, of Hespeler, spent the week-end at the home of the former and Wasaga Beach.

Mr. W. R. Grosskurth and family have returned from their holidays.

Mrs. Quance and little son, Harold, have returned to their home in Toronto after visiting friends here.

Miss Lilly Tribble entertained her Sunday School Class recently in honor of Mrs. Ernest Richardson, who was presented by the Class with a cut glass celery tray and bon bon dish.

Black's Corners, Laurel and Waldemar Presbyterians are holding a big Union Garden Party in Maltby's Grove on Friday evening, Aug. 17th.

THE MAPLES

The last meeting of The Maples Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. David Trimble, Fraxa Junction, on Thursday afternoon, July 19th. The program included a splendid Paper by Mrs. J. Porterfield, entitled "How to Make This a Happier World," instrumental music by Misses Lottie Patterson and Clara Gillespie, a well-rendered duet by Mrs. J. Menary and Mrs. J. Porterfield, and a demonstration on Wear-Ever Aluminum given by Mr. W. Torrance. The next meeting will take the form of a picnic, to be held in the Community Hall and School Grounds on Thursday afternoon August 16th. A silver collection will be taken up. The members are expected to provide lunch.

The Institute Garden Party on Wednesday night was quite successful, a good-sized crowd attending the affair. An excellent program was provided by the David Bros. who proved themselves able entertainers. Dr. Campbell, of Orangeville, occupied the chair. The gate proceeds amounted to $96.00.

ST. LUKE'S GARDEN PARTY

The congregation of St. Luke's Church Mono, will hold their annual Garden Party at "Sunnyside Farm," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Allen, Glencross, on Wednesday evening, Aug. 22nd. A first-class programme will be provided by Duncan R. Cowan, the famous humorous entertainer, and other talent. C. R. McKeown, M. L. A., Chairman. A Sit-Down Supper will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock and there will be the usual supply of seasonable refreshments at a tent on the grounds. Admission, 40c and 25c.

A NEAR ACCIDENT

A serious accident was narrowly averted the other night, when Reeve Elliott, of Chinguacousy, was driving Tom Foster, one of the players of the Cheltenham club, to practice. Roy Lyons, another player, was turning out of the gate, and, to avoid a head-on collision, Reeve Elliott turned his car into a deep ditch. The car turned turtle and the two occupants were thrown out. Beyond a shaking up and some minor cuts and bruises, both escaped without any serious injury. The car was badly damaged.

SWALLOWED WHISTLE

Palgrave Girl Meets Death in an Unusual Manner.

Luella May, the five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Zimmerman, of Palgrave, met with her death on Wednesday of last week under very unusual circumstances. The child was eating popcorn, when she swallowed a small metal whistle which was in the package. She was at once taken to the office of Dr. A. F. Reynar, who rushed her to the Western Hospital in Toronto. At the hospital an X-ray examination was made which showed that the whistle was tightly lodged in the little one's throat. The parents agreed to the operation, which the physicians declared was necessary. Just after the anaesthetic had been administered the child passed away, to the great grief of her parents and the amazement of the physicians, who thought that she was physically capable of undergoing the strain. After enquiring into the circumstances, Dr. M. M. Crawford decided that an inquest was unnecessary and issued the papers necessary to allow the heart-broken parents to remove the remains to Palgrave. The sudden and tragic death of the child has cast a gloom over the village. The funeral which was attended by practically the whole community, was held on Friday afternoon, interment taking place in Laurel Hill Cemetery at Palgrave.

FARM WATER SUPPLY DEMONSTRATION

The Provincial Department of Agriculture invites all interested to see a display of Farm Water Supply and Home Convenience Equipment at THE HALL, CALEDON, on MONDAY, AUGUST 13th, 1 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Demonstrations will be given and questions answered concerning the installation of pumps, tanks, wells and other conveniences. If possible and on request, a demonstrator will visit homes to discuss problems where work is in progress or being planned.

A special effort was necessary to have this brought to Caledon; show your appreciation by attending.

PRESBYTERY DEALS WITH CALL

At a special meeting of the Orangeville Presbytery held in St. Andrew's Church here on Tuesday, a call was presented by Rev. S. Lunie, of Grand Valley, from Black's Corners, Laurel and Waldemar churches in favor of Rev. A. F. Webster, of Allenford, in the Presbytery of Owen Sound. Provisionzl arrangements were made for Mr. Webster's induction on Thursday, August 30th, at 8 p.m. Rev. Mr Mills, of Caledon, will preach the sermon, Rev. F. W. Mahaffy, of Orangeville, is to address the minister and Rev. S. Lundie, of Grand Valley, is to address the congregation. Mr. Lundie will also preside.

LIVED AND DIED TOGETHER

Unusual indeed are some of the circumstances attending the deaths of Allan McQuarrie and Andrew B. Henderson, of Cheltenham, fully reported elsewhere in this issue. The two men, who were nearly the same age, were among the oldest residents of the Cheltenham district. They were born on the 2nd line, west, Chinguacousy, within a few lots of each other and their parents were among the early pioneers of the district. Each of them spent his lifetime on the farm on which he was born. They attended the same school, grew to manhood side by side, lived on neighboring farms for more than seventy years and were very close friends during this lengthy span of years. Closely associated in life they were not destined to be long separated by death. At 11 o'clock on Wednesday morning, August 1st, Allen McQuarrie heard and answered the summons to that bourne whence no mortal has ever returned. At nine o'clock on the night of August 1st, just a few hours later, his lifelong friend, Andrew Henderson, entered into eternal rest.

A. B. HENDERSON

A lifelong and highly respected resident of the township of Chinguacousy passed over to the Great Majority on Wednesday, August 1st, in the person of Andrew Buckham Henderson, of Cheltenham. Deceased, who had been in poor health for some months prior to his demise, was in his 77th year and until five years ago, when he removed to the village of Cheltenham, had always resided on his farm, lot 23, 2nd line, west, Chinguacousy, where he was born. His father, the late John Henderson, was one of Chinguacousy's early settlers. The late Mr. Henderson was a prominent Presbyterian and during his long connectionn with the Cheltenham church had filled various offices, including choir leader and Bible Class teacher. He was also a member of the church session. In politics he was a staunch Liberal. The late Mr. Henderson was very fond of books, read a great deal and could converse intelligently on many subjects on which the ordinary man does not inform himself. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Euphemia Anderson before marriage, two sons, James R. Henderson, of Brampton, and Andrew B. Henderson, of Orangeville, and one daughter, Mrs. E. G. Wilkinson, of Cheltenham. He is also survived by two sisters, Miss Euphemia Henderson, Toronto, and Mrs. Jane Hunter, of Brampton. Deceased was a brother of the late Mrs. D. C. Lamont, of this town, and an uncle of Mrs. J. B. Adamson.

The funeral, which was largely attended by friends and neighbors of the family, was held to Cheltenham Cemetery on Friday afternoon. Rev. Thos. Dodds, the family pastor, conducted the services at the house and grave. The pallbearers were Messrs. Walter Cation, Jas Lyons, Geo. Love and Wilson Wilkinson, four members of the Session of Cheltenham Presbyterian Church, and Messrs. Robert Marshall and W. H. Henry, former neighbors.

ALLAN M'QUARRIE

A widely known and lifelong resident of the Cheltenham district passed away on Wednesday morning, August 1st, in the person of Allan McQuarrie, who departed this life at his late home, lot 27, 2nd line, west, Chinguacousy township. Mr. McQuarrie was born on the farm on which he died eighty years ago and he had farmed on this place since a young man. His father was the late John McQuarrie, who was one of the early settlers of Chinguacousy. Fifty-one years ago the subject of this sketch was married to Miss Ann Wilkinson and on January of last year the venerable couple had the pleasure of celebrating their golden wedding. Mr. McQuarrie was honest and straightforward in all his dealings and was a man who was universally esteemed in the community in which he spent his lifetime. He was a lifelong member of the Baptist church in Cheltenham and during his younger years had been an active worker in the church. He was identified with the Sons of Scotland, being a member of the Brampton Camp. His death followed a lengthy illness, due in part to injuries sustained in a motor accident while on his way to Owen Sound to attend a funeral about a year ago. While the car in which Mr. McQuarrie was riding was crossing the C. P. R. tracks a freight train crashed into the auto. He is survived by his wife, two sons, John, of Cheltenham, and William, of Aberdeen, Sask., and one daughter, Mrs. Janet Sinclair, Cheltenham. The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon, interment being made in Boston Mills Cemetery. Rev. Meldrum, pastor of Cheltenham Baptist Church was the officiating minister. The pallbearers were six nephews, John Wilkinson, Owen Sound; Elmer and Wilbert Wilkinson, Cheltenham; John nMcQoarrie, Dhndalk; Austin McQuarrie, Shelburne, and John A. MtBride, Orangeville

Mrs. Andrew Henderson, Zina St., is a niece.

FAMILY REUNION

The members of the Kentner family held a very happy family gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kentner, First Ave., on a recent Wednesday. Those present included the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Kentner, of Thornbury, who, if they live until the 5th of November of this year, will be in a position to celebrate their golden wedding; a brother and two sisters of Mr. Kentner and their families, namely, Mr. and Mrs. John Kentner and children, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jarrett and family and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Heaslip and family, all of Clarksburg. The gathering was graced and brightened by the presence of no less than fourteen of the grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Kentner. There was not a single break in the family and the reunion proved a source of real pleasure to one and all.

MOTOR ROAD MAPS

The 1923 road map of the Ontario Motor League is now on sale at The Banner Office. The map has been thoroughly revised and greatly improved in a number of respects. It shows in accurate red outline the Provincial Highway system of Ontario and also the best roads in Western Quebec, New York State and Eastern Michigan. The relative importance of all roads is indicated by three classes of lines—red, medium and thin black. The map sells at 50 cents, the same price as last year.

CO-OPERATIVE'S ANNUAL

Last Year's Directors Are Elected For Another Term.

About eighty of the shareholders were present at the annual meeting of the Orangeville Co-operative Marketing Company in the Orangeville Library Auditorium on Saturday afternoon. The President, Mr. J. A. Marshall, occupied the chair. The meeting was very harmonious, the atmosphere being pervaded with a feeling of satisfaction over the marked improvement in the affairs of the Company. The financial statement showed a net profit of $1,657.27 on the business of the year. The amount is not large, but when considered in the light of the loss of $2,332.55, which the shareholders were obliged to take in 1922, it shows a very decided change for the better in the Company's affairs. Sales for the year amounted to $99,695.25, compared with $101,049.17 in 1922. Costs were $88,516.81, compared with $94,669.84 in the previous year, and the gross profits showed an increase from $6,379.33 to $11,178.45. Expenses were $9,758.72 as against $9,873.24 in 1922. The active assets of the Company total $23,162.07, made up of cash on hand, cash in the bank accounts receivable and merchandise inventories. In addition to this the Company has inactive assets valued at $11,634.65. The current liabilities are $21,009.74, and there are deferred liabilities amounting to $1,674.00.

The old Directors were re-elected for another year. They are Messrs. J. A. Marshall, Oliver Sproule, Wesley Kee, William Meek, Geo. Crozier Chas. Crombie, Jas. White, H. Hayward and T. J. Brett.

At a meeting of the Directors following the adjournment of the general meeting Mr. J. A. Marshall was re-elected President and Mr. Oliver Sproule was again intrusted with the duties of Secretary.

SUMMER HEAT HARD ON BABY

No season of the year is so dangerous to the life of little ones as is the summer. The excessive heat throws the little stomach out of order so quickly that unless prompt aid is at hand the baby may be beyond all human help before the mother realizes he is ill. Summer is the season when diarrhoea, cholera infantum, dysentry and colic are most prevalent. Any of these troubles may prove deadly if not promptly treated. During the summer mother's best friend is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and keep baby healthy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail, at 25 cents a box, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ANOTHER FATALITY

Car Containing Seven Persons Crashes Into Telephone Pole.

Carson Larson, of Walkerton, was instantly killed and four girls injured when a motor car containing seven persons crashed into a telephone pole at a bend in the road at Four Corners on Guelph Road between Guelph and Erin, shortly after 11 o'clock on Monday night.

Larson, who was driving the car was crushed up against the pole, which the automobile struck broadside on. The party were returning from a dance at Erin when the accident occurred.

The four girls were removed to the Guelph General Hospital. All were badly shaken and bruised, but their injuries are not believed to be serious. Two other men in the car Vernon Hewson, of Walkerton, and Walter Bayley, of Chatsworth escaped with bruises. The girls admitted to the hospital were: Miss Irene Felker, Miss Jeannette Felker and Miss Margaret Griffith, of Guelph, and a girl from Hamilton whose name is not known.

A Gigantic Crater.

Many readers remember the photographs taken by the eminent explorer, Mr. Thomas Alexander Barnes of the wonderful "Land of the Great Craters" in Tanganyika. The crater of Ngoro Ngoro is that of the largest volcano that ever existed upon this planet. It is ten miles from rim to rim, and about the great crater are grouped other volcanoes, pimples upon the mighty rim, that are nevertheless several of them larger than Mount Etna. Moreover, the vast principal crater, covered with white clover knee-high, is the feeding-ground of herds of game in countless profusion. Sir Charles Ross, of Balnagowan was one of the first non-German white men to visit this region. The Germans kept the discovery to themselves that their own scientists might enjoy a monopoly. Sir Charles has just purchased the entire crater of Ngoro Ngoro. Asked what he intended to do with it, he threw up his hands in humorous despair, "I am sure I don't know"; but he added, "I saw the spot unspoiled and untouched, and I made up my mind that I wanted it to remain that way. Some day it may make a health resort, a British Yellowstone Park. I don't intend to have this paradise of wild things ruined, as it might be." In looking over the crater when he was there, Sir Charles estimated that there were at least 75,000 wild cattle pasturing on the clover. The crater has been the home of all kinds of wild things from the earliest ages, and contains, it is believed, prehistoric remains of many unknown species. Dangerous animals abound with the others. Sir Charles says he was "waked up" by five lions in the crater, but the hunting for them is so good that there is not much danger".

The Thriving City of Moncton, N.B.

Moncton, the headquarters of the Atlantic Region of the Canadian National Railways, was a point of much interest in the itinerary of the Canadian Weekly Press Association over the Canadian National Railways recently. This city, with a population of 28,000, is a thriving industrial and commercial centre. In the neighborhood of the city are oil and gas fields, in some of which exceedingly productive wells are in operation. At Moncton the famous "tidal bore" is seen at its best, the incoming wall of water being sometimes between four and five feet. The rise and fall of the tide there shows a difference of thirty feet between extreme high and extreme low. The photograph gives a general view of the city, showing the Canadian National Railways tracks elevated across one of the main thoroughfares.

A Mr. Bennett, of Toronto, has purchased the frame building of J. B. Egan, next to the Central Hotel, in Dundalk. He will improve the same and build a new front.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has placed an order with the Algoma Steel Corporation, of the Canadian Soo, for 35,000 tons of rails. This order, it is understood, will keep the plant busy until the end of September.

PUTS HEALTH AND VIM INTO WOMEN

So Says Mrs. MacPherson of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Brantford, Ontario.—"I was always tired and the least exertion would put me out for a day or two. I had a pressing pain on the top of my head, pain in the nape of my neck, and when I stooped over I could not get up without help, because of pain in my back. I did not sleep well and was nervous at the least noise. I keep house, but I was such a wreck that I could not sweep the floor nor wash the dishes without lying down afterwards. A friend living near me told me what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for her so I began to take it. With the first bottle I felt brighter and got so I could wash dishes and sweep without having to lie down. Later I became regular again in my monthly terms. I have taken ten bottles all told and am now all better. I can truly say that your wonderful medicine cannot be beaten for giving health and vim into a woman."—Mrs. JAMES H. MACPHERSON, 309 Greenwich St., Brantford, Ont.

If you are suffering from a displacement, irregularities, backache, or any other form of female weakness write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Cobourg, Ontario, for Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women." C

British Are Constructing Huge New Plane Carrier

Big Strides In Aviation

The strides Great Britain is taking in aviation are evidenced by the construction now under way of a giant engine said to be twice as powerful as any in existence, and the development of a naval airplane carrier of a revolutionary character.

The airplane engine, which will develope 200 horse power a cylinder, is being built secretly on the outskirts of London, England. Air Ministry officials are reported to be confident that the new engine will make a transatlantic trip in less than twenty-four hours a possibility.

The principle of the new engine was originated in Italy, but the British engineers have made improvements on it. If fitted into a bombing machine of ordinary type the plane would have an effective radius of 3,000 miles. Yet it is asserted that this powerful engine is no heavier than the average airplane engine.

The decks of the new airplane carriers are free of obstructions. The funnels are set on the starboard side of the vessels, making it appear as if an addition had been added to the vessels. The two upper decks are connected by huge lifts with the aerodrome deck, while the lower ones are equipped as workshops for making repairs. The flying deck also is fitted with a searchlight and a landing tower so that the planes can alight at night.

The carrier is equipped with an ingenious rotating endless platform for the planes to land and get off. The machine hops off in the opposite direction to that in which the platform rotatates so that more speed can be attained. By the use of this platform the fastest plane can alight on the deck of the airplane carrier, for a machine which is going three miles a minute can be brought to a stop in a space of not more than forty feet.

The fact is that though the British are far behind France in the number of planes they have, they are devoting great attention to designing and constructing huge and powerful aircraft. Among the "hush-hush" planes being constructed by the Air Ministry is a machine capable of carrying fifty soldiers through the air at a speed of 130 miles an hour.

Severe Kidney Trouble

Mrs. F. Rinehart, Campbellville, Ont., writes:

"I had trouble with my kidneys and very frequent urination. This was followed by pains which at times were very severe. The doctor said I had inflammation of the bladder and that an operation might be necessary. To this I refused, and began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. From the first few doses I felt the benefit. The pains left, urination was corrected, and I have had no recurrence of these ailments."

AMHERST

Amherst is in more respects than one a place of particular interest to the tourist. It is situated near the head of Chignecto Bay, not a great distance from the narrow strip of land eleven miles in width over which, some years ago, an abortive attempt was made to construct a marine railway for the purpose of conveying vessels from the head waters of the Bay of Fundy into the Northumberland Straits. Another interesting point northwest of the town is the ruins of Fort Cumberland, which, before it was wrested from the French, was known as Beausejour. The site of Fort Lawrence, from which the attack was made, is also in the immediate neighborhood.

The town is delightfully situated. In part it is skirted by the marsh lands of Chignecto Bay, which afford a pleasing prospect to the eye, and particularly as the sun goes down, when marvelous color effects are beheld. Amherst's streets are broad, its business blocks modern, its public buildings and church edifices substantial and pleasing in architectural design, while many of its residential dwellings are handsome and imposing.

As an industrial town Amherst is one of the most important in the Maritime Provinces. Many of its industries are quite extensive. This is particularly true of its factories for the manufacture of railway cars, engines, machinery, malleable iron, underclothing, boots and shoes, trunks, burial caskets, etc. The surrounding agricultural lands are noted for their productiveness, as is evidenced by the fact that it is one of the parts of the country at which the Dominion Government has an experimental farm. Lumbering is another of the important industries of the district, while within a radius of six to twenty miles are some of the best coal mines in the east. "Busy Amherst" is a cognomen which has been attached to the town, and its inhabitants vie with each other in striving to maintain its reputation.

One particularly interesting feature in connection with the electrical power with which the town is supplied is that it is generated at the mouth of a coal mine situated at Chignecto, six miles distant, a method that is said to be in operation in no other part of the world.

The population of Amherst is about twelve thousand.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

Prince Edward Island is unique amonng the Provinces composing the Dominion of Canada. It is the only province distinctly an island, Cape Breton having lost the right to share in this distinction when it became part of Nova Scotia. For the uniform fertility of its soil its position is pre-eminent, a reputation which has earned for it the name of the "Garden of the Gulf."

In the long ago the Indian aborigines named it "Abegweit" (Rest on the Wave), and apt was the term. Henry Ward Beecher was equally apt when he called it the "Gem of the Northern Sea." Crescent shape in form it quietly rests upon the waves of the ocean with its back towards the north shore of Nova Scotia and the east shore of New Brunswick with its nether-most ends dipped into the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The Northumberland Straits, which sweep along its back, severing it from the mainland, are thirty miles wide at their greatest width and seven at their narrowest.

As a summer resort Prince Edward Island has greatly increased in popularity during the last few years, and those spending their first vacation there usually want to repeat their experience. When one considers that its summer climate is delightful and the waters which dip into its bays and coves ideal for bathing, the charm it has for summer tourists is easily appreciated. Among the better and the more frequented beaches where the best of sea bathing may be enjoyed and good hotel accommodation obtained are Stanhope, Brackley, Rustico, Rocky Point, Pownal Bay and Cape Traverse. A further attraction is to be found in the fact that in its numerous streams trout abound, and deep sea fishing is easily accessible for those who desire it, while in season such game birds as wild geese plover, snipe, woodcock and brant are plentiful.

The rural scenery of the island is a tonic for tired nerves. Its pastoral scenes, dotted with smiling farms, stately trees and luxuriant hedges, probably approximate more closely to those of the British Isles than any other part of the continent, while the Islanders are noted for their quiet and unostentatious hospitality.

The people of Prince Edward Island are both industrious and prosperous. Naturally agriculture is their principal industry. Although the total area of the island is but 1,397,991 acres, of this no less than 1,202,354, or nearly 90 per cent. is under cultivation. No province in the Dominion can show such a high percentage. Field products alone yield a value of $20,221,800 while an additional sum of $15,000,000 is credited to animals and their products. While as a manufacturing centre its importance is relatively small, the products of the factories of the island have an estimated annual value of $3,536,470. The most important of its manufacturing industries is the preserving of fish, of which the annual value is estimated at about one million dollars. Lobster canneries alone number over 200. The total value of the commercial fisheries of the island is about two million dollars.

Prince Edward Island has for years been noted for the fine quality of its oysters, its Malpeques having a particularly high reputation among connoisseurs throughout the continent. The oyster beds are situated in the Gulf of St. Lawrence off the island shore and through the efforts which are being made by the Dominion Government it is expected that within the near future there will be a substantial expansion in the industry.

In respect to transportation facilities Prince Edward Island is particularly well equipped, for in addition to its convenient waterways it has nearly 300 miles of railway, with the result that no part of the island is a greater distance than ten miles from contact with the steel highway. When one takes into consideration that the island is 130 miles from tip to tip and from one to thirty miles in width, it is quite evident that it is pretty well gridironed with steel rails.

Within the last ten years Prince Edward Island has come in for world-wide fame on account of its fox-farming industry, and particularly for its silver black animals. Prince County is the centre of the industry, where but a few years ago there were only three men who were classed as experts in respect thereto. Today there are 566 ranches on the Island, 401 of which are in Prince County. The number of foxes in each ranch runs all the way from ten to one hundred, and in a few instances even higher. The pens are located in well-wooded groves and surrounded with special wire-fencing. In weight the animals run from eight to fifteen pounds, and in color from light silver to jet black. For breeding purposes as high as $30,000 a pair was obtained in the early days of the industry while as high as $2,628.08 has been secured for a single pelt, the highest figure ever paid on any fur market. Several ranch owners have made fortunes out of their enterprise, and practically all established companies are paying dividends running in some instances to 15 per cent. The animal value of the fur farms of the province is estimated at about two million dollars.

Prince Edward Island has an interesting history as well as a present reputation. It was visited as early as 1534 by Jacques Cartier, tentatively settled by the French in 1663, but its real settlement began when Acadians, after being expelled from Nova Scotia in 1755, found a resting place on its shores. Under the French regime it was known as L'Isle St. Jean, being so named by Champlain. This name in its Anglicised form was retained under British rule until 1799, when, on account of the number of St. John's existing in British North America it was rechristened Prince Edward Island in honor of Edward, Duke of Kent.

The route to Prince Edward Island is over a branch of the Canadian National Railways diverging from the main line at Sackville, New Brunswick. At a distance of a little over thirty-five miles from the latter town Cape Tormentine is reached, the train in the meantime having passed through nearly a dozen villages, one of which is Port Elgin, noted for its large canneries and fish-packing houses and its attractiveness as a summer resort. At Cape Tormentine, which is noted for its modern terminal facilities, the train is run on board the magnificent steamship ferry, the Prince Edward Island, and conveyed across Northumberland Strait to Port Borden, P. E. I., a distance of nine miles. Having been specially constructed for contending with ice conditions prevailing during the winter, the ferry maintains a winter as well as a summer service. Borden is an artificial port where an immense landing pier and substantial docks have been constructed for the accommodation of the steam ferry. At Borden the train is transferred from the ferry to the Island system of the Canadian National Railways.

CHARLOTTETOWN

Charlottetown is a city pleasant to the eye and delightful in climatic conditions, and has been aptly described as one of the "most home-like and attractive little cities to be found anywhere." In the central and chief of its five large public squares are located the principal public buildings of the province and Queen Gardens. The city is delightfully situated on the East of Hillsborough river with the York River on its south side. In the days of long ago when French sailors entered the harbor of Charlottetown, they named it Port la Joie.

The city dates back to 1768 and in appearance suggests the capital of some neat European principality rather than that of a province in the Dominion of Canada. Like the province as a whole its capital is quiet sedate and unostentatiously pretty. St. Dunstan's Cathedral has the re tation of being the finest chu edifice east of Montreal, while Hodgson Memorial Chapel, conne ed with St. Peter's Cathedral, probably the smallest and most ar tic in the Dominion.

Charlottetown is well suppl with educational institutions, t most important being the Prince Wales College, established und Government auspices, and St. Du stan's University, which attra students both from other parts Canada and from the United Stat The Provincial Library is noted the large number of valuable boo it possesses. That the city does n want for the education which com through the press is evident from t fact that it contains no less th three daily newspapers. Quite a ple, newspapermen will agree, a city with a population of twel thousand. The principal industr of Charlottetown are machine work foundries and packing plants.

SUMMERSIDE

Summerside, about forty-eig miles from the capital, is the seco to the latter in importance. It h excellent stores, handsome residen es, and much to attract the summ visitor. Among its business plac is a mail order house whose ran fications extend over the Maritim Provinces and whose turnover ru into several million dollars a ye It is also the centre of the island famous fur-farming industry, headquarters of the Prince F Breeders' Association being locat there. Summerside fronts on a b on the south side of the Island, a is delightfully situated. From a h in the rear of the town a glorio view of the country and of the w ters north aand south is obtained. one direction can be seen Bedeq Bay and its attractive surrounding and beyond, Northumberland Str with the New Brunswick coast li in the distance.

OTHER P. E. I. TOWNS

Souris, lying at Colville Bay the eastern end of the Island, is Acadian village noted for its bea and its lobster and sealing indu tries; Georgetown, for its quain ness, its fishing industry and shi ping trade and opportunities f boating and canoeing on the harb and overflowing rivers; and Mon tague for its lovely cool retreat Tignish, Alberton, Murray Harbo and Mount Stewart are other town of interest to the tourist.

e Breton Island -- The Front Door of Canada

1.—A typical bit of rugged coast scenery in Cape Breton. 2.—Cape Breton Indian making butter pails. 3.—One view of the Bras d'Or Lakes. 4.—Ruins of old Fort Louisburg. 5.—Pouring molten metal Sydney Steel Mills. 6.—A coal mining plant near Sydney. 7.—One of the old guns at Fort Louisburg. 8.—Another view of the beautiful Bras d'Or Lakes.

There are few spots in Canada with greater romantic history than Cape Breton Island, through which, to Sydney and return, members of the Canadian Weekly Press Association travelled recently over the Canadian National Railways.

Before Columbus discovered America, Basque and Breton fishermen explored its harbors and there are many traces which indicate that as far back as 1,000 A.D. the venturesome Norsmen cruised its shores. When Shakespeare was writing his plays there were more than 200 English vessels fishing off the Cape Breton coast and French and Spanish fishermen had their recognised harbors along the seaboard. In the sheltered coves along the quiet salt water lakes, privateers and gentlemen-at-arms roved, building up a wealth of rich romantic tradition which still clings to its shores. While the French revolution was brewing, the greatest fortress in America was being built on this tidy little Isle. Louisburg is the historical centre of Cape Breton. Its erection cost more than $35,000,000 in current valuation of money, and although it was commenced in 1720 it was not until 20 years later that it was completed. In 1744, when war broke out between England and France, it was attacked and captured by an expeditionary force comprised entirely of volunteers from New England. It was returned to France in 1748, but 10 years later was attacked by a British war fleet and again captured. With this fleet were General Wolfe, later conqueror of Quebec, and Captain Cook, whose name is linked forever with exploration and discoveries in the Pacific Ocean. Britain, however, considered the fortress too strong to take further chances with it and ordered it razed. Although a party of engineers, employing hundreds of men, worked for months at this task, the remains of its vast defences are still able to tell their tale of the valorous past.

Included within the term of "The Sydneys" are three towns, namely, Sydney, North Sydney and Sydney Mines. An important town which can lay claim to be within the district is Glace Bay, fourteen miles from Sydney.

Sydney is the principal city of the Island. It is the Eastern terminus of the Canadian National Railways and a sea port of importance. It is the centre of the steel making industry of the Dominion, and around it, in a limited area, are situated eighteen or twenty of the greatest coal mines in North America. The industry is one which is growing in importance every year and one which contains unbounded possibilities, there being unworked as yet, a huge submarine coal field under the straits which separates Cape Breton from Newfoundland.

Access to all points of interest and entertainment is made easy by the Canadian National Railways. There is an abundance of fine trout and salmon fishing as well as small game hunting.

Much of the route lies along the borders of the far-famed Bras d'Or, the great inland salt water lake of Cape Breton. The Bras d'Or waters have a surface area of 450 square miles, the width varying from less than a mile to 18 miles. So, too, does the depth vary, soundings having been taken at a depth of 700 feet in one part of Little Bras d'Or. The length of these lakes is about fifty miles, its waters being sheltered from the ocean, of which it forms a part, by hills of great beauty. Along its length it expands into bays, inlets and romantic havens, while picturesque islands dot its surface, singly and in fairy clusters. Along this stretch of country nothing is common, nothing tame; all is tuned to play upon the emotions the strings of keenest pleasure. Every variety of landscape meets the eye and the senses are never wearied. The scenery along the Bras d'Or route of the Canadian National Railways is unquestionably one of the most diversified and beautiful in the Dominion.

PALE FACES AND WORN OUT NERVES

Due Solely to Weak, Watery Blood —A Tonic is Needed.

"Anaemia—literally impoverished blood—comes on so stealthily that it is often well advanced before its presence is recognized. Feelings of fatigue and discomfort are the earliest manifestations of the trouble and these are seldom taken seriously. Gradually small tasks become an effort and exertion causes the heart to palpitate violently. The complexion becomes sallow or pale and there is loss of weight. The nerves grow weak and the victim displays irritability under slight provocation and is extremely sensitive to noise. The appetite is fickle and indigestion often follows.

A condition of anaemia calls for a tonic, one that will enrich the blood and strengthen the nerves, and for this purpose there is nothing can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills give the blood all those missing elements necessary to give strength to the nerves, color to the cheeks, and nourishment to starved organs and tissues. Miss Margaret J. Fraser, R. R. 2, Thessalon, Ont., has proved the value of this treatment. She says: "I was very pale and weak. My blood was poor and I was very nervous. I lost my appetite, my feet and ankles were swollen and I was in a very miserable condition. A friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I got two boxes and found before they were finished that they were helping me. I continued the pills until I had taken a half dozen boxes, with the result that I am now enjoying the best of health, all symptoms having disappeared. I feel confident that what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me they will do for others, if given a fair trial."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail, at 50 cents a box, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MOTHERS' ALLOWANCES

A copy of the second annual report of the Mothers' Allowances Commission has just come to hand. The report shows considerable development in the work of the Commission. The number of beneficiaries has grown from 2,660 in October, 1921, to 3,559, in October, 1922. In the homes of these beneficiaries there are 10,922 children under sixteen years of age. There are ninety-six local Boards, doing their work gratuitously and all giving splendid service during the year. The entire cost to the Province of the operations of these Boards for the year was only $2,621.62, an average of $27.30 for each Board. This included travelling expenses, stationery supplies, postage etc.

All beneficiaries in centres of population of 10,000 and over are now granted allowances on the basis of the city rate, which is $40 monthly for two children, increasing $5 monthly for each additional child under 16 years of age. An intermediate rate, $5 less per month than the city rate, has been established for beneficiaries in centres of population from five to ten thousand. The county rate of allowance is $30.00 monthly for two children with an additionanl $5 monthly for each child under sixteen years of age.

Payments to the beneficiaries in October amounted to $126,379, an average of $35.50. Payments for the year totalled $1,382,379. There are seven beneficiaries in the County of Dufferin and the payments amounted to $1,914. The 25 beneficiaries in the County of Peel received $9,424. Members of the local Boards of the two counties are:

DUFFERIN—T. J. Henderson, Orangeville, Chairman; Mrs. W. C. Dahl, Orangeville, Secretary; Mrs. Alfred Menary, Grand Valley; Mr. Hugh Falconer, Shelburne; Mr. H. F. Tuck, Orangeville.

CAUGHT IN HAY LOADER

A week ago Tuesday, George Gibson, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Leighton, Centre Road, Mono, got caught in a hay loader and sustained severe injuries. His father stopped the loader while putting on a load of hay and the child, who was playing nearby, got between the loader and wagon without being noticed by his father. When Mr. Leighton started the horses he heard the boy scream and stopped the team. Jumping from the load he was horrified to find the child pinned under the loader with one of the heavy spikes sticking into his back. Hastily releasing the little fellow he carried him to the house and phoned for Dr. Scott who rendered first aid and then advised the removal of the child to the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto. At the hospital the doctors found that the spike had penetrated the back a distance of five inches. Fortunately the direction of the wound was sideways, otherwise the child could scarcely have escaped a fatal injury. Tuesday of this week the lad, who is a healthy, vigorous little chap, had recovered sufficiently to be brought home. His parents, Mr. Robt. Island, a neighbor and Mrs. John Nicholson, motored to the city and brought the child home. He stood the journey well and was quite lively when seen in Orangeville about nine at night.

WOMEN'S MEETINGS.

Lady Bonham Carter Discusses Conditions in England.

"There is no doubt that audiences in the country tend nowadays to like and to expect 'revue' (or even 'movies' with a few words thrown in), and a large proportion of those who address them as showing, on the whole, no disinclination to cater for their taste," says Lady Bonham Carter in "Good Housekeeping."

"This does not, I think, as yet apply to the north, where politics are still an intellectual creed, and where there is a high standard of political education. In Yorkshire, Lancashire, and Scotland you will still find the finest and most critical audiences in the world. At Paisley the people were speech-tasters of the highest and most fastidious order, and my father has often told me that the heckling to which he used to be subject in East Fife was one of the most severe intellectual ordeals of his life.

"The infusion of women has no doubt made a great difference to the atmosphere and temperature of meetings. I must confess with shame that of all audiences the kind I personally dread aduressing most is a purely women's meeting in what is known as a 'residential area.'

"I rise to a rustle of papers and a faint friction of kid gloves. A deadly silence reigns, and yet my voice sounds muffled. My words, my thoughts (are they words? were they ever thoughts?), are projected into a padded void inwhich they perish. My jokes die still-born in a genteel titter. My throat feels sore and dry. I am up against—nothing. It is like reciting 'Casabianca' or the 'Wreck of the Hesperus' without even a prompter. Will no one ever clap; or interrupt; or move? Are they alive? In vain I try to catch an eye, friendly or otherwise, under the hat brims, through the spotted veils. There must be eyes there, but they are glazed and inaccessible. They can't be caught.

"At last it is over, and one sits down panting. And then as often as not tea follows, and one makes friends with one's audience. One discovers that they are all charming and intelligent women. They loved the speech, listened to it throughout, 'took' every point. They were not hostile, they were not bored; most surprising of all, they were not dead.

"The truth is that women in 'residential areas' have not yet mastered the technique of meetings. They do not realize that there must be give and take, that they too have a part to play, and that it takes a good audience to extract a good speech from Demonosthenes himself."

Gas Meters as Banks.

Many stories are told by collectors of the strange coins and pieces of metal and tin found in gas meters.

Most householders who draw their gas supply from penny or shilling-in-the-slot meters have been in the awkward position of not having the requisite coin in the house when the supply of gas fails. If this happens to take place when Sunday's dinner is in course of cooking, the result to one's temper is certainly disastrous.

Of course, for a penny a two-shilling piece is an ample out somewhat expensive substitute. One man who discovered this conceived the idea of turning his gas meter into a savings bank, and consistently deposited two-shilling pieces therein. After the collector had been obliged to refund the change several times in succession, the practice was stopped.

Coins of a previous reign or of a foreign nationality often find a destination in the meter. Australian pennies, Portuguese currency of 1888, and French, Spanish, and Argentine coppers have all passed muster, while a particularly eastern device on a very bent disc proclaimed Turkey as its origin.

But it is cheap economy in the long run, for on collection day, when a particularly vigilant collector goes his rounds, it is annoying to have to "buy back" one's curios.

Places That Inspire Poets.

Robinson Crusoe, that wonderful romance of a desert island, was written in part at least, in peaceful Surrey.

The cottage, Westcombe Lane, at Burford Bridge, near Box Hill, was for some time the home of Daniel Defoe.

In the garden of the Burford Hotel, Keats wrote "Endymion," and in a delightful cottage a little farther away "Diana of the Crossways," was evolved by George Meredith.

"The Revolt of Islam," by Shelley, was composed while lying in a punt under the woods at Marlow, and this same punt, "The Cenci" was written on the roof of the Villa Valsovano at Livorno, on the Italian Riviera. "Enoch Arden" was written by Alfred Tenbyson in the garden of his lovely house in the Isle of Wight, and Byron wrote "The Prisoner of Chillon" at a quaint little place called Ouchy, on the Lake of Geneva.

Wordsworth wrote "We are Seven" in a little cottage on the Quantock Hills, and Robert Browning composed his "O, to be in England" while he was extremely seasick on the Mediterranean!

Face Dangers to Deliver Mail.

In India the distribution of a great deal of mail matter is performed by runners. They are drawn largely from the lowest castes and least civilized races, and many of them are animists by religion. They are ready to face wild beasts and wandering criminals, but will go miles out of their way to avoid an evil spirit in a tree. With them the mail bag is a kind of fetish, which must be protected at all costs. Disaster may and often does come to them, and they are wondering for to their "salt," which seldom exceeds $5 a month. Not a year passes that does not take its toll of mail runners who lose their lives in the execution of their duty. It may be a tiger, a swollen river, an avalanche in the Himalayas, a gang of robbers but the work goes on just the same, the mail must go through, whatever happens.

ONE'S BEST SEASON YOUTH

Youth Likes the Spring, but Elders "Feel Oats" in the Later Periods of the Year.

If you are a woman and have reached the age of, say, sweet and thirty or sweet and forty, you may hesitate to answer this question right out in meeting. But you may find entertainment or instruction in propounding it to yourself in the depths of your soul. This is the question:

"In what season of the year do I feel my best—spring, summer, autumn or winter?"

At first sight the catch is not visible to the naked eye. But a scholarly person connected with an institution of learning not many miles from the Atlantic ocean is collecting statistics with a view to learning whether most people do not exhibit their best powers at the season of the year corresponding to their ages.

Hitherto the statistics collected by the scholarly person before mentioned seem to favor the view that infants up to twenty-one find themselves at their best from the middle of March to the middle of June, urchins from twenty-one to forty-two flourish most richly from the middle of June to the middle of September, lads and lassies from forty-two to sixty-three blossom from that point on to the middle of December, and youngsters from sixty-three to eighty-four and upward feel their oats between Christmas and the middle of March.

The statistics of the scholarly person were started with young people of both sexes organized in university classes, and the result was overwhelmingly in favor of springtime. But there is such a general human sentiment of love for spring, whose magic is sung by all poets in all languages, that the investigator wondered whether a similar result might not follow a canvass among persons of mature age.

Here, however, he was agreeably disappointed. He found his hypothesis supported by a substantial balance of preference on the part of men and women for the seasons approximately corresponding with their own seasons in the cycle of life.—New York Sun.

Hawaiian Islands Beautiful.

"The most brilliant fleet of islands anchored in any ocean." Thus did Mark Twain describe the Hawaiian Islands, which, according to Joaquin Miller, "are not a group, as often miscalled, but a string of islands—a string of pearls, if you please—a string of rare and precious pearls in the sapphire center of the great American sea."

All of which, says the Outdoor Circle, falls adequately to convey even in a remote measure, "things as they are." All word pictures fail—for it seems as though, in ages past, there might have been upturned in the heavens a cornucopia filled with rainbows which nature benevolently deposited on this fair group of islands and then, with palette and brushes, at her leisure, distributed the colors to produce the world's masterpiece. Towering trees, reflecting all the shades of green and brown; blossoming trees, vying with the solar spectrum in a riot of color; foliage and flowering bushes and vines of gorgeous hue, combine with the somber grays and browns of the mountains to produce a picture that would beggar the ability of any artist.

Outwitted the Policeman.

Automobile and bicycle thieves in Indianapolis perform with a cleverness equaled only by that of the "Artful Dodger," says H. W. Hunter, real estate dealer.

Mr. Hunter recently parked his automobile along a Delaware street curbing and failed to remove the ignition key. A policeman standing nearby with notebook in hand, chided him for his carelessness.

"That is an invitation to theft," said the policeman, "and especially when they steal them from under your eyes."

"Not so?" Mr. Hunter exclaimed.

"Yes," the patrolman said. "I am looking for a bicycle thief right now. This bicycle," he paused to look around.

"Well, I'll be hanged—it's gone. I have been waiting here two hours to find that bird and to think he got away with that wheel while I was looking at him."—Indianapolis News.

Girls Braver Than Boys?

That girls are braver than boys is the observation made by Dr. Edward F. Bigelow, naturalist of the American Boy Scouts' association. Dr. Bigelow includes in his category girls from ten to fifteen. "At that age," he says, "they acquire the fears and inconsistencies of women. Girls are not only braver than boys, but they are the bravest of the four—namely, men, boys, women and girls. The girl is much franker than the boy; in fact, says Dr. Bigelow, no one in the world is as frank as the girl between ten and fifteen. She says exactly what she thinks. The boy, on the other hand, rarely does. But the girl's frankness and bravery do not last. According to Dr. Bigelow, as she develops into womanhood these qualities are replaced by the art of dissembling and by the fears supposedly appropriate to womanhood.

Cripple Cured as Train Nears.

While a train carrying pilgrims to Lourdes was drawn up at Dijon station, a cripple, who dragged himself painfully along on crutches was returning across the line from the buffet, when an express train dashed down almost upon him. There were cries of horror, but the cripple, throwing away his crutches, made a splendid spring to safety.

WON IN ST. KITTS

Dufferins Pulled out in Front in the Last Minute of Monday's Game Across the Lake.

The Dufferins won a 5 to 4 victory in their game with St. Catharines on the latter's grounds on Monday afternoon. The winning tally was made during the last minute of play, Gordon scoring the goal with a long shot. Athletics presented their best line-up and gave The Dufferins a hard game. They had all kinds of speed in the field and checked the greenshirts like demons. The play was not of the parlor variety and The Dufferins say that the game was much rougher than the Orangeville-Weston game here last Wednesday. Several of the players sustained injuries. Cruikshank had his head gashed and Raspin Scott was severely injured in the side. Gordon also got a few nasty cracks. The most serious accident befel Harry Firth the locals goaler, about five minutes before the end of the match. Firth went out after the ball and when checked either sprained or sustained a fracture of his ankle. Owing to the swelling the doctors are unable to determine whether he is suffering from a severe sprain or a fracture of the bone. Arrangements were being made to have an X-ray examination yesterday to determine the exact nature of the injury. In any event the accident will keep Harry out of the game for the rest of the season. His loss will be severely felt by the team, as he had been playing an excellent game in the flags. He is in Lord Dufferin Hospital here. Booth, the team's veteran goaler, went into the flags for the remainder of the game and will start against The Maitlands on Saturday. If Bert can go the distance The Dufferins will be alright but it is questionable if his injured limb is strong enough to stand the stress of a hard match.

In Monday's game the score at the end of the first quarter was 1 to 0 in favor of St. Kitts. In the second period each team scored twice. No tallies were made by either team in the third. In the final period, Robinson, who replaced Wilson, scored for The Dufferins, evening the count. Gordon followed with another tally. The Athletics tied the game for the second time on a brilliant rush, which ended with a score by Ollie. The locals rushed again after the face-off and when Firth went out to check Ollie the two players came together with such force that both were knocked down. Firth's ankle was injured so badly that he had to be carried off the field. Booth who played the flag position for the last five minutes, had an easy time as St. Kitts did not get a shot on the goal. Gordon tallied the final counter for Orangeville just before the whistle blew. The players were:

St. Catharines—Rhodes, May, G. Penny, Haffey, Birmingham, Barber, W. Penny, McIntosh, Miller, Goudie, Ollie, Sheehan, O'Malley, Comrie, Wagstaffe.

The Dufferins—Firth, Booth, Henderson, Cushing, Scott, Ewing, Cruikshank, Burnside, Sargeant, Robinson, Golden, Gordon, Hawken, Wilson, Brown.

Referee, Smith; Judge of Play, Carmichael.

The players made the trip to and from St. Catharines by motor, leaving here Sunday evening and reaching home again about midnight on Monday. Several of the players, who were in Charlie Gillespie's car, just missed being eye-witnesses of the terrible auto accident near Guelph. They arrived on the scene just after the ill-fated car had crashed into the telegraph pole and rendered first aid to the occupants.

BLACK KNIGHTS' CONCERT

Orangeville Black Knights will bring Saturday's big Celebration to a fitting close with a Grand Concert in the Opera House at night. The programme will be furnished by the famous Maple Leaf Quartette from Galt. The presence of this popular Quartette insures a programme of the first order. The Quartette will be heard in quartettes, solos, duets, elocution and comedian work. The programme will have plenty of variety as well as charm and will give all lovers of good entertainment a chance to spend the evening in a pleasant and profitable manner. Seats will be reserved at The Banner Office. Admission, 75c. and 50c.

LIGHTNING WORKS HAVOC

A heavy thunderstorm accompanied by a torrential downpour of rain passed over this district last Thursday afternoon. The storm was particularly severe south of Orangeville and the lightning did considerable damage to buildings and livestock in the townships of Erin and Caledon.

Jas. Petch, lot 8, 1st line, east Caledon, had a barn struck and burned down. Mr. Petch's barns were built in two sections connected by a covered shed. The one that the lightning struck was completely destroyed, but by tearing down the connecting shed and a liberal application of water to the roof, Mr. Petch and his neighbors managed to save the other building.

Hunter Stringer's barn on the Erin-Caledon townline was struck. The building did not take fire, but the shingles and rafters were badly damaged on one side of the roof. Some injury was also done to the sheeting and the tops of several posts.

Simon Kearns, of Terra Cotta had eleven pigs killed by the lightning.

Wilfrid Irwin, Centre Road, Caledon, had a colt struck. The animal was injured so badly that it died on Sunday.

Lightning struck the dwelling house of Manasseh Ferns in East Garafraxa, ran down to the cellar where it shattered a cement cistern. The current also damaged a cream separator and upset a can of cream.

Lester Cooper's dwelling on the first line, east, Caledon, was struck and badly wrecked. The roof and walls were so badly damaged that Mr. Cooper may have to build a new house.

43 MILLS

Orangeville's Tax Rate the Same as It Was Last Year.

After a session that lasted until half an hour after midnight Orangeville Town Council, on Monday night, fixed the tax rate for 1928 at 43 mills on the dollar. This is exactly the rate that was struck by the 1922 council, so thatthis year's tax bills will run about the same as the bills our citizens were asked to pay a year ago. Some of the members of the council thought that it would be possible to finance the affairs of the town on a 42 mill rate. When the estimates were under consideration it was found that a 42 mill rate would mean pretty close sailing with the probability of a deficit at the end of the year. It was therefore thought preferable to levy the extra mill and thereby ensure ample revenue to meet all expenditures for the year. The following estimates will show our readers the manner in which the rate was arrived at and the purposes for which the money raised by taxation will be used:—

	Amount	Rate
Consolidated Debenture Principal	$1,143.08	.94 mills
Consolidated Debenture Interest	105.22	.08 mills
Waterworks Debenture Principal	2,420.87	1.99 mills
Waterworks Debenture Interest	341.75	.28 mills
Cement Works Debenture Principal	141.50	.11 mills
Cement Works Debenture Interest	5.66	.01 mills
Town Hall Improvements Debenture Principal	370.02	.30 mills
Town Hall Improvements Debenture Interest	18.49	.01 mills
Fire Appliances Debenture Principal	370.02	.30 mills
Fire Appliances Debenture Interest	18.49	.01 mills
Dods Knitting Co., Deb. Prin. and Interest	1,407.28	1.16 mills
Orangeville Hydro Debenture Principal	1,337.42	1.09 mills
Orangeville Hydro Debenture Interest	1,310.59	1.08 mills
Orangeville Hydro Extension Debenture Prin.	98.95	.08 mills
Orangeville Hydro Extension Debenture Int.	160.46	.13 mills
Consolidated Debt Debenture Principal	2,391.88	1.96 mills
Consolidated Debt Debenture Interest	456.87	.37 mills
County Rate	6,977.11	5.73 mills
Public Library	1,862.18	1.53 mills
Town Purposes	8,466.47	6.96 mills
	$29,404.31	24.12 mills

This will be raised by a rate of 24.12 mills on a total assessment of $1,216,447.00.

An additional sum of $23,283.54 will be raised by a rate of 18.88 mills on an assessment of $1,232,447.00 and will be applied as follows:—

	Amount	Rate
High School Improvements Debenture Principal	$ 208.49	.17 mills
High School Improvements Debenture Interest	254.95	.20 mills
Public School Improvements Debenture Prin.	353.37	.28 mills
Public School Improvements Debenture Interest	17.66	.01 mills
High School Improvements Debenture Principal	189.67	.15 mills
High School Improvements Debenture Interest	150.00	.12 mills
Public School Maintenance	13,637.40	11.07 mills
High School Maintenance	8,475.00	6.88 mills

Five per cent. will be added on all taxes not paid on or before December 15th.

Mr. Jack M. Aiken was reappointed tax collector at a salary of $175. The salary covers postage, stationery and the work of preparing tax notices.

The following accounts were passed by the Council:—R. Fairbairn $1.45; E. C. Clark, $3.60; James Morrison Brass Mfg. Co., $3.30; Geo King, $78.50; Geo. R. Hogben, $47.60; John Norris, $50.00; Bitumous Spraying and Contracting Company, $243.66; Orangeville Hydro Commission, $32.58 and $322.00; Samuel Black, $5.00; J. C. Hirons, $3.75; Wm. C. Hughson, $24.00; Ed. Delaney, $2.50; Wm. Harnden, $21; Ed Delaney, $2.75; Alf. Colley, $8; Orangeville Motors, 40c; Adamson Hardware Co., 35c; Canadian Surety Co., $20.00; E. A. Parsons, $12.00; Argus Mfg. Co., $72.50, paid less freight charges; Ed. Delaney, $2.75; Ed. Huskisson, $61.85; D. W. Gray $14.55, $15.60 and $2.10; Richard Young, $10.25.

The referred accounts were:—D. W. Gray, $37.20, to Streets Committee; Bell Telephone Co., $1.54 and $2.85, to the Finance Committee; S. Street, $50.00, to the Streets Committee.

Ex-Mayor Thos. Henderson, Alex. Macdonald, C. R. Wheelock and Col. J. A. V. Preston addressed the Council in behalf of the Orangeville Soldiers' Memorial Committee. The speakers asked the council to approve of the site the Committee had selected for the memorial and for assistance in the work of grading the ground. Council passed a motion approving of the site. We understand that the site selected is on or very near the centre of Alexandra Park.

Geo McIntyre wrote the Council declining to sell the swimming pool property for $250, the amount offered by the municipality. Mr. McIntyre conceded that the Council should be the best judge of the value of the property and then observed sagely that it was assessed for $350, despite the fact that it was not the practice to assess non-revenue producing property up to its full value. He also ventured the opinion that the construction of a swimming pool was not a humane enterprise.

The Council declined to accept the plans of Wheelock & Christie for the proposed enlargement of the waterworks reservoir on the ground that the cost of the improvement was excessive and that the plans had been submitted too late in the season. The Clerk was instructed to notify Messrs. Wheelock & Christie to that effect.

The Council will not meet again until September 3rd. Reeve Gillespie was intrusted with the duties and responsibilities of acting Mayor during the absence of Mayor Jeffers who expects to go on a vacation toward the end of the month.

—Do not miss hearing the Galt Male Quartette in the Opera House on Saturday night.

—Speaking of a visit of the Galt Male Quartette, which will be heard in the Opera House here on Saturday night, the Guelph Daily Herald says: "Many Quartettes have visited Guelph in days gone by, but it is doubtful if ever there was a group of singers who could produce such harmony with so little effect."

WINDFALL FOR HOSPITAL

At a conference between the Maitland and Orangeville lacrosse officials it was unanimously decided to give almost $1,100, the clubs' share of the receipts taken in at the Dufferins-Maitlands replay at Scarboro Beach, to the Lord Dufferin Hospital in Orangeville. This generous action was taken by the officials of the two clubs themselves and is a complete and crushing answer to those who were so ready to criticise the players and officials of the two teams for their failure to play overtime in the first game at the Beach as provided for by the O. A. L. A. rules. No outside influence was brought to bear on the two clubs. They acted solely upon their own initiative. Thirty-five per cent. of the receipts went to the owners of the playing field, ten per cent. to the O. A. L. A. and $50 for advertising expenses. The balance will be given to the hospital. Canada's national game and those who play it have thus lived up to the best traditions of sport, and it is fitting that such generous action has emanated from two of the oldest lacrosse clubs in the Dominion.

UNION GARDEN PARTY

The congregations of Black's Corners, Laurel and Waldemar Presbyterian churches will hold a Union Garden Party in Maltby's Grove in Laurel village on Friday evening, Aug. 17th. A varied programme will be provided by The Brunswick Trio, including Jock Ballentyne, Scottish tenor comedian. The trio who are highly spoken of, will appear in elegant costumes and will be seen and heard in trios, duets, solos, instrumental music, comedy and songs. Their violin, banjo and piano specialties are said to be a real treat. Rev. S. Lundie will occupy the chair. The ladies will serve supper from 6 to 8 o'clock and there will be seasonable refreshments at a booth on the grounds. Admission, 50c. and 25c.

'Complaint is made that the Bibles that the Gideons distribute are sometimes stolen from hotel bedrooms. It is hard to fathom the motive of a man who will steal a Bible, but there is room for comfort in the thought that he stands in need of the admonitions and Godly counsels of the Book he has carried away.

SEVEN YEARS OF TORTURE

Headaches and Indigestion Ended By "Fruit-a-tives"

The Marvellous Fruit Medicine

Like thousands and thousands of other sufferers, Mr. Albert Varner of Buckingham, P.Q., tried many remedies and went to doctors and specialists; but nothing did him any good.

Finally a friend advised him to try "Fruit-a-tives"—now he is well. As he says in a letter:

"For seven years, I suffered terribly from Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas, bitter stuff would come up in my mouth, often vomiting, and was terribly constipated. I took Fruit-a-tives and this grand fruit medicine made me well".

BLACK KNIGHTS' DAY

Posters have been issued for the Black Knights' Celebration in Orangeville on Saturday, August 11th. These disclose the extensive and varied nature of the program arranged for the Celebration. At one o'clock the Preceptories will form at Alexandra Park, parade the principal streets and then march to the Exhibition grounds, where there will be speaking, music, racing and other attractions. The committee is providing prizes in all the racing events and is also offering a number of Preceptory and band prizes, to be awarded on the showing made in the street procession. The Celebration is attracting widespread interest and is bound to attract an immense concourse to Orangeville for the day. The ladies of the different churches are making arrangements to serve dinner, thereby helping out the hotels, which are also making special preparations to handle the crowd. Citizens generally are asked to tidy up and decorate their lawns and residences so that the town may look its best and create a favorable impression on all visitors. Merchants along Broadway can also help by decorating their places of business.

BELONGS TO WEST

Eastern Writer's Defin tion of "Whole Wheat" Humor.

Types of Character and Artless Hilarity Unlike Anything Put Forward by European Writers.

Take, as a hint of local character, the newspapers you read as the train crosses Kansas. In the Kansas City Star you learn of a Mrs. Tennal of Sabetha, who "hates to drive with the hood off the jitney. It embarrasses me to expose the inner working of the machine. The insides of a jitney always remind me of the signs of the zodiac. They ought to be covered up."

Also of a Salina man who went into a hardware store and asked for a package of small tacks. "How small?" asked the salesman. "The smallest you have." But the salesman said he didn't have that size.

Will White's Emporia Gazette mentions a member of the Emporia Country club whose thoughts were so far from business that he wrote a check for "fore" dollars, and of a Wichita editor who "has taken to a bomboproof to meditate on the frailty of fortune. One of his reporters wrote: 'Miss Higgins after her graduation will devote some time to the study and cultivation of voice. She has given her friends much pleasure along that line in the last two years.' Which was all right except that the elder Higgins is a dead shot, and the printer set it 'vice' instead of 'voice.'"

The Wichita Eagle tells of "an overhealthy young lady observed Friday afternoon walking toward the scales in front of Jack Spane's clothing store. She raised one foot cautiously and set it on the platform. The indicator glided swiftly around to 125 pounds. With an air of disappointment the young lady walked swiftly away, evidently thinking one foot enough to weigh at a time."

I do not know that these items—clipped at random from papers actually read as we were crossing Kansas—will mean anything to anybody else or that they "prove" anything at all, writes Arthur Ruhl in Harper's Magazine. To me there is a certain artless hilarity about this kind of humor, a kind of whole-wheat flavor, that is distinctly American and more often found in Kansas, let us say, than on the island of Manhattan.

A Russian or French journalist wouldn't have joked in just that way, and one trouble with some of our younger iconoclasts is that in rebelling against Puritanism and sentimentality they sometimes seem to lose their Americanism without successfully becoming anything else.

When Thoreau rebelled against conventionality he became more American than ever. He dug himself in on the shores of Walden pond and defied the universe, and the result was the world made and still makes a path to his door.

But when some of our present-day writers rebel against convention they seem to pull their roots out of our soil and to make themselves merely into rather unhousebroken and sophomoric Frenchmen—and if a Frenchman is anything, he is grown up!

Invented Seawater Still.

At one time Alexander Graham Bell became interested in the distillation of salt water for drinking purposes.

Off the coast of Nova Scotia fishing dories frequently get lost from their ships in fog, and their occupants suffer greatly from thirst before they can reach land. To Mr. Bell this seemed unnecessary, and he invented a compact and portable still, which occupied very little room, but which could turn salt water into fresh fast enough to sustain life and mitigate the suffering of two or three men who might happen to get adrift in an open boat.

When the miniature yacht Typhoon sailed from Baddeck, Cape Breton, to England, two or three years ago, it was provided with one of these stills for use in case of accident or emergency.—George Kennan, in the Outlook.

When Truth Was Better Than Fiction.

The family objected to nineteen-year-old Emily having John for a beau, and she resorted to strategy. The other evening when John brought her home she decided to say nothing of it and keep peace in the family. But her mother began questioning her about the party, etc., at the breakfast table.

She ended the quiz with this question, "Who brought you home, dear?"

"I came in a taxi," was the answer.

Silence for a few minutes and then her older sister burst into tears. "Oh, Emily," she sobbed, "I didn't think a sister of mine would ever stoop so low as to kiss a strange taxi driver goodnight."

Then was when the truth was told and the whole family, deciding it was better than fiction, made no more objections to John.—Exchange.

Never Again.

Mother had been finding it increasingly difficult to persuade her little daughter to say her prayers as she went to bed. Each evening the little girl gave the excuse that she was "too tired."

An automobile ride had been on the usual evening schedule, and the daughter looked forward to it.

"We are not going riding tonight," the mother said one day. "You will be too tired to say your prayers."

That had the desired effect. Never again was the "too tired" excuse heard.

BEST IN THE WORLD SAYS MR. N M'GUIRE

Mr. N. McGuire, of 130 Beaconsfield Ave., Toronto, Gets Wonderful Benefit From Dreco. Long Standing Digestive Troubles Quickly Overcome by This Fine Remedy.

Once let the stomach get out of order and a run-down condition rapidly results. A condition of this kind may be readily avoided with the aid of Dreco. Its natural corrective properties go right to the spot of all digestive ailments quickly restoring the system to normal, healthy functioning. Mr. McGuire proved this with one bottle. Here is his story:

"Dreco is the best in the world. My case was of long standing and I had tried almost everytning without result. My stomach, kidneys and liver were my chief sources of trouble. Everything I ate would sour, causing untold misery from gas. I had pains in my back and stomach and my joints ached from rheumatism. I had bilious spells and spots floated before my eyes.

"Since taking Dreco, however, all these symptoms are quickly disappearing. My bowels act regularly, something they haven't done for years. My appetite is good and I sleep soundly and feel much more rested in the mornings. Have only used one bottle of Dreco but my condition has much improved in this short time. I am now much stronger and don't feel tired out when night comes. If you suffer as I did give Dreco a trial."

Mr. McGuire's advice is sound and is backed by his own personal experience. It is particularly good advice to follow at this season of the year, when every one is more or less in need of a reliable tonic and restorative to build up the system after the rigors of winter.

Let Dreco help you. It is prepared from medicinal herbs, roots, bark and leaves and contains no mercury, potash or habit forming drugs.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Orangeville by R. Fairbairn, and is sold by a good druggist everywhere.

Where to Look For Husbands.

It is not encouraging to women who would be wives to learn that today the "surplus" women in Great Britain are numerous enough to people the entire counties of Norfolk, Suffolk, and Essex.

This preponderance is greatest in England, where there are 110 females to every 100 males. Scotland ranks next with 108 to 100; and Wales is third with only 101 to 100. In Wales, in fact, there are still almost as many men as women, so that the Welsh girl can crow over her English and Scottish sisters if she has an eye to the altar.

In England there are to-day 1,700,000 (omitting the hundreds) "surplus" women—half a million more than ten years ago; or a number as large as the population of Sheffield. Scottish women outnumber the men by 157,000; while in Wales the women's majority is little over 10,000.

It is interesting to note that there are still several counties and towns in which men predominate. Thus in Rotherham there are nearly 1,500 more males than females, in St. Helens, 2,600; and in Barrow-in-Furness, 1,672. And, among other towns, Grimsby and Newport have a female minority, which is shared by the counties of Durham, Brecknock, Monmouth, and Glamorgan.

On the other hand, Bath has 10,000 more women than men, Birmingham nearly 50,000, and Manchester 40,000; while in Sussex the women outnumber the men by no fewer than 1,273 to 1,000, and in Surrey by 1,187 to 1,000.

It is thus clear that potential husbands are more plentiful in such counties as Durham and such towns as St. Helens, while the man in search of a wife will have a greater choice in Surrey and Sussex, Bath and Birmingham.

Eminent British Author Now Visiting America

Joseph Conrad Is Unique

Captain Conrad is the most famous sailor that has visited the United States since Admiral Beatty came over. He did not lecture nor make any public appearances, but was hailed by the newspaper as the great master of fiction who, with Hardy and Moredith, will be remembered as one of the three outstanding writers of the later Victorian period. Conrad has not had a popular success such as either of the two giants with whom he is classed. He never wrote a book that had the vogue of "Diana of the Crossways" or "Tess of the D'Urbervilles." Perhaps he is rather to be compared with Henry James, in that his tremendous powers are acknowledged by nearly all the important critics, while his peculiar method fails to attract the average reader. Henry James was deliberately obscure, like Browning. Conrad is not deliberately obscure, but he finds language perhaps a clumsy instrument with which to reveal those hidden processes of the soul which it is his delight to explore.

Whatever opinion one may have about Conrad's greatness, one risks little by saying that he is at least the most remarkable author of the age, for his writing was not done in his native tongue, but in a language he acquired. Curiously enough, George Santayana, who is being hailed by some critics as one of the great masters of English style, is also working in a foreign medium, for he was born a Spaniard. Some years ago, Maartens, a Dutch novelist, had a great following among English readers, but he is not to be compared in quality with the other two. Another remarkable thing about Conrad is that, though his literary fame is probably as great as that of Anatole France's, he likes to speak of himself as a sailor. His captain's license, which certifies that he is "master-in-sail for all oceans of the world," is his most treasured possession, and on his voyage to the United States, the fact that Captain Bone and the other officers insisted upon calling him "captain" immensely delighted him, as he confessed to the New York interviewers.

Still another remarkable circumstance is that Conrad, who is hailed as the great interpreter of the sea, was born in the part of Europe most remote from the sea. At the age of nine, it is related that he put his hand on a map, pointed to the Congo, and said, "I mean to ge there." He had also resolved to become a sailor, and a British sailor, though he knew not a word of the language, but knew only that of all nations Britain was the one most closely identified with the sea. He came of the Polish aristocracy, and both his parents dying when he was young, he was taken by relatives, who sought to wean him from what they considered his mad notion about becoming a sailor. It was to no avail. He went to Marseilles and had two or three voyages in the Mediterranean. Then he shipped under the Red Ensign, and for twenty years sailed the seven seas. In 1884, he received his master's "ticket," and in the same year became a naturalized British subject. Oddly enough he made but one voyage to the Congo of his boyhood dreams, and it was on that voyage that he was stricken with the fever that forced him to give up his command.

His first English he learned on the first English ship upon which he sailed, and when he had attained a mastery over it that few of the native born ever acquire, his thoughts naturally turned to writing. On a voyage to Australia he confided to one of the passengers, a young Cambridge student, that he was at work upon a novel. He had then finished seven chapters of a tale of the Malay Archipelago, which was later to be known as "Almayer's Folly." We gather that the first reader was not enthusiastic, but Conrad found a London publisher who liked it, and it was published in 1895. Its peculiar quality at once attracted the attention of the critics, for whatever the merits of the book it is unmistakably Conrad, and those who liked it were on the watch for another Conrad book. His following grew, but never to the extent that his literary reputation grew. None of his books was even for a day among any list of the best ten sellers. With the publication of "The Rover" this fall, the Conrad output will amount to twenty-four volumes, of a quality, as his admirers say, with few counterparts in any literature.

It has been said about Conrad that when a non-admirer meets an admirer a discussion arises. The admirer asks what book of Conrad the other has read, and no matter what answer he gives he is always told, "Oh, you shouldn't have started with that." The sophisticates agree that perhaps "Nostromo" is his greatest achievement, but they warn others that this is not a book to be read until one has entered into the Conrad spirit. They advise an approach through "Typhoon," "The Nigger of the Narcissus," "Lord Jim," "The Shadow Line," the short stories, and those remarkably frank autobiographical notes "The Mirror of the Sea." Conrad himself is unable to guide. He says that his books are like children in a family. One day the father likes one the best, and the next day another, but he loves them all. In any event, he says that he is not a critic, that his years at sea did not give him the necessary background of culture. He also says that he is not a wise man, merely a creative artist, whose business it is to speak to our "capacity for delight anu wonder, to the sense of mystery surrounding our lives, to our sense of pity and beauty and pain."

New Beauty for Dainty Fabrics

and much longer wear

The two worries you have in washing fine fabrics, dainty garments, are removed. You can launder them now with full confidence that fabric will not be harmed, or delicate colorings dulled.

Silks, satins, crepes, and dainty, expensive cottons come from the wash with new brilliance and beauty. In thousands of homes women are using PALMOLIVE PRINCESS SOAP FLAKES.

These pure white, crinkly flakes give a wonderful, "whipped cream" lather that dissolves dirt magically.

And save money in two ways: By giving longer wear from fine fabrics; and, being nothing but pure soap, they last longer—cutting soap cost.

You can't find anything better for use in the washing machine—nor, in fact, for all laundry or household use.

In handy one-pound packages or bags. Order some today and begin saving next time you wash.

AUTO ACCIDENT RESULTS IN DEATH

"Billy Brewster Dies Within Few Hours After Being Shockingly Injured in Car Upset at Rock Lake.

A shocking tragedy, which has cast a pall of gloom over this community, occurred out at the Rock Lake grounds last Friday evening, through which young "Billy" Brewster, one of the finest and most popular young men that this district has raised, lost his life, when an automobile driven by Dr. Cohoe, of Pilot Mound, and loaded with a party of young ladies bound for the G. G. I. T. Camp at the Summer School grounds, Rock Lake, stalled on a steep rise, slipped backwards on the wet, greasy road surface, and went over a ten-foot bank, turning a complete somersault and landing upright on the cross-road below.

Attempts to Jump From Car.

It appears that young Brewster, on seeing that the brakes were not gripping and holding on the greasy road, attempted to jump from the car, failed to get clear, with the result that the machine came over the bank right onto him, crushing his body and inflicting such terrible injuries that it was early apparent that but a slim chance remained for his life. As quickly as possible the injured man was placed on a stretcher, and a tent was rigged within a few feet of the tragic accident, where, with every help that the medical skill of Doctors Ferguson, Corbett and Cohoe, and Nurse Perfect, could render, a grim fight was waged in an effort to save his life. Though terribly injured, and suffering untold agony, throughout the night the young man bore up with wonderful fortitude—being conscious practically up to within a few minutes of the end—which came at seven o'clock the following morning.

Girl Had Arm Dislocated.

Of the other occupants of the car—young women from Winnipeg, Morden and other points along the line—all escaped with minor injuries and severe shakings—a dislocated arm suffered by one of the girls being the only casualty. The car was a Chevrolet, of the "Baby Grand" type, and the chief cause of the mishap would appear to be the greasy state of the road following on the heavy rains of the preceding day, which rendered the brakes practically useless.

Only 30 Years Old.

The victim of the fatality—William Ewart Brewster—was but 30 years, 5 months of age. He was born in Orangeville, Ont., but came West when an infant, practically all his life being spent in this district. He was the only son of George and Sarah Brewster (both deceased) and on the death of his mother, occurring late in 1919, he left here and went to the Pacific Coast. Being of a studious, ambitious nature, he craved opportunity to make his mark in life, and accordingly had entered the offices of the prominent law firm of Tupper, Bull & Tupper, of Vancouver, where for the past three years he had studied law, with very promising success—having become in that time a very valued member of the staff.

Was Visiting Old Home Town.

He came down to his old home town a fortnight ago, on his first holiday trip since leaving here—and had been busily engaged during the intervening time in renewing old acquaintances here. He had intended starting on his return journey to Vancouver next week—but fate decided otherwise — and "Billy" crossed The Border in the district where he was raised from boyhood—amidst friends and relatives—with loved ones surrounding his rude death-bed in the little tent.

It is impossible to describe the shock and sorrow which this terrible calamity occasioned in this community. Everybody knew "Billy" Brewster—and everybody liked him for his clean, wholesome manliness, his hearty laugh, always in evidence, his sterling character, his quiet modest manner, and his wholesome viewpoint on life and its problems. Studious to a degree, his aim seemed always to be in the direction of accomplishing something for the good of his fellows—in entering law he embraced the profession with ideals of the highest. Being possessed of the logical mind, exceptional powers of reasoning, patience and a sterling character, he bade fair to become a credit to this honorable profession. On learning of his untimely end, a message, full of sympathy and regret, came over the wire from the firm, and entire staff of Tupper, Bull & Tupper, with whom he had been connected.

Relatives mourning his loss are: Mrs. Perfect, Orangeville, Ont., aunt; Mrs. Jas. Hunter, aunt; Mrs. J. A. Wilson, aunt; Mr. Hugh Brewster, Victoria, B. C., uncle; family of J. McDonald, cousins. Mr. Hugh Brewster is at present in the district, having come down some weeks ago on a visit.

Funeral Largely Attended.

As the deceased young man was a member of the Masonic Order, funeral services were under the auspices of the local Lodge, and were held on Sunday afternoon in Knox Church the entire district turning out to pay last respects to one of its best known young men.

Knox Church was filled to overflowing with sorrowing friends whilst the service was being held Rev. D. R. L. Howarth, of Miami, formerly pastor of the local Methodist Church, delivering the address assisted in the services by Rev. J. R. Kennedy. One of the largest funeral processions seen hereabouts in years followed the hearse to the cemetery, where interment was made in the family plot.

Much sympathy is felt for all connected with this most distressing fatality—and the passing of the young life, so full of promise, has left sadness throughout the entire community.—The Pilot Mound Sentinel, Pilot Mound, Man., July 19th 1923.

Deceased was a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Perfect, West Broadway.

THE DEADLY CROSSING

A Fatal Accident at Palgrave Last Week.

Bernice Steele, the seven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Steele, of Albion, received fatal injuries when the car in which she was riding with her father and little brother was struck by a southbound wayfreight on Tuesday forenoon of this week.

Mr. Steele, with his children, had left Palgrave for their home on the 9th line and when crossing the G. T. R. track half a mile east of the village their car was struck by the engine of the freight. The occupants and car were thrown some distance. Miraculously Mr. Steele received only minor injuries. The injured children were taken by the train crew to Palgrave station, less than a mile away. Dr. Reynar, of Palgrave, and Dr. Graham, of Bolton, were soon in attendance and the serious nature of the injuries of the children being ascertained, Dr. Moorehead, of Toronto, a specialist was called.

The boy, 4 years of age, was badly cut about the head and will likely recover. The girl's injuries were of the most serious nature, consisting of a fractured skull, fractured lower jaw and a double fracture of the right arm. In an effort to save her life Dr. Moorehead removed a piece of the skull which had pierced the brain. But she passed away at 5 o'clock in the evening. The funeral took place on Thursday afternoon to Laurel Hill Cemetery, service being conducted at the Palgrave Methodist Church.

Dr. Reynar opened an inquest, which was adjourned until Tuesday, the 14th of August. The crossing where the accident occurred is a level one and known as a "Skew" crossing. The train is said to have been slowing up for the station when it hit the car.—Bolton Enterprise.

George McCarthy, manager of the Bruce Municipal Telephone System, who for the past three or four days has been lying at death's door, is in a much improved condition. Right after the reunion at Kincardine he was stricken down with hemorrhage of the stomach and his life was despaired of.

Black Knights Had a Great Day

- SATURDAY'S DEMONSTRATION A HUGE SUCCESS

TEN THOUSAND PEOPLE IN TOWN FOR THE DAY—MILE LONG PARADE IN AFTERNOON, FOLLOWED BY SPEECHES AND SPORTS AT EXHIBITI ON PARK.

Orangeville was literally stormed and carried by the Royal Black Knights of Ireland on Saturday. Members of the Order and their friends came to town from all directions and from very considerable distances. They came by train, by auto and by horse-drawn vehicle. They came with the set purpose of celebrating Derry Day and celebrate it they did in royal style. Orangeville, which has witnessed many imposing Twelfth of July demonstrations, never saw a street procession comparable with the parade of the Royal Black Knights in the early hours of Saturday afternoon. Starting from Alexandra Park and coming to an end at Exhibition Park, the line of marching bands and preceptories, each headed by fluttering flags or great banners richly finished in silk and satin and decorated with the emblems of the Order, extended along the street for a full mile. The route of march was from Alexandra Park west on First Ave. and Zina Street to the Court House corner, then south to Broadway and east again to the Park and from there north on Second St. to Exhibition Park. Scarcely had the last Preceptory in the long line left the Park, when the mounted Marshalls and the Creemore Young Britons, who headed the march, rounded the Second St. corner on their way to Exhibition Park. When the head of the procession entered the Park and halted for the counter march the last of the marching line was still on Broadway west of the Mill St. corner. The size of the procession was not the only feature that made it surpass former Twelfth of July processions. Another outstanding feature was the size of the Preceptories, many of which had away over one hundred members in line. Indeed some of them had considerably over two hundred members in the march. The majority of the members of the Toronto Preceptories were decked out in black coats and silk hats and made an imposing showing in the parade. Another distinctive feature was the number and the excellent playing of the bands. Orangeville has never before entertained so many fife and drum bands. Nearly every city preceptory was headed by a fife and drum band of twenty members or over and right good bands they were too. Highland Pipers and Orangeville and Shelburne Citizens' Bands were in line and added to the variety of the musical offerings that entertained the thousands of spectators who lined the route of march.

It is estimated that there were fully ten thousand visitors in town for the day. Broadway was simply one dense jam of people. The sidewalks were impassable at any other gait than that set by the crowd. The pedestrian who happened to be in haste to get anywhere was obliged to turn out into the street and take his chance among the hundreds of automobiles that were parked or driving on the roadway. The line-up of cars extended as far west as the Presbyterian Church. Autos were also parked in long lines on all the side and residential streets near the centre of the town. The morning trains from the north and west brought Black Knights and their friends from Owen Sound, Markdale, Dundalk, Palmerston, Listowel, Mount Forest and other points Both trains were crowded despite the fact that each carried a number of extra coaches. The largest crowd came in from the south, due to the fact that the Preceptories of the city of Toronto were celebrating the day here. The two regular trains were crowded to the platforms. These were followed by two large specials, one of them carrying about 600 and the other almost 1000 people. Following these came the Maitland lacrosse club's special which brought another 200 to town.

Orangeville Citizens' Band and the members of the Orangeville Preceptory met all trains and escorted the visitors up town, the Preceptories and bands marching to the town hall, where the former registered and then stored their banners until after the noon hour. Orangeville was in gala attire for the day. The business part of Broadway was lined with evergreens, windows, doorways and housetops were bright with fluttering flags and gaily colored bunting. Across the streets great banners bearing the words "Welcome, Visiting Brethren," conveyed the greetings and welcome of the townspeople. Over the entrance to Exhibition Park a large arch had been erected by the local decoration committee. Flags, pennants, banners and brightly uniformed bands combined to create a scene that was at once pleasing and impressive.

Special arrangements had been made to provide meals for the multitude of visitors. The hotels of the town had laid in large supplies and engaged special help for the day. Their efforts were ably seconded by the ladies of the churches of the town, who served dinner and supper in the basements of their respective churches. Some of the churches fed close to a thousand people during the day.

The afternoon parade was advertised for one o'clock, but it was half an hour later when the first lodge swung out of Alexandra Park and commenced the march west on First Ave. The procession was in charge of Marshalls Jas. A. Patterson and W. G. McBride, both mounted on gaily decorated chargers and suitably accoutred for the occasion. The order of the procession follows:—

The speaking took place from a stand directly in front of the grandstand, a temporary platform having been erected at the west side of the racecourse for the accommodation of the speakers. Sir Knight C.R. McKeown, M. L. A. for Dufferin, occupied the chair. The chairman first called on Mayor Jeffers, of Orangeville, who extended a very hearty civic welcome. His Worship said that he considered it a great honour to welcome the Black Knights and their friends on behalf of the citizens of Orangeville. The people of Orangeville were strongly sympathetic with the work and principles of the Order and it was their sincere hope that all visitors would have a very pleasant day and carry home a good opinion of the town.

Mr. McKeown declared that there never had been a time in the history of Canada when its people could celebrate the closing of the gates of Derry with greater enthusiasm than at the present.

Sir Knight L. H. Reid, of Toronto, Deputy Grand Master of British America, who was the first speaker, desired to offer a word of congratulation to the Sir Knights of Orangeville and district on the splendid celebration they were holding. He recalled Macaulay's statement that a people that did not take pride in the achievements of their ancestors could never achieve greatness and gave this as one reason why Orangemen and Protestants should continue to commemorate such historic events as the Battle of the Boyne and the Siege of Derry. Although more than 230 years had now passed since the closing of the gates of Derry, the event had lost none of its significance and still stood out as one of the landmarks in the fight for civil and religious liberty. Just so long as the Church of Rome continued to advance political and religious aims that are a menace to the life of Protestantism would there be need for the existence and the unceasing activity of the Orange Order.

Sir Knight Percy M. Douglas, ex-Chairman of the Toronto Board of Education, expressed his belief in one school, one flag and one language in Canada. He attributed much of the trouble between Protestants and Roman Catholics to the influence of the Separate Schools, which divided the children of the province into two hostile camps. Before he came to Canada he had never known anything of Separate Schools.

Rev. F. N. Powell told of a recent visit to Great Britain and of his good fortune in meeting Sir Edward Carson. He told how the famous Irish leader had outlined the Irish situation in the course of a conversation and expressed hope that the dawn of a better and happier day for the people of that troubled island was near at hand. Protestants must stand true to those principles that are just and right. Mr. Powell pleaded for united effort in support of these principles and also for right living and right thinking. His concluding thought was that without liberty there could be no real and lasting peace.

Ex-Controller Robbins, who spoke briefly, congratulated the Black Knights of Dufferin County on the success of their celebration. Enthusiasm, such as had been in evidence during the day, was needed in behalf of Protestantism and was needed not only on set occasions, but all the year round.

Rev. R. A. Spencer, Grand Chaplain of Ontario West, believed that the Anglo-Saxon was destined to be supreme. The Royal Black Knights of Ireland had sworn themselves to a chivalry that cannot be defeated, because they have declared fealty to the King of kings and the Lord of lords.

W. O. McTaggart, another member of the Toronto Board of Education, described The Dufferins as a lacrosse team of which the town of Orangeville should be very proud. Separate Schools he regarded as the greatest injustice and the greatest imposition that could have been fastened on a young nation. He believed that one language, one school system and one flag was a necessary essential to real national unity.

Mayor Maguire, of Toronto, who received a flattering reception from the audience, congratulated the Black Knights and citizens of Orangeville upon the wonderful success of the celebration. The crowd that the celebration had attracted was wonderful and showed the interest and sympathy of the people of this district. The Orange Order was just as much alive and just as necessary today as it had been at any time in the history of this country. His Worship said that we had an opportunity of witnessing the splendid work the women were capable of during the war. Their efforts and their sacrifices had contributed very greatly to the winning of the war. In the Orange Order and the maintenance of the principles and liberties for which the Order stood there was a great opportunity for service open to the women of Canada. Mayor Maguire referred to the privations and hardships endured by the heroic defenders of Derry during the one hundred and five days of the siege, drawing an eloquent word picture of the trials and tribulations of those terrible days and then pleaded for the organization and active efforts of the good loyal people of Canada in behalf of the sanctity of the home and those invaluable liberties that our Protestant forefathers had won at such great cost in generations long since passed away. Toronto His Worship concluded, extended its hearty felicitations to the people of Dufferin on the success of the day and celebration. Dufferin County had indeed done itself proud.

At the close of the speaking a round of hearty cheers was given the chairman. All then joined in the hearty singing of God Save the King.

The various Officers and Committees, whose efforts contributed so greatly to the success of the day, were:—

Chairman—J. J. White.

Treasurer—A. C. Wilson.

Secretary—J. D. McKenzie.

Marshalls — Jas. A. Patterson, W. G. McBride.

1923 Season's Last Call for

WOOL!

We would intimate to all who have wool to sell, and who wish to dispose of it this season, that it should be marketed not later than August 15th. While not making any predictions as to wool values for next year, it is our impression that for this season, at least, prices now are at the top, with a strong feeling in the market that lower price levels will be reached.

SELL BEFORE AUGUST 15th.

1923 Trimmed Hats 1923

We have exactly 30 Trimmed Hats to sell that represent as good style as anything we have turned out this season. These are all the way up to $10.00 each, a few being even higher than this price, but for a speedy clearance we make all at one price:

YOUR CHOICE FOR $2.50

PRACTICALLY ALL SUMMER GOODS AT CEARING PRICES

That means that now is the logical time to buy.

On Saturday, August 11th (Derry Day) would customers please shop early. This, without question, will be one of the busiest days that the citizens of Orangeville have seen in a very long time, and to avoid disappointment, your supplies should be secured in good time.

Better buy on Friday than go without over the week-end.

CELEBRATION NOTES

Easily 10,000 people in town.

It was hot, but then who cared.

The drum majors made a great hit with the crowd.

The day passed off without the semblance of a mishap.

Autos were here in hundreds and were parked at all vantage points.

The parade was by all odds the finest ever witnessed in Orangeville.

Some of the fife and drum bands were dandies. The playing of the flute bands was certainly sweet.

The size of the Preceptories was one of the outstanding features of the parade. Very few had less than fifty members in line.

A great many of the visitors lunched on Alexandra Park, the Public School grounds and other suitable places about town.

Methodist and Presbyterian church ladies each fed about eight hundred people. St. Mark's church looked after another six hundred.

The Celebration Committee had a hard-working and capable Secretary in the person of J. D. McKenzie, a returned soldier. J. J. White, the chairman, who is County Master of the Orange, also gave a great deal of time to the Celebration and contributed a good deal to its success.

The morning trains brought about 3,000 people to town. Each of the southbound trains carried extra coaches. Each had between 350 and 400 people aboard and nearly all detrained here. One of the regulars from the south had about 425 aboard and the other about 500. One of the specials carried 723 and the other 611. The Maitland lacrosse club special brought in another 175.

CALEDON

The warm weather of the past week has ripened the grain and the oat harvest is now in full swing. Some splendid fields are already in the stook.

Quite a large number from here celebrated Derry Day in Orangeville and report a big day, both at the parade and lacrosse match.

Work is in progress on the highway south of the village and the road is in very bad condition for travel just now. It gives promise of being some road in the future.

Mr. Ed. Braidner, of the Cluffe farm, was taken suddenly ill with appendicitis and rushed to the Orangeville Hospital, where an operation was performed. His many friends will be glad to learn that he is doing nicely.

The "Water Truck" of the Ontario Department of Agriculture attracted a great many visitors here on Monday last.

Master Carl Chambers spent a week holidaying at the home of his grandfather, Mr. Robert Nesbitt, of Credit Forks.

A TWIN DAHLIA

Last week there was displayed in Mr. Robt. Patterson's window a dahlia which caused considerable comment. It was what one might term a twin dahlia. Two flowers grew on the one stem. One was white and the other mauve in color. The backs of the flowers were together. They were well developed. Many viewed them and not one was found to have ever seen such a similar growth. The dahlias were from the garden of Mr. F. S. Buckingham and the plant had on two more of similar formation. Mr. Buckingham is going to preserve the bulbs and see if they will produce a similar flower next year.—Kincardine Reporter.

Laurel Junior Farmers' Club are making arrangements to hold a Plowing Match during the coming autumn. The Match will be open to the farmers of Amaranth and is sure to create a lot of interest. Members of the Club have organized a Plowmen's Association and are selling membership tickets at 50 cents each. Farmers of the township can help along the Association by taking memberships and assistance in this way will be greatly appreciated by the Junior Farmers. It will be of interest to learn that four of the members of the Junior Farmers Club have entered in the Junior Farmers' Judging Competition at the Canadian National Exhibition. The members of the team are Chas. Brown, Willie Trimble, Wilmer Trimble and Bert Allen.

CRANSTON–KIDD

Maple Grove Farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kidd, Melancthon, was the scene of a charming event at high noon on Wednesday, August 1st, when their daughter, Mary E. C., was united in marriage to Mr. Stanley Cranston, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Cranston, of Orangeville. Rev. W. H. Hartley, rector of St. Paul's Church, Shelburne, officiated. Miss Ida Kidd, sister of the bride, rendered the wedding march from Mendelssohn and the music during the ceremony. After the signing of the register a delectable luncheon was served in the dining room. After spending a short honeymoon in Muskoka, the happy young couple will take up their residence at 61 Standish Ave., Toronto.

LOST INFANT CHILD

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hutchinson, of Caledon East, learned with sincere regret of the death of their infant child, Gordon Perry, who passed peacefully away on August 6th at the age of two weeks. Quite a number of the friends and neighbors of the parents attended the funeral, which was held to Providence Cemetery, Mono Road.

Again the Grim Reaper amongst us has come,
And taken a loved one away from his home;
Away from his home on earth to Above,
Forever to dwell in the light of God's love.

DEATH OF P. FORSYTH

Peter Forsyth, who, while employed in Peterborough, contracted typhoid fever, passed away in Nicholls Hospital, that city, on Tuesday evening, after an illness of ten days' duration at the age of sixty-three.

Though the late Mr. Forsyth was a native of Mono township, Dufferin county, he had resided in St. Catharines some thirty-five years, coming here as an employee of the Norris Flour Mills, the mill which he eventually became the proprietor of. During this and the several other business connections which he became interested in, he made many close friends and many more in the several towns throughout Ontario, where his trade as installation millwright had taken him, mourn his passing.

Besides a sorrowing wife he leaves to mourn his demise one daughter, Miss Flossie, of St. Catharines; and one son, Fred, of Hamilton; four sisters and four brothers, Mrs. Agnes Dunnett, Mrs. Rachel Wilson, Miss Grace Forsyth and Mr. John Forsyth, of Toronto; Mr. Robt. Forsyth, Mr. Richard Forsyth, of Regina, Sask.; Mrs. Margaret Scott, of Mono Centre, and Mrs. Thos. Forsyth, of Thorold.
—St. Catharines Standard, August 3rd.

J. E. JESSOP

Orangeville's Bandmaster Received Sudden Summons on Friday Morning.

Was Musical Instructor in High and Public Schools—Death a Serious Loss to Orangeville.

Friday morning our citizens were greeted with the startling and afflicting news that Mr. J. E. Jessop, bandmaster of the Orangeville Citizens' Band and musical instructor in the Orangeville High and Public schools, had died very suddenly at his home on Mill St., about four o'clock in the morning. It seems that Mr. Jessop had not been feeling any too well on Thursday, but had been at work all day. He went to bed about the usual hour, but awakened about one o'clock and complained to his wife of a severe pain in the region of his heart. Mrs. Jessop urged that she be allowed to call a doctor, but her husband demurred, saying that he would be alright again in a few minutes. He went to bed again and fell asleep. Toward morning his wife perceived that he was again in pain and sent word to Drs. Henry and Kyles. When the doctors arrived almost together they found that the stricken man had already passed away. Death was due to the sudden failure of the heart action. The sad news spread with great rapidity and everywhere created gloom and profound sorrow. A man of strong physique and apparently in the enjoyment of good health, Jack Jessop, as his friends called him, was about the last man in town with whom those who knew him would have associated any thought of death. His sudden removal furnishes one more example of the uncertainty of life.

John Edwin Jessop was born at Horbury, Yorkshire, England, 44 years ago. He came to Canada with the Royal English Handbell Ringers twelve years ago. The Company made a tour of Canada and gave a concert in Orangeville. Mr. Jessop took a fancy to the town and when the Ringers had finished their tour about a year later returned and took up his residence here. Mrs. Jessop and children came to the town about a year later. Shortly after settling in Orangeville Mr. Jessop was appointed choir leader in St. Andrew's Church, a position he held until 1916, when he resigned to go overseas with the 164th Battalion. On his return he assumed the leadership of the Methodist Church choir. He was afterwards leader of St. Mark's choir and at the time of his death was in charge of the Methodist choir. His musical activities were by no means confined to the churches. He was leader of Orangeville Citizens' Band, leader of the Orangeville Male Quartette and was for several years conductor of a large choral society. He also gave private instruction in vocal music and had for the last two or three years filled the responsible position of musical instructor in the Orangeville High and Public schools. In this capacity he did splendid service and the beneficial effects of his training will remain for years to come. The quality of his work in the schools may be gathered from the fact that a children's choir, which he had trained, carried off first prize at the Musical Festival in Toronto last spring. Although he came to Orangeville a complete stranger, Mr. Jessop's outstanding musical gifts and training, and his manly, straightforward character had won him many warm friends in the town and district. His loss is keenly mourned by a host of warm personal friends and by our citizens generally. He is survived by his wife, two sons, Edwin and Sidney, and a little daughter, Margaret. The wife and children have the profound sympathy of the people of Orangeville and district in their great loss and bereavement. Mr. Jessop's parents are still living in Yorkshire and he has a brother and sister in England.

The funeral was held from his late residence to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Monday afternoon and was attended by citizens of all classes and walks in life. On every hand was to be seen evidences of the general mourning and of a realization of the severe loss the community had sustained. The late Mr. Jessop was an enthusiastic member of Harris Masonic Lodge, whose members were present in regalia to the number of eighty. Officers and members of the Orangeville Branch of the Great War Veterans were present in uniform and marched with arms reversed at the head of the funeral cortege. The veterans were followed by the Orangeville Citizens' Band, with the Masonic brethren following the band and preceding the hearse. The mourners and a long line of autos completed the solemn procession. From the house the cortege proceeded to St. Mark's Church, where an impressive funeral service was held. Every seat in the edifice was crowded and many were unable to obtain admission. The service was in charge of Rev. A. H. Howitt, of St. Catharines, who is taking the services in St. Mark's during the absence of Rev. J. W. McDonald. Mr. Howitt was assisted by Rev. H. L. Partridge, pastor of the Methodist Church. The two clergymen spoke fittingly of the service of the departed man. The central thoughts of Mr. Partridge's address were the value of service and the uncertainty of life. Mr. Howitt spoke of the glorious victory over death made possible by the life and sacrifice of Jesus Christ. Messrs. E. C. Connop, A. M. Ellis, F. A. Falconer and William Clowes, who had been closely associated with Mr. Jessop in musical work for a number of years, sang "Throw Out the Life Line." The singing of this familiar hymn had an impressive significance, for it had been sung by Mr. Jessop as a voluntary in the Methodist Church on the Sunday morning before his death. This was, we understand, the last time he sang publicly.

At the cemetery the service of the Masonic Order was read by W. Bro. A. Connell, W. M. of Harris Lodge, who was assisted by R. W. Bro. Col. Preston, R. W. Bro. R. Irvine and W. Bro. C. R. McKeown. This was followed by the brief but equally impressive service of the G. W. V. A., read by Comrade McKenzie, and closing with a minute of absolute silence in memory of the departed Comrade. A firing squad of the G. W. V. A., in charge of Sergeant L. R. McCabe, then advanced, took up position at the side of the grave and at the command of the officer fired a salute of three volleys. The service closed with the Last Post by Bugler Russell Morrow. At its close there was an impressive moment when the officers of the G. W. V. A. and the members of the Citizens' Band filed by the grave in single line, each dropping a blood red poppy on the bier as he passed.

The pallbearers, who were members of Harris Lodge and also returned soldiers, were Messrs. A. Firth, N. W. Byard, D. J. Torrie, S. H. Porter, W. H. McGuire and Robt. McLagan.

One of the mourners was Mr. Fred Dawson, of Toronto, an oldtime friend, who also came to Canada with the English Handbell Ringers and afterwards settled permanently in this country.

The floral tributes, which were many and beautiful, included: "Gates Ajar," employees of the Dods Knitting Co.; "Gates Ajar," Mono Mills Choral Class; floral lacrosse stick, Dufferin Lacrosse Club; anchor, the Public School Board; pillow, the Family; wreath, Orangeville Citizens' Band; cross, Mr. Fred Dawson, Toronto; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. J. Loftus; wreath, staff and pupils of Orangeville High School; basket, Mrs. E. A. Parsons; harp, members of the Festival Competition Class; spray of poppies, Officers and members of Orangeville G. W. V. A.; wreath, Harris Lodge, A. F. & A.M.; sprays, Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Johnston, the Methodist Church choir, Isobel Connop, Principal and Mrs. Hartmier, St. Mark's W. A., Mary Barber, Alma McConnell, Mrs. Jas. and Miss Coral Irwin, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Furlong, Mr. and Mrs. Aitchison, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Darraugh, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Dods, Miss Alberta Kearns, Leona and Florence Wild, Kenneth Cotton, the Orangeville Public School staff, St. Mark's Choir and Mrs. Ellis.

LATE J. R. JAMISON

John Robert Jamison was born in Canada, near the city of Toronto, February 14th, 1832, of Andrew and Mary Jane Jamison, natives of Ireland, who, in 1824, immigrated to the Dominion. After a brief residence in the provinces they went to Harrison county, Ohio, about 1835, on a farm, and in that locality J. R. Jamison was reared and worked on the farm until twenty-five years of age, when he started farming for himself.

He was married with Miss Sarah Welling, August 14th, 1856, and two years later came to Iowa, driving six hundred sheep across country to Prairie township, and was one of the pioneer builders of the county.

Mr. Jamison was widely known as a sheep breeder and grower and he has proved the wisdom of sheep growing as he has followed the line continuously through the history of the business in the land.

As a young man Mr. Jamison began farming for himself and saved the profits of his labor. With a partner, John Milliken, he invested his capital in sheep and drove them to Iowa grazing lands where for eight years he used the government lands. When these were withdrawn from him he moved from Prairie township to Spring Creek, where he purchased 115 acres, which was a part of his present farm of almost two hundred acres, and continued raising sheep. He now devoted his time to pure bloods and thoroughbreds and has done much for the sheep business in the county.

Mr. Jamison was the father of ten children, six of whom are living. Three children were lost in infancy, and James C. passed away at the age of seventeen years. Those surviving the father with the widow are: Miss Jessie M., at the parental home; Fred W., Marrysville, Mo.; John M., Belleville, Kansas; Dave W., Bert R. and Sarah, at home.

He was an active man and was employed about his property until about three years ago, when encroaching infirmities compelled retirement.

Mr. Jamison had a keen insight into affairs of his times. He was a lifelong republican and cast his first vote for John C. Fremont for president. While he would never consent to political preferment for himself he was prominent in party affairs in the county and was frequently school director or school treasurer for his home district.

Mr. Jamison witnessed the growth and development of the county almost from its organization to the [illegible] day. He witnessed the passing of the pioneer conditions and the coming of modern improvements.

Mr. Jamison died at his home southeast of Oskaloosa, Tuesday, July 24th, 1923, at the advanced age of 91 years, 5 months and 24 days. He was the last of a family of eleven children.

The funeral service was held at the late home, Thursday, July 26, with Dr. C. G. Butler, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, officiating. Interment was made in Forest Cemetery. Pallbearers were four grandchildren: Walter, Frank, Harold and Clarence Jamison, Charles Campbell, husband of a niece, and Verrick French, an employee of the farm, who has been with deceased for many years.

Had Mr. Jamison lived until August 14th, he would have celebrated the sixty-seventh anniversary of his marriage. — Oskaloosa, Iowa, Daily Herald, Saturday, July 29th.

Mr. Jamison was a brother of the late Mrs. Wm. Cobean, 7th line Mono, and an uncle of Mrs. Fleming and Messrs. William, E. J. and Joseph Cobean, all well-known to many Banner readers.

DAVID L. RILEY

David L. Riley, a resident of Orangeville for the last sixteen years, passed away at his home on Wellington Street on Wednesday, August 8th, at the age of 59 years, 9 months and 22 days. Deceased has been in failing health for two years, but was only confined to his bed for a little more than two weeks. The late Mr. Riley, who was an engineer by trade, was born in Woodstock. His family moved to Hanover when he was a child and he spent his boyhood in that town. As a young man he went to the West, where he spent a number of years, afterwards settling in Sault Ste. Marie, where he was living when he married. Shortly after he came to Orangeville he took a position as engineer in the Superior Cement Works, where he was employed until the plant closed down. He afterwards worked with the Dods Knitting Co., but had been in Durham for the last two or three years. Mr. Riley was a quiet, industrious man, who was well liked by his employers and neighbors. He was a Methodist and a member of the Chosen Friends and Canadian Order of Foresters. His loss is mourned by his wife and a family of three sons and three daughters, namely: Herb. Chapleau, Ont.; Harry, Dorboro, Ont.; David, Mrs. G. Charles and Mrs. Morris Prasier, Toronto, and Mrs. W. Hardman, Orangeville. His father, Mr. Luke Riley, lives in Hart, Mich., and he is also survived by four brothers and four married sisters. Neighbors and friends of the family extend their sincere sympathy to the bereaved widow and family.

The funeral took place from his late residence to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Friday afternoon, Rev. W. G. Brown, pastor of the Orangeville Baptist Church, conducting services at the house and grave. The pallbearers were Messrs. Lou Robbins, J. VanWyck, T. C. Peavoy, S. Lackie, H. Hayward and Chas. King. The floral tributes, which were numerous, included a beautiful wreath from the employees of The Dods Knitting Co.

Friends present from a distance included Mrs. Mary Kepp, Mr. and Mrs. J. Speck, Mr. and Mrs. John Kepp, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy McDonald, Williamsford, Ont.; Mr. Jas. Riley, Hanover, and Mr. Robert Riley, Toronto, two brothers, and Mrs. Jerry, Blake, Buffalo, a sister.

MRS. JOS. R. LATHWELL

Her many friends learned with genuine sorrow of the passing of Mrs. Jos. R. Lathwell, whose death took place at her home on Townline St., early on Sunday morning. The translation came as a happy release from physical pain and weakness, coming as it did as the climax of a long and trying illness. The late Mrs. Lathwell, whose maiden name was Priscilla Keetch, was 73 years and 8 months of age and was born in Stower Provest, Shaftesbury, England. When she was five years of age, her father, who was a local preacher in the Methodist Church came to Canada with his family. Mrs. Lathwell had been a resident of Orangeville for 53 years and had she lived until October of this year she and her husband would have been in a position to celebrate their golden wedding. Deceased was a devoted wife and mother, a woman of beautiful Christian character and a staunch member and supporter of the Methodist Church. At the time of their marriage Mr. Lathwell built the cottage in which he now resides and it has been the family home through all the intervening years. All the children were born and reared in this home. Besides her husband, Mrs. Lathwell is survived by a family of five daughters and three sons, namely, Mrs. T. J. Beggs, Oakville; Mrs. W. E. Braden, Toronto; Mrs. (Rev.) C. C. Simpson, Coniston, Ont.; Mrs. Fred Wright, Orangeville; Miss Bertha, at home; A. E. Lathwell, Battle Creek, Mich.; J.R. Lathwell, Albion, Mich., and W. C. Lathwell, Meaford. She is also survived by one sister, Mrs. G.B. Ryan, Guelph, and two brothers, Messrs. Albert and Wyndham Keetch, of Sault Ste. Marie, former residents of Orangeville. There is widespread sympathy for the husband and family in the loss of their dear one.

The funeral, which was largely attended, was held to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Tuesday afternoon and was largely attended by citizens and friends of the family. Rev. H. L. Partridge, the family pastor, had charge of the service and was assisted by Rev. G. W. Robinson, of Toronto, and Rev. C. C. Simpson, of Coniston. Members of the bereaved family, including every grandchild, were all present except the oldest son, who had visited his mother a short time before her death. The pallbearers were two sons, J. R. and W. C. Lathwell, and four sons-in-law, W. E. Braden, T. J. Beggs, Rev. C. C. Simpson and Fred Wright.

Friends present from a distance included Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Beggs and family, of Oakville; Rev. C. C. and Mrs. Simpson and daughter, of Coniston; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Braden and children, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Lathwell and children, of Meaford; J. R. Lathwell, Albion, Mich. Mr. Wyndham Keetch, Sault Ste. Marie; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cornelius and family and Mr. and Mrs. G. Lightle and family, The Maples; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Cornelius, Wm. Cornelius, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dynes and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reid and family, Amaranth Stn. and Mr. and Mrs. R. Thompson, Waldemar.

BOY SCOUTS AND THEIR DUMB FRIENDS

There are some 450,000 Boy Scouts today who are hunting for animals to whom they may do a kindness. This means that in ten years we shall have an army of 450,000 men actively engaged in carrying on a crusade of mercy.

"A Scout is kind," says the sixth Scout law. "He is a friend to animals. He will not kill or hurt any living creature needlessly, but will strive to save and protect all harmless life." And the Handbook for Boys says: "Another scout trait is that of thoughtfulness, even to a helpless animal any treatment that would be painful, neglectful, or in any manner unjust. A boy of honor cannot treat even a worm unjustly. He will remember that the cat, the dog, horse and ox are helpless prisoners in his hands; dependent upon his mercy and thoughtfulness. It is only the meanest of men who treat their prisoners or their faithful servants with cruelty or neglect."

All over the country, Boy Scouts are building bird-houses for their feathered friends. Newark, N. J., troops supplied 200 of the 3,100 houses that were entered in the annual contest. The Boy Scouts at Ashburnham, Mass., supplied 168 food stations for birds last winter.

One of the Scoutmasters of a Pennsylvania troop was recently awarded the Hornaday medal for distinguished service to wild life. His eager Scouts always accompany him on his expeditions. They are maintaining eighteen feeding racks, which they themselves built and filled.

Our young savage learns that it is more fun to bandage a limp little paw, and hear an ecstatic thump from a stumpy tail, than to chase a terrified puppy up the alley. He learns that it is more of a victory to induce the starved cat to accept a bit of fish from his hand, than to send her scampering over the fence. He finds it just as interesting to help as to hurt, and before long his heart is touched, and he looks for opportunities to be of assistance.

While on a recent hike, a troop in Arizona heard a moan of distress. Investigation disclosed a young calf which had fallen into a prospector's excavation. The descent was a ticklish piece of work, but the Scouts did not hesitate. They made a rope of their belts, and one of the boys volunteered to go after the calf. He tied the rope around the little animal and the other boys pulled him up to safety.

A Scout in Milwaukee tells to what use he put his knowledge of first aid: "While going to school I saw a crowd gather. I ran to the place and saw a bulldog had been run over by an automobile. The dog's eyes bulged from his head and his muscles were stiffening with coming death. He was lying on his back. I kneeled over him, forced open his mouth, pulled out his tongue, placed a pencil across his mouth and let his jaws close. This kept his tongue from falling back into his throat and kept his mouth open.

"I then applied the Schaeffer method of resuscitation. After fifteen minutes of artificial respiration the dog began to show signs of life. The eyes no longer bulged and his heart beat normally. About fifteen minutes later, I stopped, and again the dog breathed alone, but seemed unable to rise. After examination I found the backbone out of place. With the aid of another boy I slipped the vertebrae back into place. We then carried the dog to the basement of a nearby store and covered him up. After school I stopped in and found he would recover. I had been twenty-five minutes late for school."

In literally hundreds of cities, the Boy Scouts in winter pull sagging blankets over the shivering horses, scatter crumbs on the frozen ground, and daily save some terrified little creature from injury or death.

Scouts are encouraged to take an interest in all sorts of animals. Every troop has its mascot. The boys who have loved and fondled their own pets, who have been taught to feel interest in all animals, and who are on the alert for a chance to help them, are going to be the citizens of tommorow. To their generous hands we may safely trust the fate of the helpless friends whom they loved in their boyhood.—Our Dumb Animals.

For the years 1921-22 Ontario had by far the largest number of deaths due to auto accidents, of all the provinces in the Dominion.

Mr. Mepham, who has been leader of the Walkerton Citizens' Band for the past few months, has resigned the job and has moved to Woodstock.

Mr. Edward W. Brown, Division Court Clerk at Woodbridge, has been appointed treasurer of the village. He is a son of Mr. Henry Brown, of Brampton, and is a printer who learned his trade in the Brampton Times office.

On account of the shortage in the town water, the Fergus Commission felt compelled to cut off the Provincial highwaymen from their supply which they have since obtained from the river. They installed a gasoline engine and pump at St. David St. bridge, which works fine.

Mother and Her Baby Are Relieved of Eczema

Mrs. Peter A. Palmer, Salt Burn, Sask., writes:

"Dr. Chase's Ointment has completely relieved me of eczema and piles. I also used this Ointment for my baby, who broke out in eczema. A few applications were all that was necessary in her case. Dr. Chase's Ointment has been worth a hundred dollars to me—before using it I had spent a great deal more than that in unsuccessful treatment from doctors. We have also used Dr. Chase's other medicines, the Nerve Food having restored my health after suffering from severe nerve trouble when a girl."

BIG ROCK CUT

Important Improvement on Provincial Highway Near Owen Sound Approaching Completion.

The Provincial Highway between the top of the Lime Kiln hill and Chatsworth should be completed and in first class condition this fall. The rock cut at Starvation Corner, which has been the source of great quantities of filling and surfacing material, has been completed and the elimination of this dangerous grade will be greatly welcomed. Since early spring the contractor has had a large crushing plant in operation at this point.

On Monday the Highway's Department will commence tarring the road from the Lime Kiln hill to Rockford with the huge pressure oiler that was used in Owen Sound recently. When the tarring operations are in progress the road will be closed completely and the detour via Inglis Falls will probably be the most satisfactory for those going to southern points.

The Canadian Construction Company, who have the contract for the road south of Rockford, will commence work on the road between Rockford and Chatsworth very shortly and by fall the road from Owen Sound to Chatsworth should be in excellent shape.

DEAD LETTER OFFICE IS SELF-SUSTAINING

It will be news to many readers to learn that the dead letter office is practically self-sustaining, says the Kitchener Journal, the revenues received from misdirected letters containing money enclosures being sufficient to pay all the expenses of the large staff permanently engaged in the endeavor to find correct addresses for the upwards of 3,000 letters which are received daily.

One of the special troubles of the staff is the trustful citizen who encloses five to fifty dollars in a letter, signs himself Joe, Jim or Charlie, and then improperly addresses the envelope, giving no proper clue to his identity in the body of the letter. Such money, unless the sender's identity can be ascertained, finds its way into the post office department treasury. This, together with the returns from the auction sales of misdirected parcels (of which there are thousands) practically pays for the dead letter branch.

In spite of the warnings frequently published for citizens to take special care in addressing letters containing money, and also to always put the address and full name of the sender on every such letter, the volume of misdirected or insufficiently addressed letters continues to mount upwards.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Brought Relief When Other Medicines Failed

Port Mann, B. C.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I was tired and rundown. I had headaches and no appetite and was troubled for two years with sleeplessness. I tried many medicines, but nothing did me any real good. While I was living in Washington I was recommended by a stranger to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am stronger and feel fine since then and am able to do my housework. I am willing for you to use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. C. GREAVES, Port Mann, B. C.

THE LATE WM. WRIGHT

On Sunday evening the death took place of William Wright, an old and respected resident of this locality. Mr. Wright had been ill of nervous prostration during and since the winter. Mrs. Wright had also been laid aside by a distressing accident for many weeks and this doubtless affected his health.

Deceased was born in Devonshire, England, nearly fourscore years ago. When about eight years of age he came to Canada with his parents. They settled at first at Brampton, but when he was a young man they moved to Arthur Township. Here he married Charlotte A. Farrill, on Dec. 30th, 1865. They lived on the farm now occupied by Mr. Ed. Sheehy, who purchased it about twenty years ago, after which they removed to Mount Forest, where they have lived ever since.

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon and was largely attended.

The Rev. G. W. Conners, of the Baptist Church, conducted the services. The pallbearers were six nephews of the deceased: Messrs. Wesley, Ottis, Norman, Earl and Oscar Wright and Herman Hayward. Among those who attended from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hackney, (niece), Mrs. Trimble and Miss Trimble (nieces), Mrs. J. W. Montgomery (sister of Mrs. Wright) all of Toronto; Thos. Wright (brother), and Herman Hayward (nephew), of Orangeville; Mrs. Sutton and Miss Wright (nieces), of Chatsworth; Mrs. Farrill (sister-in-law); Mrs. Bye (niece); Mrs. Noble (niece) and son; Mrs. Cunningham (cousin), all of near Bosworth.—Mt. Forest Confederate.

A FIELD DAY

Eight Cases Heard by Police Magistrate Moore in Brampton.

Monday, August 6th, was a real field day in court at Brampton; half a dozen of the cases being the aftermath of the Old Boys' Reunion of the first week of July.

Benjamin F. Trimble, of the Graham House, Brampton, was charged by Provincial Special Officers with selling liquor in his bar, and also with selling bottled liquor. The evidence proved the guilt of the accused. Having been previously convicted on two similar charges Trimble was fined $500 and costs, and sentenced to three months at hard labor in the Ontario Reformatory.

Robert Davey, Frank Davis, C. Young, J. Finegan, Brampton; Mr. and Mrs. Keats, Cooksville, and Geo. Gibbons, of Streetsville, were each charged with the illegal purchase of liquor. They all pleaded guilty and were fined $100.00 each and costs or two months in jail at hard labor.

Mr. J. Brewster, K. C., Brantford, and Crown Attorney Morphy appeared for the prosecution, and James Haverson, K. C., J. J. Callahan and W. Burns, of Toronto, and W. Lent, of Brampton, for the defence.

Albert Kee was charged with being intoxicated while in charge of a motor car at Cooksville, on July 28th. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to seven days in jail at hard labor.

Five motorists came before Police Magistrate Moore on charges of violation of the Ontario Motor Vehicles' Act. Walter Ingles, Campbellville; J. Anderson, Milton Heights, and Emelio Trento, Kelso, were charged by Provincial Constable Atkins with driving between dusk and dawn without lights. They pleaded guilty and were each fined $2.00 and costs.

The rather serious charge was made by Officer Atkins against Jas. Roberts, of Campbellville, of using one pair of markers on two cars. Roberts pleaded guilty, but stated that he had since secured a second pair of markers. He was let off with the minimum penalty of $50 and costs.

Chief McPherson laid a charge against James Drummond of driving a motor vehicle on Mill Street at a speed dangerous to the public. He pleaded guilty and a fine of $5.00 and costs was imposed.

DOG HAD REVENGE

How Collie Got Even With Man Who Killed His Mate.

Reckless Speeder's Punishment, It Will Be Conceded, Was Well Deserved —Other Good Animal Stories.

Do you like dogs? asks a reviewer in the Literary Digest. Because if you don't there is no earthly use in calling your attention to "Further Adventures of Lad," by Albert Payson Terhune, but if you are of those to whom the friendship of one of these animals has been given, you will hardly lay down the book before finishing it.

Lad was a collie belonging to the author and who attained the great age of sixteen, the equivalent of ninety-five years of human life. The book relates various incidents in Lad's career in which Mr. Terhune has been obliged to draw somewhat upon his imagination as to detail, but which are none the less true. One of the best of these stories relates the sad death of Lad's mate, Lady, who was run over by a speeding motorist on a country road as she was running near her master's car. Lad's grief was intense as he stood beside the body. Then he moved to where the youthful Juggernaut had alighted for a moment and smelt his footsteps, getting the scent by heart, as it were. For days he grieved, his nights were spent on Lady's grave and then came the cure. Lad accompanied his master to the local country club and while sitting peacefully with him on the veranda a flashy youth appeared, boasting of his speed on the road—a mile in 70 seconds. As he reached the top of the steps Lad's sense of scent informed him that he had before him the killer of his mate, and with a roar he launched himself full at the man's throat. Fortunately he missed it, but he knocked the man down the steps and tore his arm before he could be called off. By this time the dog's mistress had recognized the man, told his story to the assembled club members, and those who had loudly called for a gun at first were now silent, one even going so far as to say, "Good old Laddie!"

That night the local justice of the peace called, not to serve a notice on them, but to relate the conclusion of the affair. Indignant members of the club had fallen on the man' runabout, dismantled it and thrown many of the parts in the lake, leaving their cards pinned on the cushions in case the owner cared to go further into the matter. In the meantime the governors of the club had hastily called a meeting and expelled the offender. That night Lad ate a big supper and went peacefully to his own bed.

Another story tells how Lad not only baffled a burglar, but restored the loot which had been taken. "No Trespassing" records the difficulty the master had in getting rid of a picnic party that had elected to camp on his grounds, the help given by Lad in driving them away and their subsequent plan of revenge, which miscarried. "The Intruders" tells the story of a would-be motor thief and how, in the moment of success, he was routed by a large sow, waking from temporary unconsciousness to find himself in the hospital ward of the nearest jail.

September 1st is the last date which ex-service men may obtain government life insurance. The Government is offering this at a very low rate and men who have served in the great war should look into this. Information may be obtained at the post office.

J. A. Grummett, while fishing for frogs the other day at the lake near Ceylon, caught a freak—a frog with five legs. For those who relish frog legs, the freak variety, if they could be cultivated, would yield 25 per cent. over the regular quadruped brand.

Mr. John Telford, of Hanover, who is claiming some $7,000 from the town as damages alleged to have been done to his buildings by the erection of the cement sidewalk on the north side of Main St. in "the hollow," is having his claim settled by a Board of Arbitration.

MOTOR ROAD MAPS

The 1923 road map of the Ontario Motor League is now on sale at The Banner Office. The map has been thoroughly revised and greatly improved in a number of respects. It shows in accurate red outline the Provincial Highway system of Ontario and also the best roads in Western Quebec, New York State and Eastern Michigan. The relative importance of all roads is indicated by three classes of lines—red, medium and thin black. The map sells at 50 cents, the same price as last year.

SAFETY FIRST FOR SWIMMERS

Never venture into the water if you feel at all ill.

Never go in the water alone, whether you can swim or not.

In swimming in rivers be very careful of the changeable currents.

Never go in the water if you feel at all tired; cramps are caused by overtired muscles.

Do not swim in water after eating a meal; you should, at least, wait one hour.

Never go into deep water if you are subject to fainting spells, no matter how good a swimmer you may be.

Never pretend that you are in difficulty, because you may be in that position some day and unable to secure help.

Never throw another learner into the water, it is the very meanest of tricks, and the person will lose faith in you for that.

Never dive into water that you are not sure of the depth, for water you may think to be 10 feet is liable by the different current, to be about one foot deep.

Do not try to overdo yourself the first time you go in swimming take it gradually until you become accustomed to water and your muscles are in condition.

Do not bother about any fancy strokes until you become an accomplished swimmer; dog paddle or anything you like, until you learn properly how to swim.

When learning to swim keep away from deep water, and either keep a pair of waterwings, or an ordinary life belt, until you think you have the idea of swimming.

Never venture to swim in water that is over your head, unless you have confidence in yourself. A lot of people lose heart when they cannot touch bottom, and very often drown.

It is a foolish and dangerous practice to throw children into the water, with the idea of teaching them to swim. It will probably keep them from ever venturing into the water again.

DUFFERINS WON IN OVERTIME

MAITLANDS GAVE GREENSHIRTS A HARD BATTLE IN SATURDAY'S GAME.

Teams Were Tied When Time Was Called—Dufferins Scored the Winning Goal in First Overtime Period.

Five thousand people assembled on Idylwyld Park on Saturday afternoon to witness the lacrosse battle between the Maitlands and The Dufferins. It was a record-breaking crowd, that taxed the capacity of the grounds to the very limit. So closely was the space surrounding the playing enclosure packed with cars and spectators afoot that it was in many places almost impossible to move about. Inside and outside, the fence surrounding the playing oval was lined with people. Back of these the cars were packed three, four and even six deep as closely together as they could stand. It was a magnificent crowd and bore convincing testimony to the popularity of lacrosse in this part of Ontario. The big crowd was treated to a great game by two evenly matched teams. Clever, brilliant lacrosse was the order of the day and considering the importance of the game there was very little roughness. There were a few fouls, but with possibly a single exception they had every appearance of being accidental. The two teams played the game as it should be played. The Dufferins declare that the Maitlands are a lot of gentlemen and just about the cleanest players they have ever stacked up against. We have excellent authority for stating that the Maitlands entertain a similarly high opinion of The Dufferins. In their three games this year the two teams have done much to popularize lacrosse with the general public, which loves good, clean sportsmanship on the playing field.

Saturday's game meant much to each of the teams. Prior to the game they were on practically even terms. A win meant that the winning team would still have an excellent chance against Weston and Brampton for the senior championship. A loss meant that the loser would have a very slim chance of getting into the championship finals. This being the situation our readers will understand that both teams were at their best and both went into the game with a determination to win if at all possible.

Maitlands had the edge on The Dufferins in the opening quarter. The visitors passed and fielded better than the locals. On top of this, Conacher, the ace of their home division and one of the most gentlemanly players in the game anywhere, was breaking away frequently and giving the green-shirted defence a whole lot of trouble. The big chap broke through for the first score of the game. Later he combined nicely with Plummer for another tally, the latter making the shot. Dufferins improved as the quarter progressed, but the Maitlands defence was checking closely and seemed able to hold the locals' home fairly safe.

At the quarter The Dufferins shifted the positions of some of their men and the change made a big improvement in the effectiveness of the team. To Ewing was assigned the difficult task of holding Conacher. He did the job well, sticking so closely to the Maitland star that the Maitland home players had comparatively few chances to pass the ball to the big chap. Often when the ball was passed Ewing checked Conacher's stick in time to mar the catch and then either gathered in the loose ball or gave one of the other defence men a chance to pick up the sphere. With Ewing checking and holding Conacher much better than the Maitland ace is accustomed to being held the Maitlands' attack lost much of its effectiveness and The Dufferins' chances brightened very noticeably. Cruikshank shot on the Maitland flags early in the period but Grant was in the way. Play continued on practically even terms for several minutes. Finally Cushing got the ball after a Maitland attack, rushed down the field and when well in on the Maitland defence passed to Brown, who backed in on his check, made a feint at turning and then fooled Grant with a lightning backhand shot that landed squarely in the net. It was a bit of heady work that brought rousing cheers from the crowd. Johnston was banished for fouling his check and a few minutes later Virtue was sent to the fence for hitting Brown over the head just as the greenshirt passed him and was in the act of shooting. Despite their two men advantage The Dufferins were unable to improve their score, but shortly after Virtue returned to the field Burnside rallied on a long shot. The period ended with the two teams tied.

Dufferins tried hard in the third period and Grant was called on to make a number of saves. The Maitland goalie gathered in two hot ones from Hawken and Wilson in a manner that set the Maitland crowd cheering. While Dufferins had the edge on their opponents at this stage of the contest, it was the Maitlands who broke the tie, Braden making the score on a pretty bit of combination play. Maitlands rushed from the faceoff, but the Dufferin defence relieved. Cruikshank was benched, but Dufferins managed to hold off their opponents until he returned. Brown tried twice but without success. The Dufferins' ace came back with the third and this time was successful, scoring on another of his famous backhand drives. End to end rushes followed, both teams playing brilliantly and making few mistakes, but the quarter ended without further scoring.

Dufferins started the final period with a rush that promised to be productive of results. Burnside made the shot, but Grant stopped in fine style. A little later, however, Brown beat the Maitland goalie, putting The Dufferins out in front for the first time during the game. Less than five minutes afterwards Maitlands staged a comeback, when Johnson ran in with the ball and passed to Conacher, who had just broken away from Ewing. The big chap took the pass nicely and as he had a clear road to the goal had no trouble beating Booth with the shot. Dufferins struggled hard to regain their lead, but Grant gathered in a couple of likely looking shots and the teams were still tied, when the whistle blew.

The teams were ordered to play two overtime periods of five minutes. The first had only nicely started when Golden scored what proved to be the deciding goal of the game. The shot, which was made from the side at a difficult angle, struck inside the net just back of the post and rebounded to the back of the net. It was a neat shot and Golden was given a great cheer by the Orangeville crowd. Maitlands tried hard and had one promising chance near the end of the period, but Booth handled the shot in finished style. In the second period Dufferins retained possession of the ball the greater part of the time and the Maitlands were seldom dangerous. Wilson carried the rubber down the field and when his way was blocked, circled back of the flags, and followed the fence nearly half way up the other side of the field. He was closely checked all the way, but managed to hold the ball finally transferring to Golden.

There was not a weak spot in either twelve. Some of the players showed to better advantage than others, but every man played the game with skill and gave his best for his team. Conacher was the outstanding figure on The Maitlands' home. His rushes were always dangerous. The home seemed to depend too much on his strength and ability to bore in. While Ewing had Conacher blanketted The Dufferin defence had very little trouble holding the other home men, although Johnson and Plummer made occasional rushes that were dangerous. Starling came on at half-time and turned in a good game. Harold Cotton, a son of the Rev. T. H. Cotton, a onetime Mono boy, played an effective fielding game. He has speed and uses excellent judgment when in possession of the ball. Braden also played a nice fielding game and was responsible for one of the Maitlands' goals. Reeves, Stroud and Chandler were effective on the defence end of the team. The Orangeville defence played sterling lacrosse all day. Henderson, Cushing, Scott and Ewing were particularly good. Cruikshank and Sargeant were also effective, although the former did not have one of his really good days. Burnside's speed caused him to stand out at the centre position and helped the home out a whole lot. Blythe Brown was the most effective man on the home, getting three of the five goals and standing up well under a lot of punishment from the Maitland defence. Gordon was closely watched, but managed to start a number of fine plays though frequently checked by two or even three men. Eddie Hawken performed in his usual brilliant form, his dodging runs being one of the features of the game. Golden was tireless and his speed enabled him to gather in the loose ball on many occasions, when possession meant a whole lot. Wilson and Robinson also showed a fine turn of speed when they were on and generally managed to outfoot their checks. The Dufferins were handicapped by the loss of Firth, their regular goalkeeper, who is out of the game with a badly wrenched ankle. The veteran Booth was pressed into service, although still far from fit for a hard game. Bert did well in the flags, stopping a number of difficult shots, but on account of his weak ankle was unable to field the ball behind the flags. The Dufferins have had the hardest kind of luck in the goal position this year. Booth had his ankle wrenched in the first game of the year, Firth met with a similar injury in the St. Catharines game last week, and Graham, a Fergus boy, who had been signed as an emergency man, has one of his knees in a cast as a result of injuries sustained in an exhibition game. Players and their positions were:—

Maitlands—Goal, Grant; point, Stroud; coverpoint, Reeves; defence, Brown, Chandler, Virtue; centre, Plummer; home, Cotton, Braden, McLean; outside, Conacher; inside, Johnston; spares, J. McLean, Starling, Stevenson.

Referee—Ernie Doyle; Judge of Play, Green.

SHELBURNE

Mr Arnold Kilpatrick of Toronto Medical College, is spending his holidays at his home here.

Miss Minnie Dowkes, of Toronto, is visiting Miss M. A. Dowkes, of Shelburne.

Miss Hazel Marlatt, of Toronto, is visiting friends in Shelburne and Amaranth.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Blumenthal, of Toronto, are visiting at the Residence of Mr. and Mrs. S. Kunkes, of Shelburne.

Mr. Paul Thornley, of Toronto, is spending holidays in Shelburne.

Prohibition has certainly done its work for Shelburne in recent years. Now we have only one hotel, the Royal, whereas formerly we had four, all of which were doing a good business.

The independent electors of this county are still waiting in suspence for some satisfactory answer to the question as to why they were plunged into the needless expense of an election protest and trial in the case of our ex-member, Mr. T. K. Slack. Many moons have passed since the worse than useless trial took place in Orangeville before two learned judges, with three learned counsel and a large array of witnesses from all over the county in attendance, but not one tittle of evidence of the alleged "crooked" work around Shelburne could be found by the learned judges on the bench, notwithstanding the proud boast of disgruntled Tories that they would not only unseat the then member but they would also disqualify him from ever being a candidate for parliament again. The interrogating taxpayers demand, and rightly demand, from either the Conservative press or the Conservative party, some explanation to justify such a wilful waste of their money.

MELANCTHON STATION

The farmers are now commencing their harvest, and the crops in general are fairly good. The hay crop was also good.

The berry-picking season is again with us. The various kinds of wild berries—red raspberries, blue thimble berries, huckle berries, swamp currants (red and black), are a good yield in some cases, but light in others on account of so much hot weather. Billy Barrett says he picked a whole pail full of berries in one day.

We are pleased to hear that our esteemed pastor, Rev. W. E. Curran of the Gravel Road Methodist Church, will remain here for another year.

The Provincial Highway between Shelburne and Dundalk is acknowledged to be one of the best roads in the Province, excepting, of course, the Hamilton Highway. Several new bridges and culverts have been constructed this summer.

Our neighbors, James Sawden, and George Barrett, are contemplating the purchase of two new automobiles after harvest. The former prefers an Overland and the latter a Ford.

Several farms have changed hands in our midst lately and another extensive deal is in progress on the Gravel Road at the present time.

The promoters of the industry at the Melancthon Oil Fields are waiting for new developments before they proceed with the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Lancely, of Toronto, visited our burg a few days ago with a view to purchasing a farm and moving here from the city.

SYMPTOMS OF ANAEMIA

An Inherited Tendency to Anaemia May be Overcome.

Some people have a tendency to become thin-blooded just as others have an inherited tendency to rheumatism, or to nervous disorders. The condition in which the blood becomes so thin that the whole body suffers comes on so gradually and stealthily that anyone with a natural disposition in that direction should watch the symptoms carefully. Bloodlessness, or anaemia, as the medical term is, can be corrected much more easily in the earlier stages than later. It begins with a tired feeling that rest does not overcome, the complexion becomes pale, and breathlessness on slight exertion, such as going up stairs, is noticed.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a home remedy that has been most successful in the treatment of diseases caused by thin blood. With pure air and wholesome food these blood-making pills afford the corrective treatment when the symptoms described are noticed.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail, postpaid, at 50c a box, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FINE LOT OF BOYS

In view of the approaching visit of the Oxford and Cambridge lacrosse team to Orangeville, the following communication will be of interest to Banner readers:—

Mr. Blaney McGuire,
Orangeville, Ont.

Dear Friend Blaney,—

I had the pleasure of attending a banquet given by the Shamrock Lacrosse Team here to the Oxford-Cambridge lacrosse team of England, and it was a decided success.

I talked to one of the members afterwards and learned that he was going to Orangeville. I told him that was my old home town and he was going to a place where they raised champion lacrosse players, naming Hugh Carson, George Carson, Harry James and Harry Ketchum. He said he hoped that they had not such good players now or they wouldn't have a chance with them.

You will find that they are a fine lot of boys and I trust you will be able to give them a good reception.

With best wishes, I am
Yours sincerely,
JAS. K. PAISLEY,
Mgr.-Sec. Ottawa Central Exhibition, Ottawa.

BLACK SERVICE

The members of Laurel Preceptory, Royal Black Knights, will hold their annual church service on Sunday evening, Aug. 19th, at 7.30 p.m. The service will be held in the Methodist Church. Rev. J. R. Bell, of Toronto, formerly of Laurel, will be the special preacher. Members of neighboring Preceptories are given a cordial invitation to join in the service.

COLLECT WIARTON TAXES

The Town of Wiarton has not had very great success of late years in securing collectors, who could collect the taxes. This year there has been a change. Kelly & Aiken, of Owen Sound, have been commissioned to do this work. Their fee for this job is $400. Mr. Kelly needs no introduction to the public.—Wiarton Canadian.

NEW APPOINTMENTS

Mr. L. H. Willis, Clerk of Caledon Township for a number of years, has been appointed deputy-registrar of the County of Peel and will move from Belfountain to Brampton. We understand that Mr. Willis will still continue to discharge the duties of Clerk of Caledon, but has resigned his position as secretary of the municipal telephone system. The duties of the latter office will be taken over by Mr. W. J. Warnock, the township treasurer, who resides in Caledon village and is therefore in easy touch with the telephone central. The removal to Brampton of Mr. Willis has obliged him to resign the office of postmaster at Belfountain. This office has been filled by appointing Mr. Harry Henworth to succeed Mr. Willis. The postoffice at Credit Forks, which has been closed for a number of years, has been reopened and Mr. Fred Roberts, owner of the store in which the postoffice was located has been made Postmaster.

ORANGEVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

The following is a list of the results of the recent Departmental Examinations for Pass Junior Matriculation and Entrance to Normal Schools.

Under the new regulations the middle school is now a two-year course. As a rule five subjects are taken the first year, the remaining subjects the second year. The list below contains the names of those writing the first year course.

The number after each name denotes that the candidate was successful on that many papers.

In most of the cases, where the candidate is credited with only two or three subjects, these were all that were required to complete a course.

It is gratifying to see the large number of honours gained by the students.

Douglas Adamson (6, three honours); Bessie Anderson (6, three honours); Jamieson Anderson (5, four honours); H. Cameron (3, one honour); Melba Coulson (6, five honours); Elizabeth Crozier (4, three honours); Marguerite Cunningham (6, five honours); Vernon Davison (4, one honour); Edgar Dyer (4, two honours); Will Edwards (3, two honours); Edward Ellis, 3; Wallace Gallaugher (4, three honours); Irene Harrison (8, eight honours); Arthur Henry (5, three honours); Kathleen Hughes (3, one honour); Olive Hughson (3, three honours); Grace Island (5, two honours); Kathleen Island (6, two honours); Ina Jackson (6, three honours); Hazel Kendrew (5, two honours); Reta Kendrew (6, four honours); Myrtle Kyles (3, one honour); Edith Laughlin (6, two honours); Margaret Laughlin, 6; Gordon Lewis (5, three honours); Helen McMurchy (2, one honour); Myrtle McAuley (5, four honours); Bert McLean (5, one honour); May Madill (6, two honours); Marion Mahaffy (6, three honours); Harry Nichols (3, three honours); Beatrice Porterfield (4, four honours); Aileen Preston (2, two honours); Velma Quinn (3, three honours); Bessie Richardson (5, five honours); Charles Rowan (3, two honours); Fred Rowan (3, two honours); Reuben Senior (2, one honour); John Smith (5, one honour); Gwen Sproule (2, one honour); Lila Summerville (1); Harry Thompson (4, one honour); Gladys Torrance (8, three honours); Muriel Torrie (4, one honour); Marion Walker (5, two honours); Kathleen Wheelock (4, four honours); James Wilkinson (2); Kenneth Willoughby (5, one honour); Faith Wise (5, five honours); Lulu Wise (8, eight honours); Beatrice Young (4, four honours); Edith Young (4, three honours); Marion McNaughton (2 one honour).

TORONTOS HERE SATURDAY

Torontos and The Dufferins will clash in a senior championship lacrosse game at Idylwyld Park on Saturday afteroon. While the visitors did not get off to a good start in the championship race they have a strong team and have been making the leaders step lively in recent games. Their last game was with Weston, the group leaders, who just managed to win out by a score of 4 to 2. At that the Torontos had as much of the play as their heavy opponents and with a little luck on the home might easily have won the match. They will give The Dufferins a real game and the contest should be well worth seeing. Dr. Wendell Holmes, a former Mono boy, is one of the Torontos' best home men and will be seen in action with his teammates on Saturday. The game is called for 3.30 sharp. Usual admission charge.

DIED

HOSPITAL NOTES

The Daughters of the Empire are very much pleased with the outcome of their Tag Day on Saturday. Receipts of the day amounted to $405.25, and as the expenses were negligible the ladies expect to be able to add about $400 to the hospital building fund. They are deeply grateful to the Black Knights and other visitors to the town for their generous support and particularly grateful to the thirty or more young ladies who did the tagging in such acceptable and successful fashion. Prizes were given the two most successful taggers, the first going to Miss Frankie King, of Caledon East, who turned in a trifle over $40.00 and the second to Miss Mary Duke, who collected something over $38.

Miss Sutton, who has charge of the Hospital during the absence of Miss Barclay, who is enjoying a much needed (two months' vacation, is proving a most efficient superintended and the ladies are greatly pleased at the manner in which she has discharged her duties since assuming the management of the institution.

SAVE THE CHILDREN

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Stomach troubles, cholera infantum and diarrhoea carry off thousands of little ones every summer, in most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand to give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets relieve these troubles, or if given occasionally to the well child will prevent their coming on. The Tablets are guaranteed by government analysts to be absolutely harmless even to the newborn babe. They are especially good in summer because they regulate the bowels and keep the stomach sweet and pure. They are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail, at 25 cents a box, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ALTON

Alton Civic Holiday, celebrated on Aug. 6th, was a huge success. The parade started from the school shortly after one o'clock. Many entered into the spirit of the holiday and appeared in various costumes. Two large floats, one the Baseball Girls and one the Women's Institute, headed the parade, closely followed by John Bull, who was well represented and rode in state. Toots and Buttercup being the only entrants in the baby contest, carried off the prize, ably assisted by Sam, the newsboy, who, though he worked hard, received not even a ban from the baker. The clowns and the old lady with her moving van created much merriment and the Irishman defended his little with his shillalah.. Two booths, under the auspices of the Senior and Junior Women's Institutes, proved both popular and profitable. Grown-ups as well as children entered into the foot races and were well rewarded for their efforts. The baseball match between the married men and the boys resulted in victory for the latter, which was not to be wondered at considering the average age of the men's team was near fifty. A team of girls for baaseball was not procurable from an outside source so a game was played between two pick-up teams and proved interesting. The lacrosse match between Orangeville and Alton Girls ended in a tie. A short concert and dance completed Alton's 1923 Civic Holiday.

The Senior Institute will hold its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Stuart Corbett, Melville, on Thursday, August 16th, at 2.30 p.m. A good meeting is expected, with the following program: Community singing, paper on "How the Home and School can help each other," music, demonstration of canning peas and beans.

The place of meeting for the Junior Institute has not been decided on as yet. Watch for notices in post office. Young women wishing to join are always welcomed. Members are requested to bring fees for the year 1923-24.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Coulter and daughter spent a few days of last week holidaying in Owen Sound.

Miss Winnifred Lowe, of Snelgrove, was the guest of Miss Hope Barber for a week or so.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dods and baby, of Toronto, visited Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dods.

Mr. and Mrs. Chantler and family are spending a month's holidays in Muskoka.

Misses Olive Dods and Dorothy Bailey, Toronto, spent Civic Holiday with the former's parents.

Dr. Fred Babcock, of Milton, spent a day in town recently.

The game of girls' baseball played in Orangeville against a team from the Dods Knitting Co., was not completed and so could not be counted a victory for either team. Only four and a half innings were played and at that time the score was 19-9 in Alton's favor. A game played on the home diamond with Connor on July 28th resulted in Alton's favor, with a score of 19-10. The girls have been playing well lately and its to be hoped they keep it up. They have material for a strong team and their hope of such is in practice. Any teams wishing a game with the Alton Girls are asked to communicate with Miss Marie Meier, Secretary, Alton, Ont.

The dainty, economical soap for dainty fabrics

IN every home, in every laundering, there are delicate fabrics, dainty garments to be washed.

Now they can be beautifully cleaned without injury to material or harm to lovely coloring.

Thousands of careful women manage it easily, simply, by using the pure white, curly PRINCESS SOAP FLAKES—made by PALMOLIVE.

Crepes, satins, silks—sheer voiles, fine batistes and ginghams — expensive cretonnes; they come from washing with renewed brilliance and beauty.

PRINCESS FLAKES are economical in two ways: They give longer life to fabrics; and, being pure, unadulterated soap, they save on soap cost.

They give quick, creamy suds that dissolves dirt quickly and thoroughly. Splendid for the washing machine; splendid, in fact, for every laundry and household use.

In handy one-pound packages or bags. Order some today. Save by using them.

NEW BRUNSWICK

A Province of Rich Agricultural Resources.

Newspaper Excursionists Visit Important Centres and Enjoy Scenic Beauties.

Like each of the three provinces constituting the Maritime Provinces of the Dominion, New Brunswick possesses physical features peculiarly its own. This is particularly so in respect to its rivers. Not only are these rivers remarkable in number, but the extraordinary feature regarding them is the way in which Nature has linked many of them together either by actual contact or by intervening portages. Take, for instance, the St. John, the Miramichi and the Restigouche. The first-named has its mouth on the Bay of Fundy, the second on Northumberland Strait, and the third on the Baie des Chaleurs. But notwithstanding the wide distance apart of these outlets each of these rivers is intimately connected with the other, either by small streams or short portages, thus affording water highways across the province, highways which in the days of yore were utilized by the Indians in their cross-country journeys, and which it is possible for canoeists with time at their disposal to emulate today.

Industrially, the outstanding feature of the province is agriculture. Field crops alone had a total value of nearly $53,000,000 in 1919, or more than double that of two years before. Its most important crop is hay and clover, the value of which last year was $22,512,000. Its next most important crops were, in their order, as follows: Potatoes, $10,466,000; oats, $9,086,000; turnips and mangolds $5,155,000; buckwheat, $2,547,000; wheat, $1,444,000; beans, $556,000 and barley $385,000. The total acreage devoted to the cultivation of field crops in 1919 was 1,335,118 acres, an increase compared with two years ago of about half a million acres. Experts estimate that of the province's total area of nearly 18,000,000 acres about 13,000,000 are available for cultivation.

Professor Nathaniel S. Shaler, of Harvard University, a high authority on such matters, declared a few years ago that New Brunswick "is a splendid agricultural country, much finer than any section of the New England States." The aggregate present value of farm property in the province may be estimated at approximately $150,000,000.

With its network of rivers and lakes, to say nothing of the influence of the ocean, which flanks it on three sides, New Brunswick is naturally well adapted for the raising of live stock and the development of the dairy industry. There are to-day on the farms of the province approximately 900,000 head of live stock, of which about one-third are cattle. The latest Dominion census, which is that of 1917, places the value of the province's live stock at $42,500,000, a figure which is undoubtedly much below the value obtaining to-day. The annual value of the factory-made butter and cheese exceeds half a million dollars, and this does not take into account the value of these two commodities made on the farms of the province. Taking milk, butter and cheese into account, the total output of dairy products was by the census of ten years ago estimated at $3,568,221. In view of the developments which have since taken place in the industry, plus the higher market prices obtaining, the value must now be greater by at least one hundred per cent.

In respect to its manufacturing industries New Brunswick is steadily forging ahead. The census of five years ago gave the factory output of the province an annual value of $37,303,000 and the invested capital at $46,000,000. The principal output of its factories are manufactures of wood, cotton goods, flour and other grain products, canned and preserved fish, manufactures of iron and steel, boots and shoes, and sugar. Products of the factories of New Brunswick are regularly shipped to the farthest parts of the Dominion, to the West Indies, Africa and many other parts of the world.

An important feature in connection with the industrial life of the province is its possibilities in respect to the development of hydro-electric energy. At present less than 18,080 has been developed while 300,000 h. p. is still available.

In its timber resources New Brunswick possesses enormous present and potential wealth. Along the banks of many rivers, from the water's edge to their sources and for many miles back into the country, are stately forests of spruce, pine, hemlock, fir, cedar, maple, birch, poplar, and other varieties still untouched by the lumberman's axe. And fortunately nearly all the lands on which these stand are still owned by the Government. The census of 1917 gave the total output of the lumber, lath, shingle and planing mills a value of $16,322,405, of which $11,324,101 was credited to lumber alone. Wood pulp, at $3,929,118, is another important forest product. Total capital invested was over $22,000,000.

The commercial fisheries of the province have steadily increased in importance during the last few years, last year's catch having an estimated marketable value of about $7,000,000. The most important individual catch is sardines, the annual value of which amounts to about $2,000,000. The sardine-canning industry of New Brunswick has developed to a marked extent during the last four or five years. The surplus catch of these fish are shipped to nearby canneries in the State of Maine. Other important descriptions of commercial fish caught in the waters of the province and adjacent thereto are cod, herring, shad, salmon, smelts and mackerel. Lobsters, oysters and other shell fish also abound. The lobster catch alone exceeds a million dollars in value.

Coal is the principal mineral product of the province, and steps are being taken for a more aggressive development of its resources in iron ore, of which immense deposits exist in Gloucester County. Having an abundance of limestone as well, it will be seen that New Brunswick possesses the three important materials necessary to the establishment of an iron smelting industry. The value of the total mineral output of the province last year was $1,676,000, one-half of which was contributed by coal.

New Brunswick's foreign trade has enormously increased during the last few years. The total for 1919 was $195,617,000, of which $173,289,000 were exports and $22,328,000 imports. The increase in the exports over 1915 was nearly 220 per cent. and in the imports more than 100 per cent.

New Brunswick was first settled in 1604 by French immigrants who accompanied the famous De Monts-Champlain expedition of that year. At that time it was, with Nova Scotia, included in the land of Acadia, remaining as such until 1785, when nearly thirty years after the Canada of to-day had passed under British rule, it was created a separate province and given the name it still bears. It was not, however, until 1762, or 158 years after its occupancy by the French, that New Brunswick began to make real and substantial headway. And that which gave it its particular impetus was the advent of United Empire Loyalists from the New England States. Following 1762 there was almost a steady stream of immigration from that quarter. No less than ten thousand settlers settled in 1783 alone. Under those New Englanders, many of whom were adepts at agriculture and seafaring, the province made rapid headway.

By 1785 the province had sufficiently advanced to warrant the authorities calling a legislative assembly. This was held during the autumn of that year at St. John, but in 1788 Fredericton, about sixty miles further up the St. John river, was selected as the capital, a position which it has since occupied.

New Brunswick is over two hundred miles in length and about 180 wide. Its population numbers about 400,000, of whom 93 per cent. are Canadian-born.

SACKVILLE

Sackville, the first of the towns in New Brunswick to be visited on completion of the tour of Nova Scotia, is in many respects distinctive. In anticipation of its future requirements in respect to manufacturing industries and increased population the town covers a large area. Already it is an important industrial centre, the principal product of its factories being stoves, ranges, furnaces, boots and shoes, harness, paper boxes, concrete blocks and building stone. The annual value of the factory product is over $1,000,000. The town is pleasantly situated, and being the junction point where the branch line to Prince Edward Island diverges is a strategical railway point. The surrounding district is noted for its fertile farm lands.

As an educational centre Sackville ranks high, it being the seat of Mount Allison Educational Institutions (Methodist) with some seven hundred students in attendance. The population is about 4,000.

MONCTON

With its population of 18,000, and with its suburbs nearly 25,000, Moncton is the second largest city in New Brunswick, and is steadily growing in importance. One of its ance as a railway centre, it being outstanding features is its important the converging point for several lines. It also contains the workshops and offices of the Canadian National Railways, some 3,000 persons being employed in these two branches of service with a monthly payroll of about $400,000. Being a railway centre it is naturally an important manufacturing and commercial centre as well. Still another factor in contributing to its importance in these two respects is that the natural gas piped from wells at Albert supplies the factories, business houses and homes with cheap power and low-priced fuel, being the only city in Eastern Canada in this position. Among its industries, in addition to the railway shops, are foundries, machine shops, woollen mills, cotton mills, carriage factory, hat and cap factory, biscuit factory, marble works, wire fencing plant, grist mill, wood-working plants and mattress factory. The census of five years ago gave Moncton's factory output a value of over $3,000,000. The T. Eaton Co., of Toronto, has a large six-storey warehouse at Moncton for handling its business in the Maritime Provinces.

One of the city's particular attractions to the tourist is the famous "bore," or tidal wave that twice a day comes tumbling up the Petitcodiac river. This is one of Nature's phenomena, the like of which is not to be seen elsewhere. At times this "bore" is a solid, rapidly-moving wall of water four to five feet high, and on such occasions is a wonderfully interesting sight. Its cause is the inrushing tide from the Bay of Fundy, which, forcing itself through Chignecto Bay, enters the Petitcodiac, where, rising to a height of over thirty feet it creates by its pressure the "bore."

There are many pleasant walks and drives in and around Moncton, with drives of a more extended character to such points as Shediac and Hopewell Cape and Rocks.

Westmorland, of which Moncton is the commercial centre, is one of the wealthiest agricultural counties in Eastern Canada, while immediately adjacent are the fertile counties of Kings, Albert and Kent. Prince Edward Island is only about four hours' journey distant.

The site of what is the Moncton of to-day was first settled in 1763 and among its first inhabitants were nine German families from Pennsylvania, near Philadelphia, who had originally come from Germany in 1749. Being located on a bend in the Peticodiac river, it was for many years known as the "Bend," a cognomen which obtained until 1855, when it was incorporated under its present name in honor of Lord Monckton, a former Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, who had been present at the capture of both Louisburg and Quebec. Even before its settlement in 1763 the French had habitations in the vicinity of Moncton.

The city of to-day has many beautiful residences, the majority of which are surrounded by well-kept lawns and beautiful trees, while it has attractive suburbs with which it is connected by street cars. Its hotel accommodation is good. That Moncton is still in the growing stage is evidenced by the fact that last year more than two hundred new dwellings were erected within its boundaries.

From Moncton to St. John the line of the Canadian National Railways runs through one of the most fertile and cultivated sections of the Province of New Brunswick, although it is not until nearing the valley of the Kennebecasis that the best of the country is to be seen from the car window. The railway also passes through several interesting towns

BATHURST

Bathurst is situated on a tidal lagoon at the mouth of the Nepisiguit river, where it debouches into the bay of the same name, which in turn forms a part of the great Bay of Chaleur. Its situation is pleasant and across the blue waters of the bay can be obtained a delightful view of the Gaspesian Hills with their varied and rich color effects. The beaches in the vicinity of the town are of smooth sand and afford excellent facilities for bathing. The harbor also lends itself to motor boating. For the tourist who wants a "try" at salmon fishing the waters of the Nepisiguit river wil give him abundance of opportunity for embarking upon the venture, while if it is hunting moose and deer in season he will find his quarry at the headwaters of the Tetagouche river. For canoe trips the district affords many and varied opportunities. It is, for instance, possible, by way of the Nepisiquit River, the Bathurst Lakes, the Tobique River, to enter the St. John, thus practically bi-secting the province.

Within the last year or two Bathurst has come in for some prominence in respect to the development of its industrial life. It has long had importance as a lumbering centre, employing over a thousand men but now it is as well the site of a large pulp mill with a capacity of one hundred tons a day, a large pro- and villages. Sussex, for instance, whence the line follows the Kennebecasis valley is noted for the medicinal properties of its sulphur springs as well as for its importance as a business centre. Hampton, another town, is much favored as a summer resort. It is also of some importance industrially, having saw mills and woodworking plants. A peculiarity about many of the towns through which the tourist passes on this route is the Indian names they bear. Take Penobequis, for example. Its name is made up of "penobeq," a stone, and "sipa," a brook indicating that it is in the vicinity of a stony brook. Still another instance is Plumweseep, the Indian translation of Salmon River.

NEWCASTLE

Going north from Moncton, Newcastle, situated on the north shore of the Miramichi River, is reached at a point where the river is practically an arm of the sea.

Newcastle, with its sister towns of Chatham and Loggieville, are important shipping centres from which interesting trips by steamer can be taken to the mouth of the Miramichi, where it enters the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The Miramichi district is noted for its connection with the great lumber industry of the Province, vessels being loaded here for different ports of the world.

portion of which is exported to the United States. It is probable that before long it will be as well the site of a paper mill, preliminary steps with that end in view having been already taken.

Bathurst's streets are wide, well flanked with trees, gardens and many handsome residences. The town has a population of 3,000.

From Bathurst to Dalhousie Junction, about 54 miles, the railway skirts the shore of Chaleur Bay, of which magnificent views are obtainable.

Dalhousie is delightfully situated at a point overlooking Chaleur Bay, which, with the estuary of the Restigouche at its northern boundary, gives the town an extensive waterfront, part river and part bay shore. The beaches at the foot of the shore cliffs are noted for the facilities for bathing they afford, while the islands off-shore make pleasant objectives for boating trips.

CAMPBELLTON

Campbellton stands at the head of the navigable deep water of Chaleur Bay, or perhaps, to be exact, at the head of the broad estuary of the Restigouche river which discharges its flood into the famous bay. The town, which is beautifully situated, has a population of 4,000, and is noted as a prosperous business centre as well as an attractive summer resort.

From the business standpoint its chief interest lies in the lumber industry, the annual output of which is about 90,000,000 feet a year, while the total value of the manufactured products of the town is in excess of two million dollars. It is also an important shipping centre, for which it is well equipped with substantial wharves.

Campbellton possesses many attractions for the delectation of the summer tourist. Almost directly across the river in the Gaspe country of the Province of Quebec, is Mission or Cross Point, noted for its Indian reservation of 500 Micmacs while back of the town is Sugar Loaf Mountain from which those who climb its 2,000 feet can obtain a glorious view of the surrounding country. In fact the whole surrounding country is well diversified and exceedingly picturesque with its many valleys and conical hills.

After a run of about thirteen miles from Campbellton, New Brunswick, passing enroute through the interesting tunnel at Morrissey Rock, Matapedia Station the tourist strikes bec, is reached. Matapedia is famous as the point where the rivers Restigouche and Matapedia join their respective waters as they flow onward into the Bay of Chaleur. From this point a railway runs to the Gaspe Peninsula. The Matapedia, famous for its scenic effects and its salmon, is followed by the railway for a distance of over twenty miles, thus affording the tourist ample opportunity for feasting upon its beauties. In thirty miles of its course the river has no less than 222 rapids. About 92 miles north of Mapapedia Station the tourist strikes Mont Joli, a divisional point on the Canadian National Railways, and a pleasant summer resort, whence the line turns westward, skirting the southern shore of the mighty St. Lawrence, of which magnificent views are obtained from the car window.

RIMOUSKI

Rimouski is an interesting point eighteen miles beyond Mont Joli. To most people it is probably best known as the point at which mails from inwardbound steamers are landed during the summer months. But it is also a delightful summer resort, while the River Rimouski is the first important salmon stream encountered below Quebec City. Another of its features is its pier, nearly a mile in length, and running out into deep water, thus serving as well for a pleasant promenade. The town, which has a population of over three thousand, is also a thriving business centre.

RIVIERE DU LOUP

A run of sixty-five miles from Rimouski brings the tourist to Riviere du Loup, a name it obtained because of the numerous seals that once sported at the mouth of the river located there. Riviere du Loup is a place of many interests for the summer tourist. It is pleasantly situated on high land at the confluence of the St. Lawrence with the river whose name the town bears. A particularly interesting feature about the latter river is that in its struggle through a deep gorge to unite with the St. Lawrence it has a descent near the railway of over two hundred feet, a struggle that is well worth witnessing. For its bathing beaches on the St. Lawrence Riviere du Loup is famous, as is evident from the large number of tourists who annually spent their vacation there. The district abounds in magnificent scenic effects. Looking across the St. Lawrence the tourist can obtain a delightful view of the northern shore, a score of miles distant, with its many varied tints and colors, and those who want to visit it or other interesting places in the vicinity can be accommodated by the steamers which ply the river for the purpose. The Saguenay is almost immediately opposite. Inland from Riviere du Loup the country affords facilities for charming walks and drives.

In facilities for boating and fishing the district naturally abounds. Occasionally white whales, fourteen to twenty-five feet in length, can be seen sporting in the St. Lawrence. Cod, halibut, and salmon are common to the adjacent water, to say nothing of the numerous descriptions of smaller game fish, while inland streams teem with brook trout.

Rivier du Loup, which has a population of 8,000, is well provided with summer hotel accommodation. Its importance commercially lies in the fact that it is a divisional point of the Canadian National Railways, and a point from which the Temiscouata Railway runs to Edmundston and Connor's, New Brunswick.

The district of Rivier du Loup possesses some of the best lumber and pulp limits in the province. Naturally, as a result, several important mills are to be found in the vicinity. The fact that several million feet of lumber and pulp wood are exported annually is the proof of it. At one of the falls a pulp mill is in operation. Among other industries in the town are a furniture factory, a foundry, and the shops of the Canadian National Railways and Temiscouata Railway. The city is well supplied with electric energy, which is developed under public ownership at one of the falls on the river and is used both for industrial and lighting purposes.

Proceeding westward from Riviere du Loup, the route of the railway lies further inland, but it affords the tourist an opportunity of resting his eyes upon an interesting agricultural country noted for the narrowness of its farms and the quaintness of the dwellings thereon. The long narrow strips which characterize many of the farms is largely due to the practice of allocating to each son of the French-Canadian habitant when he took unto himself a wife a strip of land running from the river's brink to the farm's inland boundary line. But the French-Canadian habitant is an industrious and intensive farmer and produces sufficient from his narrow strip of land to satisfy the modest needs of himself and family, while a by no means unimportant plus to that which he obtains from the soil is the fish he secures from the waters o the St. Lawrence.

Seventy-eight miles west of Riviere du Loup the tourist reaches Montmagny, a prosperous town of 3,000 inhabitants, whose boundaries extend to the St. Lawrence. Industrially it is noted for its extensive lumbering operations. It is picturesque ly situated and is the centre of many pleasant driveways. Thirty-six miles further westward is busy Levis, a town of 8,000 population. It is immediately opposite the City of Quebec, with which it is connected by steam ferry. Like the capital city across the river the heights behind Levis are heavily fortified, a great many million dollars having been expended.

UNION GARDEN PARTY

The congregations of Black's Corners, Laurel and Waldemar Presbyterian churches will hold a Union Garden Party in Maltby's Grove in Laurel village on Friday evening Aug. 17th. A varied programme will be provided by The Brunswick Trio, including Jock Ballentyne, Scottish tenor comedian. The trio, who are highly spoken of, will appear in elegant costumes and will be seen and heard in trios, duets, solos, instrumental music, comedy and songs. Their violin, banjo and piano specialties are said to be a real treat. Rev. S. Lundie will occupy the chair. The ladies will serve supper from 6 to 8 o'clock and there will be seasonable refreshments at a booth on the grounds. Admission, 50c. and 25c.

WOMAN MOVED TO PROTEST

Voices Objection to Multiplicity of Proverbs That Show Malice Toward Her Sex.

"I'm fed up with proverbs about women," declared Priscilla fiercely. "Thoroughly fed up.

"Take any language you like," she went on, "in every one of them you'll find some proverb or other jeering at women, some piece of biting malice at their expense, words that squirt concentrated venom into the eyes of every woman who reads them.

"Proverbs are said to be crystallized common sense. I say that most proverbs about women are clotted nonsense—when they are not acidulated spite.

"Proverbs about women," continued Priscilla, becoming coldly sarcastic, "ought to be labeled just like poisons. Then one would know what to avoid."

"But what about this one?" urged Peter. "'A woman's lips have cured many ills.'"

"'Old sheep shouldn't dress lamb fashion,'" retorted Priscilla coldly.

"Well, how about 'Slander expires at a good woman's door'?" said Peter.

"'Even a she-ass is pretty when she is young,'" responded Priscilla.

"Don't forget the French saying: 'That which woman desires, God desires,'" urged Peter.

"I can remember," said Priscilla, "the French proverb which says: 'A woman is a perfect devil.'"

"But," pleaded Peter, "think of the Irish proverb: 'Live in my heart and pay no rent.'"

Priscilla countered with the English: "'Every couple is not a pair.'"

"'There is no home without a wife,'" quoted Peter from the Serbian.

"'Trust a woman so long as thy mother's eyes are upon her,'" was Priscilla's Japanese rejoinder.

Peter then ventured the Indian: "'He who goes to the hills goes to his mother.'"

From the Spanish Priscilla followed with: "'Woman is like your shadow: follow her, she flies; fly from her, she follows.'"

Finally Peter tried the Russian: "'A wife is not a guitar, which, having done playing with, you hang on the wall.'"

This Priscilla capped with the same language with: "'Select your wife with your ears rather than with your eyes.'"

Then Peter, remembering the Talmud: "'If your wife is small, stoop down and whisper in her ear,'" followed the advice of the proverb and got to the last word with: "'The heart that loves is always young.'"—F. M. in London Mail.

Believed Old Roman Relic.

A mysterious cross at Richborough, England, the "mystery" port of the great war, which has held its secret inviolate for 2,000 years, is at last to be investigated by the Society of Antiquaries of London. Permission has been secured to carry on excavation work, which will be started immediately. The task will occupy at least five years, and cost probably $20,000. Nobody knows the meaning of the cross. Some believe it to have been the foundation of a Roman pharos or lighthouse, like the specimens in existence at Dover, Boulogne and Alexandria. Recently some marble casing has been discovered, and it is conjectured that this may have formed part of a big building that stood on the ridge. Other finds include silver coins. In the Third and Fourth centuries Richborough was one of a line of important forts stretching from Bradcaster to Porchester as protection against Saxon marauders. The Second legion was stationed there, and the fort was probably the last British station occupied by the Romans before their departure in the early years of the Fifth century.

Liquid Oxygen.

A kind of explosive that is not subject to the legal restrictions that apply to the storing and transporting of present explosives is said to be found in liquid oxygen. The explanation of its safety is found in the fact that the explosive quality is given the oxygen only after a fuse has been drawn through a paper cartridge and the cartridge saturated with the oxygen. The flame of the fuse converts the cartridge into carbonic acid and water vapor. The cartridge keeps its explosive character then only for about twenty-five minutes, after which time all the oxygen required for chemical reaction becomes vaporized.

Such an explosive will find its greatest usefulness in problems of forestry, clearing lands, road construction; but other uses will undoubtedly be found for this form of power.

Shark Skin for Cold Feet.

Sole leather made of shark skin is the latest cure of cold feet for traffic officers on Seattle's street intersections. Many traffic men, complaining during rainy weather that rubber and ordinary leather caused cold feet, have experimented in various ways to remedy the condition.

Some tried moose hide, walrus skin and wooden shoes of the Orient, but the use of shark's leather proved successful. With this waterproof material, comfortable light shoes are made which, excluding dampness, possess an element conserving the natural body heat within the shoe so fitted.

Sugar From Dahlias.

Levulose, a sugar made from the tuber of the dahlia, is exceptionally sweet and is said to be harmless to diabetics. The American Dahlia Society and the Bureau of Standards are co-operating in the development of its possibilities.—Scientific American.

On Wednesday, July 25th, McGaw Bros., of Kincardine, lifted in their nets a forty-seven pound trout. The fish was short and stocky, shaped like a halibut. This is the largest fish that has been brought in to Kincardine in the last twenty years, which caused him to lose his balance.

Judge Denton, Toronto, who described those who drive an auto while intoxicated as a menace to the community, sentenced Lee Craddock, guilty of this offence, to ten days in jail. The usual penalty in the past has not exceeded seven days imprisonment.

Wm. Elder, Elderslie, was unfortunate enough to have his house and contents destroyed by fire on Tuesday forenoon, August 7th. The family were at dinner when they first noticed the smoke and in a short while the building was a mass of flames.

Two Owen Sound boys, Earl Wilson and Elmer Parks, lost their lives by drowning. Two other boys were dressing while the younger lads went into the water, and did not miss them until about to return home when an alarm was given. Grappling irons were used, and the bodies recovered.

The death occurred at the family residence, 314 Oxford Street, London, on Aug. 9th, of Rev. John Currie, a well-known Presbyterian minister of the district. He had served for many years at Kintyre, Belmont and Yarmouth. He was born in Wellington County, and was 75 years of age.

On Sunday evening, July 29th, at Chalmers Church, Woodstock, Rev. Dr W. T. McMullen, despite his advanced age of over ninety years, gave an address on Church Union. The ex-Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly expressed pleasure at the fact that union was to be consummated in the near future.

Paul Thornley, son of Rev. A. E. and Mrs Thornley, of Shelburne, who is assisting in the erection of the fence along the provincial highway in Melancthon township, was struck a severe blow on the mouth from an iron bar used as a brace. Two teeth were badly knocked out of position and three stitches were necessary to close the wound in his upper lip.

While driving to Orangeville to attend the Dairy Day celebration a [illegible] owned by Johnston Boles, of Shelburne, was precipitated into the ditch through being jammed at a gear by a passing motor truck. The occupants of the car, Mr. and Mrs. Boles, received a bad shaking up, the latter sustaining cuts on the head. The car was just slightly damaged.

While motoring from Toronto to Flesherton in a Ford coupe, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mathewson had a rather harrowing experience. When their car struck some fresh gravel on the road near Caledon, swung sideways and mounted a bank at the side of the road, the car turned over on its side and the glass in the door and windshield was broken. Mr. Mathewson was slightly cut with flying glass.

On Sunday evening, the 5th inst., the barn on the farm, lot 13, con. 5, Erin, the property of Mr. Thomas Fines, was discovered by neighbors to be on fire, and was quickly destroyed, along with a quantity of hay and a number of farm implements. Mr. Fines has two farms, and no one lives in the house on the second farm, and the fire had gained considerable headway before being noticed.

A remarkable occurence took place near Kimberley one day recently. Three ladies, two of them from Saginaw, Mich., who are visiting friends there, were walking along the road when a swarm of bees which was flying low alighted on their bare heads. A lively time ensued and two of the ladies were pretty badly stung. One young lady of the party lay flat on the road and escaped serious injury, but the other two were so badly stung by the bees mixed up in their hair that their heads were badly swollen next day.

LLOYD GEORGE

Whatever one may think of the recent course of Lloyd George there can be nothing but condemnation for those newspapers which are seeking to mar the welcome to be given him by Canada. The ex-British Premier comes to this country in no partisan nor controversial role. He comes as a distinguished Baptist layman to address members of his Church, and in that capacity, as well as in his capacity as one of the most salient of world figures, he is deserving of welcome and respect. Nor is that all.

Mr. Lloyd George, throughout the war, was a mighty host of victory. In the darkest days, when weaker spirits grew weary and faint, his was the courage, his the genius, his the imagination and eloquence which fired the heart of the Empire and sustained the will to go on. That, if nothing else, should obliterate a multitude of sins, and entitle Lloyd George to our warmest greeting when he sets foot upon these shores. — Ottawa Journal.

GIRL WAS DAZED

Peculiar Incident on the Oliphant-Wiarton Road.

Someone has been guilty of misconduct and negligence of a very serious nature, according to stories received of a peculiar incident which happened on the Wiarton-Oliphant highway Sunday evening about twelve o'clock. A car in which four Owen Sound people were driving picked up a girl who was stumbling along the roadway half dazed and covered with blood from cuts about the head. When the motorists were able to ascertain where the girl lived, she was taken to her home and later to a Wiarton doctor, where her injuries, which, fortunately, were not serious, were quickly dressed.

The explanation offered by the girl was that she and a fellow, in company with another couple, had been out motoring that evening. The second couple had gone home while the driver was taking the girl to her home. Purposely or not he drove past the proper roadway leading to the girl's home and when he would not turn back the girl jumped from the moving car. She was thrown forcefully to the road and thus sustained the injuries about her head.

When found the girl was about a mile and a half from her home. According to her story the man did not even stop the car when she jumped from it.

SPECIAL FOR WESTON

The Dufferins will run a special train to Weston for Saturday's senior game. When The Banner went to press the time of leaving Orangeville had not been definitely arranged, but it is expected that the special will pull out at 12 o'clock or shortly afterwards. Full particulars will be announced by dodgers.

Agitate for Community Action in Control of European Corn Borer

No single farmer can expect to keep his corn crop free of the European Corn Borer unless all his neighbours are also fighting the pest. For this reason some sort of co-operation is essential. You can organize your whole neighborhood by arranging a mutual plan of campaign whereby each farmer undertakes to account for the Corn Borers on his own farm.

This plan will assist in bringing the Corn Borer under control, but without such co-operation, satisfactory results will not be obtained.

A Very Important Point

Cut corn crop low and as soon as it is ready. Burn all corn stalks. Garden sweet corn should all be pulled early and burnt.

Plough down all corn stubble very carefully. Seed to winter wheat where possible. Write for pamphlet, post free.

HOME AGAIN

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Still Arrived From California Journey on Friday.

Six months or more ago The Sterling Bank granted Mr. Elmer Still, Manager of its Orangeville branch, six months' leave of absence on account of ill-health. Mr. and Mrs. Still decided to spend their vacation in California and arrived home on Friday last, looking much benefited in health as the result of their sojourn on the Pacific Coast. They report a most enjoyable trip and a good deal of pleasureable and instructive sight-seeing in the Western States of the neighboring Union and also in our own Canadian West, which they crossed on their homeward journey.

Mr. and Mrs. Still left Orangeville about March 7th last and journeyed westward by way of London, Detroit, Chicago, Denver and Colorado Springs, stopping over at many points of interest to the traveller on the way. They greatly enjoyed the rugged mountain scenery of Colorado, where they were travelling at a high altitude, so high that the crisp air and the rarefied atmosphere were very noticeable. A stop-over at Colorado Springs gave them an opportunity to visit the famed "Cave of the Winds" and other places of scenic beauty and interest. The scenery in this part of Colorado was of indescribable grandeur and beauty. At Delta, Colorado, they made another stop-over for the purpose of visiting Mrs. Isaac Wiley, the oldest sister of Mr. Still's father, the late William Still. Delta is in a coal mining and ranching country and Mr. Still had the experience of going underground for a considerable distance in one of the coal mines. While the Colorado coal is described as a hard coal it is much softer than the anthracite to which the people of Ontario are accustomed,being more like the Alberta coal of which we are hearing so much at the present time. Our visitors found much to interest them in Salt Lake City, where they had an opportunity to visit the famous Mormon temple, a magnificent building with a seating capacity of 8,000. They had also the pleasure of listening to a recital on the temple organ, claimed by some authorities to be one of the finest pipe organs in the world. Crossing the Rockies by way of Marshall Pass their train ran into a snow storm at an altitude of 11,000 feet. So badly did the tracks drift that the train finally stuck fast. Two hours elapsed before the crew managed to clear the track sufficiently to resume their journey.

On arriving in California Mr. and Mrs. Still made their first stay at Los Angeles, where they visited with Mr. Still's cousins, Mr. H. T. Laidlaw, formerly of Mono Centre, and his sister, Mrs. J. E. Erion. During their sojourn in Los Angeles and neighboring points our visitors had the pleasure of meeting Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Monkman, their son, Mr. W. R. Monkman, now a prominent druggist in Los Angeles, other members of the Monkman family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ritchie, also former Orangevillians, Mr. Will McKay, formerly of Shelburne, who is in the drug business with his brother-in-law, Mr. Monkman, and a number of other former Ontario people. They found all doing well, but glad to meet former friends from their old home town down east in Ontario. Los Angeles, Mr. Still describes as a beautiful and a very busy city. It is growing with great rapidity and has now close to one million inhabitants. Mr. and Mrs. Still spent the greater part of their time at Long Beach, a beautiful city and resort on the coast, where they had apartments overlooking and commanding a fine view of the Pacific. Long Beach is in the midst of a tremendous oil boom. Building operations are very brisk in and about the city. In fact it is stated that there is more building in Long Beach, basing the comparison on population, than in any other city in the United States. It is also a busy shipping port. Signal Hill, about three miles from the city, is the centre of the oil industry. On the hill there is a veritable forest of oil derricks, some six or seven hundred in number. When these are lighted at night the beholder would think that he was gazing at the lights of a city. While sojourning at Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Still made side trips to San Diego, near the Mexican border, crossed into Mexico, going south as far as Tejuana, the noted border city, notorious for its racing and wide-open gambling resorts. The place is much frequented by the sporting class from the neighboring States to the north, who find here an opportunity to enjoy the license that they are denied at home.

When the time came to start their homeward journey, Mr. and Mrs. Still travelled north to San Francisco, where they enjoyed a delightful visit, and thence north through Oregon and Washington to Portland and Seattle. From Seattle they crossed by C. P. R. boat to the city of Victoria, where they visited Mr. John Glassford, an uncle of Mrs. Still. The next stage in their trip was across the strait to Vancouver, which they found a busy and bustling commercial centre, in this respect in marked contrast to Victoria, with its beautiful homes and quiet, restful atmosphere. At Vancouver they saw Mr. Geo. M. Endacott, a son of Sheriff and Mrs. Endacott, of Orangeville, and visited with Mr. William Pedlow, an uncle of Mrs. Still. At Vernon, a pretty and prosperous town in the Okanagan Valley, they had a pleasant visit with Mrs. Still's brother, Mr. D. A. McBride, at one time in business in Orangeville. Lake Louise and Banff, famous beauty spots in the Canadian Rockies, were also visited. The next stop was at Calgary, where the travellers looked up Mr. Dave Foulds, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Varcoe and other former Orangeville friends. North from Calgary they journeyed to Edmonton and then 17 miles into the country to visit Mrs. Still's brother, Mr. Thos. McBride, who is farming in the Edmonton district. Saskatoon was another point of interest visited on the way home. A stop was also made at Govan, Sask., to visit another brother of Mrs. Still, Mr. Albert McBride, who has been farming in that district for a number of years. At Regina the visitors received a number of courtesies, including a drive around the city, from Mr. John T. Lawson and his family, former Orangevillians, now resident in that city. The final stages of the journey east included a stop at Winnipeg, a train trip to Fort William at the head of the Great Lakes, where they embarked on the C. P. R. liner, Assinaboia, for the voyage across the Lakes to Port McNicholl and a pleasant stop-off at Sault Ste. Marie. Mr. Still says that the cities of the Canadian West are still suffering from the effects of the boom period of a few years ago. While they are all comparatively quiet, there has been a marked improvement in the larger centres in the last few years and Westerners are hopeful that good times and prosperity are almost in the offing. Mr. and Mrs. Still have no hesitation in saying that Orangeville looked good to them after their prolonged absence and that they are unreservedly pleased to be home in the midst of familiar scenes and surroundings.

A WESTERN STORM

Mr. Russell Wilson, of Willow Bunch, Sask., formerly of Mono Centre, writes The Banner as follows:—

"We have had a nice summer this year. Lots of moisture and good crops, but we had a bad hail and windstorm on July 19. It did a great deal of damage to the crops and blew down a lot of buildings. One poor fellow, a neighbor of ours, was killed. He was in a shack, when he felt the building going. The roof of a granary fell on him. He lived about an hour after he was discovered and told what happened. His name was Neil McCannan. He came from near Owen Sound and had no friends in these parts."

LACROSSE NOTES

The Oxford-Cambridge English lacrosse team was scheduled to visit Orangeville on Monday next, Aug. 27th. As this arrangement interfered with The Dufferins' championship game, the match has been postponed until Saturday afternoon, Sept. 1st. The English visiting team will arrive in town on Friday evening, Aug. 31st, and will be entertained by The Dufferins and their friends during their stay here. Further particulars of the programme in course of preparation will be given next week. The English players are very fast on their feet and are described as clever stick handlers. Their game with The Dufferins should be an excellent exhibition. In the game as played in England there is no body checking. This ensures a clean open game and reduces the penalties for fouls to a minimum.

The Dufferins will be in the best of condition for their game in Weston on Saturday afternoon and should give the Weston team a stiff argument. As matters stand now the greenshirts pretty nearly have to win this game to have a look-in for the senior championship. If they can win in Weston on Saturday and repeat the performance against Brampton next Wednesday they will be right in the running for championship honors. It looks like a stiff undertaking, but the greenshirts have usually proved themselves able to come across with the goods when they found themselves in a tight place. Here's hoping.

The senior series this season has been productive of some curious results and some surprising reversals of form. The Maitland-Toronto game furnished one of the biggest surprises for the fans, who have formed the habit of predicting results on the form shown by the teams. In the first fixture Maitlands won, 8-3, and on play should have had an even greater margin. Three weeks later Torontos defeated Maitlands 5 to 3. The Mimico and Orangeville contests supplied another. The Dufferins trimmed the Lake Shore men 10-4 in Orangeville, but in the return engagement, went down, 4-5 in overtime. Then Orangeville also beat St. Kitts, 14-4 on Idylwyld Park, yet almost lost in St. Kits, only gaining a one-goal verdict. Mimico trimmed Torontos 7-4 in Toronto, but lost to them 6-1 at home. St. Simon's held Dufferins to an 11-8 score at Scarboro Beach, and were beaten, 17-3 in Orangeville. Again St. Simon's walloped Mimico, 9-2, right in Mimico, and in the other match at the Beach lost to them, 5-4.

The goal-scoring column also affords some interesting facts Weston, the league leaders, take the medals for defensive play, having proved themselves to be the "scoreless wonders." In five of their thirteen matches they have scored less than five goals and as yet only two losses have been chalked up against them. They are hard to score against. Thirty-six goals in thirteen contests is all they have allowed into their nets, an average of two and one-half goals per match. Orangeville have performed most of the outstanding goal-scoring deeds. They have averaged eight goals per game for 14 games. Thel hold the record high score, 17, rolled up against St. Simons. Maitlands are second with 15, scored against St. Kitts.

Mimico have played six games which were decided by one-goal margins. Orangeville have reason to dislike close matches, as all three losses they have sustained this year have been by one goal. They have also won two games by the same narrow margin.

Brampton Excelsiors improved their position in the senior championship race by defeating Weston, the group leaders, in Brampton on Saturday afternoon. The Excelsiors are now a scant half game behind the leaders. One of the greatest lacrosse crowds of the year saw the game. The attendance is estimated at between 4,000 and 5,000. Brampton had the edge on their heavy opponents in the first half of the game and were leading by 4 to 1 at halftime. Weston had a slight advantage in the third, Bob Stephenson scoring the only goal of the quarter after thirty seconds play. The last period was also slightly in favor of the visitors, who ran in three goals while their opponents were taking two. As a result the Excelsiors nosed out a 6 to 5 win.

Maitlands scored a 7 to 3 win over Mimico in Saturday's game. Conacher was very much to the fore on the winners' home division, scoring three goals and doing a whole lot of useful work. Maitlands still have a long chance of getting into the finals, but will have to win their remaining games.

The standing of the teams in the senior O. A. L. A. race follows:—

Team	Won	Lost
Weston	11	2
Brampton	10	2
Orangeville	11	3
Maitlands	10	4
Mimico	6	8
Torontos	5	8
Riversides	3	9
St. Simons	2	10
St. Catharines	1	13

—Idylwyld Park will be the scene of some great lacrosse when The Dufferins and Brampton meet on Wednesday, Aug. 29th.

DELICATE GIRLS NEED NEW BLOOD

Rich, Red Blood Means Health and Strength.

The anaemia of young girls may be inherited, or it may be caused by bad air, unsuitable food, hasty and irregular eating, insufficient out-of-door exercise and not enough rest and sleep.

It comes on gradually, beginning with languor, indisposition to mental or bodily exertion, irritability and a feeling of fatigue. Later comes the palpitation of the heart, headaches, dizziness following a stooping position, frequent backaches and breathlessness. In a majority of cases constipation is present. There may be no great loss of flesh, but usually the complexion takes on a greenish-yellow pallor.

Cases of this kind, if neglected, become more serious, but if taken in time there is no need to worry. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which are free from any harmful or habit-forming drug, are just the tonic needed to remedy this wretched state of health. Though it is not noticeable, improvement begins with the first dose. As the blood is made rich the pallor leaves the face, strength and activity gradually return and the danger of relapse is very slight.

If any symptom of anaemia appears, prudence suggests that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be given at once, and the sooner they are taken the more speedily will their action improve the blood. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HILLSBURG HORTICULTURAL SHOW

The Hillsburg Horticultural Society is holding its Fourteenth Annual Show of Fruits, Flowers, Vegetables and Domestic Products in the Presbyterian Church sheds in Hillsburg on Tuesday next, Aug. 28th. A number of special features have been arranged for the evening programme, including community singing led by Mr. A. Hart, music by the Premier Five Piece Orchestra from Guelph, a Pie Eating contest for married men and a Bun Eating contest for boys. Prizes of $2 and $1 will be awarded for the best selections in elocution by any person over fourteen years of age and similar prizes will be given for the best recitations by any boy or girl under fourteen years. The doors will be open to the public from 3 p.m. until 10.30 p.m. Admission—Adults, 25c.; children, 15c.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to publicly thank our neighbors and friends for the great kindness and sympathy they have shown us during the illness and since the death of our mother, the late Mrs. Fawcett.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Wallace.

MRS. JOHN D. KEE

The home of Mr. John D. Kee, 2nd line, Albion, was sadly bereaved on Monday, August 13th, by the death of his beloved wife, nee Martha Ellen Martin, who was called suddenly away. Mrs. McKee was the daughter of Mrs. and the late James Martin and was well and favorably known in the community in which she resided. She was the possessor of a bright and pleasant disposition that won the good opinion of all with whom she was brought in contact. Besides her husband she leaves to mourn her loss one son, Kenneth, one daughter, Edith, the infant daughter, Mildred, her mother, two sisters and three brothers. The funeral, which took place to Caledon East Gemetery on Wednesday, August 15th, was largely attended by friends and neighbors of the family. The sympathy of the people of the neighborhood goes out to the husband and children in their great loss.

MRS. GEO. PERFECT

Mrs. George Perfect, a highly respected resident of Orangeville, passed away at her home on West Broadway shortly after nine o'clock on Wednesday night, August 15th, after a short illness from pneumonia. Her death, which was entirely unexpected outside the family circle, came as a great shock to her friends and to our citizens generally. She was first taken ill on Thursday preceding her demise with a form of bronchial affection. Toward the end of the week her condition became serious and pneumonia developed on Sunday. The recent death of a favorite nephew, "Billy" Brewster, who was killed in an auto accident near Pilot Mound, Man., a few weeks ago, had told heavily on Mrs. Perfect and probably contributed to her illness.

The late Mrs. Perfect, whose maiden name was Margaret Brewster, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Brewster, early settlers in this district, and was born on lot 26, 2nd line, west, Caledon. She spent her girlhood in the Orangeville district and lived in Mono for some years after her marriage to Mr. Perfect. Twenty-seven years ago Mr. and Mrs. Perfect moved to the Pilot Mound district in Manitoba, where they farmed on an extensive scale until eight years ago, when they retired and returned to Orangeville. Deceased was a quiet, unassuming woman, devoted to her home and family and held in genuine esteem by all who had the privilege of enjoying her friendship. She was a member of St. Andrew's Church and a regular attendant at the church services. She is survived by her husband and a family of two sons and three daughters. The latter are Robert and Fraser Perfect, farmers in the Pilot Mound district, Mrs. H. T. Fargey, of Letellier, Man., Miss Pearl, Pilot Mound, Man., a graduate nurse, and Miss Edith, of the Orangeville Public School staff. Hugh Brewster, of Victoria, B. C., is the only brother now living and Mrs. James Hunter, Pilot Mound, Man., and Mrs. Malcolm Morrison, of Dennison, B. C., are the surviving sisters. The sympathy of a large circle of friends goes out to the sorrowing husband and family in their time of trial

Evidence of the general sorrow was manifest in the large attendance of townsfolk at the funeral, which was held from the family residence to Greenwood Cemetery on Friday afternoon. Rev. F. W. Mahaffy, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, had charge of the services and spoke impressively of the many fine qualities of the departed woman. The pallbearers were Dr. A. H. and Mr. Victor Perfect, of Toronto, brothers of Mr. Perfect, Messrs. Robt. Reid and Malcolm Smith, brothers-in-law, Postmaster Geo. H. Harshaw and Mr. Adam McPherson. The casket was hidden by a profusion of beautiful floral tributes. Among these were: An anchor from the Public School teaching staff; a spray, The Busy Bee Club; a wreath, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Dods; sprays, Mr. and Mrs. W. H Lambe, Mr. and Mrs. S. Trimble, Mr. and Mrs. John Harshaw, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Smith and a wreath from the family.

Friends and relatives present from outside points included: Mr. and Mrs. John and Mr. Robt. G. Harshaw, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Perfect, their son, Fred, and daughter, Josephine, Toronto; Dr. A. H. Perfect, Miss Georgina Harshaw and Mrs. W. J. Walker, Toronto; Mr. Robert Perfect, Pilot Mound, Man., and Mrs. H. T. Fargey, Letellier, Man.

"Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me;
And may there be no moaning of the bar
When I put out to sea."

—Camilla Women's Institute will hold its next meeting at the home of Mrs. R. J. Galbraith on Friday afternoon, Aug. 31st. Miss Campbell, Provincial Public Health Nurse, will give a Talk at the meeting.

MRS. R. SANDERSON

Mrs. Sarah E. Sanderson, wife of Richard Sanderson, Bythia St., passed away in Lord Dufferin Hospital last Saturday after a long and trying illness from an incurable internal disease. Deceased was first taken seriously ill in June of 1922, had bee nbedfast since late last December and was in Lord Duf- had been bedfast since late last weeks prior to her demise. She suffered greatly, but bore her pain and physical weakness uncomplainingly and with unusual fortitude. The late Mrs. Sanderson, who was 52 years and 9 months of age, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis Ridley, early residents of Orangeville and district. She had spent the most of her life in or near Orangeville. Surviving are her husband and a family of five sons and one daughter, namely, Thos., of Erin; Richard, of Chatham; Norman, Fred and Leonard, of Orangeville, and Mrs. J. H. Diebold, of Irvine, Alta. David Ridley, living in Saskatchewan, Simon Ridley, of Brampton, and John Ridley, of Orangeville, are brothers, and Mrs. Geo. Temple, Caledon, is the only sister now living. The sympathy of their neighbors and friends is extended to the sorrowing husband and family. The funeral was held to Greenwood Cemetery on Monday afternoon. Deceased was a member of the Methodist Church and in the absence of Rev. H. L. Partridge, the family pastor, the services at the house and grave were taken by Rev. G. W. Robinson, of Toronto, a former pastor here. A number of floral tributes bespoke the sorrow of friends and relatives. The pallbearers were Messrs. Geo. Foster, Wm. Dedrick, Arch. Irwin, Robt. Mills, Frank Marshall and John Hewitt.

MRS. ALEXANDER FAWCETT

The death of Mrs. Caroline Thurston Fawcett, wife of Mr. Alexander Fawcett, of Kimberley, Ont., took place at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A .S. Wallace, Church St., on Thursday last. Mrs. Fawcett, who had reached the advanced age of 78 years, had been in ill-health for a considerable time. Eight months ago, because of the ill-health and infirmity of her husband, who is also well advanced in years, she came to Orangeville to stay with her daughter, by whom she was tenderly cared and nursed during her long illness. The late Mrs. Fawcett, whose maiden name was Caroline Hall, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hall, of London, Ont. She was twice married, her first husband being the late Philemon Thurston, of Acton, Ont. Since her marriage to Mr. Fawcett 26 years ago she had lived at Kimberley, where she was held in the highest respect by the entire community. She was a member and worker in the Methodist Church and a life member of the Kimberley Methodist Women's Mission Auxiliary. Mr. Fred Thurston, of Littleton, N. H., is the only son and Mrs. Wallace, Orangeville, and Mrs. Thos. Chown, of Barrie, are the daughters. Rev. H. L. Partridge, assisted by Rev. Veals, of Kimberley, held service at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace at 8 o'clock on Friday night. The funeral was held by motor to Acton on Saturday, interment taking place in Fairview Cemetery Saturday afternoon. The funeral service was held in the Methodist Church, Acton, at 2.30 p.m. and was conducted by Rev. H. L. Partridge, assisted by Rev. Chas. Hackett, of Acton. The casket was hidden by the wealth of floral offerings that bore mute testimony to the sorrow of friends of the departed woman. Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Wallace, the aged husband and the other members of the family in their loss.

Friends who attended the service here on Friday night included Mrs. Margaret May, of Guelph; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wallace, Rev. Veals, her pastor at Kimberley, Mr. Jas. Fawcett, Miss Ethel Fawcett and Mr. Andrew Fawcett, all of Kimberley, and Mr. and Mrs. Ashley McCallum, of Thornbury.

SKY WRITING SEEN AT BEACHES

Letteers Have Depth of 3500 Feet.

Gazing upward, all persons within a radius of ten miles of the near-by beach cities tomorrow will be able to see the biggest words ever written in the West.

Six and a half miles in length and of a depth of 3500 feet, the words "Lucky Strike" are to be written across the sky by means of smoke thrown from the rear of a plane operated by Capt. Leslie R. Tait-Cox, British airman, whose wonderful and daring feats in "sky-writing" have won him international fame.

In case the weather is clear to-morrow, the letters will be visible for an hour, and for 20 to 30 minutes even if cloudy and windy, according to Captain Tait-Cox.

Using a scout combat plane, the British pilot will start his spectacular aerial exhibit of "air-writing" at a height of 10,000 feet, the letters in the two words to be worked out horizontally.

He is scheduled to perform his "sky-writing" feat four times to-morrow, his first appearance in the West. Starting at 1 o'clock, his first flight will be over Santa Monica, Ocean Park and Venice, coming next to Long Beach, where he will start writing in the air at 1.30 o'clock.

He will repeat his two performances, starting for the second time at Santa Monica, Ocean Park and Venice at 3 o'clock, returning to Long Beach for his second performance at 3.30 o'clock. He has about 25 performances scheduled in Southern California.

In writing "Lucky Strike," Capt. Tait-Cox's plane discharges 80,000 cubic feet of smoke each minute.

Capt. Tait-Cox is one of England's best known pilots, starting his career at the age of 16 years. During the war he served as a test pilot in the Royal Air Force. Following hostilities he became a commercial flyer with the Nieuport Aircraft Co., later to become known internationally as a "sky-writer."

Using the same kind of machine in which Harry Hawker, British pilot, met his death while attempting a cross-Atlantic flight, Capt. Tait-Cox, in 1920, broke the British speed record for flying at the excessive rate of 170 miles an hour. —Los Angeles, Cal., Daily Herald.

Mrs. C. A. Madill, formerly of Orangeville, who is now living in California, states that she was able to see the sky-writing from her own doorway. She describes it as beautiful and also wonderful.

MOTOR ROAD MAPS

The 1923 road map of the Ontario Motor League is now on sale at The Banner Office. The map has been thoroughly revised and greatly improved in a number of respects. It shows in accurate red outline the Provincial Highway system of Ontario and also the best roads in Western Quebec, New York State and Eastern Michigan. The relative importance of all roads is indicated by three classes of lines—red, medium and thin black. The map sells at 50 cents, the same price as last year.

According to the reports of the Mothers' Allowance Commission just issued, the sum of $10,643 was distributed in Halton County during 1922. George Hillmer, Oakville, M. P. P. for Halton, is Chairman of the Commission.

FIVE YEARS' AGONY ENDED

When He Took "Fruit-a-tives" For Rheumatism

The Medicine Made From Fruit

There can be no doubt that "Fruit-a-tives" is the long sought remedy for Rheumatism and Lumbago. From all over Canada come letters testifying to this fact.

Mr. John E. Guilderson of Parrsboro, N.S. writes: "I suffered badly with Rheumatism for five years—tried different medicines—was treated by doctors in Amherst—and here at home—but the Rheumatism came back.

In 1916, I saw an advertisement for "Fruit-a-tives" and took a box and got relief, so I took them for about six months and the Rheumatism was all gone and I have never felt it since".

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

THEY TELL THEIR NEIGHBORS

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodbridge, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulder-blades and dragging down feelings on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are quite welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer."—Mrs. EDGAR SIMMONS, R. R. 2, Woodbridge, Ont.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. C

FOOLED THE BURGLARS

Three armed men, masked and apparently well-informed, forced an entrance some time after midnight, to the premises of the Lake Shore and Country Club on the Toronto-Hamilton Highway, near Port Credit, and banging at the door of the private apartments of J. Pember, the manager of the club, threatened to "finish" him if he did not hand over the keys of the rooms where valuable silver cups and other things were kept.

Mr. Pember tried to get assistance by telephone, but found difficulty in getting a connection. The burglars finally got through his barricaded door and at the same time Pember shouted through the telephone, "come quickly, armed robbers in the club." The ruse worked and the three men ran down the hallway and cleared away.

REMOVE THE BANK

Coroner's Jury Recommends Safeguards For Dangerous Crossings.

The jury which sat on the inquest on the death of little Berniece Steele, who met her death on the railway crossing at Palgrave on August 7th, strongly advise the removal of the high bank of earth which obstructs the view of the track, also the removal of the fence that adds to the danger at the crossing, and also recommends the placing of a bell on the crossing, and another on the crossing on the 7th line at Palgrave.

The inquest was held in the English Church Hall, with a large attendance. Dr. A. F. Reynar was the presiding coroner, Crown-Attorney Morphy of Brampton, appeared for the Crown, Inspector Reevely was court constable, and D. F. McCraw appeared for the Canadian National Railway. The jury consisted of Fred Taylor, foreman, William McMinn, Thomas Wolfe, James Guest, John Lavery, Hadley Reynar, Norman Barton, J. V. Johnston.

The harrowing details of the accident which brought death so unexpectedly to a beautiful child were retold by her father, William Harry Steele, for whom every one at the inquest felt the deepest sympathy as he reviewed last Tuesday morning and its sad events. The engineer, Thos. Waddell, in charge of the freight train which ran down the car, was deeply affected as he told the story, as he was connected with it. It transpired that he has a little daughter of the same age as Berniece Steele. He has been 11 years in the employ of the C. N. R., and this is his first fatal accident. The fireman on the engine, W. Fred Monkhouse, corroborated the engineer's story in every particular, and he too, was deeply affected by the accident.

Dr. John Graham, of Bolton, who was called in when the accident happened, described in detail the terrible injuries received by the child, which resulted in her death several hours later, Constable Alfred Gibson confirming her death. Mrs. Cyrus Clarke was a witness of the accident from her home, about a quarter of a mile away from the crossing, but was unable to state whether the engine whistled or not.

George Downey described the approach to the fatal crossing as up a long hill, from the crest of the hill to the track also being an incline, but in the opposite direction. He set the distance from the crest of the hill to the track as 35 to 40 feet. He explained that it is impossible to see a train approaching from the north until very close to the track, owing to a high embankment, and a fence, which entirely obstruct the view from the road. "You might be able to see the track from this point if you were on a load of hay," continued Mr. Downey, "but not if you were in a car."

Questioned by Dr. Reynar as to the advisability of a subway at this point, Mr. Downey said that that is a matter which the Railway Commission would have to settle.

"It is a busy road. I think a good place for a subway," continued the coroner.

In answer to a question, Mr. Downey said that it is more than likely the embankment in question shuts out the sound of the whistle and of the bell on the engine. The engines are always coasting at that point, and the train consequently making less noise.

Mr. McCraw asked Mr. Downey if he would be surprised to find that the distance between the crest of the rise and the track is 10 feet, and that a view of the train may be had 38 to 40 feet away from the track. Mr. Downey said that those measurements would not surprise him, as he had never measured the distance, but that he was pretty certain as to the view of the track, for he had made special note of it in his mind, while attending the little girl's funeral last week.

After deliberating for some time, the jury brought in the following verdict: "We, the jury, find that Berniece Steele came to her death through the auto in which she was riding at Palgrave on August 7th, being struck by a freight train. We exonerate the train crew and the driver of the car, Mr. Harry Steele. We recommend that the Canadian National Railway Company do remove the obstruction at the crossing by cutting down the bank for a distance of 20 yards back, and by removing the fence leading to the cattle guard. We also suggest that a bell be placed on the said crossing as an additional warning, and that the same device be provided for the 7th line crossing at Palgrave."—Conservator.

FOR MOTOR TOURISTS

Number of Bothersome Regulations at Border Line Being Altered.

As a result of negotiations entered into by the Ontario Motor League, both with Ottawa and Washington, the lot of the tourist this season will be a much more enjoyable one.

Up to the present time cars crossing into Canada from the United States which carried a radio outfit were compelled to make a deposit of $75 before being allowed to take it into the country. As a result, those who did so had $75 less to spend here than would otherwise have been the case. The Cleveland Motor Club reported to the O. M. L. that a number of its members who had toured Ontario recently had the money they had planned to spend on their trip curtailed to that extent, while others who would otherwise have enjoyed the pleasure of having a radio along had left it behind. The League authorities here accordingly got into communication with the Dominion Department of Customs at Ottawa, and the result has been that the Department has consented to consider radio outfits carried by visiting tourists as part of the car equipment, without any expense attached whatever.

The League has followed this successful effort up with the request that Ottawa admit trailers under the same conditions. It has now become more or less of a custom for tourists wishing to take their own camping outfit along to do so with the aid of a trailer car, but, when those from the United States attempted to do so they were refused admittance unless duty was paid on the trailer. The rescinding of this regulation will do a great deal to encourage more of the camper tourists to come here.

On behalf of the Ontario tourist wishing to cross the line into the United States, the O. M. L. has now secured the necessary authority from Washington, D. C., whereby all members of the League may be saved the necessity of securing a consular permit by simply showing their membership card at any point of entry into the United States.

FAREWELL ADDRESSES TO DR. AND MRS. CALDWELL

(Intended for last week)

The following is from the Newmarket Era of June 29th, being the farewell addresses to Dr. and Mrs. Caldwell, formerly of Shelburne, before their departure from Mount Albert to Dr. Caldwell's new charge at Alton:

A large and representative gathering of at least 400 people composed of the Ladies' Aid Society and L. O. L. No. 902 and large numbers of Methodist and Presbyterian friends met on the lawn of the Methodist parsonage, on the evening of Tuesday, June 29th, to express their love and esteem for Dr. and Mrs. Caldwell and regrets at their departure. The Mount Albert orchestra gave fine music, songs were given and also speeches by Rev. C. E. Dyer, Presbyterian minister, and Reeve John Moore, telling of the great loss in their leaving for Alton. An address was read to Mrs. Caldwell by Mrs. Roy Stewart, after which Mrs. Burnham presented Mrs. Caldwell with a beautiful oblong basket fern box. Fully 95 per cent. of all the Methodists were represented:

Dear Mrs. Caldwell,—The pleasure of our meeting at this time is overshadowed by the thought that you are soon to leave us, and we wish to take this opportunity of expressing our deep regret that you are no longer to be with us, and to say how much we appreciate you as a member and as a lady. We wish now to thank you with all our hearts for your unfailing courtesy and kindness and your devotion to the work of the Ladies' Aid. When you leave us we shall follow your movements with interest and will think of you kindly. As an evidence of our regard and deep appreciation of your help on our behalf we ask you to accept this small gift, which, let us repeat, goes to you from us with the best and kindliest feelings for the happiness of you and the Doctor for all time to come.

Signed on behalf of the Ladies' Aid of Mount Albert Methodist Church,

MRS. BURNHAM,
MRS. STEWART.

Mr. George Mitchell then read an address in behalf of L. O. L. No. 902, and Mr. Wilbert Plummer then presented Dr. Caldwell with a rich club bag and an auto rug:

Dear Sir and Brother,—Having learned that you are about to leave us, we, your brethren of L. O. L. 902, who, with sympathizers, embrace the large portion of your Church and Presbyterians, could not allow you to leave us without once more gathering with you as we have often done in your altogether too short stay with us. We feel that we are better and purer for the hours you have spent with us; you have always been ready to cheer the depressed and ever willing to extend a helping hand to the down-fallen and those in need We therefore feel that we are going to greatly miss you, not only in the Lodge but in the congregation and community. You have endeared yourself to all pious and peace-loving citizens.

But what is our loss is another's gain, and while it is hard for us to have you leave us we must congratulate you on being stationed near some of your former fields of labor where you will meet old friends who will gladly welcome you back in their midst. Accept from us, the boys of L. O. L. No. 902, a small remembrance this club bag and auto rug, not for their intrinsic value, but for the love and esteem in which we hold you. We trust that when you use them they will bring to your memory the pleasant times spent together here. We trust that you will visit us whenever possible, and we wish and hope that you and Mrs. Caldwell may be long spared to carry on your good work.

Signed on behalf of the Lodge,
H. ROLLING, W. M.

After the presentations, the large crowd, in size like a picnic gathering, was served with ice cream and cake. During Dr. Caldwell's stay here, even in those times of money depression, the congregation of Mt. Albert Church has increased fifty per cent. and the quarterly givings have advanced regularly on last year's in every quarter. The Sunday School has had one of its best years, while the Epworth League under the leadership of Mr. David Brooks, has had its best record, and now under Mr. Robert Pierce's, is bound to continue its prosperity.

SMALL TOWN STUFF

The small town has been the butt of the cheap humorist ever since the somewhat larger town came into existence.

A small town is any town smaller than the town in which the humorist resides. If he lives in a town of 1,000 a town of 500 is a joke. If he lives in a town of 5,000, any town of 1,000 is a joke, and so on up. Of course, New Yorkers think that all other towns are jokes.

They call small towns by witty names—tank towns, hick towns, towns in the sticks, towns on the bowl and pitcher circuit.

Small towns do not have scandals, jazz orchestras, gun men, floating indebtedness or traffic problems.

A man can park his car in front of his place of business and leave it there for a week if he so desires.

On a hot day he can take off his coat and walk down the main street without losing public esteem.

In a small town bluff doesn't get him anywhere. People like him for what he is, not what he pretends to be. He lives too close to his fellow man to be other than his real self.

In a small town there are neighbors who whirl in and help in case of sickness, who like you just as well in your old clothes as in your new clothes, who put on no airs and make no pretensions.

In a city a young man may take his girl to a theatre, then a jazz palace, and then, via taxicab, back home, all at a cost of $25.

In a small town a young man can take his girl to the movies, stop at the ice cream parlor, and be home and sitting in his girl's porch swing by 9.30 p.m., having spent fifty cents and had all the fun the town afforded.

In a city a man spends at least one third of his time putting up a front, in order to impress other people who are doing the same thing.

In the small town a man mows his own lawn, raises his own garden truck, is on speaking terms with both the preacher and the banker, and can sit on his front porch Sunday afternoons in his stocking feet if he wants to, and people will think just as much of him.

City folks sneer at small towns because they are envious.

After being in the grocery business in Oakville for about eight years, Harry Smith has sold his business to the Loblaw firm of Toronto, who conduct a chain of groceterria stores. The new firm has also purchased the store property.

13 TO 2

Dufferins Won From Torontos by a One-Sided Score.

The Dufferins won Saturday's championship game with the Torontos by the one-sided score of 13 to 2. The game was marred by the thunderstorm that broke over Idylwyld Park shortly before the close of the second quarter. The rain fell in torrents and when the bell rang for half-time the rainfall and darkness made it well-nigh impossible for the players to see the ball. Rain continued to fall throughout the whole of the third and for part of the fourth period. The downpour made the going very heavy, the water being ankle deep on parts of the playing field. Water lay on the surface for yards out in front of the south goal and extended into the goal itself. Torontos happened to be defending this goal in the third period and when the teams were called out after the half their veteran net guardian, the famous Bill McArthur, was obliged to take his stand in the water. Despite the uncertain footing McArthur handled the Dufferins' shots with remarkable skill until Blythe Brown's fertile brain conceived the idea of shooting into the water at the Toronto goalie's feet. The plan worked admirably for the Dufferins, as McArthur was unable to follow the course of the ball when it took to the water. Brown scored two in this fashion and also gave the idea to his teammates who were not slow to pattern their shots after his example. Until the storm broke the visitors gave the Dufferins a real game. They played fast, aggressive lacrosse, fielded the ball in fine style and combined well in their attacks on The Dufferin flags. In the elusive Tommy Ryan, they have one of the trickiest home fielders in the game, and the duels between Tommy and Joe Cushing were well worth the price of admission. Ryan didn't manage to beat Cushing very often, but Joe will cheerfully admit that he had a busy afternoon holding the ex-Montreal Star. Dr. Wendell Holmes, a former Mono boy, was another outstanding figure on the blueshirts' attack. The Dr. has weight and speed and his dodging rushes gave the Dufferin defence no end of trouble. It was fortunate that Scott, Henderson, Cushing, Cruikshank and Ewing were going in top form, otherwise it would have been impossible to keep the speedy Toronto home from scoring oftener than it did.

Burnside broke away with the ball from the first face-off. The Dufferins rushed matters and Gordon took a shot only to find McArthur right in the way. Torontos secured possession behind the flags and gave The Dufferin defence a busy minute before they lost the ball. End to end play followed, culminating with a determined attack by the Toronto home. After some clever footwork, Ryan connected with the ball and an opening about the same time and beat Booth with a sizzler from ten yards in front. Again the greenshirts rushed from the face-off and the Toronto defence was kept working overtime. When the conflict swept to the other end of the field Booth made a mighty fine save for his team. On the next Dufferin rush Brown gathered in a quick pass from Golden and shot the ball under McArthur's arm for the first Orangeville count. A few minutes later Brown and Gordon figured in a swift bit of combination work that netted another, Brown making the shot. Score at the quarter post: Dufferins 2, Torontos 1.

Wilson and Robinson jumped into the game for The Dufferins at the quarter. The former broke right through the Toronto defence shortly after the face-off, took a pass from Gordon and bulged the net with a close-in shot that McArthur had no chance to stop. Cruikshank was benched for grassing his check. With the odd man advantage in their favor, the blueshirts pressed hard and a score seemed imminent on a couple of occasions, but a Dufferin defence man managed to get in the way of the ball at the right time. Ryan and Cushing sparred and sidestepped like a pair of gamecocks. So far as the spectators could see honors were about equal. The Toronto star thought he could go around and clung tenaciously to the ball with that end in view. "Thus far and no farther," aptly described the attitude of the Orangeville defence man and as a consequence matters were at what our French friends would be pleased to describe as an impasse, although we are forced to add that it was an impasse with plenty of action. The score was unchanged when Cruikshank went on again. With the return of the Orangeville defence fielder The Dufferins resumed the offensive. It was not long until Scott carried the ball right up the field and transferred to Gordon. The latter passed to Robinson, who let go an underhand drive that McArthur failed to connect with. A little later Gordon broke through and looked to have a chance for a sure score, but McArthur made a marvellous save. The storm broke about this time and the last five minutes of the quarter was played with the rain falling so heavily that the spectators were kept too busy scurrying for shelter to bother very much about the game. In the last minute of play Belding notched for the visitors, making the half-time score 4 to 2 in favor of The Dufferins.

Torontos did not show to advantage in the third, which was played on a water-soaked field and in a heavy rain. The heavy going did not seem to suit the blueshirts, who muffed and fumbled badly. As a result the quarter was altogether in favor of the Dufferins, the ball being down on the Torontos' flags three-fourths of the time. Brown scored twice and Gordon, Ewing and Golden each netted the ball once, making the count 9 to 2 at the three-quarters rest. The last period was a repetition of the third, the Dufferins adding four to their total, while the Torontos failed to score and were seldom dangerous. Players and officials were:—

The Dufferins—Goal, Booth; point, Henderson; coverpoint, Cushing; defence, Scott, Cruikshank and Ewing; centre, Burnside; home, Sargeant, Golden and Brown; outside, Gordon; inside, Hawken; spares, Wilson and Robinson.

Referee, Jack Carmichael; Judge of Play, Bert Green.

MIDGETS WIN

Orangeville Midgets won the first round of the semi-finals for championship honors in their series in decidedly easy fashion. They were drawn against the Hanover Midgets and the first game of the round was played in Hanover last Thursday afternoon. The locals simply walked through their opponents, who had a strong, heavy team, but were weak in their stick handling and passing. The score at the finish was 14 to 0 in favor of Orangeville. With such a lobsided count against them in their home game, it is not greatly to be wondered at that Hanover decided to default the return game, which was scheduled as a curtain raiser to the Torontos-Dufferins senior game at Idylwyld Park on Saturday afternoon. The default gave the locals the round. In the second round they are pitted against Weston, the first game being played on Idylwyld Park here yesterday afternoon. The line-up in the Hanover game on Thursday was:—

Goal, C. Gray; point, H. Crawford; coverpoint, F. Black; 1st defence, T. Moore; 2nd defence, J. Merlina; centre, R. Robertson; 2nd home, S. Brawley; 1st home, S. Young; outside, N. Snell; inside, A. Hughes; spares, D. Watt, Davidson and Duke.

—The Hillsburg Horticultural Society will hold its fourteenth annual show in the Presbyterian Church sheds in Hillsburg on Tuesday next, Aug. 28.

SAILED FOR ENGLAND

Mr. J. A. Willoughby, of Toronto and Georgetown, and his brother, Dr. W. W. Willoughby of Guelph, who are well-known in this district, sailed from Quebec for the Old Country on the Montlaurier on Friday, Aug. 10. They will combine business with pleasure during their visit to the British Isles, opening connections with different English offices in order to interest the best class of English settlers for location on Ontario farm lands.

BRAMPTON HERE NEXT WEEK

Brampton seniors will lock horns with The Dufferins on Idylwyld Park on Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 29th. This will be one of the big games of the year and The Dufferins are determined to avenge the defeat they suffered at the hands of the Excelsiors on the latter's grounds early in the season. Brampton cannot afford to lose the game and will make a mighty effort to down the greenshirts on their own grounds. Both teams play fast, scientific lacrosse and should furnish the spectators with an exhibition that will be worth going many miles to witness. The ball will be faced at 3.15 sharp. Usual admission charge.

PHYSICAL DEFECTS

Only One in Every Five Orangeville School Children Are Normal.

Miss Campbell, Public Health Nurse, Submits Report of Her Inspection.

At the last meeting of the Orangeville Public School Board, Miss A. L. Campbell, Provincial public health nurse, submitted a report covering her inspection of the children of the Orangeville Public School. Parents and citizens generally will be surprised to learn that of the 220 children examined by Miss Campbell only 73, or about one in five, were found normal. In the classification of the defects, defective teeth form by all odds the largest class, there being 213 cases. Abnormal tonsils take second place on the list and suspected defective vision comes the former and 49 of the latter, third, there being 89 cases of Miss Campbell states that the percentage of children with suspected defective vision seems abnormally high in the Orangeville school, with the higher percentages in the senior rooms. This would appear to indicate faulty lighting or the existence of some other contributory cause in some or all of the class rooms. If this conclusion is the correct one to draw from the report, the situation in the school would seem to call for the careful consideration of the teaching staff and school board. The text of Miss Campbell's report follows:—

Orangeville, July 31, 1923

Mr. W. C. Hopkins,
Sec'y. P. S. Board,
Orangeville.

Dear Sir,—

The following is a summary of the physical defects, found or suspected, in the children of the Orangeville Public School, through the nursing inspection under the Provincial Board of Health:

Number of children examined, 360; apparently normal, 73; total number of defects, 420.

The defects may be classified as follows:—

Suspected defective hearing, 6; suspected defective nasal breathing, 28; suspected abnormal tonsils, 89; suspected anaemic appearance, 21; suspected enlarged glands, 12; suspected defective speech, 5; suspected nervous condition, 6; defective teeth, 213; suspected defective vision, 49.

These cases of suspected defective vision were distributed in the rooms as follows:—

Room 1—0; Room 2—1; Room 3—5; Room 4—7; Room 5—6; Room 6—4; Room 7—7; Room 8—6; Room 9—7; Room 10—6.

The percentage of children with suspected defective vision seems abnormally high, with the higher percentage in the senior rooms. It would seem advisable to guard against any possible conditions in the school which might tend to eye strain. The children have been referred for a further examination to find out actual condition and if glasses were needed to correct the condition.

Children over 10 per cent. under weight for their height, 125.

The significance of this condition is that in many cases the underweight is associated with physical defects which are undermining the health of the child. In other cases it is a question of wrong diet and lack of rest. In other cases no cause seems to be evident. But the condition should not be disregarded. Children who are too tall for their weight have a real tendency to develop defects of posture, to become stooped, sit sideways, etc., and should be watched to avoid such defects.

61 children were re-admitted after having measles.

A record of these cases of communicable disease is of advantage, in view of the new regulation (regulation 8 of the Prov. Board of Health, which is as follows:—

In the case of teachers or children in a house quarantined for chicken pox, German measles, mumps, measles or whooping cough, the M. O. H. may, if he is satisfied of the effectual isolation of the patient and satisfactory proof is given that such teachers or children have themselves at some previous time had the disease for which the house is quarantined, allow them to attend school without changing their residence.

This will save a great deal of lost time for older children when younger children have these prevalent diseases. But it is essential that a diagnosis be made by a Doctor in order that the children may meet this requirement.

153 children have been visited in their homes to explain the nature of any defects suspected, in the hope that in as many might interfere with the child's cases as possible defects which best development may be remedied.

Individual health instruction was given to the pupils and several class room inspections were made to detect new cases of measles developing.

I wish to express my appreciation of the real co-operation of the principal and all the teachers in our work in the school.

Sincerely,
A. L. CAMPBELL,
Prov. P. H. Nurse.

CHOLERA INFANTUM

Cholera infantum is one of the fatal ailments of childhood. It is a trouble that comes on suddenly, especially during the summer months, and unless prompt action is taken the little one may soon be beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets are an ideal medicine in warding off this trouble. They regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus prevent all the dreaded summer complaints. They are an absolutely safe medicine, being guaranteed by a government analyst to contain no opiates or narcotics or other harmful drugs. They cannot possibly do harm—they always do good. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail, at 25c. a box, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Here and There

Buffalo in Wainwright reserve increase at the rate of about 2,000 each year.

The output of coal from Canadian mines during January, 1923, amounted to 1,743,800 tons.

The total wheat production of Canada in 1922 was 399,786,400 bushels of which Saskatchewan produced 250,167,000 bushels.

The Eskimos give the doctor his fee as soon as he calls. If the patient recovers he keeps it and if not it is returned.

Heads of large implement and machinery firms in Edmonton and Calgary state that for every acre of corn that was sown in Alberta last year ten will be sown this year.

1923 will be the greatest prospecting year known so far in Northern Ontario. The largest rush of prospectors is in the district extending from Swastika for a hundred miles east into the Province of Quebec.

Grain men and others in Calgary already forecast the probable yield of wheat in Alberta this year at something in the neighborhood of 100,000,000 bushels. This estimate is based on the 65,000,000 bushel crop of last year.

The total wheat production in Canada has grown from 16,723,000 bushels in 1871 to over 399,000,000 in 1922. The number of elevators in 1905 was 525 with capacity for 18,320,352 bushels. To-day the capacity of 3,924 elevators in Canada is 231,633,420 bushels.

The Canadian Pacific Railway have further reduced the freight rate on horses from prairie stations to all eastern Canada points. The old rate on horses from Moose Jaw to Montreal or Toronto was $1.39½ per hundred pounds. The new rate will be $1.20½ or a saving to the farmer of $38 per car.

"Will Summers," owned by His Majesty the King, was recently brought to Canada on the Canadian Pacific Steamer "Marburn" and will be kept at the Prince of Wales' ranch near Calgary for breeding purposes. This famous five-year-old has a pedigree back to Orme and Galopin, the former sire of Flying Fox and the latter a Derby winner.

It is reported that the head of the textile department of Leeds University, England, has invented a process for the making of artificial wool from cotton waste. The basis of the process is cellulose acetet. The product wears well as wool, it is said, will take the dye of any desired color and is considered a better insulator than natural wool.

During the last fiscal year Canadian exports of tobacco amounted to 471,991 pounds with a value of $175,826. Of this value the United Kingdom accounted for $135,784, the United States $5,216 and other countries $34,826. There are 125 tobacco factories in Canada, Quebec and Ontario being the principal producers.

Running on schedule the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Canada," Captain A. J. Hailey, again demonstrated her right to the claim of "Queen of the Pacific." The Canadian vessel left Vancouver 24 hours after the American liner "President McKinley" and arrived in Yokohama five hours in the lead.

The British Government is completing at Chatham the largest and most wonderful under water craft in the world. On the surface she will displace 2,730 tons and when submerged 3,600 tons, this displacement being 1,400 tons greater than that of the largest German submarine. With a twelve-inch gun the new submarine will be able to bombard any object and then quickly disappear under the sea.

WHY THE LAKES ARE LOWERING

Drop of Over Three Feet—May Affect Navigation.

Parties who are camping on the shores of Lake Huron this season have observed an unmistakable lowering of the water of the lake as compared with the level of a few years ago. Estimates put the difference in level at as much as three feet. Last year the water was down about two feet, and this year it is down another foot. This is easily observable at the bathing beaches where the shore line is now out a considerable distance beyond the line of former years, and boulders which were permanently covered with water three or four years ago, now have their heads continuously in view.

This lowering of the lake levels has affected the water all the way from Niagara to the far ends of Lakes Superior and Michigan. It is, doubtless, due to the draining away of the lake water at the City of Chicago. That city is situated on ground that is almost flat and little elevated above the waters of Lake Michigan and MississippiRiver. With the growth of Chicago, a serious problem of sewerage developed. At first the sewers were opened into Lake Michigan. But water for domestic use had to be taken from the lake, and some years ago it was found that it was impossible to prevent the pollution of the lake water by the millions of tons of sewerage each day discharged into it. The city then sought another outlet for the sewers, and engineers hit upon the plan of cutting a great canal from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi River. In this way they could get a fairly good current so that the sewage instead of getting in the dead waters of the lake, would be carried away by the river. No sooner was the canal constructed than it was seen that in time it would result in the permanent lowering of the lakes, great as they are. This was going to result in much mischief. It affected all the harbours on both the American and Canadian side, making it impossible for large vessels to enter where, before, they could go without danger. It would make dangerous many rocks and bars which before were harmless.

A Sanitary Commission, acting for Chicago, was given the privilege of diverting from Lake Michigan 4,167 cubic feet of water per second, but this, though it formed a substantial river, was not enough to carry away the Chicago City sewage. The Sanitary Commission therefore took more without asking leave, and for some time has been taking 8,000 cubic feet per second. Even this is not enough and they want 10,000 feet per second.

It is this taking of 8,000 cubic feet per second that has lowered the lake levels, observable even at Point Clark and Bruce Beach. The Province of Ontario and the States to the south of the lakes have protested to the Sanitary Commission, but that body has kept right on taking almost double the amount of lake water it is entitled to. However, a United States District Court has now ordered the City Commission to go back to the amount agreed to, within six months.

This puts the great city in a difficult position. The 4,167 cubic feet secured under the agreement will not carry the sewage, the city keeps on growing, and more water will be required each year. However, all the other lake cities and ports cannot be expected to suffer because of Chicago's need. Ultimately the diversion of water would seriously affect the power plants at Niagara. — Chesley Enterprise.

During a recent electric storm a thunder bolt struck a shock of wheat in a field on Mr. Thos. Baycroft's farm, near Beeton. The stook disappeared instantaneously in a whiff of smoke and flame. Fortunately the rain prevented the fire from spreading. Mr. Perdue, who was about one hundred yards distant from where the bolt struck, sustained a severe shock.

NO TIME WAS LOST IN THIS CASE

Mrs. Luckhurst Quickly Discovered That Dreco Possessed Remarkable Health-Giving Qualities.

Every woman should read the following statement from Mrs. J. Luckhurst, of 705 Durie Street, Toronto, Ont. It portrays convincingly the true merit of Dreco, especially emphasizing the quickness of its beneficial action.

"For several years I have suffered from indigestion," says Mrs. Luckhurst. I had gas on the stomach, acid risings and smothering spells. The pains were very severe across my back and I felt tired out all the time. My liver was sluggish and I was chronically constipated. Had constantly to take a laxative, which gave me only temporary relief. I didn't rest well and my appetite was very poor. The food I did eat gave me no nourishment because it was not properly digested.

"No remedy ever gave me the amount of good results that Dreco has and I have only taken a half bottle. I had only taken a few doses when I could feel the difference and it seems to act so differently from any other medicine. It has gone to the root of my troubles I am sure, and I feel positive that by continuing the treatment, I will get real good results. I haven't been having those terrible bloating spells and shortness of breath, nor have I any pains through my limbs and back. I eat well and sleep soundly and am indeed happy that I can recommend Dreco."

Dreco acts quickly and with sure helpful result, because it is made from Nature's own remedies.

HOLY ISLAND.

One of the Romantic Spots of Great Britain.

Off the coast of Northumberland, England, in close proximity to the Farne Islands, made famous by the heroism of Grace Darling, lies Lindisfarne or Holy Island—an island only at high tide.

When the tide recedes a stretch of golden sand joins Lindisfarne to the mainland, and save for the channel worn by the Lindis river, a fresh water stream flowing from the Northumbrian coast, dry-shod one might easily pass over.

When the tide is rising it is necessary to procure the services of a stout pony and a high-seated cart. A new and quite thrilling sensation is thus experienced, especially when the waves are boisterous and slap the slides of the cart in something more than a playful manner. At high tide and in really rough weather Lindisfarne is entirely isolated. Then, the island being only a few miles in circumference, it is easy to imagine we are standing on the deck of some great lonely ship, and when a heavy storm of rain blots out the mainland, like the Ancient Mariner, we seem to be alone on the open sea.
